PREFACE.

3 May 12 N. O. G.
In accordance with the periodical revision of the general ordinances required by the Charter, the preliminary ordinance 22046 (supplemented by ordinance 23110) authorized the preparation of ordinance 22902, to be known as "The Revised Code of St. Louis," containing all ordinances of a general nature; and it was provided that in conjunction therewith there should be published, with annotations of the decisions specially affecting them, the Scheme of Separation, and the Charter of the City of St. Louis, also a collation of State Statutes specially applicable to the said City, and the State and Federal Constitutions.

The reviser was appointed in accordance with the preliminary ordinance, in September, 1905, and in September, 1906, submitted to the Municipal Assembly the completed work, including in ordinance form the bill in revision, which subsequently became "The Revised Code," as well as the annotated Charter, Scheme and State Laws specially applicable to St. Louis.

St. Louis - City Registrar
The ordinance in revision remained pending in the Municipal Assembly from its submission in September, 1906, until March 19, 1907, when it was finally approved and became ordinance number 22902, or "The Revised Code of St. Louis."

Since many laws and ordinances had been enacted and decisions rendered in the interim between the submission of the work to the Assembly and its passage and approval, the work (in accordance with supplemental ordinance 23110), was brought down to date of printing, the State Laws of 1907 specially applicable to St. Louis being inserted under that heading proper, and the new general ordinances being set forth in an Appendix, and references to these late amendments, laws and decisions were made in appropriate places throughout the work.

The contract for printing of the entire volume was let and begun in May, 1907, to be completed the following October.

29 May '09
In the planning of the work into Chapters and Articles the reviser preserved, whenever practicable, the order and arrangement of the preceding excellent revision (in some instances even where a departure might otherwise have been considered) for the reason that City officials and others using these volumes (many of whom are not lawyers) have become, from frequent consultation and long use, so familiar with the old arrangement and order thereof, that a rearrangement might serve to disturb or confuse, until learned anew.

Since the authority of a reviser does not include the right of making substantial changes in the laws and ordinances themselves (see note on page 341), and as many of the ordinances in force seemed to require amendments, and many others to be repealed, and some subjects to require new provisions, the reviser prepared and submitted for adoption by the Assembly a great many suggestions, in the form of ordinance bills, on matters occurring to him in the preparation of the work. Many of the suggested bills were adopted and incorporated in the Revised Code, but many others failed of adoption.

Little need be said in a preface concerning the merits and demerits of that part of the work properly within the functions of the reviser. Such matters will come out in, and can fairly be ascertained only by, the actual use of the book; besides which an author's opinions are of no moment and often do not coincide with those of the reader.

It is hoped, however, that the annotations (especially of the Charter provisions) to which the reviser devoted considerable labor, may prove of some value. It was sought to cite and discuss the decisions of our own courts bearing upon the same, with reasonable fullness; but decisions of other States, construing other charters or ordinances, and general discussions on municipal corporation law, were eliminated, because not properly embraced within the scope of an annotated revision, belonging more properly to the functions of a textbook.

Bespeaking indulgence for probable imperfections in that part of the work properly chargeable to the reviser, this volume is respectfully submitted to the public.

St. Louis, Sept. 25, 1907.

WM. F. WOERNER.

AUTHENTICATION

—OF—

“THE REVISED CODE OF ST. LOUIS”

City of St. Louis,

Office of the Register,

October 9, 1907.

I, the undersigned, Register of the City of St. Louis, do hereby certify that in pursuance of the Charter of the City of St. Louis Article three, Section 29, was duly enacted ordinance 22046 approved June 20, 1905, providing for the Revision of the General Ordinances of the City of St. Louis, being as follows, to-wit:

An ordinance to provide for the revision of the general ordinance of the City of St. Louis in accordance with the provisions of Section Twenty-nine of Article Three of the Charter, and collation of all laws of the State of Missouri specially applicable to the City of St. Louis and an annotation and index of all said ordinances and laws, and to provide for the appointment and compensation of a reviser of said ordinances and to provide for the printing thereof and making an appropriation therefor.

Be it Ordained by the Municipal Assembly of the City of St. Louis, as follows:

Section One. The Mayor shall appoint, with the approval of the Council, a competent lawyer whose duties it shall be to revise the general ordinances of the City of St. Louis and prepare and submit to the Municipal Assembly in the form of an ordinance a complete revised code of said ordinances; and he shall collate all of the laws of the State of Missouri specially applicable to the City of St. Louis. When the same is completed and said revised ordinance legally adopted by the Municipal Assembly said revised ordinance shall supersede and take the place of all general ordinance regulations of the city, and all ordinances in conflict therewith shall be deemed repealed.

Section Two. In connection with said revision of the general ordinances of the city there shall be published the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of the State of Missouri and all statutes of the State of Missouri specially applicable to the City of St. Louis. There shall also be published in connection with said laws and ordinances a table of the Mayors, Aldermen, City Council and Municipal Assembly, as far as practicable, from the beginning of the City Government to and including the present time, which information shall be prepared by the reviser of ordinances and compiler of said laws, who shall also superintend the printing of said work in book form.

Section Three. All subjects embraced in said revised ordinance shall be properly classified and arranged alphabetically with proper head notes and catch words, which revised ordinance when so completed shall be styled “The Revised Code of St. Louis.”

Section Four. Said Revised Code and all laws of the State, including the Constitution, specially applicable to the City of St. Louis, shall be fully annotated by inserting in foot notes all decisions of the United States Courts, Supreme Court of Missouri, Courts of Appeals of Missouri relating to said laws, charter or ordinances; and said revised code and said laws specially applicable to the City of St. Louis shall be indexed.

Section Five. The City Register is hereby directed to proceed as required by law to contract for printing in substantial book form fifteen hundred copies of said work, after said revised ordinance shall have been enacted by the Municipal Assembly and after said work has been fully completed by the reviser and compiler thereof.

Section Six. The compensation of the reviser and compiler for all work contemplated by this ordinance shall be five thousand dollars, payable out of an appropriation to be made for that purpose, upon the certificate of the Mayor that the said work has been properly done in accordance with this ordinance; and the printing and binding of said fifteen hundred copies of said work shall be paid for out of an appropriation to be made for that purpose.

Section Seven. There is hereby appropriated and set apart out of the Municipal Revenue the sum of five thousand dollars to be paid said reviser and compiler as aforesaid; and the sum of four thousand dollars for the printing and binding of fifteen hundred copies of said work.

Section Eight. The Auditor is hereby directed to draw his warrants upon the Treasurer in not exceeding the amounts and for the purpose above specified upon duly certified vouchers being presented therefor.

Approved June 20, 1905.

And thereafter was enacted ordinance 23110, approved July 9th, 1907, supplementary to said former ordinance, and providing for an appendix thereto, and being as follows, to-wit:

An ordinance to provide for the preparation of an appendix in connection with the Revised Code of St. Louis, which is to contain a collation of general ordinances and of laws applicable to St. Louis, enacted since the submission to the Municipal Assembly of the work of the reviser of said Revised Code of St. Louis, together with notations, and to provide for compensation to the reviser for such preparations, and to provide for the printing thereof with the Revised Code, and making appropriations therefor.

Be it ordained by the Municipal Assembly of the City of St. Louis, as follows:

Whereas, the Revision of the General Ordinances of the City of St. Louis and collation of laws specially applicable to St. Louis and the annotation and indexing thereof was provided for by ordinance twenty-two thousand and forty-six, approved June Twentieth, Nineteen Hundred and Five, and in pursuance of said ordinances a Reviser was duly appointed and the work called for therein duly completed by him and submitted to the Municipal Assembly on September Twenty-first, Nineteen Hundred and Six, but said Revised Code of St. Louis was not enacted and approved until the passage of ordinance twenty-two thousand nine hundred and two, approved March Ninth, Nineteen Hundred and Seven, and,

Whereas, during said interval between the introduction and passage thereof, many new ordinances were enacted, repealed or amended, and a session of the Legislature held, at which laws specially applicable to St. Louis were enacted, and numerous judicial decisions affecting the ordinances and laws were rendered, all of which matters were not, and could not, be included in said Revised Code, nor the compilation and annotations in connection therewith, because occurring after submission of said work, and,

Whereas, said Revised Code of St. Louis, as contemplated in said ordinance twenty-two thousand and forty-six is about to be published, and,

Whereas, it is desirable that all said matters should be included and appear in the volume in which the said Revised Code of St. Louis is printed, so as to bring the same as nearly as practicable to the present date, now, therefore, be it ordained as follows:

Section One. The Reviser of the General Ordinances appointed in pursuance of the provisions of ordinance twenty-two thousand and forty-six, to perform the duties and work therein required, is hereby directed and authorized to prepare for publication in connection with the Revised Code of St. Louis, an appendix thereto setting out all general ordinances enacted, repealed or amended between the date of the submission to the Municipal Assembly of the said Reviser's work on September twenty-first, nineteen hundred and six, and the expiration of the term of the last Municipal Assembly on April, nineteen hundred and seven, and in so far as practicable to set out all laws specially applicable to St. Louis enacted at the sessions of the State Legislature of nineteen hundred and seven, and in all of said things to make reference thereto in the indexes of the Revised Code and to bring down to date so far as practicable the notation of decisions of the Appellate Courts of Missouri in the foot notes to the work submitted heretofore and to supervise the printing of all said work in the same manner as if it were a part of the said Revised Code.

Section Two. The City Register is hereby directed and authorized to contract for the printing of said appendix as part of the volume containing the Revised Code of St. Louis.

Section Three. The compensation of the Reviser and Compiler for all the additional work in connection with said appendix contemplated by this ordinance shall be seven hundred and fifty dollars, payable out of an appropriation to be made for that purpose, upon the certificate of the Mayor, that the work has been properly done in accordance with this ordinance and the expense of the printing of said appendix shall be paid for out of an appropriation to be made for that purpose.

Section Four. There is hereby appropriated and set apart out of the municipal revenue in addition to the appropriation made by ordinance twenty-two thousand and forty-six, approved June twentieth, nineteen hundred and five, the sum of seven hundred and fifty dollars to be paid to said Reviser and Compiler as aforesaid, and the sum of five hundred dollars for the printing of said appendix in conjunction with the Revised Code of St. Louis.

Section Five. The Auditor is hereby directed to draw his warrants upon the Treasurer in not exceeding the amounts and for the purpose above specified upon duly certified vouchers being produced therefor.

Approved July 9, 1907.

And in pursuance of said ordinances was duly prepared and enacted according to law, the ordinance in revision, numbered 22902, approved March 19, 1907, known as "The Revised Code of St. Louis."

And in pursuance of said ordinances, and under the further authority duly conferred according to law and by the City of St. Louis, is published this volume containing "The Revised Code of St. Louis," being said ordinance number 22902 in revision of the general ordinances, as therein purported; and also is published the appendix thereto containing the general ordinances enacted after the submission to the Assembly of said revising ordinance, and down to the close of the session of the Municipal Assembly of 1906-1907, to-wit: April, 1907.

And I certify that I have examined and compared all the ordinances embraced in this volume with the original ordinances as officially enrolled in the records of the Register's Office, and that all the said ordinances as in this volume published are true copies of the said originals.

A copy of this volume with my original certificate attached has been deposited and is on file in the office of the Register of the City of St. Louis.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand, and affixed the seal of the City of St. Louis, this 9th day of October, 1907.

PATRICK J. REGAN, Register.

Section 1. Legislative power, where vested.—All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Sec. 2. House of Representatives, how and by whom chosen.—The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature.

Qualifications of Representative.—No person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Apportionment of Representatives and direct taxes—census.—Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and including Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one representative, and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

Vacancies in House of Representatives.—When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

Speaker and officers of House—impeachment.—The House of Representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Sec. 3. Senators—election and term of.—The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Division into classes—vacancies—qualifications.—Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies. No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

Vice-President.—The Vice-President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

President pro tem. and other officers of Senate.—The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Sec. 4. Election of Senators and Representatives—sessions of Congress.—The times, places and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators. Sec. 5. Qualifications of members—judges of, quorum.—Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Rules of proceedings—contempts, expulsions.—Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Journals—yeas and nays.—Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Adjournments.—Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Sec. 6. Compensation of members—privileges.—The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Ineligibility to office.—No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

Sec. 7. Revenue Bills—where to originate.—All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Bills, approval of President—veto proceedings thereon.—Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate shall, before it become a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it with his objections to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Orders, resolutions and votes—President's approval, veto.—Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Sec. 8. Powers of Congress.—The Congress shall have power:

Sec. 9. Migration and importation of persons.—The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

Writ of habeas corpus.—The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Bills of attainder and ex post facto laws.—No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The president of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for President; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list, the said House shall in like manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the Vice-President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them by ballot the Vice-President.]

[This clause has been superseded by the twelfth amendment.]

President's qualifications.—No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

Vacancy in office of President.—In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice-President, and the Congress may, by law, provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice-President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected. The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the Congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

Vacancies in office.—The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Sec. 3. Powers and duties of President, continued.—He shall, from time to time, give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

ACT OF ADMISSION OF MISSOURI.

AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE PEOPLE OF THE MISSOURI TERRITORY TO FORM A CONSTITUTION AND STATE GOVERNMENT, AND FOR THE ADMISSION OF SUCH STATE INTO THE UNION ON AN EQUAL FOOTING WITH THE ORIGINAL STATES, AND TO PROHIBIT SLAVERY IN CERTAIN TERRITORIES.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the inhabitants of that portion of the Missouri Territory included within the boundaries hereinafter designated, be and they are hereby authorized to form for themselves a Constitution and State Government, and to assume such name as they shall deem proper; and the said State, when formed, shall be admitted into the Union upon an equal footing with the original States, in all respects whatsoever.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That the said State shall consist of all the territory included within the following boundaries, to wit: Beginning in the middle of the Mississippi river, on the parallel of thirty-six degrees of north latitude; thence west, along that parallel of latitude, to the St. Francis river; thence up and following the course of that river, in the middle of the main channel thereof, to the parallel of latitude thirty-six degrees and thirty minutes; thence west along the same to a point where the said parallel is intersected by a meridian line passing through the middle of the mouth of the Kansas river, where the same empties into the Missouri river; thence from the point aforesaid, north, along the said meridian line, to the intersection of the parallel of latitude which passes through the rapids of the river Des Moines, making the said line to correspond with the Indian boundary line; thence east from the point of intersection last aforesaid, along the said parallel of latitude, to the middle of the channel of the main fork of the said river Des Moines; thence down and along the middle of the main channel of the said river Des Moines, to the mouth of the same, where it empties into the Mississippi river; thence due east to the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence down and following the course of the Mississippi river, in the middle of the main channel thereof, to the place of beginning: Provided, That said State shall ratify the boundaries aforesaid: (a) and provided also, That the said State shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the river Mississippi, and every other river bordering on the said State, so far as the said rivers shall form a common boundary to the said State and any other State or States, now or hereafter to be formed and bounded by the same—such rivers to be common to both; and that the river Mississippi, and the navigable rivers and waters leading to the same, shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the said State as to the other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost or toll therefor imposed by the said State.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That all free white male citizens of the United States, who shall have arrived at the age of twenty-one years, and have resided in said territory three months previous to the day of election, and all other persons qualified to vote for representatives to the General Assembly of the said territory, shall be qualified to be elected, and they are hereby qualified and authorized to vote, and choose representatives to form a convention, who shall be apportioned amongst the several counties as follows: From the county of Howard, five representatives; from the county of Cooper, three representatives; from the county of Montgomery, two representatives; from the county of Pike, one representative; from the county of Lincoln, one representative; from the county of St. Charles, three representatives; from the county of Franklin, one representative; from the county of St. Louis, eight representatives; from the county of Jefferson, one representative; from the county of Washington, three representatives; from the county of Ste. Genevieve, four representatives; from the county of Madison, one representative; from the county of Cape Girardeau, five representatives; from the county of New Madrid, two representatives; from the county of Wayne, and that portion of the county of Lawrence that falls within the boundaries herein designated, one representative. And the election for the representatives aforesaid shall be holden on the first Monday, and two succeeding days, of May next, throughout the several counties aforesaid, in the said territory, and shall be in every respect held and conducted in the same manner, and under the same regulations, as prescribed by the laws of the said territory regulating elections therein for members of the General Assembly, except that the returns of the election in that portion of Lawrence county included in the boundaries aforesaid shall be made to the county of Wayne, as is provided in other cases under the laws of said territory.

(a) The territory now covered by the counties of Andrew, Atchison, Buchanan, Holt, Nodaway and Platte, known as the Platte purchase, was by act of Congress

Sec. 4. And, be it further enacted, That the members of the convention thus duly elected shall be, and they are hereby authorized to meet at the seat of government of said territory, on the second Monday of the month of June next; and the said convention, when so assembled, shall have power and authority to adjourn to any other place in the said territory which to them shall seem best for the convenient transaction of their business; and which convention, when so met, shall first determine, by a majority of the whole number elected, whether it be or be not expedient at that time to form a constitution and State government for the people within the said territory, as included within the boundaries above designated; and if it be deemed expedient, the convention shall be and hereby is authorized to form a constitution and State government, or, if it be deemed more expedient, the said convention shall provide by ordinance for electing representatives to form a constitution or frame of government; which said representatives shall be chosen in such manner, and in such proportion, as they shall designate, and shall meet at such time and place as shall be prescribed by the said ordinance, and shall then form for the people of said territory, within the boundaries aforesaid, a constitution and State government: Provided, That the same, whenever formed, shall be republican and not repugnant to the Constitution of the United States, and that the Legislature of said State shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil of the United States, nor with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers, and that no tax shall be imposed on lands the property of the United States; and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents.

Sec. 5. And, be it further enacted, That, until the next general census shall be taken, the said State shall be entitled to one representative in the House of Representatives of the United States.

Sec. 6. And, be it further enacted, That the following propositions be and the same are hereby offered to the convention of the said Territory of Missouri, when formed, for their free acceptance or rejection, which, if accepted by the convention, shall be obligatory upon the United States:

First, That section numbered sixteen in every township, and when such section has been sold or otherwise disposed of, other lands equivalent thereto, and as contiguous as may be, shall be granted to the State for the use of the inhabitants of such township, for the use of schools.

Second, That all salt springs, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining to each, shall be granted to the said State for the use of said State—the same to be selected by the Legislature of the said State, on or before the first day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five, and the same, when so selected, to be used under such terms, conditions and regulations as the Legislature of said State shall direct: Provided, That no salt spring, the right whereof now is or hereafter shall be confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall, by this section, be granted to said State; and, provided also, That the Legislature shall never sell or lease the same at any one time for a longer period than ten years without the consent of Congress.

Third, That five per cent of the net proceeds of the sale of lands lying within the said Territory or State, and which shall be sold by Congress from and after the first day of January next, after deducting all expenses incident to the same, shall be reserved for making public roads and canals, of which three-fifths shall be applied to those objects within the State, under the direction of the Legislature thereof, and the other two-fifths in defraying, under the direction of Congress, the expenses to be incurred in making of a road or roads, canal or canals, leading to the said State.

Fourth, That four entire sections of land be and the same are hereby granted to the said State, for the purpose of fixing their seat of government thereon, which said sections shall, under the direction of the Legislature of said State, be located, as near as may be, in one body, at any time, in such townships and ranges as the Legislature aforesaid may select, on any of the public lands of the United States; Provided, That such locations shall be made prior to the public sale of the lands of the United States surrounding such location.

Fifth, That thirty-six sections, or one entire township, which shall be designated by the President of the United States, together with the other lands heretofore reserved for that purpose, shall be reserved for the use of a seminary of learning, and vested in the Legislature of said State, to be appropriated solely to the use of such seminary by the said Legislature: Provided, That the five foregoing propositions herein offered are on the condition that the convention of the said State shall provide, by an ordinance, irrevocable without the consent of the United States, that every and each tract of land sold by the United States, from and after the first day of January next, shall remain exempt from any tax laid by order or under the authority of the State, whether for State, county or township, or any other purpose whatever, for the term of five years from and after the day of sale; and further, That the bounty lands granted or hereafter to be granted for military services during the late war, shall, while they continue to be held by the patentees, or their heirs, remain exempt as aforesaid from taxation for the term of three years from and after the date of the patents respectively. (b)

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted, That in case a constitution and State Government shall be formed for the people of the said Territory of Missouri, the said convention of Representatives, as soon thereafter as may be, shall cause a true and attested copy of such constitution or frame of State Government as shall be formed or provided to be transmitted to Congress.

Sec. 8. And, be it further enacted, That in all that territory ceded by France to the United States, under the name of Louisiana, which lies north of thirty-six degrees and thirty minutes, north latitude, not included within the limits of the State contemplated by this act, slavery and involuntary servitude, otherwise than in the punishment of crimes, whereof the parties shall have been duly convicted, shall be and is hereby forever prohibited. Provided always, That any person escaping into the same, from whom labor or service is lawfully claimed in any State or Territory of the United States, such fugitive may be lawfully reclaimed and conveyed to the person claiming his or her labor or service aforesaid. (c)

Approved March 6, 1820.

(b) Edwards v. Lesueur, 132 Mo. 410.

(c) In pursuance of the provisions of this act, members of the convention were elected to form a constitution and state government. They assembled at St. Louis on the 12th of June, 1820, and determined that it was expedient to form a constitution and state government, and having accepted the five propositions offered by the sixth section of the above act, passed an ordinance, which was finally signed on the 19th of July, 1820. A constitution was formed whereby the boundaries mentioned in the second section of the above act were ratified, and a new state established by the name of the State of Missouri. Agreeably to the seventh section of the above act, an attested copy of the constitution was transmitted to Congress. Under this constitution, in August, 1820, the people held a general election, at which state and county officers were chosen and the state government organized. From this cause the records of the state date the admission of Missouri into the union from August, 1820. A resolution was introduced in congress for the unconditional admission of the State into the Union, as had been the uniform course in relation to other new states. This resolution was, however, defeated; and finally, after much discussion, a resolution was passed for admitting the state on a certain condition. The legislature of Missouri, on the 27th day of June, 1821, accepted the condition, protesting at the same time against the right of congress to impose it, and on the 10th of August, 1821, the President of the United States issued his proclamation announcing the acceptance by this state of the condition.

First, That section numbered sixteen in every township, and when such section has been sold or otherwise disposed of, other lands equivalent thereto, and as contiguous as may be, shall be granted to the State, for the use of the inhabitants of such township for use of schools.

Second, That all salt springs, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining to each, shall be granted to the said State for the use of said State, the same to be selected by the Legislature of said State on or before the first day of January, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five and the same, when so selected, to be used under such terms, conditions and regulations as the Legislature of said State shall direct: Provided, That no salt spring, the right whereof now is, or hereafter shall be, confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall by this section be granted to said State; and provided, also, That the Legislature shall never sell or lease the same, at any one time, for a longer period than ten years, without the consent of Congress.

Third, That five per cent of the net proceeds of the sale of lands lying within the said Territory or State, and which shall be sold by Congress from and after the first day of January next, after deducting all expenses incident to the same, shall be reserved for making public roads and canals, of which three-fifths shall be applied to those objects within the State, under the direction of the Legislature thereof, and the other two-fifths in defraying, under the direction of Congress, the expenses to be incurred in making of a road or roads, canal or canals, leading to the said State.

Fourth, That four entire sections of land be, and the same are hereby granted to said State for the purpose of fixing their seat of government thereon; which said sections shall, under the direction of the Legislature of said State, be located as near as may be in one body, at any time, in such townships and ranges as the Legislature aforesaid may select, on any of the public lands of the United States: Provided, That such location shall be made prior to the public sale of the lands of the United States surrounding such location.

Fifth, That thirty-six sections, or one entire township, which shall be designated by the President of the United States, together with the other lands heretofore reserved for that purpose, shall be reserved for the use of a seminary of learning, and vested in the Legislature of said State, to be appropriated solely for the use of such seminary by the Legislature.

Now THIS CONVENTION, for and in behalf of the people inhabiting this State, and by the authority of the said people, do accept the five before recited propositions, offered by the act of Congress under which they are assembled; and, in pursuance of the conditions, requisitions and other provisions in the before recited act of Congress contained, this Convention, for and in behalf of the people inhabiting this State, do ordain, agree and declare, that every and each tract of land sold by the United States from and after the first day of January next, shall remain exempt from any tax laid by order or under the authority of the State, whether for State, county or township, or any other purpose whatever, for the term of five years from and after the respective days of sale thereof; and that the bounty lands granted, or hereafter to be granted, for military services during the late war, shall, while they continue to be held by the patentees or their heirs, remain exempt, as aforesaid, from taxation for the term of three years from and after the date of the patents respectively: Provided, nevertheless, That if the Congress of the United States shall consent to repeal and revoke the following clause in the fifth proposition of the sixth section of the act of Congress before recited, and in these words, viz.: "That every and each tract of land sold by the United States from and after the first day of January next, shall remain exempt from any tax laid by order or under the authority of the State, whether for State, county or township, or any purpose whatever, for the term of five years from and after the day of sale; and, further," that this Convention, for and in behalf of the people of the State of Missouri, do hereby ordain, consent and agree that the same be so revoked and repealed; without which consent of the Congress, as aforesaid, the said clause to remain in full force and operation, as first above provided for in this ordinance: and this Convention doth hereby request the Congress of the United States so to modify their third proposition, that the whole amount of five per cent on the sale of public lands therein offered may be applied to the construction of roads and canals, and the promotion of education within this State, under the direction of the Legislature thereof. And this convention, for and in behalf of the people inhabiting this State, and by the authority of said people, do further ordain, agree and declare that this ordinance shall be irrevocable without the consent of the United States. (a)

Done in Convention, at St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, this nineteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty, and of the independence of the United States of America the forty-fifth.

By order of the Convention.

Attest: WM. G. PETTUS, Secretary.

() Agreeably to the compact formed between the United States and the State of Missouri, the school lands mentioned in the first proposition have been appropriated to the use of common schools. The salt springs and lands adjoining have been selected and disposed of. The lands for the location of the seat of government have been selected and appropriated. The university lands have been designated and mostly disposed of.

Congress, by an act approved June 10, 1852, consented to such a modification of the compact with this State as to permit the State to impose a tax or taxes upon all lands sold by the United States in the State, from and after the day of such sale.

Sec. 10. General Assembly shall not tax municipalities, when.—The General Assembly shall not impose taxes upon counties, cities, towns or other municipal corporations or upon the inhabitants or property thereof, for county, city, town or other municipal purposes, but may, by general laws, vest in the corporate authorities thereof the power to assess and collect taxes for such purposes.

Sec. 11. Rates for local purposes—limits—how increased for schools and erecting public buildings.—Taxes for county, city, town and school purposes may be levied on all subjects and objects of taxation; but the valuation of property therefor shall not exceed the valuation of the same property in such town, city or school district for State and county purposes. For county purposes the annual rate on property, in counties having six million dollars or less, shall not, in the aggregate, exceed fifty cents on the hundred dollars valuation; in counties having six million dollars and under ten million dollars, said rate shall not exceed forty cents on the hundred dollars valuation; in counties having ten million dollars and under thirty million dollars, said rate shall not exceed fifty cents on the hundred dollars valuation; and in counties having thirty million dollars or more, said rate shall not exceed thirty-five cents on the hundred dollars valuation. For the purpose of erecting public buildings in counties, cities or school districts, the rates of taxation herein limited may be increased when the rate of such increase and the purpose for which it is intended shall have been submitted to a vote of the people, and two-thirds of the qualified voters of such county, city, or school district, voting at such election, shall vote therefor. The rate herein allowed to each county shall be ascertained by the amount of taxable property therein, according to the last assessment for State and county purposes, and the rate allowed to each city or town by the number of inhabitants, according to the last census taken under the authority of the State, or of the United States; said restrictions as to rates shall apply to taxes of every kind and description, whether general or special, except taxes to pay valid indebtedness now existing, or bonds which may be issued in renewal of such indebtedness: Provided, That the city of St. Louis may levy for municipal purposes, in addition to the municipal rate of taxation above provided, a rate not exceeding the rate which would be allowed for county purposes if said city were part of a county. That all laws in force at the adoption of this Constitution, not inconsistent therewith, shall remain in full force until altered or repealed by the General Assembly; and all rights, actions, prosecutions, claims and contracts of the State, counties, individuals or bodies corporate, not inconsistent therewith, shall continue to be as valid as if this Constitution had not been adopted. The provisions of all laws which are inconsistent with this Constitution shall cease upon its adoption, except that all laws which are inconsistent with such provisions of this Constitution as require legislation to enforce them shall remain in force until the first day of July, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, unless sooner amended or repealed by the General Assembly.

Sec. 2. Existing obligations—criminal proceedings.—That all recognizances, obligations, and all other instruments entered into or executed before the adoption of this Constitution to this State, or to any subdivision thereof or any municipality therein; and all fines, taxes, penalties and forfeitures due or owing to this State, or any such subdivision or municipality; and all writs, prosecutions, actions and causes of action, except as herein otherwise provided, shall continue and remain unaffected by the adoption of this Constitution. All indictments which shall have been found, or may hereafter be found for any crime or offense committed before this Constitution takes effect, may be proceeded upon as if no change had taken place, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution.

Sec. 3. County and probate courts.—All county and probate courts, as now constituted and organized, shall continue with their jurisdiction, until the General Assembly shall by law conform them in their organization to the requirements of this Constitution.

Sec. 4. Criminal courts.—All criminal courts organized and existing under the laws of this State, and not specially provided for in this Constitution, shall continue to exist until otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 5. Courts of common pleas.—All courts of common pleas existing and organized in cities and towns having a population exceeding three thousand five hundred inhabitants, and such as by the law of their creation are presided over by a judge of a circuit court, shall continue to exist and exercise their present jurisdiction until otherwise provided by law. All other courts of common pleas shall cease to exist at the expiration of the present terms of office of the several judges thereof.

Sec. 9. Every person entitled to vote under the Constitution and laws of this State shall be entitled to vote for the adoption or rejection of this Constitution. Said election shall be held and said qualified electors shall vote at the usual places of voting in the several counties of this State; and said election shall be conducted and returns thereof made according to the laws now in force regulating general elections.

Laws specially applicable to City of St. Louis, when valid, and when void, on the ground of being special and local.

(1) The following were upheld as not being obnoxious to the constitution as special legislation, or local law;

Juvenile Court Act: Ex parte Loving 178 Mo., 194, with full discussion of the cases on the general subject.

Registration and Election Law: State ex rel. vs. Mason, 155 Mo. 486; Ewing vs. Heblizelle, 89 Mo., 64.

Metropolitan Police Act: State ex rel. vs. Mason, 153 Mo., 23, 52.

Sheriff Act: Kenefick vs. St. Louis, 127 Mo. 1.

Dramshop: See cases cited in Chap. 8 of these laws, sec. 229-236; also State ex rel vs. Bell, 119 Mo. 70, 76.

School Board Elections: State ex rel. vs. Miller, 100 Mo. 439.

(2) Legislation Held Void as special and local:

Probate Judge on Salary: Henderson vs. Koenig, 168 Mo. 356 and see cases there cited.

Election Law providing a severer penalty for St. Louis than provided by general law on same subject: State vs. Anslinger, 171 Mo. 600.

Amendment of St. Louis Charter by implication: Murnane vs. St. Louis, 123 Mo. 479; St. Louis vs. Dorr, 145 Mo. 466. (The doctrine of these cases forbidding special amendment by the legislature, of the city's charter, on municipal subject was subsequently receded from, and it is now held that St. Louis is not in any one of the classes of cities established by the constitution, but is organized directly under Secs. 20-25 of Art. IX of the constitution: State ex rel. vs. Mason, 153 Mo. loc. cit. 52; Kansas City vs. Stegmiller, 151 Mo. 189, 204; State ex rel. vs. Mason, 155 Mo. 486, and other cases. See on this point introductory note "General Considerations on Charter," at beginning of charter provisions, and as to amendment see Chart. Art. XVI, sec. 19.)

Judicial Notice is taken by the courts that St. Louis is the only city to which an act applicable "to cities of 300,000 inhabitants or over" will apply: State vs. Anslinger, 171 Mo. 600, 610; State ex rel. vs. Miller, 100 Mo. 439, 450.

And that St. Louis is a separate political sub-division of the State: State vs. Nolle, 96 Mo. App. 524; hence all appeals to which the city is a party go to the Supreme Court. See Charter Art. XVI, Sec. 6, and note.

As to judicial notice of the Charter see note on "General Considerations Respecting the Charter," introductory to the Charter.

CHAPTER ONE.

ADVERTISEMENTS—LEGAL.*

Section 1. Advertisements to be let, when and how.—In all cities having a population of more than one hundred thousand inhabitants a board consisting of the judges of the circuit court of such cities, or of the judicial circuit in which such city is situated, or a majority of the same, shall, on or before the first day of January, 1890, and every two years thereafter, cause to be published in some daily newspaper of said city a notice of at least twenty days, designating when and where said board will receive sealed proposals from daily newspapers published in said city for the publication of all advertisements, judicial notices and orders of publication required by law to be made. At the time and place so designated, said board, or a majority thereof, shall proceed publicly to open said bids, and shall award the printing of all said publications to the newspaper naming the lowest and best bid: Provided, however, first, that said bid shall be accompanied by a good and sufficient bond, in a sum to be fixed by said board, conditioned for the correct and faithful publication in said newspaper of all said advertisements, notices and orders, in manner and form as required by law, and according to the schedule of rates named in said proposal, and upon said bond suit may be instituted in the name of the State, to the use of any person aggrieved; second, that no paper shall be awarded the contract for said publication, unless it have a bona fide daily circulation in number of copies equal to at least five per cent of the total population of such cities as shown by the last United States census; third, that in case said board shall believe that said bids are not sufficiently definite or specific, or that in consequence of combinations, or from any cause, said bids are unreasonably high, it shall be at liberty to reject all proposals, in which case it shall proceed at once to re-advertise for proposals, as hereinbefore provided. (R. S. 1899, sec. 4692.)

Sec. 2. Proceedings when contract expires.—In case said award for said publication shall not be made until after the then existing contract for said printing shall have expired, the parties interested may, or in case of proceedings pending in court, the clerks thereof shall designate in what newspaper the publications required in the meantime to be made shall be printed; and provided, further, that in case of the suspension of the newspaper to which such contract shall have been awarded, or in case the said contract shall determine from any cause, the said board may proceed, in the manner hereinbefore stated, to make a new award of the publication of such notices, without waiting the expiration of two years. (R. S. 1899, sec. 4693.)

Sec. 3. Advertisements valid, when.—The publication of said advertisements, orders and notices, if made as aforesaid, in the newspaper so designated by said board or clerk, shall be valid and sufficient. But nothing in this chapter contained shall invalidate a publication of said notices, orders or advertisements published, by mutual consent and agreement of parties in interest, in some other newspaper; but all publications so made and agreed upon shall be as lawful and binding as though made in the newspaper so designated by said board or clerk. (R. S. 1899, sec. 4694.)

CHAPTER TWO.

Sec. 4. Certain animals prohibited from running at large.—It is hereby enacted that in the city of St. Louis, and in the county of St. Louis, it is unlawful for any animal of the species of horse, cattle, mule, ass, swine, sheep, or goat to run at large or outside the inclosure of its owner, or be herded on land other than that of its owner; and whenever any such animal shall be found so running at large or outside of the inclosure of its owner, or being herded on land other than that of its owner in said city or county, it shall be lawful for any citizen of such city or county to arrest the same and deliver it forthwith to the constable of the ward or township or any marshal of any city or town in which it was arrested, and such constable or marshal shall receive and take charge of it; and it shall be the duty of every constable or marshal of such city or town, upon information given him by any citizen of such city or town, and the duty of every constable of said county, upon information given him by any citizen of said county, that any such animal is running at large or outside of the inclosure of its owner, or being herded contrary to the provisions of this article in the respective localities, to arrest the same, and to take all such animals, whether arrested by him or by a citizen, without delay before some justice of the peace within the jurisdiction of such constable or marshal, which justice shall record the size, color, age, sex, marks and brands, and any peculiarity of such animal by which its owner would more readily recognize it, and when said description is so entered, it shall be the duty of such justice to issue a notice, returnable in four days, directed to all whom it may concern, reciting the fact that such animal has been arrested and impounded in accordance with this act, and containing the description of such animal, and that the same will be advertised for sale if not redeemed within four days from the date of such notice, one copy of which notice shall be posted in or near the office of such justice by the constable or marshal, and another copy of such notice shall be served by the constable or marshal on the owner or owners of such animal, if they be known, in like manner as a summons in a civil suit, and another copy of such notice shall be by him delivered to the officer having charge of stray-books in his jurisdiction and be by him immediately recorded in his book of strays and return such notice to such justice. (Laws 1877, p. 194, sec. 1.)

Sec. 5. Sale of animal, when directed and how conducted.—It shall be the duty of such justice, on the return day of such notice, the same or another notice issued by such justice having been first returned executed by such constable or marshal, unless such animal shall have been redeemed, to adjudge whether such animal was arrested in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, and if so, to make an order for the sale of such animal, and direct the same to such constable or marshal, whose duty it shall be to give notice of such sale by hand-bills containing such description of the animal to be sold, and the time, terms and place of sale, which hand-bills shall be put up by such constable or marshal at five of the most public places in the county, township, ward, town or city for which such constable or marshal may be acting, and deliver or send one to any person who such constable or marshal has reason to believe is the owner of such animal. Such sale shall be to the highest bidder for cash at public vendue, and so advertised for at least four days before the same takes place. Such constable or marshal, in the meantime, shall securely keep such animal in some place provided by him for that purpose, and feed the same plentifully. (Laws 1877, p. 194, sec. 2.)

Sec. 6. Release of animals, when claimed.—Whenever any person shall claim such animal so held, and make application for the return of the same before sale, such justice, upon being satisfied that the person so applying is the owner of the same, shall make an order for the delivery of the same to the applicant upon the payment of the costs and expenses incurred, and such justice shall note on the margin of the description kept by him of such animal, the date of such order and to whom given, which entries shall be open for inspection at all times by any person, free of charge. (Laws 1877, p. 195, sec. 3.)

Sec. 7. Certificate to be given in case of redemption.—When such animal is redeemed at any time before sale, such constable or marshal shall give to the party redeeming the same a certificate of redemption, and include in the same a bill of all costs and charges upon such animal, which costs and charges shall be paid by the party redeeming the same, and when a sale shall have been made under this chapter, he shall give to the purchaser, upon payment of the amount bid, a bill of sale, in which shall be stated the amount of the costs and charges attending the proceedings, which bill of sale shall be in the following form:

Sold, this — day of —, a domestic animal, described as follows: (here copy description in notice), for the sum of — dollars, the receipt for which is hereby acknowledged—said sale having been made in conformity with the stock law. Cost and charges $—. —, constable (or marshal), and shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity of the proceedings and ownership of the animal; and the owner of such animal at the time the same was arrested shall be entitled to redeem the same at any time within six months after the day of sale, by paying to the purchaser all costs included in the bill of sale, with ten per cent per annum interest and the other costs and a reasonable compensation, to be determined by such justice, for keeping the same; but before the purchaser shall deliver up to any applicant such animal, such applicant shall obtain from such justice a certificate, which shall be noted in like manner as an order, to the effect that he is satisfied that such applicant is the owner of the same, and upon presentation of such certificate to such purchaser by such applicant, he shall have the right to redeem such animal, and no person purchasing at such sale shall sell such animal under six months from the date of such purchase, under a penalty of double the value of such animal, to be recovered by the former owner in a civil action. And in all proceedings under this article any party demanding the same shall have the right of a trial by jury. (Laws 1877, p. 195, sec. 4.)

Sec. 8. Proceeds of sale, how disposed of.—After any such animal shall have been redeemed as aforesaid, the purchaser at such sale shall be entitled to the remainder of the proceeds of the sale of the same, after deducting the amount of the costs and expenses paid to said officers, and the owner of such animal at the time the same was arrested shall be entitled to the remainder of such proceeds of sale after a like deduction, unless he shall elect to redeem the same. (Laws 1877, p. 195, sec. 5.)

Sec. 9. Fees of officers.—There shall be charged and collected by the officers charged with the enforcement of this article, the following fees: The constable or marshal shall receive for each head of horse, cattle, mule or ass arrested or received by him, as above provided, one dollar, and for each head of swine, sheep or goat, fifty cents; and for the impounding and keeping of each head of the former class, twenty-five cents per day, and the latter class, ten cents per day, and a reasonable compensation, to be determined by such justice, for the food given the same, and for advertising and selling the same, the same fees as are allowed for selling under executions from justices' courts. Such justice shall charge and receive the sum of ten cents per hundred words and figures for all records had in the premises, and the same for any other act required to be done by him as may be allowed by law for similar services in other proceedings, and the officer for recording such notice the same fees as for recording certificates of strays. And any constable or marshal who shall fail or refuse to perform any duty imposed upon him by this article shall forfeit his office, and the tribunal having power to fill such vacancy shall remove him and appoint another in his place. (Laws 1877, p. 196, sec. 6.)

Sec. 10. Dispositions of proceeds of sale.—The proceeds of all sales provided for in this article, after deducting the costs and charges herein allowed, shall be retained in the hands of the constable or marshal making such sale, and his successor in office, for the proper payment of which he and his bondsmen shall be responsible, which net amounts, together with amounts paid to claimants, shall be reported, giving dates of receipts and payments under oath or affirmation by him at the end of every three months, beginning on the first day of July, 1877, to the treasurer of public funds for his jurisdiction, and if such balance of proceeds of any sale remain in his hands for the period of one year, the same shall be paid to such treasurer for the use of the public schools, and any failure to pay over any such sum for a period of thirty days after the same shall have become payable by him, shall subject such constable or marshal and his sureties to the payment of the same and interest at the rate of ten per cent per month, and an action shall be prosecuted for the payment of the same in the name of the state of Missouri for the use of such school fund. (Laws 1877, p. 196, sec. 7.)

Sec. 11. Animals from adjoining county.—If any animal, the owner of which resides in a county adjoining St. Louis county, and keeps such animal in such adjoining county, strays over the southern or western boundary line of said county anywhere between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, for a distance not exceeding one mile from such county line, the same may be arrested by any citizen as provided in the first section of this article; but no further proceedings shall be had in such case, and no costs or charges shall be enforced against such owner, unless upon notice given him in writing by the party having such animal in charge, that the same has been so arrested, and he fails or refuses, for a period of two days after the service of such notice, to take such animal out of St. Louis county. (Laws 1877, p. 196, sec. 8.)

CHAPTER TWO. (A)

ART MUSEUM.*

Sec. 11a. Authority for tax for art museum.—When one hundred taxpayers of any city in this state which now has or may hereafter have four hundred thousand inhabitants or more shall petition the proper authorities asking that an annual tax of one-fifth of a mill on the dollar annually on all the taxable property in such city shall be levied for the establishment, maintenance or extension of a museum of art for the benefit of the public in such city, and shall ask that the question whether such a tax shall be levied be submitted to the voters of the city at a special or regular election, provided no special tax for an art museum shall then be subject to be levied, the proper authorities shall, if the petition specify a special election, call a special election, and the proper authorities shall, in legal notice of the special election or of the next regular election, if a special election be not specified in said petition, give notice that at such election every voter may vote "for a one-fifth mill tax for the art museum," or "against a one-fifth mill tax for the art museum," and if the majority of all the votes cast in such city upon such proposition for and against a one-fifth mill tax for the art museum shall be for the tax, the tax specified in such notice shall be levied and collected in like manner with other general taxes of said city, and the proceeds of said tax shall be known as "the art museum fund:" Provided, that such tax shall cease in case the legal voters of such city shall so determine by a majority vote at any annual election held therein: Provided further, however, that when a majority of the voters of such city shall have voted for a one-fifth mill tax for an art museum, the authorities, officials or representatives of the city whose duty it shall be to fix the tax rate for such city shall have the tax for an art museum at the rate specified in consideration in fixing the tax rate, and shall so fix said rate that with and including such tax for an art museum the constitutional limitation upon the taxing power of such city shall not be exceeded. (Laws 1907, p. 94, sec. 1.)

*This act of March 7, 1907, providing for the Art Museum (Session Laws 1907, p. 94), did not appear in time to be included in numerical order in the compilation, so is inserted here with alphabetical letters after the numerals. The authority conferred to submit the question, whether the tax for the art museum should be imposed, to the voters, was exercised by the city in ordinance 22903, approved March 19, 1907. The vote resulted in favor of the tax, and the museum was established in Forest Park.

Sec. 11b. Definition—Requirements.—An art museum for the benefit of the public for the purpose of this act shall be an institution for the collection and exhibition of pictures, statuary and other works of art, or whatever else may be of artistic interest and appropriate for exhibition in an art gallery or museum, for instruction in art, and in general, for the promotion by all proper means of aesthetic or artistic education, which shall conform to the following requirements: The exhibition galleries shall be open free to the public under proper and reasonable rules and regulations during suitable hours for a reasonable number of days in each week, including as a usual custom public holidays; and if admission fees or charges shall be collected at any time, the amounts thereof shall be held for expenditure only for the maintenance or extension of the art galleries and collection or other proper work of the institution as specified herein. (Ib., sec. 2.)

Sec. 11c. Appointment of board of control.—When in any city it shall have been decided by a vote in the manner provided in section 1 of this act [sec. 11a supra] that a tax shall be levied for an art museum, the mayor of such city shall, with the approval of the legislative branch of the municipal government, proceed to appoint an administrative board of nine members to control the expenditure of the art museum fund, unless and except there shall be at the time already constituted and in existence, operation and authority, an administrative board endowed by city ordinance or other legal authority with power to occupy or administer public property devoted by law to the uses of an art museum located in a public park or upon public property by virtue of municipal authority; and if there shall be such a board, such board and its successors shall be the board of control for the art museum fund under this act for all the purposes and possessing all the powers and charged with all the duties provided for such board in this act. (Ib., p. 95, sec. 3.)

Sec. 11d. Term of office—removal.—Said administrative board of control shall, when appointed by the mayor as provided by the preceding section, immediately assemble and elect one of its members to be president, and elect such other officers as it may deem necessary, and its members shall, at their first meeting, divide themselves into three classes, holding office one-third for one year, one-third for two years, and one-third for three years, dating from the first of June following their appointment, and annually thereafter said board shall, before the first of June of each year, elect members for the class whose terms are then expired and to fill vacancies in other classes, and said board shall have power, by and with the consent of the mayor and the legislative branch of the municipal government of said city, to add to its numbers and to adopt a by-law regulating the manner in which its members shall be chosen. The members of said board shall hold office for three years and until their successors are chosen, and no member of any board herein provided for shall receive compensation as such. The mayor may, by and with the consent of the legislative branch of the municipal government, remove any member of the board for misconduct or neglect of duty, and no member so removed shall be eligible to appointment upon said board thereafter. (Ib., sec. 4.)

Sec. 11e. By-laws—powers of board—finances.—Said board of control shall make and adopt such by-laws, rules and regulations for its own guidance and for the election of its members and for the administration of the art museum fund as they may deem expedient, and as may not be inconsistent with this act; they shall have exclusive control of the expenditure of all moneys collected to the credit of the art museum fund, and of the construction and maintenance of any art museum building built or maintained, in whole or in part, with the moneys of said fund, and of the supervision, care and custody of the grounds, rooms or buildings constructed, leased or set apart for the purpose of an art museum under the authority conferred by this act: Provided, however, that all moneys received for such art museum fund shall be deposited in the treasury of said city to the credit of the art museum fund, and shall be kept separate and apart from other moneys of such city, and shall be drawn upon by the proper officers of such city upon the properly authenticated vouchers of the art museum board. Said board shall have the power to purchase or lease ground and to occupy, lease or erect an appropriate building or buildings for the use of said art museum; shall have power to appoint a director and necessary assistants and fix their compensation, and shall also have power to remove such appointees, and shall in general carry out the spirit and intent of this act in establishing and maintaining an art museum. (Ib., sec. 5.)

Sec. 11f. Museum, how far free to public—further powers of board.—Every art museum established under this act, or established or maintained in whole or in part from the proceeds of an art museum fund established under this act, shall be forever free to the use of the inhabitants of the city wherein it shall be located, so long as the art museum tax shall continue to be operative therein, subject always to such reasonable rules and regulations as the administrative board may adopt in order to render the use of such art museum of the greatest benefit and efficiency to the greatest number: Provided, however, that said board of control shall have power to exclude from the use of said art museum any and all persons who shall willfully violate such rules, and shall have power to make a reasonable charge for admission to the galleries or classes upon certain days other than public holidays, within their discretion, and shall have power to extend the privileges and uses of such museum to persons residing outside of said city upon such terms and conditions as said board may from time to time by its regulations prescribe. (Ib., p. 96, sec. 6.)

Sec. 11g. Report by board.—The said board of control shall make, before the second Monday in June, an annual report to the legislative branch of the municipal government, stating the condition of their trust on the first day of May of that year, the various sums of money received from the art museum fund and from other sources and how such moneys have been expended and for what purposes, the number and character of the acquisitions to the collections added by purchase, gift or otherwise during the year, together with the number at the beginning of the year, and such information and suggestion as they may deem of general interest. All such portions of said report as relate to the receipt and expenditure of money, as well as to the number and value of the collections and description and value of the property, shall be verified by affidavit. (Ib., sec. 7.)

Sec. 11h. What ordinances city may enact.—The legislative authority of said city shall have power to enact ordinances imposing suitable penalties for the punishment of persons committing injury upon said art museum or the grounds or collections or property thereof. (Ib., sec. 8.)

Sec. 11i. Donations and bequests—title how vested.—Any person desiring to make loans of art objects, or donations, devises or bequests of money, objects of art or other personal property or real estate, for the benefit of such art museum, shall have the right to vest the title to such property so donated, devised or bequeathed in the board of control provided for by this act, to be held and controlled by such board, when accepted according to the terms of the deed, gift, devise or bequest of such property, and as to such property the said board shall be held and considered to be special trustees, and said board shall have power to accept the trust of such donations, devises or bequests. (Ib., sec. 9.)

Sec. 11j. Emergency.—The fact that many cities and towns in this state have no art museum established therein creates an emergency within the meaning of the Constitution; therefore, this act, shall take effect and be in force upon and after its passage. (Ib., p. 97, sec. 10.)

CHAPTER THREE.

BONDS, INDEMNIFYING, TO OFFICERS.*

Sec. 12. Bond may be exacted, when.—When any sheriff, marshal, constable or other duly authorized officer shall levy an execution or attachment on any personal property, and any person other than the defendant in such execution or attachment shall claim such property or any interest therein, such officer may demand of the plaintiff or his agent, in such execution or attachment, a sufficient indemnification bond, with at least two good and sufficient sureties, to be approved of by such officer, and may refuse to execute such execution or attachment until such indemnification bond be given. (Laws 1855, p. 464, sec. 1; R. S. 1899, p. 2550.)

Sec. 13. Form of bond.—Such bond shall be made payable to the State of Missouri, conditioned that such plaintiff will pay to such claimant all damages that he, the said claimant, may sustain in consequence of such levy, and in consequence of any sale which may be made under or by virtue of such execution or attachment; and the officer taking such bond shall return the same with such execution or attachment. (Laws 1855, p. 464, sec. 2; R. S. 1899, p. 2550.)

Sec. 14. Claim to be in writing.—No claim made to any personal property levied on as aforesaid shall be valid or lawful as against such officer, unless such claimant or his agent shall set forth his claim in writing, verified by the affidavit of such claimant or his agent, describing the property claimed and stating his interest therein, and whether it is in the whole or only part thereof, and stating also that he is in good faith the lawful owner of the interest claimed by him in said property; that the defendant in such execution or attachment has no right or title, directly or indirectly, in the interest in said property claimed by said claimant, and that such claim is not made in collusion with said defendant for the purpose of vexing, hindering or delaying the plaintiff in obtaining his just rights. (Laws 1855, p. 464, sec. 3; R. S. 1899, p. 2550.)

*Sec. 6 of the act of 1859 (see infra), makes the act applicable only to the county (now city) of St. Louis. The amendment of 1859 (Laws 1858-9, p. 440; see also State ex rel. vs. Lumber Co., 170 Mo. 11-12) does not repeal the act of 1855 as to condition of the bond; and the claim must be made in conformity with the statute or the officer will not be protected: St. Louis Dairy Co. vs. Sauer, 16 Mo. App. 1. The officer may waive a formal written claim to property seized and, notwithstanding the informality of the claim, the claimant may maintain an action on the indemnity bond: State vs. Smit, 20 Mo. App. 50. This statute is local to St. Louis and emphasizes the fact that a failure to provide a similar remedy throughout the State is a casus omissus of the Legislature: Smith ex rel. vs. Rogers, 191 Mo. 334, 342. The constitutionality of the act was attacked, but not much discussed in State ex rel. vs. Lumber Co., 170 Mo. 7.

Sec. 15. Action on bond.—If the claimant shall be injured or damaged in consequence of any levy or sale under or by virtue of such execution or attachment, and shall in good faith be the owner of the interest claimed by him in the property levied on or sold as aforesaid, he, the said claimant, may bring a civil action on such bond in the name of the state, to his own use, against such plaintiff and his sureties, or any or either of them, in the usual manner of bringing actions on penal bonds, or may proceed thereon by motion in open court, first giving to the parties proceeded against in said bond twenty days' notice of such motion. (Laws 1855, p. 465, sec. 4; R. S. 1899, p. 2551.)

Sec. 16. Officer, when not liable.—When said sheriff or other officer aforesaid shall take an indemnification bond as aforesaid, with good and sufficient security, he shall not be liable to such claimant for any damage or injury sustained by such claimant in consequence of such levy or sale under or by virtue of such execution or attachment. (Laws 1855, p. 465, sec 5; R. S. 1899, p. 2551.)

Sec. 17. Officer, when liable.—If the security in such indemnification bond shall be adjudged insufficient, such sheriff or other officer aforesaid and his securities shall be liable to all parties injured in the same manner and to the same extent as if no such indemnification bond had ever been given, unless an additional indemnification bond be given and approved by the court or judge thereof, as hereinafter provided. (Laws 1855, p. 465, sec. 6.)

Sec. 18. Objections, how made.—No objections to the security in any such indemnification bond shall be allowed, if the same be not made by or for the party interested therein, in writing, within the first six days after the return day of such execution or attachment, unless the time for making such objections be extended for good cause by the court, and all of said objections shall be made in the court to which such writ is returnable, and not elsewhere. (Laws 1855, p. 465, sec 7; R. S. 1899, p. 2551.)

Sec. 19. Effect of overruling objections.—If such objections shall be overruled by the court, such indemnification bond, and the security therein, shall be deemed good and sufficient, so far as the liability of such sheriff or other officer aforesaid is concerned; but if such security shall be adjudged insufficient, the court may, on motion of said claimant or sheriff, or other officer aforesaid, order an additional indemnification bond to be given and filed in the suit within a certain time fixed by the court, and if such additional bond shall be given, and the security therein be approved of by such court, or the judge thereof, then such sheriff or other officer aforesaid shall be entitled to the protection of this act, the same as if he had taken good and sufficient indemnification bond. (Laws 1855, p. 465, sec 8; R. S. 1899, p. 2551.)

Sec. 20. Officer, when not protected.—If such indemnification bond shall not be given within the time fixed by the court, then, and in that case, the officer levying or selling shall not be protected under this act, but the court may, in its discretion, order the said sheriff or other officer aforesaid not to pay over to the plaintiff any money made, acquired, received or obtained under or by virtue of any such levy or sale, until such additional bond be given and approved by such court or judge. (Laws 1855, p. 465, sec 9; R. S. 1899, p. 2551.)

Sec. 21. Proceedings in case of more than one claimant.—Where more than one claim is made to any property levied on by any sheriff, marshal, constable or other duly authorized officer, the same proceedings shall take place in regard to each of such claims as is prescribed in regard to a claim in this act, and in the act to which it is amendatory. (Laws 1858-9, p. 438, sec 1; R. S. 1899, p. 2552.)

Sec. 22. Claim to state value of property.—Every claim made under this act, or the act to which it is amendatory, shall state the value of the property or interest claimed, and the indemnification bond demandable of the plaintiff or his agent shall be in double the value stated in the claim; but if such value is objected to by the plaintiff or his agent, the officer having the property in custody shall proceed to ascertain the real value of such property or interest claimed, in the same manner as is prescribed by the law for the time being for the valuation of property exempt from execution; and in such cases said indemnification bond shall be in double the value of such property or interest as ascertained by such appraisement. Any indemnification bond taken as aforesaid, with good and sufficient security, shall be deemed an indemnification bond within the meaning of the act to which this act is amendatory; and every such indemnification bond shall be conditioned as the bond which, by the thirtieth section of the "act to regulate executions," approved December 1, 1855, chapter 63 of the Revised Statutes of 1855, the plaintiff may tender to the sheriff after claim made to goods levied on under execution. (Laws 1858-9, p. 439, sec. 2; R. S. 1899, p. 2552.)

Sec. 23. When court may require bond.—Whenever suit is brought against any sheriff, marshal, constable or other duly authorized officer, or his sureties, or the representatives of any of them, on account of any levy on or sale of any property, or interest therein, and notice of such levy or sale was made, said court shall not order the payment of the proceeds of such sale to the party or parties who may appear to be entitled to the same, unless such parties shall have given a bond, as required in the preceding section of this act, or shall forthwith give such bond. The court in which such suit is brought may, in its discretion, permit any person who has given bond as aforesaid to be joined as defendant in such suit. If, in any such suit, the plaintiff shall establish his right to any property or interest levied on or sold as aforesaid, the officer against whom such suit is brought, his sureties and the legal representatives of any of them, shall thereupon have a right to recover back any money paid as made on the levy or sale to which such suit related, and if such levy or sale was made by direction or authority of any person interested in the same, or his agent, shall also have a right to recover of the person so directing or authorizing such levy or sale, all damages which such officer, his sureties or the legal representatives of any of them, may have paid on account of any such levy or sale. (Laws 1858-9, p. 440, sec. 3; R. S. 1899, p. 2552.)

Sec. 24. Proceedings for the distribution of money, etc.—Whenever money made on any execution or executions, or other writ or writs, is brought into the court out of which the eldest of such executions or other writs was issued, such court shall order the distribution or payment of such money on the motion of any person interested therein, and on such notice as the court may, by rule or otherwise, direct. On his compliance with such order, the officer returning such execution or executions, or other writ or writs, shall be discharged of his liability for such money; but from any such final order an appeal shall lie as in other cases, and nothing herein contained shall be construed to discharge any officer from liability for not properly executing any process, or for a false return thereon. (Laws 1858-9, p. 440, sec. 4; R. S. 1899, p. 2552.)

Sec. 25. Bond under claim for specific property.—In a suit for the possession of specific personal property, the bond required of the plaintiff, and that which may be given by the defendant, shall be in double the sum stated in the affidavit as the value of the property claimed; but the defendant or his agent may, on the taking of the property claimed, or at any time before the delivery of the same to the plaintiff, demand in writing, an appraisement thereof, which appraisement shall then be made in the same manner as by the law, for the time being, appraisement is directed to be made of property exempt from execution; and if such appraised value exceed the value stated in the affidavit, then such property shall not be delivered to the plaintiff unless a new bond be given in double such appraised value, and in other respects similar to the bond required of the plaintiff, by the law for the time being, before the delivery of property so claimed. (Laws 1858-9, p. 440, sec. 5.)

Sec. 26. Nature and extent of this act.—This act, and the act to which it is amendatory, shall be public acts, and shall apply only to the county (city) of St. Louis; and this act shall take effect from its passage. Approved March 14, 1859. (Laws 1858-9, p. 440, sec. 6; R. S. 1899, p. 2553—e.)

(a) See also Laws 1903, p. 57. For ordinance authorizing issuance of bonds for free bridge across the Mississippi from St. Louis, see ord. No. 22366. The validity of these bonds was sustained by the circuit court and at this writing the matter is pending after submission in the Supreme Court in the case of Haeussler et al vs. St. Louis et al. And for acts of Congress relative to a bridge across that river at St. Louis, see act approved June 25, 1906, (requiring same to be built as required by act of March 23, 1906) and see also act of Feb. 27, 1901. That the city has no power to cause or permit obstruction of a navigable stream, such being a national highway, see West Chicago Ry. vs. Chicago, 201 U. S. 506; State ex rel. vs. Longfellow, 169 Mo. 109; Myers vs. St. Louis, 82 Mo. 367, affirming s. c. 8 Mo. App. 266; see also s. c. 113 U. S. 566.

As there may be some question as to how far the then existing laws are affected, the latter are set out in full in the next succeeding sections.

(b) The amendment by Session Laws 1907 consists in omitting the words "and one assistant circuit attorney."

(c) Presumably this section is to be regarded as superseded.

(d) Office and functions of assistant prosecuting attorney not abolished by Laws 1877, p. 354; information properly lodged with that officer: State vs. Speritus, 191 Mo. 24, 38; State vs. Daly, 49 Mo. App. 184. An Assistant may generally act in the same manner and to the same extent as the Prosecuting Attorney: Browne's Appeal, 69 Mo. App. 159 (Kansas City officer).

(e) See Laws 1905, secs. 5 and 6, as amended by Laws 1907, p. 70, set out below, with respect to compensation. The act of 1907 amends the above section 31 by omitting the words "and assistant Circuit attorneys."

Sec. 59. Criminal causes—general term arrange docket—grand jury to attend.—Immediately upon the taking effect of this act, or as soon thereafter as may be practicable, the judges of the circuit court of the city of St. Louis sitting in general term, shall assign three or more of their number, who shall sit separately for the trial of criminal causes then or thereafter pending in said court, and for the disposition of such other business arising under the criminal jurisdiction of the court as may come before it, and to whom thereupon shall be transferred for trial and disposition in such proportions between themselves as said court in general term shall determine. The judges so assigned for the trial of said criminal cases and the disposition of other business arising under the criminal jurisdiction, shall try and dispose of the cases so transferred to them, and conduct the business arising under said criminal jurisdiction during such time or times as the court in general term may direct, and said general term shall from time to time replace the judges so assigned to try such criminal cases and despatch said criminal business with others of its members selected by it to that end and as far as practicable alternately and in rotation, so that from time to time each of their number shall in turn serve in the transaction of the criminal business of the court [unless the judges, sitting in general term, shall, in their discretion, excuse any member of the court from so serving].

And it shall be the duty of the judges sitting in general term to at all times so arrange the dockets of said court that the trial and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings shall have precedence over those of civil action pending therein, and to that end shall from time to time assign as many judges of said court for the trial of criminal causes as may be necessary. After the taking effect of this act, a grand jury shall be summoned each term to attend upon such divisions assigned to criminal business as said court in general term may direct. It shall be charged with regard to its duties by the judge of said court sitting in said division, and it shall return all indictments by it found and deliver all reports by it made into said division. (Laws 1905, p. 127, sec. 4; and Laws 1905, p. 128, sec. 35—l.)

Sec. 60. Inconsistent acts repealed.—All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed. (Laws 1905, p. 128, sec. 5.)

Sec. 61. Jurisdiction of common pleas, land and law commissioner's court transferred to the circuit court.—On the first day of January, 1866, all jurisdiction then vested in the Saint Louis court of common pleas, the St. Louis land court and the law commissioner's court of St. Louis county, and all powers then vested in the judges of said courts, shall be transferred to, vested in and thereafter exercised by the circuit court of St. Louis county [city] and the judges thereof, as said court

Under the power to increase the number of judges, statutes to that effect were from time to time enacted, the present statute fixing the number at twelve, as per next section. The last prior law created two new judges (then making eleven) and appears in Laws 1903, p. 142; the number was made nine in 1895: Laws 1895, p. 121.

(l) The portion enclosed in brackets is an amendment to the old law, and was passed at the 1905 session, being approved April 6, 1905, while at the same session another act incorporating the remaining provisions was enacted, being approved March 21, 1905. Reading the two together, it is thought the law is as appears above. This section supersedes the former law as appears infra in Sec. 84.

Sec. 62. Unfinished business of said courts transferred to circuit court.—On that day, all unfinished business remaining in any of said first named three courts shall be transferred to said circuit court, by which the same shall be proceeded with, determined and closed up in the same manner as might have been done by those courts, respectively, if they had continued in existence. In all cases so transferred the said circuit court shall take judicial notice of all entries of record made therein before the transfer thereof. (Laws 1865-6, p. 71, sec. 2; R. S. 1899, p. 2534, sec. 3.)

Sec. 63. Certain cases to be remanded to circuit court from supreme court.—All cases which, prior to said day, may have been taken by appeal or writ of error from any of said first named three courts to the Supreme Court shall, upon any decision of the Supreme Court thereafter made remanding the same, be remanded to said circuit court and be there proceeded with as if the same had been taken from that court; and if any party to an action or proceeding in any of said first named three courts shall, on or after said day, desire to sue out a writ of error therein, such writ shall be directed to the said circuit court, and be returned by the clerk thereof. (Laws 1865-6, p. 72, sec. 3; R. S. 1899, p. 2534, sec. 4.)

Sec. 64. Judgments of said courts enforced in circuit court—liens and executions.—All judgments, orders and decrees of the said first named three courts remaining unsatisfied, unperformed or unexecuted, shall be enforced by the said circuit court, in the same manner as if the same had been rendered or made therein. The lien of all such judgments and decrees shall continue as if the laws establishing said courts were still in force, and may be revived by the said circuit court, in the manner provided by law for reviving the lien of its own judgments and decrees; and the clerk of said circuit court may, whenever required, issue execution on any such judgment or decree in any case authorized by law. (Laws 1865-6, p. 72, sec. 4; R. S. 1899, p. 2534, sec. 5.)

Sec. 65. Return of certain process and proceedings thereon.—All writs, rules, process and orders issued or made by any of said first named three courts, and returnable to any term of either of said courts, which would be held after the day aforesaid if said courts continued in existence, and which shall not have been returned before that day, shall be valid, and be returned to said circuit court at such times as they would respectfully have been returnable in said courts; and the said circuit court may enforce the return thereof. And defendants, in orders against non-resident, absent or unknown defendant, and in writs of summons or attachments, shall plead to the action within the first six days of the first return term of said circuit court, which shall be held on or after the day said orders or writs shall be respectively returnable, and the said court shall have the same power to conform or set aside sales made under orders of or under executions issued by either of the first named three courts mentioned in the first section of said act, as the said courts respectively possessed prior to the first day of January, A. D. eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and also all other powers possessed by said courts respectively prior to that date in relation to the said writs, rules, process and order. (Laws 1865-6, p. 76, sec. 2; amended Laws 1865-6, p. 72, sec. 5; R. S. 1899, p. 2534, sec. 6.)

And the said circuit court shall have the same power and control over the books, papers and records so transferred, including the power to alter and amend the same as in cases allowed by law, as it has or may have over its own books, papers and records. (Laws 1865-6, p. 72, sec. 6; R. S. 1899, p. 2534, sec. 7.)

Sec. 67. Change of venue.—After the day aforesaid, no change of venue shall be allowed by the said circuit court for the cause that any one judge thereof is interested or prejudiced, or related to, or has been counsel for, or is under the undue influence of either party; but if any such cause exist as to any two of the judges thereof, a change of venue may be allowed to some other circuit court, or to the St. Louis criminal court, which court shall have jurisdiction to try and determine any case sent to it by such change of venue. Every application for a change of venue shall be made to said circuit court at the general term. (Laws 1865-6, p. 72, sec. 7; R. S. 1899, p. 2535, sec. 8.)

Sec. 69. General term, how organized.—The said circuit court, after the day aforesaid, shall hold general terms and special terms, as the business thereof may require. But all rules for the government of the court at special term shall be the same before each of the judges at such term. (Laws 1865-6, p. 73, part of section 14; other part repealed by constitution 1875; R. S. 1899, p. 2535, sec. 11—m.)

Sec. 71. General term—business to be classified and distributed.—The said court may classify, arrange and distribute the business thereof among the several judges, as the majority of them may deem expedient, and each judge shall attend to the business of the court in conformity with the arrangement thereof made by the majority, and, when not occupied with the business assigned to him, shall, as far as practicable, aid the other judges, to which end cases may be sent from one judge to another at special term, as the individual judges may agree and direct. (Laws 1865-6, p. 73, sec. 15; R. S. 1899, p. 2535, sec. 12—n.)

Sec. 73. Special terms defined.—A special term is where only one judge presides, and is for the trial of causes, and the transaction of all other business not specified in the next preceding section, and each judge at special term, with that exception, shall have and exercise all the powers and functions which he might have and exercise if he were the sole judge of the court. (Laws 1865-6, p. 73, sec. 11; R. S. 1899, p. 2536, sec. 14—o.)

Sec. 74. Power of special term over its judgments.—The said court shall have the same power, at special term, to vacate or modify its own judgments, decrees or orders rendered or made at such term, as if the said court were constituted with a single judge. (Laws 1865-6, p. 73, sec. 13; R. S. 1899, p. 2536, sec. 15.)

Sec. 75. Powers of judges in vacation.—Each judge of the said circuit court, in vacation, shall have and exercise the same powers that he might have and exercise if he were the sole judge of said court. (Laws 1865-6, p. 76, sec. 1; R. S. 1899, p. 2536, sec. 16—p.)

Sec. 76. Judge's fee—costs of clerk regulated.—From and after the first day of January, 1866, the plaintiff in every action instituted in said circuit court and appellant in every appeal case brought into said court, shall, at the time of instituting his action or filing the transcript in the case appealed, pay to the clerk of said court the sum of one dollar, to be known as the judge's fee, and no writ shall be issued in any such action, or transcript filed in any such appeal case, unless such fee be so paid. On the first Monday of every month the clerk of said court shall pay into the treasury of the county of St. Louis, for the use of said county, all judge's fees received by him during the preceding month in pursuance of this section, and from and after the said first day of January, 1866, the clerk of said

Sec. 80. Cases triable, when.—Suits instituted in said circuit court shall be triable at the return term thereof in all cases in which the defendants have been summoned personally, or by copies left at their usual place of abode with a member of their families over the age of fifteen years, at least fifteen days before the first day of such term, unless continued for good cause shown, as required by the law or rules of court. (Laws 1868, p. 41, amending laws 1865-6, p. 76, sec. 3. R. S. 1899 p. 2536, sec. 20.)

His salary shall be the same amount per annum as that now paid the present judge of said court, and shall be paid in the same manner and out of the same moneys as that of said present judge is now paid. (Ib., p 131, sec. 2—q.)

Sec. 83. Terms of court—officers and their duties.—The terms of said criminal court shall, until changed by law, continue to be the same as they now are, and each division thereof shall sit for the trial of causes and other business at each of the said terms. All cases, proceedings and other business arising and coming within the jurisdiction of said court, after the appointment of said additional judge, shall, upon its so arising, be assigned to said two divisions respectively for determination and disposition, in such manner as said judges, or a majority of them and said circuit judge, may direct. Each division of said court shall have full power to carry out and enforce all judgments, decrees or orders which have been rendered or made before the appointment and qualification of said additional judge, the same as said court might have done if this act had not been passed. A grand jury may be summoned to attend upon said court sitting in division number one, at each term thereof. It shall be charged with regard to its duties by the judge who shall be presiding in said division number one and shall return all indictments found and deliver all reports made by it into the said division. In case of the absence from said city, sickness or other disability of either of said judges, the other of them may sit and dispose of the business of the division of the one so absent, sick or otherwise disabled from attending thereto.] (Ib., p. 131, sec. 4. The lien of all such judgments and decrees shall continue as if the laws establishing said court were still in force, and may be revived by the said circuit court, in the manner provided by law for reviving the lien of its own judgments and decrees; and the clerk for criminal causes of said circuit court may, whenever required, issue execution on any such judgments or decree in any case authorized by law. (Ib., p. 133, sec. 9. R. S. 1899, p. 2538, sec. 30.)

Sec. 90. Writs, rules and process, how returnable.—All writs, rules, process and orders issued or made by said criminal court, and returnable to any term thereof which would be held after the day aforesaid if said court continued in existence, and which shall not have been returned before that day, shall be valid, and be returned to said circuit court at such time as they would respectively have been returnable in said criminal court, and the said circuit court may enforce the return thereof. (Ib., p. 133, sec. 10. R. S. 1899, p. 2539, sec. 31.)

Sec. 91. The judges so assigned for the trial of said criminal cases, and the disposition of other business arising under the criminal jurisdiction, shall try and dispose of the cases so transferred to them, and conduct the business arising under said criminal jurisdiction during such time or times as the court, in general term, may direct, and said general term shall, from time to time, replace the judges so assigned to try said criminal cases and dispatch said criminal business, with others of its members selected by it to that end, and, as far as practicable, alternately and in rotation, so that from time to time each of their number shall in turn serve in the transaction of the criminal business of the court. And it shall be the duty of the judges sitting in general term to at all times so arrange the dockets of said court as [so] that the trial and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings shall have precedence over those of civil actions pending therein, and to that end they shall from time to time assign as many judges of said court for the trial of criminal cases as may be necessary. From and after said day in January, 1897, and until the first Monday of January, 1899, whoever may be the clerk of the said criminal court on the day before the first Monday of January, 1897, shall perform the duties hereby cast upon said circuit clerk for criminal causes of said circuit court, and hold and exercise the office of such clerk. He shall for his services receive the same fees and compensation as by the law in force on said first Monday of January, 1897, is allowed to said clerk of said criminal court for like services, but not retaining in any year a greater amount of fees than under the law now in force is allowed to be retained by him for his services as clerk of said criminal court. He shall, on or before said first Monday of January, 1897, enter into a bond, payable to the state of Missouri, with good and sufficient securities, resident in said city, to the satisfaction of a majority of the judges, of said circuit court, in a sum not less than five thousand dollars, and as much more as a majority of said judges may require, conditioned that he will faithfully perform the duties of the office of circuit clerk for criminal causes of the circuit court of the city of St. Louis, and pay over all moneys which may come to his hand by virtue of his office, and that he, his executors or administrators, will deliver to his successor, safe and undamaged, all books, records, papers, seals, apparatus and furniture of his office of circuit clerk for criminal causes as aforesaid. At the general election in November, 1898, and every four years thereafter, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of said city a circuit clerk for criminal causes of the circuit court of the city of St. Louis, who, when so elected, shall be commissioned by the governor, and shall enter upon the discharge of his duties upon the first Monday of January ensuing his election. He shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successors shall be duly elected and qualified, unless sooner removed from office. He shall receive for his services the same fees as are or may be allowed to other circuit clerks in the state for like services, but not retaining in any year for his salary and services a greater amount of the fees of his office than under the law as now in force is allowed to be retained by the clerk of said criminal court. He shall use in the attestation of all writs and papers issued or made by him which are required to be under seal, the seal of said circuit court. (Ib., p. 134, sec. 14; R. S. 1899, p. 2540, sec. 36.)

Sec. 95. Circuit and assistant circuit attorney shall manage and conduct all criminal causes—compensation.—On and after the first Monday of January, 1897, the circuit attorney and the assistant circuit attorney of the city of St. Louis shall manage and conduct all criminal cases, business and proceedings of which said circuit court shall have jurisdiction, in like manner as under the laws now in force they are required to manage and conduct the like cases and business of which the said St. Louis criminal court now has jurisdiction. Their compensation respectively shall, after said day, be the same as it now is, and be paid in the same manner as is now provided by law. (Ib., p. 135, sec. 15; R. S. 1899, p. 2541, sec. 37.)

Sec. 96. Changes of venue, how effected.—After said first Monday of January, 1897, changes of venue shall be allowed from said circuit court in any criminal case pending therein, for any cause for which such changes are or may be allowed from other courts of this state having criminal jurisdiction; but whenever such changes is [are] asked on the ground of prejudice, interest, or other legal objection to any of the judges thereof who may have been assigned for the trial of such case, no change shall be awarded, but the case shall be transferred to another division of said court, to which the trial and disposition of criminal cases may have been allotted by the court. (Ib., p. 135, sec. 16; R. S. 1899, p. 2541, sec. 38.)

Sec. 97. Circuit court in general term may make rules to carry act into effect.—The judges of said circuit court sitting in general term are hereby empowered to adopt and promulgate from time to time such rules and regulations as may by them be found to be necessary or expedient to carry this act into effect, and to secure in said city as well an efficient administration of the laws of the state relating to crimes, as a prompt and thorough enforcement of the rights of persons and property under the laws relating to civil actions and procedure. (Ib., p. 135, sec. 17; R. S. 1899, p. 2541, sec. 39.)

Sec. 98. Inconsistent acts repealed.—All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed. (Ib., p. 135, sec. 18.)

Sec. 99. Emergency clause.—The existing delays in the administration of justice in both civil and criminal cases in the city of St. Louis constitute an emergency within the meaning of the constitution; and it is therefore enacted that this act shall take effect from and after its passage. (Ib., p. 135, sec. 19.)

Sec. 100. Amount to be retained by circuit clerks and clerks of criminal courts—appointment of deputies—compensation, etc.—In all counties and cities not within the limits of a county having a population of three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, or such as may hereafter have three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, the clerk of the circuit court of such county or city may retain, out of the fees received by him as such clerk, an amount not exceeding the sum of five thousand dollars per annum for his services as such clerk. In all counties and cities not within the limits of a county, having a population of three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, or such as may hereafter have three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, the clerks of courts having criminal jurisdiction in such city or county shall receive an amount not exceeding five thousand dollars per annum for his salary and service as such clerk, to be retained out of the fees of his office. In all such cities or counties the clerk of such court shall have the right to select and appoint as many deputies, subject to the approval of the court, as may be necessary to perform the duties of his office, and shall fix the compensation of such deputies, not exceeding the sum of twelve thousand dollars in the aggregate, which deputy hire shall be paid out of the fees of his office. At the end of each year such clerk shall make out and return to the treasurers of said counties and cities not within the limits of a county, a full and correct statement of all such fees collected by them during the year, and in the event that the aggregate sum so collected shall not be equal to the amount of their respective salaries and that of their deputies as herein provided, the deficit shall be paid to such clerk out of the treasury of such counties and cities. (Laws 1905, p. 154; amending R. S. 1899, sec. 3271.)

Sec. 101. Emergency clause.—The increase in the number of criminal divisions of circuit courts in this state and the necessity for the increase in clerical force and labor in said courts creates an emergency within the meaning of the constitution, and this act shall take effect and be in force upon its passage. (Ib., sec. 2.)

ARTICLE III.

OF PROBATE COURTS.*

ARTICLE IV.

THE ST. LOUIS COURT OF CRIMINAL CORRECTION.

Sec. 102. Court established.—There is hereby established in the county [city] of St. Louis a court of record, which shall be known and called "the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction." (Laws 1865-6, p. 78, sec. 1; R. S. 1899, p. 2541.)

Sec. 103. A court of record.—Said court of criminal correction shall be a court of record, and shall possess all the powers, and perform the duties, and be subjected to the restrictions of a court of record, according to the laws of this state. (Laws 1869, p. 194, sec. 1; R. S. 1899, p. 2541—t.)

Sec. 104. Election, qualification and terms of judge and officers.—At the general election, every four years, there shall be elected by the qualified voters of St. Louis county [city] a judge and clerk of said court, a prosecuting attorney, to be styled the prosecuting attorney for the [St. Louis] court of criminal correction of St. Louis county, and an assistant prosecuting attorney. Said judge shall possess the qualifications of a judge of the circuit court, and shall hold his office for the term of four years from the time of his election, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified, unless sooner removed from office. Said clerk shall possess the qualifications of a clerk of the circuit court, and be subject to all the requirements and obligations exacted of and imposed by law upon clerks of courts of record, and shall hold his office for the term of four years from the time of his election, and until his successor shall be duly elected and qualified, unless sooner removed from office; and said clerk shall have power, by and with the consent of the judge of said court, to appoint one or more deputies, which said appointment shall be approved by said court; thereupon said court shall fix the salary of said deputy or deputies, and the said salary or salaries shall be paid monthly by the county [city] of St. Louis. Said prosecuting attorney and assistant prosecuting attorney shall possess the same qualifications as required by law for circuit attorneys; they shall hold their office for the term of four years, and until their successors shall be duly elected and qualified, unless sooner removed from office. (Laws 1869, p. 194, sec. 2; R. S. 1899, p. 2542.)

Sec. 105. Appointment, powers and pay of provisional judge.—In the event of the sickness or absence of the judge of said court, the circuit court of St. Louis county [city], or any judge thereof, in vacation, may appoint, for the time being, a provisional judge of said court, who shall possess the qualifications of a judge of the circuit court; and in the absence, sickness or other incapacity to act of the judge of said court, said provisional judge shall have all the power and perform all the duties conferred and imposed by law upon said judge of said court; and if the absence, sickness, or incapacity to act of said judge shall continue, at any time, for a period exceeding one day, it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to certify the same to the auditor of St. Louis county [city], who shall deduct, in his next monthly payment, from the salary of said judge the number of days absent, and the amount thereof in proportion to his salary; and during the time said provisional judge shall actually perform the services and duties of said judge, he shall receive the same salary as said judge, to be paid out of the treasury of said county [city] out of the salary of said judge. (Laws 1869, p. 195, sec. 4; R. S. 1899, p. 2542—u.)

*The acts relating to Probate Courts, specially applicable to the City of St. Louis, passed in 1897 (Acts 1897, p. 82; R. S. 1899, Secs. 6244, 6245 and 6246), were held void in Henderson vs. Koenig, 168 Mo. 356 (See S. C. 192 Mo. 690). Thereafter at the session of 1905, a new act was passed, general in its terms, but inconsistent with the prior special act and operating to supersede the same, even if valid. The St. Louis Probate Court is now governed by that act: Laws 1905, p. 155-157.

Sec. 106. Removal from office of officers.—The officers named in this act may be removed from office for the same cause and in the same manner as judges of the circuit court, clerks of courts of record and circuit attorneys may by law be removed, and all vacancies in either of said offices shall be filled, and all contested and tie elections shall be determined as in cases of circuit judges, clerks of courts of record and circuit attorneys. (Laws 1869, p. 195, sec. 5; R. S. 1899, p. 2542.)

Sec. 107. Certificate of election and commission of judge.—Immediately after any election had for judge of said court, the clerk of the county court of St. Louis county [register of the city of St. Louis] shall transmit to the governor of the state a certificate of such election, and the governor shall thereupon issue a commission to the person so certified to be elected as judge of the St. Louis court of criminal correction. (Laws 1869, p. 195, sec. 6; R. S. 1899, p. 2542.)

Sec. 108. Powers of judge.—The judge of said court shall be a conservator of the peace within the county [city] of St. Louis; he shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus and determine the same, administer oaths, take and acknowledge recognizances in all cases within the jurisdiction of said court, and in cases of felony he shall have and may exercise all the powers of an examining magistrate; but all complaints or information and affidavits setting forth the offense in preliminary examinations of felony in said court, as well as in cases of misdemeanor, shall be prepared or approved by said prosecuting or said assistant prosecuting attorney, or the person for the time being acting as such, and shall be sworn to before the clerk of said court, and all warrants and processes in such cases shall be issued under the hand of the clerk of said court, with the official seal of said court thereto affixed, and such examinations shall be conducted during the open session of said court. (Laws 1869, p. 195, sec. 7; R. S. 1899, p. 2542—v.)

Sec. 109. Salary of judge and officers.—The judge of said court shall have an annual salary of four thousand dollars; the prosecuting attorney of said court shall have an annual salary of three thousand five hundred dollars; the assistant prosecuting attorney of said court shall have an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars, and the clerk of said court shall have an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars—said salaries to be paid monthly by the county [city] of St. Louis. (Laws 1873, p. 198, sec. 8; R. S. 1899, p. 2543.)

Sec. 110. Seal.—The clerk shall keep a seal of said court, with such emblems and devices as shall be prescribed by the judge thereof. (Laws 1869, p. 195, sec. 9; R. S. 1899, p. 2543.)

Sec. 111. Fees and costs.—In all cases brought before said court in which final judgment shall be rendered, the clerk shall issue execution or fee-bill, as the case may be, and shall therein tax all such fees as are at the time allowed by law, except witness fees, which shall be charged only when claimed in open court, at the rate of fifty cents per day for each day's attendance; such examinations or fee-bills shall be delivered to the marshal [sheriff] of St. Louis county [city], and it shall be the duty of said marshal [sheriff] to forthwith execute and return the same to said court within thirty days from the issue thereof, showing how he executed the same; but such marshal [sheriff] shall receive no fees for any nulla bona or non est inventus upon any execution, subpoena, attachment, or other process issued out of said court. (Laws 1869, p. 196, sec. 10; R. S. 1899, p. 2543.)

Sec. 112. Statements of fines, penalties and forfeitures.—The clerk of said court shall, as often as required by said court, make and certify to the auditor of St. Louis county [city] a detailed statement of all the fines, penalties and forfeitures imposed by said court, and collected by the marshal [sheriff] of St.

(u) Special judge of this court, see State ex rel. vs. Wilder, 198 Mo. 166, 173.

(v) When this section is taken in connection with other sections, it does not follow that a continuance granted by the Court of Criminal Correction without the knowledge of a surety, operates to release the latter: State vs. Epstein, 186 Mo. 144, 147. The judge has no power to release on habeas corpus, one indicted for murder, where either of the criminal courts are in session: State ex rel. vs. Murphy, 132 Mo. 382. This court performs the dual function of an examining magistrate and of a trial court, depending on the nature of the cause: State vs. Hoeffner, 44 Mo. App. 543.

Louis county [city], and said clerk shall at the same time make a like statement of fines, penalties and forfeitures, and all costs by him collected, and shall pay the same into the county [city] treasury at the time of making said required statement. (Laws 1869, p. 196, sec. 11; R. S. 1899, p. 2543—w.)

Sec. 113. Court-room and offices—stationery—marshal.—The county court [municipal assembly] of St. Louis county [city] shall provide rooms for said court, and the clerk thereof, in the court-house of said county [city], or in such other building as said county court [assembly] may contract or provide for the holding of courts, and also a suitable office for said assistant prosecuting attorney in said court-house, or near thereto, and the said county court [assembly] shall furnish said rooms and said assistant prosecuting attorney's office, with fuel and light, and other things, as may be necessary for the court. The marshal [sheriff] of said county [city] shall attend said court of criminal correction, and all stationery actually required for the use of said court, or the officers thereof, shall be furnished by the county [city] of St. Louis, upon the application of the clerk of said court. (Laws 1869, p. 196, sec. 12; R. S. 1899, p. 2543.)

Sec. 114. Jurisdiction.—Said court shall have exclusive original jurisdiction of all misdemeanors under the laws of the state committed in St. Louis county [city], the punishment whereof is by fine, or imprisonment in the county jail, or both, or by any forfeiture, except cases of assault and battery, and affray or riotous disturbance of the peace, which [are] cognizable by justice of the peace, and in relation to which the jurisdiction of said court shall be concurrent with them; and the said court shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the police court of the city of St. Louis of all offenses which may be declared to be misdemeanors under any law of the state, and which may also be a violation of any ordinance of the city of St. Louis: Provided, that any action pending or which has been decided in either of said courts may be pleaded in bar or in abatement, as the case may be, to a prosecution in the other of said courts for the same offense, with the like effect as if said prosecution were pending in the same court, or had been decided in the same court: Provided, that this act shall not be so construed as to give to said police court jurisdiction of any prosecution for a misdemeanor instituted in the name of the state of Missouri. It shall be the duty of the chief of police of said city to report within twenty-four hours after arrest by the police, to the assistant prosecuting attorney of said court of criminal correction, the names of all persons charged with misdemeanors under the laws of this state, together with the prosecuting witnesses, and the names and residences of all other material witnesses in such case, which report shall be received by said assistant prosecuting attorney, and he shall thereupon proceed to institute such prosecution as required by law; any willful failure on the part of said chief of police, or other officer whose duty it shall be to act in the premises, to comply with the provisions of this section, shall be deemed a misdemeanor, whereof the party offending may be instituted [indicted] and punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars, any law of this state or any ordinance of the city of St. Louis to the contrary notwithstanding. (Laws 1869, p. 196, sec. 13; R. S. 1899, p. 2544—x.)

Sec. 115. Appellate jurisdiction.—In addition to the other powers conferred by this act on the court of criminal correction, said court shall have and exercise appellate jurisdiction in all cases of a criminal nature appealed from justices of the peace in the county [city] of St. Louis, and all such appeals shall be to said court of criminal correction, in the same manner and form as in such cases as heretofore appealed to the St. Louis criminal court. (Laws 1869, p. 197, sec. 14; R. S. 1899, p. 2543.)

(w.) The court has no authority to require the sheriff to pay into court money collected on fines and forfeitures which go into the school board funds; it can only order a settlement and have the amount found due transmitted to the school board: In re Staed, 116 Mo. 537.

(x.) The St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction is of statutory origin; and while for some purposes it is denominated a court of record, it is not one proceeding according to the course of the common law, is of limited and special jurisdiction and does not possess any jurisdiction not expressly conferred on it: State vs. Anderson, 191 Mo. 134; Ex Parte O'Brien, 127 Mo. 477; State ex rel. vs. Murphy, 132 Mo. 382, 384; St. Louis vs. Saitz, 160 Mo. 74, 76.

A sentence to jail instead of the work house is not for that reason void: State vs. Bougher, 7 Mo. App. 573 (memo.) As to imprisonment in the House of Correction, instead of work house, of minors under certain age, see In re Larkowski, 94 Mo. App. 623. As to place and length of imprisonment, see note to sec. 133 below.

The Court of Criminal Correction has jurisdiction over misdemeanors punishable by imprisonment in jail or fine or both, and the Circuit Court over such misdemeanors as are punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary: State ex rel. vs. Foster, 187 Mo. 590, 600. The Court of Criminal Correction had exclusive original jurisdiction of all misdemeanors at the time of its establishment in 1866, in the then county of St. Louis, but now only in the City of St. Louis. 198 Mo. 166, 172. This court is a criminal court within the meaning of the statutes: State ex rel. vs. Wilder, 198 Mo. 166, 171 and cases cited.

Right to naturalize aliens: 39 Fed. 49.

Sec. 116. Sessions—continuances.—Said court of criminal correction shall be in session each and every day in the week, except Sunday, and state and national holidays, and the proceedings therein shall be conducted in a summary manner, and no continuance shall be granted to the defendant in any case for a period longer than one day, except upon the affidavit of the defendant: Provided, the court may and is hereby empowered to establish such rules and regulations in relation to continuances as shall be just and proper to prevent delay and procrastination. (Laws 1869, p. 197, sec. 15; R. S. 1899, p. 2543—y.)

Sec. 117. Practice and proceedings.—The proceedings of said court shall be governed by the laws regulating proceedings and practice in criminal cases, so far as the same may be applicable, and no written pleadings shall be required of the defendant in any case. (Laws 1869, p. 197, sec. 16; R. S. 1899, p. 2543—z.)

Sec. 118. Recognizances and forfeitures.—Said court shall have power to take recognizances in all cases within its jurisdiction, to declare forfeitures of the same, and award executions upon such forfeitures, in like manner and with the same legal effect as the St. Louis criminal court is authorized to do. (Laws 1869, p. 197, sec. 17; R. S. 1899, p. 2544—a.)

Sec. 119. Duties of the prosecuting attorney.—The prosecuting attorney of said court shall attend to and prosecute all suits brought therein, and it shall be his duty to appear for the state in all cases appealed from said court to the supreme court [St. Louis court of appeals] of this state; it shall be the duty of said assistant prosecuting attorney to attend, at his office, on each secular day of the week, for the purpose of preparing all complaints, affidavits, informations and pleas required by law to be lodged in said court. (Laws 1869, p. 197, sec. 18; R. S. 1899, p. 2545.)

Sec. 120. Prosecutions to be by information—proceedings.—No indictment shall hereafter be found for any misdemeanor under the laws of this state, committed in the county [city] of St. Louis, the punishment whereof is by fine or imprisonment in the county jail, or both, or by any forfeiture; but the same shall be presented to the court of criminal correction by information. An information in any such case may be lodged by the prosecuting attorney for said court, or by said assistant prosecuting attorney, or by any other person; if lodged by said prosecuting attorney, it need not be under oath; if lodged by any other person, he shall swear to the same to the effect that he believes it to be true; if made without oath, the process issued thereon shall be a summons requiring the party to appear and answer forthwith, or at a future day to be named therein; if there be a default of the appearance of any party so summoned, the court shall proceed to hear the evidence, and to render such judgment as may be authorized by law and required by the nature of the case; if the information be under oath, a warrant shall issue for the apprehension of the party charged with the offense. (Laws 1869, p. 197, sec. 19; R. S. 1899, p. 2545—b.)

(y) Since the court is required to be in session every day, it has no terms: St. Louis vs. Saitz, 160 Mo. 74. The above section confers on the court additional powers respecting continuances to those conferred on magistrates by sec. 2448 R. S. 1899; hence a continuance for more than ten days without consent of a surety on the defendant's bond, does not release the surety: State vs. Epstein, 186 Mo. 144.

(z) The provision of the statute providing for a change of venue to another justice in preliminary examinations for felonies, because of disqualification of the justice of the peace, applies to preliminary examinations in the court of criminal correction, so that after such proceeding the judge has no jurisdiction; but the sections providing for election of special judge by reason of the incompetency and disqualification of the judge of a criminal court, does not apply to the court of criminal correction in case of felony examinations, but do apply to cases of misdemeanors: Ex Parte Bedard, 106 Mo. 616; see also State ex rel. vs. Wilder, 198 Mo. 166, 171.

(a) It is held in State vs. Hoeffner, 44 Mo. App. 543, that the court of criminal correction exercises the dual function of an examining magistrate and of a trial court. In every case which it has jurisdiction to try, it may take the recognizance of the accused for his appearance and declare a forfeiture thereon, and award execution, in like manner as the criminal court; in felony cases, it can act as examining magistrate only, take such recognizance, and if the accused fails to appear enter default, but thereupon it must certify the recognizance with the record of default to the criminal court. See to same effect, State vs. Hoeffner, 63 Mo. App. 409.

(b) This section is upheld as constitutional in State vs. Ebert, 40 Mo. 186. The provision that information made by a private person will be sufficiently verified if he swear "that he believes it to be true," was repealed by act of April 12, 1877: State vs. Bennett, 102 Mo. 356, 370. As to sufficiency of affidavit in information, and who may make same, see Id; also State vs. Speritus, 191 Mo. 24, 38; State vs. Luman, 66 Mo. App. 472; Ex Parte Thomas, 10 Mo. App. 24; State vs. Armstrong, 106 Mo. 395; State vs. Fitzporter, 17 Mo. App. 271 (this case also holding that the person signing as "acting prosecuting attorney" is presumed to be such in fact); State vs. Kaub, 19 Mo. App. 149. The functions of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney of the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction were not abolished by act of April 12, 1877, and the incorporation thereof into the Revised Statutes, and as the duty of preparing informations is specially committed to him, the affidavit forming the basis of the information is properly lodged with him: State vs. Daly, 49 Mo. App. 184. As to whether an offense is a misdemeanor or felony, determining whether same be tried in the Court of Criminal Correction or the Circuit Court, see (referring to the above section 19) State ex rel. vs. Foster, 187 Mo. 590, 601, 609.

Sec. 121. Statutes of jeofails.—The statutes of jeofails, as applicable to criminal proceedings and pleadings, shall apply to all informations lodged in said court, and the court shall have power to permit any amendments of information, process or proceedings in furtherance of the ends of justice at any time before the determination of the suit. (Laws 1869, p. 197, sec. 20; R. S. 1899, p. 2545.)

Sec. 122. Proceedings when felony appears—same in criminal court, as to misdemeanors.—If, in the course of any proceeding in said court, by information or otherwise, it shall appear that the defendant has been guilty of felony, the court shall dismiss as to the lesser offense, and proceed to examine the matter and commit or bail the defendant to answer an indictment in the St. Louis criminal court; and if, upon the trial of a party charged with felony in the St. Louis criminal court, it should appear that the defendant is guilty of misdemeanor only, the case shall not therefore be dismissed, but shall be proceeded on to judgment in said criminal court, to the same effect as if the defendant had been tried for misdemeanor in the court of criminal correction. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 21; R. S. 1899, p. 2545.)

Sec. 123. Convictions for less offense.—Under an information for petit larceny the defendant may be convicted of embezzlement, if the amount be under ten dollars, or such sum as would not constitute grand larceny, and in like manner a defendant charged with embezzlement may be convicted of petit larceny. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 22; R. S. 1899, p. 2545.)

Sec. 124. Jurors.—The jury commissioner of St. Louis county [city], when required, shall furnish said court with jurors, as in other courts. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 23; R. S. 1899, p. 2545.)

Sec. 125. Insolvent law not applicable, when.—No person convicted in said court, or in the St. Louis criminal court, as hereinbefore provided, of a misdemeanor under the laws of this state, and sentenced to the payment of a fine and the costs therein accrued, shall be allowed to avail himself (or herself) of the provisions of any act for the relief of insolvent debtors. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 24; R. S. 1899, p. 2545—c.)

Sec. 126. Lien of judgments and executions.—The judgments rendered by said court of criminal correction shall be and constitute a lien upon the real estate of a party convicted therein, and all executions issued shall be a lien upon the personal property of any defendant convicted in said court from the date of issue thereof. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 25; R. S. 1899, p. 2546.)

Sec. 127. Appeals and writs of error.—An appeal shall be allowed the defendant from any final judgment of said court to the supreme court [St. Louis court of appeals], if applied for within ten days after the rendition of such judgment, but not otherwise. The manner of taking such appeals shall be the same, as near as may be, as is prescribed by law for [taking] appeals from circuit courts in criminal cases. Writs of error shall be allowed upon any final judgment of said court, and may be prosecuted and issued from the supreme court [St. Louis court of appeals], in like manner and with similar effect as writs of error to the St. Louis criminal [circuit] court. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 26; R. S. 1899, p. 2546—d.)

Sec. 128. Power over officers collecting fines.—Said court shall have power and is hereby required to see that all officers in the county [city] of St. Louis, charged with the collection of fines, penalties and forfeitures, for misdemeanors under any law of this state, pay the same into the county [city] treasury as required by law, and for that purpose, said court shall have power to cite and compel every such officer, at least once in every three months, and oftener if need be, to make a written report, under oath, of all such fines, penalties and forfeitures collected by him; and if any such officer shall fail to make such report when cited, or to pay over the amount collected by him as required by law, then said court may compel him thereto, by attachment of his body. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 27; R. S. 1899, p. 2546.)

(c) See In re Lorkowski, 94 Mo. App. 623, 627 et seq. discussing the bearing of this and other provisions.

(d) The court of criminal correction, being of limited jurisdiction, possesses only such powers as are conferred upon it by statute, which with respect to the time of writing and filing a bill of exceptions is at the time or during the term of the court at which they are taken or within such time thereafter as the court may by an order entered of record allow. If the bill is not filed at the time and as there are no terms of court, in the absence of an order of court entered of record extending the time for its filing, a bill of exceptions will be disregarded by the appellate court: St. Louis vs. Saitz, 160 Mo. 74, 76. All appeals, from any decision, must be taken within three days after trial, and bills of exception should be signed and filed before the appeal is taken. Where counsel consent that time be granted to file bills of exceptions and take appeals, the consent should be entered of record: State ex rel. vs. Judge St. L. Ct. Crim. Cor., 41 Mo. 598. A writ of error may be prosecuted by the State to review a judgment of the St. L. Ct. Crim. Cor. quashing an information as based on an unconstitutional law: State vs. Burgdoerfer, 107 Mo. 1. A defendant may appeal to review a judgment based on violation of a city ordinance, being a civil action, but the city must proceed by writ of error: St. Louis vs. Marchel, 99 Mo. 475.

Sec. 129. Lists of officers, how furnished.—The clerk of the county court [register] of St. Louis county [city], shall, from time to time, as changes may occur, furnish to said court the names of all the officers contemplated by the next preceding section. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 28; R. S. 1899, p. 2546.)

Sec. 130. Supervision over property found on person of offenders.—The said court shall exercise a careful supervision over all officers connected therewith in relation to money or other property found on the persons of offenders, and taken from them, and shall see that the same is properly preserved; that the rights of offenders or other parties in relation thereto are protected and enforced, and that all laws applicable to such cases are duly executed; and it shall have power to enforce all its orders in relation to such matters by attachment of the body. (Laws 1869, p. 198, sec. 29; R. S. 1899, p. 2546.)

Sec. 131. Prosecutor liable for costs, when.—In all cases of misdemeanor under any law of this state, when the information is lodged by a person other than the prosecuting attorney, or assistant prosecuting attorney, or any state or county officer in the discharge of his official duty, the person swearing to such information shall be liable for all costs accruing in the case, if the defendant be acquitted, and judgment shall be rendered and execution issued therefor against him. (Laws 1869, p. 199, sec. 30; R. S. 1899, p. 2546.)

Sec. 132. Power of court to reduce punishment.—Said court shall have power, in all cases of conviction, to reduce the extent and duration of the punishment assessed by a jury, if in its opinion the conviction is proper, but the punishment assessed is greater than under the circumstances of the case ought to be inflicted. (Laws 1869, p. 199, sec. 31; R. S. 1899, p. 2546.)

Sec. 133. Sentence and place of imprisonment.—Whenever the punishment of any misdemeanor is partly or wholly by imprisonment in the county jail, the party convicted in said court shall, instead of being sentenced to imprisonment in said jail, be sentenced to imprisonment in the work-house of the city of St. Louis, or such other place of imprisonment as the county [city] of St. Louis may provide for that purpose, and be there kept at hard labor during the period of imprisonment to which such party may be sentenced; but no sentence shall be for a longer period than six months, for any cause; nor shall any person be detained for a greater period by reason of his or her failure to pay any fine or costs that may be imposed by said court. (Laws 1869, p. 199, sec. 32; R. S. 1899, p. 2546—e.)

Sec. 134.—Sentence includes hard labor—rules.—Every person committed to the work-house, or other place of punishment provided by said county [city], by said court of criminal correction, shall be put to hard labor, at such work as his or her strength and health will permit, whether within or without such place of imprisonment, and shall be under the control and management of those having charge of such prison, subject to such rules and regulations as the county court or city council [municipal assembly] of St. Louis city may establish for such prisons, and if the said party committed is unable to pay the fine and costs, if such be the punishment for the offense, in whole or in part, in payment of such fine and costs, the party committed shall be allowed for his or her work at the rate of fifty cents per day, nor shall an imprisonment for non-payment of fine and costs exceed the period of six months. (Laws 1869, p. 199, sec. 33; R. S. 1899, p. 2547—f.)

Sec. 135.—Payment of fine after commitment.—Any person, after being committed to the work-house or other place of imprisonment provided by the county [city] of St. Louis, for non-payment of his or her fine and costs, desiring to pay the same, shall make application to the judge of said court of criminal correction, who shall in open court order the fine and all costs of such person to be paid to the clerk of said court, whose duty it shall be to receive the same, enter satisfaction on the execution in his execution book, and give notice in writing, under the seal of said court, to the superintendent or person having charge and control of said

(e) This section is valid in so far as it fixes the place of imprisonment, and void in so far as it fixes a different punishment from the general law: Ex Parte Thomas, 10 Mo. App. 24, following Jilz Case, 3 Mo. App. 243; see also In re Jilz, 64 Mo. 243, 246. In State vs. Buchardt, 144 Mo. 83 also, this section in so far as inflicting a different punishment for petit larceny than the general State law, is held unconstitutional, but the conviction (for one year) was sustained because of another statute allowing at the courts' discretion, sentence to the workhouse instead of county jail, and the sentence here was for the same period. See also In re Lorkowski, 94 Mo. App. 623, holding that a prisoner is entitled to allowance in working out his fine under the State law at a dollar a day instead of as provided in the section succeeding this one, following the cases above cited.

As to imprisonment in work house or jail, see also note ante to sec. 114. See also ordinances and notes thereto appended respecting work house in Rev. C. Ch. 21, Art. 4 (secs. 1742 et seq.) and note to R. C., sec. 1265.

(f) This section fixing the allowance at fifty cents per day is in conflict with sections 2384 and 1793 of the R. S. 1899, allowing one dollar per day to the prisoner, and the latter, passed at a subsequent date, operates to repeal the former: In re Lorkowski, 94 Mo. App. 623, 629, also discussing the provisions relating to commitment to House of Refuge instead of workhouse and holding them partly void. In a concurring opinion Judge Goode holds the law of commitment to House of Refuge void altogether work-house, that the execution against such person has been fully satisfied, whereupon such person shall immediately be discharged from said work-house or place of punishment. (Laws 1869, p. 199, sec. 34; R. S. 1899, p. 2547.)

Sec. 136. Place of imprisonment, how provided.—The county court of St. Louis county shall have power to contract with the city of St. Louis for the use of the city work-house for the purpose of confining and putting to labor therein the persons convicted in said court, or said county court may provide a suitable place other than the said work-house, as a prison for such persons, and in that event, then such persons shall be sentenced to confinement in such prison as the county may have provided. (Laws 1869, p. 199, sec. 35; R. S. 1899, p. 2547.)

Sec. 137. Appeals from police court.—Hereafter all appeals from the police court or the police judges of the city of St. Louis [in the county of St. Louis], shall be made to, and tried and determined by, the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, in the same manner as provided by law in regard to other cases of appeal to said court. (Laws 1873, p. 358, sec. 1; R. S. 1899, p. 2547—g.)

Sec. 138. Costs in criminal cases.—All the provisions of the act concerning costs in criminal cases shall be held to apply to the St. Louis court of criminal correction, and the duties devolved by said act upon the officers therein named are hereby devolved upon the officers of said court, respectively, with reference to all cases brought in said court, and such costs shall be paid as in said act provided, and the fee-bills in all cases shall be taxed and certified on the first Monday of every month, or as soon thereafter as the business of said court will permit. (Laws 1881, p. 107; R. S. 1899, p. 2547, sec. 37—h.)

Sec. 139. Fee-bill, how made and certified.—Immediately upon the passage of this act, the clerk of said court shall tax fees in all cases as provided by law, and make out fee-bills for the same, which said fee-bills shall be delivered to the judge and prosecuting attorney of said court, and examined by them. If said judge and prosecuting attorney find the said fee-bills to be correct, they shall certify the same for allowance and payment to the state or city auditor, as the case may be, and said fee-bills shall be audited and paid as other costs in criminal cases. (Laws 1881, p. 107; R. S. 1899, p. 2547.)

If the sickness, absence, or inability to act, of the regular judge shall continue, at any one time, for a period exceeding one day, it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court to certify the fact to the auditor of the city of St. Louis, who shall deduct,

(g) Appeals from the Police Court to the Court of Criminal Correction under this section are to be taken as appeals from convictions before justices of the peace elsewhere in the State; the affidavit for appeal should be filed the same day of the conviction, unless some good reason for delay is shown: St. Louis vs. Gunning Co., 138 Mo. 347. Said judge shall be a conservator of the peace within the city of St. Louis; he shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus in matters of a criminal nature, and determine the same, to administer oaths and affirmations, and to take and acknowledge recognizances in all cases within the jurisdiction of said court. Sec. 139e. Clerk of the court.—The clerk of the circuit court for criminal causes in the city of St. Louis shall be ex officio clerk of said court of general sessions; he shall have power to appoint one or more deputies for service in said court, as necessities may require, under the direction of said court, and in addition to the salary now allowed to him by law he shall receive a further compensation not to exceed $2,500.00, to be retained out of the fees and costs collected by him, as now provided by law. Said amount of $2,500.00, to be applied to the payment of the salaries of deputy clerks and to be in full therefor. He shall have charge of the books, papers, records and seal of the said court of general sessions and the business pending therein, and shall perform generally all the duties of a clerk of a court of record therein. Said clerk shall keep a seal of said court of general sessions, with such emblems and devices as shall be prescribed by the judge of said court, which seal shall be used by said clerk in attesting all writs, process, papers and documents signed and issued by him; and all such writs, process, papers and documents shall be signed by him as clerk of the St. Louis court of general sessions. The proceedings therein shall be conducted in a summary manner, and no continuance shall be granted to the state nor to the defendant for a period longer than three days except upon the affidavit of the party applying therefor: Provided, that the court may establish such rules in relation to continuances as shall be just and proper to prevent undue delay, or to prevent injustice to the defendant, and the costs of any continuance shall be taxed against the party applying therefor, unless the court for good cause shall otherwise order. (Ib., sec. 7.)

Sec. 139h. Practice and proceedings.—The proceedings of said court shall be governed by the laws regulating proceedings and practice in criminal cases, so far as the same may be applicable, and no written pleadings shall be required of the defendant in any case. All examinations shall be conducted during the open sessions of said court, and all persons may freely attend the same; and the court may assign counsel to defendants under the same circumstances as in other criminal trials. The court may establish rules of practice for the convenience and dispatch of business, not inconsistent with the laws of the state. (Ib., sec. 8.)

Sec. 139k. Proceeding when misdemeanor appears.—Whenever, in the course of any proceeding in said court upon an information for felony, it shall appear that the defendant has been guilty, in the particular matter, of a misdemeanor only, the court shall discharge the defendant from the felony charge and may admit him to bail to answer to an information for the misdemeanor to be filed by the prosecuting attorney in the court of criminal correction, or, in default of bail, commit the defendant to jail to await such action by said prosecuting attorney; but no such commitment shall be for a longer period than forty-eight hours; and if no such information be filed in said court of criminal correction within such period, the defendant shall be discharged. But if the defendant in such case shall desire to plead guilty to such misdemeanor and to receive sentence therefor, waiving his right to a jury and to an information for the misdemeanor, the court may accept such plea of guilty and assess such punishment as may be fixed by law for the offense, and issue a commitment or execution therefor, with the same force and effect as if such defendant had been tried for such misdemeanor in the court of criminal correction, and the record shall show the whole proceedings. (Ib., p. 215, sec. 11.)

Sec. 139v. Court of criminal correction no jurisdiction.—Upon the taking effect of the act no information for felony shall be lodged in the St. Louis court of criminal correction, and the judge of said court of criminal correction shall not further exercise the powers or jurisdiction of an examining magistrate in charges of felony, except that all informations and prosecutions for felony then pending and undetermined in said court of criminal correction shall be proceeded with in said court to final determination by the judge of said court, with the same force and effect as if this act were not passed, and in all such cases the same proceedings shall be had and all costs and fees taxed and certified in said court of criminal correction as heretofore. Sec. 140. Commissioner, how appointed.—In every city in the state of Missouri having over one hundred thousand inhabitants, it shall be the duty of the judge or judges of the court or courts having general jurisdiction of civil causes within such city, together with the judge or judges of the court having jurisdiction within such city in cases of felony, or a majority of all such judges, to appoint, within thirty days after the passage of this act, and at such other times as hereinafter authorized, a suitable person who shall, for at least five years next preceding his appointment, have been a resident of such city, to be jury commissioner for said city. A copy thereof shall be forthwith entered of record in each of the courts mentioned in section one of this act, and a certificate of such record appended to said original by the clerk, and under the seal of each of said courts; and thereupon the said original shall be delivered by the clerk last certifying such record thereof to the register of said city, by whom the said original shall be filed and preserved in his office, as other official papers in his custody. The person so appointed shall hold said office for the term of four years from and after the first day of May in the year of his appointment, unless he shall sooner cease to reside in such city, or become otherwise disqualified or removed from office. A majority of the judges, for the time being, of the courts mentioned in section one of this act, shall have power, at any time, to remove such jury commissioner from his said office for any cause by them deemed sufficient, by a writing under their hands, declaring the fact of such removal: Provided, that a copy of such writing shall be forthwith entered of record in each of said courts by order thereof, respectively, and the original thereof being certified as above provided, in respect of the original appointment, shall, in like manner, be filed with and preserved by the register of such city; and from the time of such filing thereof it shall be unlawful for the person so removed to exercise any duty, or function of said office. In case of any vacancy occurring in said office of jury commissioner, during the term for which any person was appointed thereto, or by expiration of such term, it shall be the duty of the judges for the time being of the courts mentioned in the first section of this act, or a majority of them, without delay, to fill such vacancy by appointment of some person possessing the proper qualifications hereunder, in like manner as hereinbefore provided. (Laws 1879, p. 28, sec. 3; R. S. 1899, sec. 6541.)

Sec. 143. Oath of commissioner.—Before entering upon the duties of his office, the person so appointed jury commissioner shall take and subscribe, before the register of said city, an oath faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties thereof, which affidavit shall be filed and preserved with his said appointment in the said register's office. (Laws 1879, p. 29, sec. 4; R. S. 1899, sec. 6542.)

Sec. 144. Salary.—Said jury commissioner shall receive a salary of twenty-five hundred dollars per annum, payable in equal monthly installments, at the end of each month, by the treasurer of said city, out of any moneys appropriated therefor by the municipal assembly, upon warrants drawn and countersigned by the proper officers of said city, pursuant to the charter thereof. It shall be the duty of the municipal assembly to appropriate the money necessary for the payment of such salary, as other salaries of city officers are provided for. The municipal assembly of said city shall also, from time to time, provide said jury commissioner with suitable accommodations, and with the necessary fuel, stationery, books and furniture for the proper discharge of his duties. Before any such appointment shall take effect, a copy thereof shall be entered of record in each of said courts, and a certificate of said record appended to the original, and said original filed with and preserved by the register, in like manner as above provided concerning the appointment of such jury commissioner. Said judges, or a majority of them, or said commissioner, may, at pleasure, remove any deputy so appointed, by a writing signed by them or him, declaring such removal, which shall also be forthwith recorded and filed in like manner as provided in section 3 hereof, concerning the removal of the jury commissioner. Said judges shall not approve the appointment of a greater number of deputies than they shall be satisfied is necessary for the faithful performance of the duties of said office, and shall, at any time, remove any deputy previously appointed, whose continuance as such shall not, in the judgment of a majority of them, be necessary therefor. Every such deputy, before entering upon his duties as such, shall take and subscribe before and file with said register, an oath that he will faithfully and impartially discharge his duties under this act. It shall be the duty of every such deputy to obey the lawful orders of the said jury commissioner in all matters pertaining to the proper execution of the duties of said office, and diligently to assist in fulfilling the same. The said jury commissioner shall, in writing, by and with the approval of the said judges or a majority of them, designate one of said deputies to act as principal deputy jury commissioner, and said principal deputy shall be vested with all the powers and duties of the jury commissioner during the necessary absence, sickness or other disability, of said jury commissioner. (Act March 23, 1891, Sess. Laws 1891, p. 171; R. S. 1899, sec. 6544.)

Sec. 146. Pay of deputies.—Each of said deputies shall receive for his services a salary at the rate of not exceeding five dollars per day, for every day during which he shall be actually employed in performing his duties as such. The amount of such salary shall be fixed by the jury commissioner in each case, and such salary shall be provided for and paid monthly, in like manner as above provided for the payment of the salary of such jury commissioner. But said auditor shall not audit or certify any claim for a salary in favor of any such deputy, except upon the certificate of the jury commissioner that the services for which such claim is made were in fact rendered by such deputy, pursuant to the orders of the jury commissioner, and were necessary for the proper discharge of the duties of said office. (Laws 1879, p. 30, sec. 7; R. S. 1899, sec. 6545.)

Sec. 147. Duties of commissioner.—Said jury commissioner shall, between the first day of May and the first day of September, in the year 1879, and during the like period in every second year thereafter, in person or by deputies, visit every house within the limits of the city for which he is appointed jury commissioner, and shall, so far as practicable, ascertain by personal inquiry and all other lawful means within his reach, and shall take down the name, occupation and place of residence of every person residing in said city (except as herein otherwise provided), who is qualified for and subject to the performance of jury duties, noting, wherever practicable, the number of the house and name of the street in which such person resides or does business. And every male citizen of this state, resident in such city, sober and intelligent, of good reputation, over twenty-one years of age, and not exempt from jury duty by the general laws of this state, or otherwise disqualified or excused as provided in this act, shall be deemed to be qualified for and subject to the performance of jury duty under the provisions hereof. (Laws 1879, p. 30, sec. 8; R. S. 1899, sec. 6546.)

Sec. 148. Who exempt from jury duty.—The name of no person shall be taken down who shall, when called on by said commissioner or his deputy, establish to the satisfaction of such commissioner or deputy, by competent proof and upon diligent inquiry made by said officer, a legal exemption from jury duty as a member of any military or fire company or otherwise; or who is not sufficiently acquainted with the English language to read and write the same, and to understand clearly the proceedings ordinarily had in courts of justice; or who is actually exercising the functions of a clergyman, practitioner of medicine, druggist or apothecary, attorney at law, ferry keeper, or person in actual charge of any mill, or of professor or other teacher in any school or institution of learning, or who is over the age of sixty-five years, or who is actually and regularly employed in the navigation of the Mississippi river or its tributaries, or who is in the employment of any railroad company, or who holds any office of profit or employment created by or authorized under the laws of the United States, or of the state of Missouri, or the ordinances of the city within which such jury commissioner is appointed. Nor shall the said commissioner or his deputies take down the name of any person of ill-fame, or of drunken or disorderly habits, or any person who shall be found loitering about without visible means of support, and without applying himself to any honest calling for a livelihood, or who is a vagrant within the meaning of the laws of this state or ordinances of said city touching vagrants. And it shall be the duty of said jury commissioner and each of his deputies diligently to inquire and inform himself, by all lawful means, in respect of the qualifications of every person resident in said city who may be liable under the provisions of this act, and the laws of this state, to be summoned for jury duty. But nothing contained in this act shall be construed to compel any person to serve upon any jury who is exempt from such service by reason of any general law of this state. And it shall be the duty of every court of record in said city to excuse from service as a juror every person who, being examined on the voir dire, shall appear to the court to be a person whose name ought not to have been placed upon the jury list under the provisions of this act, or who has served on any jury in any court of this state within twelve months next preceding, if challenged for that cause, by either party of the suit; and the court may excuse such person without challenge by either party. (Laws 1879, p. 30, sec. 9; R. S. 1899, sec. 6547—j.)

Sec. 149. Questions to be answered under oath.—The said commissioner, or any of his deputies, may, at any and all times within reasonable hours, require any person to answer, under oath, to be administered by such commissioner or his deputy, all such questions as he may address to such person, touching his name, age, residence, occupation and qualifications as a juror, with a view to the due and faithful enforcement of this act and also all questions as to similar matters touching all persons in his employment or forming a part of his household. Such questions, or any of them, may be put in writing, and the party may be required to answer them in writing, and to sign his name to his answers. Whoever shall refuse to be sworn, when required by the commissioner or any of his deputies, or when sworn shall refuse to answer pertinently, and in writing if required, all such questions addressed to him, and to sign his name to such answers when thereto required by such commissioner or deputy, may be summarily arrested, and taken by such commissioner or deputy before some one of said judges, who, upon being satisfied of such refusal, may summarily commit the person so refusing to jail, there to remain until he shall be sworn and answer the questions so put to him. And whoever shall willfully and corruptly make and swear to any false answers to any questions put to him by the said jury commissioner or any of his deputies, under and in pursuance of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the jail of such city for not less than three nor more than twelve months, or by fine not less than five hundred dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment. Said commissioner and each of his deputies may administer any oath authorized by this act. (Laws 1879, p. 31, sec. 10; R. S. 1899, sec. 6548.)

Sec. 150. Jury lists, how made up.—As soon as practicable after the first day of September, 1879, and at the like period in every second year thereafter, the said commissioner shall enter or cause to be entered in alphabetical order, in the book next hereinafter mentioned, the name, residence and occupation of each person residing in said city and liable to jury duty under this act, obtained by him under the foregoing provisions. Such book shall be prepared with suitable rulings and headings, and kept by him as a register of jurors for the two years next after the last day of September in the year when it is made up. A new book or register of jurors shall be prepared and made up immediately after each biennial enumeration above provided for; and during the period while each of such registers is in use, said commissioner shall from time to time carefully examine and correct the entries therein, adding all names that shall come to his knowledge after such book is made out, and which, if then known, ought to have been entered therein in pursuance of this act, striking off the names of all persons who have died or have removed permanently from said city, noting changes of residence or business of parties, and otherwise giving such continuous care and attention to the lists in such book, that the same shall at all times, as nearly as practicable, show the names of all persons who are subject to perform jury duty in said city during the year beginning on the first day of October next following the time of making such lists. Said register of jurors shall be prepared with proper rulings and headings to show the full name, occupation, residence and place of business of each juror, claim and allowance or refusal of exemption, actual service on juries, and such other matters as may be requisite to carry out the provisions of this act; and said judges mentioned in the first section hereof, or a majority of them, may at any time make such order in writing, not inconsistent with this act, touching the books to be kept by said commissioner, and the performance of his duties generally, as they may judge the public interest to require, which order shall be obeyed by said commissioner. (Laws 1879, p. 31, sec. 11; R. S. 1899, sec. 6549.)

Sec. 151. Notice, how given to exempts.—Within three days after the first day of September, in each year, said commissioner shall give notice by advertisement daily for one week, in two English newspapers of opposite politics, and in not more than two newspapers printed in any other language, all printed and published in said city, and which said newspaper shall be designated by the said judges, or a majority of them, with reference to their comparative circulation, which advertisement shall state that the jury list for the ensuing year has been made out and is open for inspection at his office, and requiring all persons claiming legal exemption from jury duty to produce to him, at said office, within not more than twenty days after the first publication of said notice, competent proof of the exemption claimed, and further giving notice that he will be in attendance daily at said office, designating the locality thereof, during said period of twenty days, between the hours of nine and twelve in the forenoon and three and six in the afternoon, for the purpose of hearing and determining claims of exemption, and for this purpose said commissioner shall be in attendance, in accordance with such notice. (Laws 1879, p. 32, sec. 12; R. S. 1899, sec. 6550.)

Sec. 152. Exemptions, how noted.—If any person whose name has been entered on the register as liable to jury duty shall, within the time so notified, produce proof satisfactory to said commissioner of his exemption from jury duty, or that his name should not have been entered on said list under the provisions of this act, his name shall be noted by said commissioner as exempt for the ensuing year on said register, with the reason therefor; but no person whose name shall have been placed upon said register of jurors, and who shall neglect within the period prescribed by said notice to claim exemption from jury duty, shall be entitled to claim the benefit of such exemption when summoned as a juror. (Laws 1879, p. 32, sec. 13; R. S. 1899, sec. 6551.)

Sec. 153. Courts to pass upon exemptions.—Whenever the commissioner shall refuse to mark the name of any person as exempt on said register of jurors who shall within said time have claimed exemption, he shall give to such person a certificate, stating that the exemption has been claimed and refused, and the ground on which it was claimed; and when such person shall be summoned as a juror, he may appeal to the court in which he is summoned from the decision of the commissioner, and may be discharged if the court shall adjudge that he is legally entitled to exemption on the ground certified by the commissioner to have been taken before him. No ground of exemption shall be taken before the court except that so certified by said commissioner, unless it arose after the time within which claims of exemption or disqualification could be heard as aforesaid by said commissioner. (Laws 1879, p. 32, sec. 14; R. S. 1899, sec. 6552.)

Sec. 154. Names, how copied and drawn.—As soon as practicable after said register of jurors shall have been completed or corrected for each ensuing year, in the manner above provided, the commissioner shall copy each name appearing thereon as liable to jury duty on a separate ticket and deposit all the tickets in a hollow wheel, to be provided for that purpose by said city and kept by him, in which wheel the said tickets shall remain securely locked, except when drawn out in the manner hereinafter directed. Said commissioner shall have the custody of said wheel, and shall permit no person other than himself, or his deputies under his orders, to place any ticket or other paper therein, or to withdraw any ticket therefrom, and it shall be his duty to see that said wheel and its contents are not interfered with by any other person. (Laws 1879, p. 33, sec. 15; R. S. 1899, sec. 6553.)

Sec. 155. Jurors, how drawn.—Whenever jurors shall be required to serve in any of the courts mentioned in the first section of this act, or in any other court of record established in said city, under the laws of this state, in which a jury may be required, such court may order the sheriff or marshal, or other officer charged with executing the process thereof, to summon a sufficient number of jurors, as occasion may require. Thereupon such officer shall obtain the names and places of residence or business of persons to be summoned as jurors in said court, from said jury commissioner, who, upon the production to him of such order, shall furnish the same to said officer, by drawing tickets from said wheel. Before any drawing shall be made, the commissioner shall turn the wheel repeatedly, in such manner as to thoroughly mingle said tickets, and to prevent the possibility of their being drawn out in any concerted or particular order. He shall then draw out one ticket at a time, and no more, and shall immediately enter the name and residence of the person indicated by such ticket on a list to be furnished to the officer, and also make an entry in his alphabetical list, showing that such name has been drawn out, and shall proceed in like manner until the number of names required by said officers shall have been drawn, and the list of names required by such officers completed; and neither said commissioner nor any of his deputies shall furnish or give to any such officer, as liable to jury duty, any name other than the name so drawn from said wheel in the manner herein provided, nor shall any such officer summon as a juror, unless by express order of the court, any person whose name shall not have been furnished to him by said commissioner, in accordance with this act. Said commissioner shall also copy in another book, with proper headings, to be kept by him, the list so made for such officer, showing the date when and the court for which the names thereon were drawn, and shall deliver to said officer the said list certified by him, said commissioner, as having been furnished to said officer, in compliance with the order of said court. He shall not, at any such drawing, take any more names from the wheel than the number of jurors required by the officers under such order of court, unless it appear that he has drawn names of persons whom, after their names were placed in the wheel, the alphabetical lists, or register of jurors kept by said commissioner, shall show to have died or removed permanently from said city, in which case additional names, sufficient to supply the deficiency may be drawn. The tickets so drawn out shall not be put into said wheel again during the year, but shall be deposited and kept by said commissioner in a box to be provided for the purpose, and which shall remain in his custody securely locked, unless before the end of the year all of the tickets shall be drawn out, and jurors shall still be required; in which case all the tickets shall be put back into the wheel again, and after being thoroughly mingled, shall be drawn therefrom in the manner aforesaid, as required for jury service in said courts respectively, until the end of the year. If at the end of the year any tickets remain in the wheel that have not been drawn out during the year, they shall all be taken out of said wheel, as soon as the jury list for the next year is prepared as hereinbefore provided, and shall be immediately burned or otherwise effectually destroyed by said commissioner or one of his deputies, together with all of the tickets which shall have been drawn out of said wheel during the year next preceding, as hereinbefore provided. It shall be the duty of said commissioner, whenever he shall furnish to the sheriff, marshal or other proper officer of any of said courts, the names of jurors as hereinbefore provided, to make out immediately a transcript of the list so furnished to such officer from the book in which he shall have copied the same, and to deliver or cause to be delivered such transcript to the judge or judges from whose court or courts or court rooms respectively the same has been required, certifying such transcript and stating the date when, and the officer to whom, and the court for which said list was furnished by him. (Laws 1879, p. 33, sec. 16; R. S. 1899, sec. 6554.)

Sec. 156. Jurors, how summoned.—Whenever the jury commissioner shall furnish to the proper officer of any of said courts the names of persons for jury service as hereinbefore provided, such officer shall forthwith summon the persons whose names are so furnished to attend as jurors at the time directed by the court, or he shall show the court good cause for not having done so. The court shall investigate the truth and sufficiency of the cause shown, and if the same be found untrue or insufficient, or if it shall appear to the court that such officer has made false return in any respect concerning the execution of the order for summoning said jurors, the court may fine such officer as for a contempt of court, for every such untrue or insufficient excuse or false return, in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars. For any other neglect or willful violation in regard to the jury service of the court, whether prescribed by law, rule or order, the court may impose a like fine upon such officer; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to protect or excuse any such officer from liability to criminal proceedings under the laws of this state, for any willful misconduct or misdemeanor in office, or neglect to perform any duty enjoined upon him by law. (Laws 1879, p. 34, sec. 17; R. S. 1899, sec. 6555.)

Sec. 157. Absent juror. No person who cannot be found to be summoned shall, for that reason, be dropped from the panel until, and after repeated efforts to find him, the court shall so order. (Laws 1879, p. 34, sec. 18. R. S. 1899, sec. 6556.)

Sec. 158. Excuses, how dealt with.—Whenever any person summoned as a juror under this act shall be excused by the court from service, the court shall decide whether he shall be excused for the year ending on the last day of September next ensuing, or only temporarily. If excused for the year, his name shall be dropped from the panel, but if excused temporarily, the court shall designate the time when he shall serve, and the sheriff or other proper official shall see that he be then in attendance. (Laws 1879, p. 34, sec. 19. R. S. 1899, sec. 6557.)

Sec. 159. Time and length of service of juror. Each of said courts hereinbefore referred to may direct from time to time the number of jurors to be summoned for said court, and how long they shall be summoned before their attendance shall be required, and how long they shall serve, and may make all rules and orders by it deemed proper touching the jury service of the court, not inconsistent with the provisions hereof, and may enforce the same by attachment and by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars. Each of said courts shall also see that the commissioner discharge his duty faithfully. And it shall be lawful for either of said courts, if and whenever it shall appear to such court that said jury commissioner has, in any respect, willfully neglected or violated his duty under the provisions of this act, to fine him not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars. And it shall be the duty of the clerk of such court, immediately upon the imposition of any such fine, to enter the same of record in said court, and to certify the date and the amount thereof to the auditor of said city, by whom the said amount shall be deducted from the salary of said commissioner next thereafter falling due, until the same shall be liquidated. (Laws 1879, p. 34, sec. 20. R. S. 1899, sec. 6558.)

Sec. 160. Bribery of commissioner—punishment.—Whoever shall, directly or indirectly, give or offer, or agree with any person to give to the said jury commissioner, or to any of his deputies, any money, goods, right in action, or any other valuable consideration, gratuity or reward, or shall make or enter into any promise, undertaking or security for the payment of any money, or for the giving, assigning or transferring of anything of value to the said commissioner, or any of his deputies, or to any other person, with intent to influence or induce the said commissioner, or any of his deputies, to omit or strike from the jury list hereinbefore required to be made out and kept, the name of any such person, or of any other person, or with intent to induce or influence the said commissioner, or any of his deputies to omit to put the name of such person or of any person on a ticket as required by this act, or with intent to induce or influence said commissioner, or any of his deputies, to omit to deposit in the wheel which said commissioner is required to keep, a ticket bearing any name which under the provisions hereof, it shall be the duty of said commissioner to deposit in said wheel, or with intent to influence or induce the said commissioner, or any of his deputies, to delay or omit to do any other act or thing which he is required by law to do, or to do any unlawful act or thing in or relating to the duties of his office of commissioner or deputy, shall, on conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and be punished by imprisonment in the jail of said city for not less than six nor more than twelve months, or by fine of not less than five hundred dollars, or by both such imprisonment and fine. (Laws 1879, p. 35, sec. 21. R. S. 1899, sec. 6559.)

Sec. 161. Punishment of commissioner and deputies.—If the said jury commissioner, or any of his deputies, shall, directly or indirectly, accept or receive, or agree to accept or receive of another, any money, goods, right of action or other valuable consideration, gratuity or reward, or any promise, undertaking or security therefor, in consideration of his omitting to do any act or thing which he is required by law to do as such commissioner or deputy, or in consideration of his doing any unlawful act or thing in his office of commissioner or deputy, he shall, on conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall thereby forfeit his office, and in addition thereto shall be punished by imprisonment in the jail of said city for not less than six months nor more than two years, or by fine of not less than five hundred dollars, or by both such imprisonment and fine. (Laws 1879, p. 35, sec. 22. R. S. 1899, sec. 6560.)

Sec. 162. Omission of sheriff, how punished.—If the sheriff or marshal, or any other officer of any of said courts hereinbefore mentioned, charged with executing the process thereof, shall willfully or negligently refuse or omit to perform any duty required of him under the provisions of this act, or shall, in pursuance of any direct or indirect agreement, or by collusion with any person, and with intent to evade or permit to be evaded, any duty by this act required of him, permit or enable any person to escape from, or evade being summoned as a juror, or shall in pursuance of any such agreement, or by collusion with any person, and with the intent aforesaid, shall permit or enable any person who has been so summoned to escape or avoid serving as a juror, in accordance with such summons or in pursuance of any such agreement or by collusion with any person, shall enable or permit any person not summoned and liable to jury duty under this act, to serve as a juror in any of said courts, or if any such officer shall, directly or indirectly, receive, or shall, directly or indirectly, agree or offer to receive any money, goods, right in action, thing of value, or other gratuity or reward, or any promise, undertaking or security therefor, in consideration of committing any offense such as hereinbefore mentioned, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of willful misconduct and misdemeanor in office, and shall thereby forfeit such office, and shall also be punished by fine of not less than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail of said city not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (Laws 1879, p. 35, sec. 23. R. S. 1899, sec. 6561.)

Sec. 163. Compensation of jurors.—Each juror summoned and serving under this act shall receive the like compensation therefor as is or may be allowed by the general laws of this state to jurors serving in the trial of any civil or criminal case, in a court of record, unless a different rate of compensation is provided therefor by the charter or ordinance of said city. For all services rendered by petit jurors, summoned pursuant to the provisions of this act, they shall be paid out of the treasury of the city in which such services are rendered, upon the certificate of the clerk of the court in which such service was rendered, and in the manner provided by law for the auditing and payment of other claims against the said city. All fees allowed to jurors in civil causes, in either of said courts hereinbefore mentioned, shall be taxed and collected as other costs in the case, and when collected shall be accounted for and paid over by the officer collecting the same, to the proper officer of said city, as other fees collected by any officer of said city are required to be paid into the treasury thereof. (Laws 1879, p. 36, sec. 24. R. S. 1899, sec. 6562—k.)

Sec. 164. Exceptions to juror, when to be taken.—No exception to a juror on account of his citizenship, non-residence, state or age or other legal disability, shall be allowed after the jury is sworn; nor shall any violation of the provisions of this act by any officer be any ground of objection to any juror, unless made before such juror is sworn, nor shall it in any manner affect the verdict rendered by him. (Laws 1879, p. 36, sec. 25; R. S. 1899, sec. 6563.)

Sec. 165.—Report of commissioner.—It shall be the duty of the said jury commissioner, within one week after the first day of October in each and every year, including the year in which he shall be appointed, to make report, in writing, of his proceedings as such commissioner during the twelve months next preceding the thirtieth day of September in said year, to the court having general jurisdiction of civil causes in said city, or if there be more than one such court, then to that one of said courts which shall be indicated by direction, in writing, to said jury commissioner, of the said judges mentioned in the first section of this act [R. S. 1899, sec. 6539], or a majority of them. Such report shall be presented to said court during the session thereof, and shall be by order of said court entered in full upon the records thereof. Said report shall contain, in a concise and intelligible form, a summary of the doings of said commissioner, and shall show, among other things, the number of persons liable during the preceding year to jury duty in said city, the number of persons who have claimed exemption therefrom, the number to whom said exemption was allowed by him, and the grounds thereof briefly classified; also the number of persons claiming exemption to whom the same was refused by said commissioner; also the number of names of jurors furnished by said commissioner, for service in the several courts mentioned in this act; also a statement of the expenses of his office, including the number of deputies employed by him, and the time during which each of them was employed, and the compensation to which he has certified that they were respectively entitled as hereinbefore provided, together with such further statements as the experience of said commissioner may dictate, touching the operation of said act, and the results thereof. It shall also be the duty of said commissioner at the same time to deliver, or cause to be delivered, to the mayor of said city, for his information, a copy of said report. (Laws 1879, p. 36, sec. 26; R. S. 1899, sec. 6564.)

Sec. 166. Present commissioner to hold office till when.—The jury commissioner now holding office by virtue of the "Scheme" prepared by a board of thirteen free holders, in conformity with the provisions of the twentieth section of the ninth article of the constitution of the state of Missouri, and ratified at the election held for the ratification or rejection thereof, on the twenty-second day of August, eighteen hundred and seventy-six, shall continue to exercise the powers and duties prescribed by an act entitled "an act to provide a jury system in St. Louis county," approved March third, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven, and the acts supplementary thereto or amendatory thereof, including said "Scheme," and be entitled to the compensation therein provided until the first day of October, A. D. eighteen hundred and seventy-nine, from and after which date the said act and all amendments thereto, and all acts or parts of acts now in force regulating or providing for the summoning and selecting petit jurors in this state which are in conflict with the provisions of this act, shall be and are hereby repealed. (Laws 1879, p. 37, sec. 27.)

Sec. 167. Act to apply.—For the purpose of ascertaining to what cities in this state this act shall apply, the several courts of this state shall take judicial notice of the population of the cities thereof, respectively, as the same has been or may from time to time be ascertained and declared by authority of the United States or of the state of Missouri, or of any city in this state, as the result of any census or enumeration of the inhabitants thereof, made in virtue of any law or municipal ordinance directing such enumeration. (Laws 1879, p. 37, sec. 28; R. S. 1899, sec. 6565.)

Sec. 168. A special jury, how ordered.*

Sec. 169. Juror to serve only once a year.—No person shall be required to serve as a juror, either grand, petit or special, more than once in any year. (Laws 1885, p. 75; R. S. 1899, sec. 6567—7.)

Sec. 170. Grand jury, how selected.—In all cities of this state having a population of over three hundred thousand inhabitants, the grand jury shall be selected in the following manner, to-wit: The list of names of all persons liable to service as jurors shall be submitted to the judges of the circuit court in general term, who shall therefrom select the names of six hundred men, known or believed by them to be in every way fitted for grand jury service, said selection to be repeated whenever deemed necessary by said judges of the circuit court, which names shall, by said judges, be erased from the jury commissioner's list, but by them be deposited in a special grand jury wheel, which after being properly secured, shall be delivered to the care of the jury commissioner, who shall be responsible for the proper custody of the same, and which, after the names are once placed therein, shall be opened only by the said jury commissioner, and by him only in the presence of two or more of said circuit judges, upon the requisition of the judge of the criminal court for such number of grand jurors as may be required for any one term of said criminal court. (Laws 1881, p. 57, sec. 1; Amended Laws 1885, p. 73; R. S. 1899, sec. 6568.)

Sec. 171. Number to be drawn.—The number of names of grand jurors to be thus drawn from said grand jury wheel shall not be less than twenty-four for any one term of said criminal court, but may be increased by the judge of said court as special circumstances may require. From the names thus drawn, the judge of the criminal court shall select twelve grand jurors, who shall serve for the current term of said court, and the names of such persons that have been drawn, but not selected to serve by said judge, shall be returned to the grand jury wheel by the jury commissioner, in presence of one or more of said circuit judges, immediately after the close of the term for which they were drawn. (Laws 1881, p. 57, sec. 2; R. S. 1899, sec. 6569.)

Sec. 172. List delivered to clerk.—The list of six hundred names selected by the circuit judges, duly certified to by the clerk of the circuit court, shall be

*This section was R. S. 1899, sec. 6566, but is repealed by Session Laws 1907, p. 117. Therefore this section was held valid: Eckrich vs. Transit Co., 176 Mo. 621; State vs. Lehman, 182 Mo. 424, 456. But it was in the City of St. Louis practically displaced by another act (see R. S. 1899, sec. 3791) relating to special juries, but the latter was repealed in 1905 (Session Laws 1905, p. 174), so that the section above (R. S. 1899, sec. 6566) was presumably applicable until the repeal in 1907, and such was the practice followed in the circuit court. The city of St. Louis shall be deemed to be a county within the meaning of this act. (Ib., sec. 2—w.)

Sec. 207. For the ordinance providing the building for the Juvenile Court, the operation of that court, and the offices created in connection therewith, see ord. 22540, approved July 12, 1906, set out in appendix to the Revised Code.

(w.) The amendment in 1905 (acts 1905, p. 56) repeals the act and substitutes a new one, in so far as cities between 150,000 and 500,000 are concerned, so that the act of 1903 now applies, in effect, to the City of St. Louis alone. But that does not invalidate the act, within the reasoning in Ex Parte Loving, supra (178 Mo. 194).

All costs not so collected shall be paid by the county. Pending the disposition of any case, the child may be retained in the custody of the person having charge of the same, or may be kept in some suitable place provided by the county authorities, or by any association having for one of its objects the care of delinquent or neglected children, or in such other custody as the judge may direct. (Ib., sec. 5.)

No jail sentence nor confinement with convicts.—In all cases when practicable the court shall require notice to be given and investigation to be made, as in the several cases under this act provided for, and may adjourn the hearing from time to time for the purpose. The court shall not commit a child under sixteen years of age to a jail or police station, but if said child is unable to give bail, it may be committed to the care of the sheriff, police officer or probation officer who shall, unless otherwise ordered by the court, keep such child in a suitable place, which shall be provided by the county, outside of the inclosures of any jail or police station, or such child may be committed to the care of any association willing to receive it, having for one of its objects the care of neglected children. When any delinquent child shall be sentenced to confinement in any institution to which adult convicts are sentenced, it shall be unlawful to confine such child in the same building with such adult convicts, or to bring such child into any yard or building in which adult convicts may be present, or to permit any contact or intercourse whatever between such child and such adults. The judge of the Juvenile Court may make in vacation any order for the temporary care of any child or children coming within the provisions of this act. (Ib., sec. 10.)

Sec. 215. Deputy probationary officers—duty of prosecuting attorneys—of police—probation officer's power.—In each county in this state having a Juvenile court and probation officer appointed as hereinbefore provided, the said probation officer shall have the power and authority to appoint one or more deputy probation officers subject to the approval of the judges of the circuit court. Said deputies shall hold office during the pleasure of the said court. Women shall not be disqualified from holding the position of deputy probation officers.

It shall be the duty of all circuit, prosecuting and city attorneys representing the state or city in any court held in the counties aforesaid, to give to the probation officers such aid in the performance of their duties as may be consistent with the duties of the office of such attorneys.

It shall be the duty of all police officers and constables making arrest of children under sixteen years of age in the counties aforesaid, to at once give information of that fact to the probation officer, or one of his deputies, and also to furnish such probation officer with all facts in their possession pertaining to said child, its parents, guardian, or other person interested in such child, and also of the nature of the charge upon which such arrests has been made.

Any probation officer may, without warrant or other process, at any time until final disposition of the case of any child over whom said Juvenile Court shall have acquired jurisdiction, take any child placed in his care by said court, and bring such child before the court, or the court may issue a warrant for the arrest of any such child; and the court may thereupon proceed to make any lawful disposition of the case. (Ib., sec. 11.)

Sec. 216. Salary of probation officer and deputies.—The said probation officer shall receive a salary of one thousand dollars ($1,000) per annum, payable monthly out of the funds of said county. Every assistant probation officer shall receive such salary or compensation as may be decided by the judges of the circuit court, not exceeding in any case the sum of eight hundred (800) dollars per annum, payable in like manner out of the funds of said county. Actual disbursements for necessary expenses made by probation officers while in the performance of their duties shall be reimbursed to them out of the funds of said county, after approval by the judges of the circuit court: Provided, that no officer shall be allowed for such disbursement a greater sum than one hundred dollars in any one year. (Ib., sec. 12, p. 216.)

Sec. 217. Power of court in final disposition of child.—In the case of a delinquent child, the court may suspend the sentence or execution thereof, from time to time, and may in the meantime commit the child to the care and control of a probation officer, duly appointed by the court, and may allow such child to remain in its home, subject to the visitation and control of the probation officer, such child to report to the probation officer as often as may be required, and to be subject to be returned to the court for further proceedings whenever such action may appear to the court to be necessary; or the court may authorize the child to be placed in a suitable family home, subject to the friendly supervision of a probation officer, and the further order of the court, or it may authorize the child to be boarded out in some suitable family home, in case provision is made by voluntary contribution, or otherwise, for payment of the board of such child, until suitable provision may be made for the child in a home without such payment; or the court may commit the child to a suitable institution for the care of children. (Ib., sec. 13.)

Sec. 218. Child a ward—subject to order court.—In any case where the court shall commit a child to the care of any association or individual, in accordance with the provisions of this act, the child shall, unless otherwise ordered, become a ward, and be subject to the control of the association or individual, to whose care it is committed; and subject to the order of the court. (Ib., sec. 14.)

Sec. 219. Associations—when awarded custody—report—removal.—The judge of the Juvenile Court may secure such information from any association desiring to have children committed to its care under the provisions of this act, as said judge may deem necessary, to enable him to exercise a wise discretion in dealing with such children. Every such association shall file with the state board of charities and corrections an annual report, respecting the children cared for during the year, under the provision of this act; the number received, the number placed in homes, the number that have died, and the number returned to parents or friends. The court shall have power to withdraw any child sent to any institution or association or person at any time, and to make other provision therefor. (Ib., sec. 15.)

Sec. 220. Religious affiliations to be respected.—The Juvenile Court, in committing children, shall place them as far as practicable, in the care and custody of some individual holding the same religious belief as the parents of such child, or with an association controlled by persons of like religious faith as the said parents. (Ib., p. 217, sec. 16.)

Sec. 221. Appeal.—An appeal shall be allowed to the child from any final order of commitment made under the provisions of this act and from any modification of such order and may be demanded on the part of the child by its guardian, by either parent, by its previous custodian or by any person within the fourth degree of kindred of such child: Provided, however, that such appeal shall be taken at the same term of the court at which the order is made, and such appeal shall act as a supersedeas if a bond with sufficient sureties shall be given in a penal sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, payable to the state of Missouri and conditioned that when so ordered by the court the child shall be surrendered to abide such judgment or order as may be rendered or made by the appellate court; but the trial court or the appellate court may in its discretion by an order modify or dispense with such bond; in which case the allowance of the appeal shall act as a supersedeas on compliance with the order so made. (Ib., sec. 17.)

Sec. 222. Act not to affect certain institutions.—Nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal any portion of the law relating to the Industrial Home for Girls, or the Reform School for Boys, and in all commitments to either of said institutions, the law in reference to said institutions shall govern the same. (Ib., sec. 18.)

Sec. 223. Compulsion of parent to support child.—In any case in which the Juvenile Court shall find a child neglected, or delinquent, it may, in the same or subsequent proceeding, upon the parents of said child or either of them being duly summoned, or voluntarily appearing, proceed to inquire into the ability of said parent or parents to support the child, or contribute to its support, and if the court shall find that such parent or parents are able to support the child or contribute thereto, the court may enter an order or decree requiring said parent or parents to support such child or contribute thereto, and may enforce the same by execution. (Ib., sec. 19.)

Sec. 224. Act of 1901 relating to juvenile delinquents repealed.—The act entitled "An act to establish a probation system for juvenile delinquents in certain cities," approved March 26, 1901, is hereby repealed. (Ib., sec. 20.)

Sec. 225. Emergency.—No adequate provision for the care of neglected or delinquent children existing in counties having a population of 150,000 inhabitants and over, in this state, there is created an emergency within the meaning of the constitution; therefore, this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage. (Ib., sec. 21.)

Sec. 226. Inconsistent acts repealed.—All acts or parts of acts in conflict with this act, or inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed. (Ib., sec. 22.)

CHAPTER FIVE A.

CHAPTER SIX.

Sec. 227. In suits against city for damages plaintiff may be required to join as co-defendant person or corporation liable to an action on same account by city.—Whenever a city of over one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants shall be sued in any court in this state and the cause of action on account of which said city is sued shall arise from the wrongful or unauthorized acts or carelessness and negligence of any person or corporation subject to service in this state, and such wrongful or unauthorized acts or carelessness and negligence shall also make such person or corporation liable to an action by the plaintiff on the same account as such city is sued for, such city may, within fifteen days after the first day of the next term of court after the service of the writ of summons, file a motion, in writing, in said case, notifying the plaintiff therein to make such person or corporation a party defendant in said suit in accordance with the facts constituting the liability of such person or corporation, which facts said city shall set forth in said notice, and shall verify the same by affidavit. The plaintiff in said suit shall then proceed to join such person or corporation as a party defendant in said suit, in accordance with the facts set forth in said notice, and such suit shall not be prosecuted against said city until such person or corporation is made a co-defendant with such city: Provided, however, that in case the facts set forth in said notice do not make such person or corporation named therein liable to an action on the same account as such city is sued for in such case, said plaintiff may file a motion to strike out said notice, and if said motion shall be sustained by the court, then the plaintiff in such case may proceed against defendant city alone, as if said notice had not been filed; and provided further, that if the plaintiff shall make such person or corporation as may be named in said notice a party defendant in said suit and shall have caused summons to be issued for such person or corporation, and such person or corporation cannot be served with process by the officer to whom such writ is directed, then the plaintiff in such case may proceed against the city alone. (Laws 1901, pp. 78, 79—a.)

CHAPTER SEVEN.

DENTISTRY.*

Sec. 228. Duty of register in St. Louis.—Whenever in article 3 of Chap. 128 of Rev. Stat. of 1899 entitled "Dentistry," it is provided that any duty or service shall be performed by any county clerk, such duty and service in the city of St. Louis shall be performed by the city register of the city of St. Louis as if said officer was especially named to perform these duties and services, and said register shall receive the same compensation therefor as this article provides shall be paid to county clerks; provided, further that whenever in this article the word "county" is used it shall include the city of St. Louis the same as if said city were especially named. (Laws 1905, p. 217, sec. 8535.)

CHAPTER EIGHT.

DRAMSHOPS—EXCISE COMMISSIONER.

Sec. 229. In all cities in this state, which now have, or may hereafter have a population of 300,000 inhabitants or more, there is hereby created the office of excise commissioner, who shall have exclusive authority to grant dramshop licenses; and such commissioner shall be appointed by and hold his office during the pleasure of the Governor. The excise commissioner must be a bona fide resident of the city where appointed for a period of not less than two years previous to his appointment and shall be confirmed by the Senate. (Laws 1905, p. 141, amend. R. S. 1899, sec. 3019.)

Sec. 230. Applications, how made.—Any person desiring a dramshop license shall present a petition to the excise commissioner, as required by the laws of this State, and if the petition is signed by the requisite number of petitioners, and the applicant is a person of good moral character, the commissioner shall give to the applicant a statement in writing, that upon the payment of the license tax required by law, a dramshop license will be issued to such applicant. (R. S. 1899, sec. 3020—b.)

The statute was made the basis of a motion to dismiss an appeal in the case of Baker vs. St. Louis, 189 Mo. 375.

*Laws 1905, pages 213-217, repealing R. S. 1899, secs. 8525-8536, relating to "Dentistry," and enact new sections in lieu thereof.

Sec. 231. Condition on which license may be issued or revoked.—Upon receiving the statement mentioned in the preceding section of this article, the applicant for dramshop license shall pay to the city collector the amount fixed by law as necessary to secure dramshop license, taking therefor duplicate receipts, one of which shall be filed with the city treasurer, and the other shall be filed with the excise commissioner, who shall then issue dramshop license to the applicant for the period provided by law; and the commissioner shall have authority to revoke any license by him granted, if the dramshop-keeper to whom license has been issued shall violate any of the provisions of the laws of this state governing dramshops. (R. S. 1899, sec. 3021—c.)

Sec. 232. Commissioner to keep record of licenses and preserve petitions.—The excise commissioner shall keep a record in which shall be recorded the names of all applicants for dramshop license, the place at which the applicant is permitted to conduct the business of dramshop-keeper, the date of the issuance of such license, and shall preserve in his office all petitions for dramshop license, and remonstrances against the granting of dramshop license; all of which shall be a public record, and open to the inspection of any citizen who desires to inspect the same. (R. S. 1899, sec. 3022—d.)

Sec. 233. President board police commissioners to be notified.—Whenever the excise commissioner shall grant a dramshop license, he shall notify the president of the board of police commissioners, giving the name of the person to whom the license is issued, the date of the license, and the place at which the business of keeping a dramshop is authorized to be conducted. (R. S. 1899, sec. 3023.)

Sec. 234. License to keep dramshop, refused or revoked, when.—No license shall be granted to any person to keep a dramshop who shall carry on the business of dramshop-keeper after the expiration of the license previously issued or without having received a license for such purpose or whose license shall have been revoked for violating any of the provisions of law governing dramshop keepers. No license shall be granted to any person to keep a dramshop in any house or building used for the purpose of prostitution or as a house of assignation or ill-fame or gambling house. If after a dramshop license is granted the building in which the dramshop is located shall be used for the above mentioned purposes, or any of them, then the license granted shall be revoked by the excise commissioner. (Laws 1901, p. 143, amend. R. S. 1899, sec. 3024.)

Sec. 235. Duty of police.—It shall be the duty of the police authorities to prevent any person carrying on the business of dramshop-keeper without having a license for that purpose. (R. S. 1899, sec. 3025.)

(b) The 8th section of the act of 1891 (R. S. 1899, sec. 2997) applies to the City of St. Louis as to the manner of issuing licenses; separate licenses are issued for state and city: State ex rel vs. Bell, 119 Mo. 70, 72, 74; State ex rel vs. Higgins, 71 Mo. App. 180, 183, 184. Formerly the collector performed same functions as county courts, and application for license required petition signed by majority of tax payers in the block: State ex rel vs. Hudson, 13 Mo. App. 61; see also as to the authority of the collector under the old law: State ex rel vs. Rosenblatt, 9 Mo. App. 587. Application for license to the excise commissioner in St. Louis is governed by the statute (R. S. 1899, sec. 2997), and required to be supported by the proper petition as there required, and the act of 1901 (since repealed and amended: Laws 1905, p. 141) which provided that the petition for a license should be on file in the office of the clerk of the county court for not less than ten days, applied in St. Louis to the office of excise commissioner, and where it appears that such petition was not on file that length of time a license granted thereunder was void; the commissioner acquires jurisdiction where the petition recites that the petitioners are a majority of the assessed tax-paying citizens and guardians of minors, owning property in the block; his findings of fact are conclusive; the facts are in general to appear in his records and the proper method of review is usually by certiorari, not by equitable bill: Cooper vs. Hunt, 103 Mo. App. 9. All jurisdictional facts must appear on the face of the proceedings: see cases cited in State ex rel vs. Seibert, 97 Mo. 212, 218, also holding that the application for license need not be sworn to.

The excise commissioner has no authority to issue a license beyond the period asked for in the petition and if he does the license is void; the dramshop act contemplates that after the petition has been on file in the office of the excise commissioner for ten days is shall be presently acted upon by him and that a license shall be granted or refused; if granted it should be for six months, at which time applicant may have the license renewed for another term of six months on the petition; at the expiration of the second license the life of the petition expires and if the licensee desires to continue he must go back to the tax payers and get a new petition from them: State ex rel vs. Mulvihill, 113 Mo. App. 324, 328.

(c) The revocation of a permit or license by the excise commissioner is not of a judicial nature, and is not reviewable by the courts: Higgins vs. Talty, 157 Mo. 280 (revocation for keeping disorderly house); State vs. Seibold, 192 Mo. 720, (discussing right of revocation for selling liquor on Sunday, independently of any conviction therefor, and denying the right of a dramshop keeper to question the validity of the statute in such a proceeding.)

(d) Cooper vs. Hunt, 103 Mo. App. 9, 15.

Sec. 236. Fees—Powers—Duties—Compensation.—The person to whom a dramshop license shall be issued shall pay the excise commissioner a fee of three dollars for each state license and a fee of three dollars for each city license, for granting and issuing the same, and said excise commissioner shall charge, collect and receive a further sum of three dollars for taking acknowledgments to each petition filed, acknowledgment to bond, filing petition and bond, administering oaths, and all other acts of said commissioner of like character necessary to perfecting the petitions and papers before the license is issued and the said excise commissioner shall perform all these services and acts, and for that purpose the said excise commissioner is hereby granted and given the power to administer oaths, to take acknowledgment to all papers and instruments filed in his office and to possess the same powers for that purpose as are now given by the statute law of the state of Missouri to justices of the peace. All fees and charges so collected shall be paid over to the treasurer of the state of Missouri to be placed to the credit of the general revenue fund of the state. Said excise commissioner shall take a receipt therefor from the treasurer, the original he shall file with the state auditor and the duplicate thereof he shall file in his own office as a part of the records thereof. The said excise commissioner shall make said payments to the state treasurer on the first Monday of each and every month, and shall at the time of making said payments to the treasurer, file with the state auditor a full, complete and sworn statement of all of the fees collected by him as herein directed, during the preceding month and since his last statement and also stating the total number of state and city licenses issued and granted, the name of the person to whom issued, date when issued, date of expiration and amount of ad valorem tax paid on each. Said excise commissioner shall receive the sum of five thousand dollars per annum, payable monthly out of the state treasury, as and for full compensation, salary and services, as such excise commissioner, and a further sum of four thousand dollars per annum or so much thereof as is necessary, out of which he shall pay all clerical help and expenses of whatever character in the conduct and management of the business of his office, payable monthly out of the state treasury, when properly certified by said excise commissioner. (Laws 1905, p. 141, amending R. S. 1899, sec. 3026—e.)

REGISTRATIONS AND ELECTIONS IN CITY OF ST. LOUIS—LAWS 1903. PAGES 170-193.

Sec. 245. Registration of voters.—In all cities of this state now having or which hereafter may have three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, there shall be a registration of all the qualified voters, and said registration and the mode of conducting the elections held in such cities shall be governed and controlled as provided herein, and be subject to all the provisions of the other election laws of this state, so far as the same are not inconsistent or in conflict herewith. (Laws 1903, p. 171, sec. 1.)

Sec. 246. Board of election commissioners created—how and by whom appointed—vacancies, how filled—duties of governor—qualifications and duties of commissioners.—There is hereby created a board of election commissioners for each city governed by the provisions of this article, composed of three members, who shall be appointed as follows: Within thirty days after this article becomes a law, the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint for each of such cities three members, who shall hold their office until January 15th, 1905, and until their successors are commissioned and qualified. App. 160; State ex rel. vs. Higgins, 144 Mo. 410. The board of election commissioners is an administrative body, with specific powers and duties, which in no manner trench upon the judicial power vested in the courts; prohibition will not lie against them; nor will the courts interfere by prohibition or injunction where the relief asked for cannot be made available to plaintiff because the election or primary must be held before the questions involved can be finally passed upon by the court; courts will not sit to determine abstract or speculative questions of law: Kalbfell vs. Wood, 193 Mo. 675.

All books, papers and records in their office shall be subject to the inspection of any qualified voter of the city at all reasonable times. Any judge or clerk of registration shall, at the same time or within five days thereafter, make separate report of anything which he may think either the said board or a majority thereof should be advised. Similar reports, on forms to be prescribed and furnished by the board, shall be made by the judges and clerks of election before their adjournment on election day; and within five days thereafter any judge or clerk may make a like separate report to the said board. Such reports shall be carefully preserved by the said board of election commissioners, and shall be subject to public inspection. Such report of the board, and suggestions and recommendations of the mayor, shall be subject to public inspection, and shall be printed by the board for the information of the voters of the city. Two registry books for each precinct in the city shall be provided by the board of election commissioners for the purpose of registration in such precinct, prepared substantially in the form as provided in this article. In one of the registry books the applicant for registration shall sign his name or make his mark if unable to write, and have the same witnessed, in the column for that purpose, and this registry shall be known as the original registry book. The other registry book shall be an exact copy of the original and shall be known as the duplicate of the original registry book. Such registry books shall be kept in the office of the board of election commissioners, except on such days as they are in the custody of the precinct registration officers, as provided in this article. During the days of registration such registry books shall be in the custody of the judges and clerks of registration, and the public registry book shall be subject to the inspection of any resident of the precinct. At the close of each day's registration the said duplicate registry book shall be compared by the judges and clerks of registration, and made to conform to the original registry book. (Ib., sec. 3.)

Such commissioners shall have the right and may employ additional clerical force and other assistants from time to time as may be necessary to promptly and carefully perform the duties of the office, to be appointed, divided and approved in like manner. Said secretary and employes shall be subject to the same restrictions and take and subscribe like oaths as said commissioners, and file the same in the office of the city register, and a copy of the same in the office of the commissioners of election. Commissioners, secretary and judges of elections and registration, and clerks employed in the office of said commissioners, are hereby authorized and, upon application to them by the affiant, directed to administer all oaths and affirmations pertaining to the administration of the duties of their several offices and in the affairs and business thereof and certify to such oaths, when the same are signed, free of charge. (Laws 1903, p. 173, sec. 4.)

Sec. 249. At least six months before each subsequent presidential election the election commissioners shall revise and rearrange the precincts and increase or decrease their number on the basis of the votes cast at the previous presidential election for president, making such precincts to contain, as near as practicable, three hundred voters, measured by the vote of such election. The precincts in each ward shall be numbered consecutively. (Ib., sec. 6.)

Sec. 251. Judges and clerks to be selected—qualifications.—Such board of election commissioners shall, ninety days prior to the first city or state election after this act becomes a law, and each two years thereafter select and choose four qualified voters as judges of election for each precinct in such city; they must be citizens of the United States; must be men of good repute and character; able

If any person holding the position of judge or clerk of election is found not to possess all qualifications prescribed in this section, or if any such judge or clerk shall be guilty of neglecting the duties of the place, or be guilty of any official misconduct, then such person shall be removed from office by the commissioners, and any such vacancy shall be immediately filled by the appointment of a person having the same qualifications as the person whose place he fills, as hereby required, who shall be selected and appointed as this section provides. (Laws 1903, sec. 7—h.)

Sec. 252. Names of judges and clerks to be published—qualifications of any judge or clerk may be objected to—board to hear objections.—At the time of such appointment of judges and clerks, the board of election commissioners shall publish for one day in two newspapers published in such city, of opposite politics, in the English language, each having a daily paid circulation of not less than twenty thousand copies, a notice, stating that the persons mentioned below have been appointed to act as judges and clerks in the various precincts enumerated, at all elections to be held for two years following such notice, and should have the qualifications by law required herein for judges and clerks, setting forth the same, and to which party they are respectively supposed to belong, and requesting all persons to inform the election commissioners as to any want of qualification on the part of any judge or clerk mentioned; that on a day named in said notice, which shall be not more than five days after the day of publication, the board of election commissioners will sit at its office for the purpose of examining into any objections made as to the qualifications of any judge or clerk; said notice shall further state the hours of said session, which shall be from nine to twelve a. m. and from two to ten o'clock p. m., and shall further state that if all objections to the qualifications of judges and clerks are not disposed of on said day, it will sit from day to day between the same hours, until the same are all determined; and further, that any person found disqualified upon such information will be removed and a duly qualified person appointed in his stead. On the day and at an hour named for the beginning of such session, the election commissioners shall meet at their office and consider the objections made to the appointment of each judge and clerk, beginning with the lowest numbered precinct of the first ward and continuing in regular number to the highest precinct of the ward of the highest number; the commissioners may examine any person appearing before them under oath; they shall decide each case as soon as the evidence therein is before them, and announce their decision, announcing also the dissent of any commissioner if the decision of the board is not unanimous; a minute shall be made of such decision, setting forth all objections made against any judge or clerk, and the finding of the majority thereon, and of the dissenting number, if there be any dissent; if all objections to judges and clerks are not concluded on said day, the commissioners shall sit from day to day, between the same hours, and at the same place until all such objections are disposed of; all judges and clerks found to be disqualified upon such hearing shall be immediately removed and persons having the necessary qualifications appointed in their places, divided between the two political parties as provided for herein. Within twenty days after the last of said sessions the election commissioners shall cause all the judges and clerks appointed, who have not been removed or excused from service for good cause, as provided herein, to be qualified so far as it is possible for them to do so, and any vacancies then existing shall be filled by said commissioners in the same manner as heretofore provided for the appointment of judges and clerks; such notice shall also set forth the wards in numerical order, and under each ward its precincts in like order, and under each precinct the street and number of the place of registration for such precinct. Said notice shall contain under each place of registration the word "judges," and under it the names of the judges appointed to serve in that precinct, with their respective places of residence; next, the word "clerks," followed by the names and places of residence of the various clerks appointed to serve in that precinct. (Laws 1903, p. 175, sec. 8.)

(2) Under this section the board is not vested with the power to remove judges and clerks duly appointed, without an assignment of charges against them authorizing removal and a reasonable opportunity to be heard; such judges and clerks of election are public officers: State ex rel. vs. Maroney, 191 Mo. 531

Sec. 253. Notice of registration days, etc.—It shall be the duty of such election commissioners to give notice by publication on Friday and Saturday preceding the first day of registration provided for herein, in two daily newspapers of such city, of opposite politics, in the English language, and having a daily paid circulation of not less than twenty thousand copies of the time and place of registration in each precinct of the city. (Ib., p. 176, sec. 9.)

Sec. 254. Registration days—registration books.—The judges of election aforesaid shall constitute the board of registry in the precinct for which they are appointed. There shall be four days for registration, as follows: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the seventh week prior to election, and upon which days the judges and clerks shall meet in their respective precincts. A new general registration shall be made in every year in which a presidential election occurs, and just prior thereto. Two registry books shall be provided and furnished to each board of registration by the said election commissioners for the purpose of said registration; the headings to the book shall be so prepared that the registry shall be made alphabetically according to the surname of each person applying, but it shall be arranged so that the residence of such person shall appear in the first column. The register shall be ruled, and one name shall be written on each line, but no name shall be written between the lines. Under the column "qualified voter," the word "yes" or "no" as the fact shall appear or be determined by the board of registry, it being, however, required of them to designate as a qualified voter any male person who, if otherwise qualified, shall not at the time of making application, be of age, provided the time when such applicant shall be of the age of twenty-one shall be subsequent to the date of his application, and not later than the day of election immediately following such time of applying, or, if foreign born, whose declaration of intention to become naturalized will have been made one year and not more than five years before such election. Under the column "date of application," the month, day and year when the applicant presented himself and was adjudged a qualified voter in the election precinct. Under the column "signature," in one of the registers, the applicant shall write his

Sec. 255. Precinct board of registry—duties.—In the registration of voters, said board of registry shall proceed as follows: They shall open the registration office at eight a. m., and continue in session until nine p. m. on each of said days. One of the judges shall administer to all persons who shall personally apply to register the following oath, or affirmation: You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will fully and truly answer all such questions as shall be put to you touching your place of residence, name, place of birth, age, occupation, your qualifications as an elector, and your right as such to register and vote under the laws of this state, so help you God. Each of said clerks of election and one of said judges of election shall have charge of the registry books and shall make the entries therein required by this article, and one of the judges shall ask the questions as to qualifications, and after he is through any of the judges may ask questions, one of the judges of election may, when necessary, relieve one of the clerks from time to time, as necessity may seem to demand, in making entries in said book. The name of every applicant shall be entered in such registry books, and all the facts shall be therein stated, as herein provided, whether he is entitled to vote or not. If it shall be determined by the board of registry that he is not a qualified voter in such precinct, then an entry shall be made in the appropriate column "no," and if qualified an entry shall be made in the same column "yes." Unless a majority of the judges shall determine the applicant is a qualified voter he shall be entered as not qualified, subject to the applicant's right of appeal as herein provided. Only such male persons, of the age of twenty-one years, residing in such precinct, as apply personally for registration, or who qualify by affidavit, as provided in this article, shall be entered in such register; but every applicant who would be twenty-one years of age on the day of the next election, or if foreign-born, whose declaration of intention to become naturalized will have been made one year and not more than five years before such election, if otherwise qualified, shall be entered on such register. Every applicant who has commenced to reside in such precinct at least forty-seven days before such election shall be entered in such registry, and shall be marked "qualified" or "disqualified," as the case may be; but unless on the day of election he resides in such election precinct, he cannot vote therein, although otherwise qualified. At the end of the day's registration each of said judges shall sign his name at the end of the list on each page of the registration book. Any vacancy upon such board of registration on any day of registration by reason of absence, disqualification, refusal to act or otherwise, of any judge or clerk of election, shall be filled by the judge or judges present and the same oath shall be administered by one of the judges present to such judge or clerk as provided for regular judges and clerks. The judge or clerk so appointed shall be of the same politics as the judge or clerk he succeeds. (Laws 1903, p. 177, sec. 11.)

Sec. 256. Qualifications of voters.—Every male citizen of the United States, and every male person of foreign birth who may have declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States according to law, not less than one nor more than five years before he offers to vote, who is over the age of twenty-one years, who has resided in the state one year next preceding the election at which he offers to vote, and during the last sixty days of the time shall have resided in the city where such election is held, who has not been convicted of bribery, perjury or other infamous crimes, or of a misdemeanor connected with the exercise of the right of suffrage, nor any officer, soldier or marine in the regular army or navy of the United States, nor while kept at any poorhouse or other asylums at public expense, nor while confined in any public prison shall be entitled to vote at such election, for all officers, state or municipal, made elective by the people, or at other elections held in pursuance of the laws of the state, but shall not vote elsewhere than in the precinct where he resides and is registered. (Ib., p. 178, sec. 12.)

Sec. 257. Challenges—appeals.—Any voter of the precinct shall be permitted to be present at the place of registration in said precinct, and shall have the right to challenge any applicant who applies to be registered; but if the board is satisfied that such person is a qualified voter, he must be so registered. (Ib., p. 179, sec. 13.)

Sec. 258. Verification lists—challenges.—The election commissioners shall prepare and furnish to the board of registration in each precinct, three blank-books, to be known as "verification lists," each page to be ruled into columns, and contain pages sufficient for each street, avenue and alley in the precinct. During the progress of registration, or immediately thereafter, the clerks of said board shall transfer all the names upon the register to the left-hand pages of such "verification lists," arranging them according to the street, avenues, alleys or courts, beginning with the lowest residence number, and placing them numerically, as nearly as possible, from the lowest up to the highest number. They shall first write the name of such street, avenue, alley or court at the top of the second column and then proceed to transfer the registered names to the pages of such "verification lists," headed "registered names," according to the street number as above indicated. If, during either day of registration, a registered voter of the ward shall come before the board of registry and make oath that he believes that any particular person upon such registry is not a qualified voter, such fact shall be noted; and after the completion of such "verification lists," such board or one of said judges, shall make a cross or check mark in ink opposite such name upon each of said "verification lists." If such judges shall, however, know that any person so complained of is a qualified voter, and shall believe that such complaint was only made to vex and harass such qualified voter, then such cross or checked mark shall not be put upon such lists. The board of registration shall return the two registers to the office of the board of election commissioners not later than 8 p. m. of the day following the fourth day of registration. The three verification lists shall be given to said clerks at the close of the last day of registration. (Ib., sec. 14.)

Sec. 259. Precinct canvassers—duties.—The clerks of election are hereby constituted canvassers of the precincts for which they are appointed, and upon the Friday and Saturday of the seventh week prior to said election, if so much time shall be required, said two clerks shall, each having one of said verification lists, go together and canvass such precinct, calling at each dwelling place or each house where any one may reside in such precinct, and each dwelling place as indicated upon said "verification lists," and if they shall find that any person upon their "verification lists" does not reside at the place designated thereby, they shall make a check-mark opposite such name. In making such canvass, such canvassers shall make special inquiry at the residences as designated in the registry and "verification lists," as to all the persons so registered as qualified voters. Said clerks shall meet at eight o'clock in the forenoon of each day of said canvass, and proceed with such canvass. If either of said clerks shall fail to appear at the place designated by fifteen minutes after eight o'clock, on either of said days, the clerk appearing shall immediately notify the election commissioners of said failure to appear, and upon such notification, or upon being otherwise so informed, the election commissioners shall immediately appoint a clerk, of the same politics, in place of the one absent or failing to act; and if both of said clerks fail to appear within the time mentioned then the board of election commissioners, upon being informed of such failure, shall appoint two clerks of different politics in the places of those absent or failing to act.

Sec. 260. Notice to be sent those whose residence cannot be located.—Upon the completion of said canvass, said canvassers, or one of them, shall sign a notice and send the same through the mail, duly stamped, to the address given upon the registry and "verification lists" of all persons named therein against whose names they have made check-marks, indicating that they did not reside at such place as before stated, and also to the address of all persons against whose names said registry board or judge of election has placed a check-mark in such "verification lists," which shall require such person to appear before the board of registry upon the Friday of the fourth week prior to said election, and to show cause why his name should not be erased from such registry. Proper blanks and postage stamps shall be furnished for the purpose to said canvassers by the commissioners. A similar notice shall also be served by one of said canvassers, either at the time said canvass is being made on or before the Monday following said canvass by leaving the same with the party, if found, or, if he be not found, at the place designated in such registry and "verification lists," by leaving the same at such address, if there be such place. Such notice, to be sent through the mail, must be mailed not later than ten o'clock of said Monday morning. Upon the conclusion of said canvass, the clerks shall make, upon the third copy of the verification lists, the same notations as contained on the two lists used by them in making their canvass, and the three lists, when so checked, they shall deliver at the office of the election commissioners not later than eight p. m. of the Monday following their canvass. And it shall be the duty of said commissioners, when complaint is made to them, to investigate the action of such clerks or canvassers, and to cause them to be punished for such neglect of duty. (Laws 1903, sec. 16.)

Sec. 261. Commissioners to print copies of verification lists—copy to be posted in each precinct.—The commissioners shall print, not later than Friday of the fifth week prior to said election, copies of said verification lists as returned to them by the clerks, with the various checks or cross marks thereon, and shall further print conspicuously on each copy a statement that all parties against whose names such checks or cross marks appear may be stricken from the registration lists unless they appear before the precinct board of revision at their session to be held on Friday of the fourth week prior to said election, and show cause why their names should not be so erased. A printed copy of the list for each precinct shall be posted near the front entrance of the polling place of such precinct, or as near the same as practicable, not later than Saturday of said fifth week. All such notices provided for in this section shall be printed in plain large type in sufficient numbers to meet the demand, and upon application a copy of the same shall be given, free of charge, to any registered voter in such precinct. (Ib., sec. 17.)

Sec. 262. Judges and clerks to revise registry, when—proceedings.—On the Friday of the fourth week prior to said election said board of registration, having first obtained from the election commissioners the books of registration and two of the verification lists for their election precincts, shall again meet at the place designated, and the said clerks of election shall meet with them, and they shall remain in session from ten a. m. until ten p. m. for the sole purpose of revising their registry and no new names shall be added. Said canvassers, or one of them, shall make out a list of the names of parties checked and designated as aforesaid, and to whom such notice has been sent, given or left with the address, and attach his or their affidavit or affidavits thereto; blank forms shall be furnished, stating that notice was mailed to each of said parties at the places designated on such lists, on or prior to ten a. m. on Monday of the sixth week prior to said election, and that notice was also personally left on or before said hour of said day at the said address of each of said parties named in said list so attached, if there be any such address. If any person to whom such notice has been sent shall appear before the board of registration during said session, he shall make oath and sign an affidavit in substance as follows:

"I do solemnly swear that I am a citizen of the United States (or have declared my intention to become a citizen of the United States on the _____ day of _____, 19____, according to law), and that I have resided in the _____ precinct of the _____ ward in the city of _____ and the county of _____, and in the state of Missouri, since the _____ day of _____; that I am not an officer, soldier or marine in the regular army of the United States, and that I have never been convicted of any felony or any misdemeanor connected with the exercise of the right of suffrage (or if convicted state the time of conviction, and when pardoned by the governor of the state)."

This affidavit shall be signed and sworn to before one of such board of registry, and it shall afterward be preserved and filed in the office of said election commissioners; said board of registration shall further examine him on oath, and also swear such canvassers, and hear him or them upon the question, and they shall also have the power to send one or both of said canvassers to make further examination and inquiry at the place claimed by such person to be his residence, and again examine such canvassers touching the same, and if, after such examination and hearing, the majority of said board are of the opinion that such person is not a qualified voter in such precinct, they shall mark the word "yes," under the column of the registry marked "erase," and shall also draw a line in ink under his name; which, in case of any registration, shall indicate that the name of such person is erased from the register, and shall not be entitled to vote unless his name be restored as herein provided. If any person to whom notice has been sent because his declaration of intention to become naturalized has been made more than five years before the next election, shall appear before said board at such session, he shall show in the same manner as in the case of original registration that he has become naturalized, otherwise his name shall be erased from the register. If any person, already registered, shall appear before said board at such session and make oath that he has removed to another place in the same precinct, said board, if they believe him, shall not erase his name, but shall make the correction to his residence in the books of registration. In making correction of entries as to residence and naturalization, a line should be drawn through the former entries, the proper entries made, and the word "corrected," with the date, written in the column headed "remarks." During the last hour of said session, if any person so notified to appear at such session shall not appear and show cause why his name should not be erased from such register, the same shall be erased in the manner aforesaid. Either of said clerks shall have the power and right of both in the matters pertaining to such canvass, except that both are required to go together to make such canvass. In the case of temporary disability on the part of either canvasser or clerk, either judge who belongs to the same political party may appoint a temporary clerk or canvasser, who shall belong to the same party, and administer to him the usual oath of office, and he shall perform all the duties of the office until the disability of the regular clerk or canvasser is removed. (Ib., sec. 18.)

Sec. 263. Voter may ask that name on registry be erased, when—appeals.—Any voter or voters in such precinct may make application in writing before said board of registration at the session mentioned in the next preceding section, to have any name upon the register of such precinct erased, which application shall be in substance in the words and figures following:

"(I, or we,) do hereby solemnly swear (or affirm) that (I, or we,) believe that _____ is not a qualified voter in _____ precinct of _____ of the city of _____, and hence ask that his name be erased from the register of such precinct."

Such application shall be signed and sworn to by the applicant, and filed by him with said board, and returned by them to the board of election commissioners with the registration lists to be filed in the office of said commissioners. The person making such application shall give the person whose name he or they seek to erase due notice in writing or otherwise, at least one day before the day of said session. If, upon hearing the application, the board of registration conclude to erase the name they shall so note it on the register. (Ib., sec. 19.)

Sec. 264. Duty of judges on hearing application.—If the judges upon hearing said application conclude that said name should not be erased from the register, but their conclusion is reached by the vote of less than a majority of the total number of judges appointed for such precinct, then they shall write on the register opposite the name of said voter the word “challenged,” and that word shall appear opposite the name of such voter on the register on election day. (Ib., sec. 20.)

Sec. 265. Judges shall sign registry—registry to be sent to commissioners—commissioners to proceed, how—lists public records.—At the end of the last session provided for, the said board of registration and said clerks shall correct and compare the registers and verification lists aforesaid, and make them correspond and agree; and said judges and clerks shall then, immediately following the last name on each page of the registers, sign their names so that no other name can be added with[out] discovery, and shall return the two registers and two verification lists to the possession of the election commissioners. Said commissioners shall cause the registration lists, as so revised, to be printed, and the names thereon and addresses thereof arranged in the order required in the verification lists, not later than Friday of the first week prior to the election for which such registration is made. All notices provided for in this section shall be printed in plain large type, in sufficient numbers to meet the demand, and upon application a copy of the same shall be given, free of charge, to any qualified voter of said precinct. (Ib., sec. 21.)

Sec. 266. Circuit court shall hear applications to be placed on registration lists, when.—The circuit court of said city shall, on Friday and Saturday of the third week prior to such election, specially sit to hear such applications as shall be made to it to place any name upon the register in any particular precinct. Such applications shall be sworn to and shall state the facts showing the applicant to be a qualified voter, with his residence, and that the applicant has applied to the board of registry in the precinct during the proper hours on one of the registration days, and that said board refused to place his name on such registry; or that having been duly registered he appeared before said board on the day appointed for revision, and against his consent his name was stricken from the registration list; such application shall be filed in said court before its opening on Tuesday of the third week prior to said election, and wherever such court shall be composed of more than one division, applications shall be assigned in regular order to the various divisions, as in civil cases. The court shall cause a docket of such applications to be made out, arranged by wards and precincts, stating the name of the person whose registration is to be affected by such application. Such applications shall be heard summarily and evidence may be introduced for or against such application. No formal pleadings shall be required. Each case shall be decided at once on hearing, and the clerk of the court shall make a minute of the disposition of each application. If the court shall order any name to be placed upon the registration list, and such order shall not be appealed from, a minute of such order shall be certified to the election commissioners, who shall forthwith cause such name to be placed upon the proper register, and indicate that it was entered by order of the court. After the entry of the registration so allowed by said court (without appeal) no further change shall be permitted, except for the subsequent registration of absentees or invalids, as herein provided, when such further registration shall be made, if any, and the appropriate stamp prepared shall be affixed to the end of each page of names in each precinct registered by said board of commissioners. (Ib., sec. 22.)

Sec. 267. Appeals from circuit court.—As the circuit court decides each case, an order therein shall be entered not later than the Tuesday following the hearing of the application, and any person desiring to appeal from such order may appeal to the supreme court of the state, or court of appeals, according to the facts; if application be made therefor within two days after the entry of said order, such appeal shall be allowed on the giving of an appeal bond in the penalty of two hundred and fifty dollars, conditioned to pay the expense of such appeal in case his appeal be not sustained. The time for filing such appeal bond and certificate of evidence shall be within four days from the entry of said order, and upon presentation to the court of a certificate containing the evidence heard at such hearing within said time, the court shall sign the same, and thereupon the same shall become part of the record in said cause. The original record in such cause shall be at once transferred by the clerk of said court to the court to which such appeal lies, and such appellate court, or if it be in vacation, any judge thereof shall proceed at once to hear and determine the appeal, and the judgment rendered upon such hearing shall be at once certified to the board of election commissioners and also to the circuit court, and the board of election commissioners shall carry out the order made by said appellate court or such judge in vacation. (Ib., sec. 23.)

Sec. 268. Registration by board or court—no protection against false registration, etc.—No person admitted to any registry by order of any court, or by the [board] of election commissioners, shall be protected by such order in case he should be indicted for false registration or false voting. (Ib., sec. 24.)

Sec. 269. Transfers of registered voters.—Whenever any person who has been duly registered as a voter by the board of registration of the precinct in which he then resides, and whose name shall have been returned on the registration lists as a voter by the board of registration to the board of election commissioners, after the close of registration shall change his residence from one precinct in said city to another, or from one part of such precinct to another part thereof, before the day of the election for which he is registered as a voter, and shall, after making such change at any time on or before the Wednesday preceding such election apply to the board of election commissioners to have his name transferred from the precinct in which he is registered, or his residence changed from his former to his present residence in such precinct, said board shall cause him to be sworn and examined as to the facts of such change, and his statement shall be taken down in writing and signed and sworn to by him and duly certified by said board; if said board shall be satisfied that the applicant has changed his residence, as stated, and that he is entitled to have his name transferred and his place of residence changed, they shall first cause his name, where he moved from his former precinct, to be erased from the registry thereof, and transferred to the precinct in which he then resides, or if he has changed his residence from one place to another in said precinct, they shall change his address on the register of such precinct. (Ib., sec. 25.)

Sec. 270. Registration of invalids and absentees.—If any person who has the qualifications required by this article to entitle him to register as a voter in such city shall be absent therefrom at a distance of more than fifty miles, or confined by illness or other disability to his place of residence, during all of the days appointed for registration prior to any election at which he desires to vote, he may file his application in the office of said election commissioners to have his name registered in the precinct in which he resides. Such application shall be verified by his affidavit and shall show that he has the qualifications required of a voter by this article, and that he was prevented by said absence, sickness or disability from appearing for registration before the precinct board of registry on all of said registration days, specifying such days and stating at what place or places he was during each of said days, and where registration is claimed on account of absence, the day upon which he returned after his absence during said days, or in case of illness or other disability stating the first day upon which such disability was removed. If his application is based upon his absence, he shall file at the same time the affidavits of two registered voters of said precinct stating that to their knowledge he is a qualified voter, and setting out therein his qualifications, that he resides in said precinct, and that they believe in the truth of his statement in his affidavit as to his reasons for not appearing before said registry board on all of said days of registration, specifying them. Where such application is based upon a physical disability the affidavit of said applicant shall describe the nature of such disability as the same is most commonly described, and said affidavit must be accompanied by an affidavit of a physician duly admitted to the practice of medicine in such city, which shall describe such disability as the same is most commonly described, and that such disability continued during said registration days, specifying them, also stating the day on which the same was first removed. Said board shall file all affidavits made as aforesaid and carefully preserve the same. Any voter may make objection to any person being registered upon such application in the manner and form as objections are required to be made before the registry board. The election commissioners shall sit specially to hear such applications on the Wednesday of the first week prior to said election between the hours of nine a. m. and twelve m. and between two p. m. and ten p. m., and if all such applications be not then determined it shall sit on the same hours of the next day. Said applicants shall appear in person before the commissioners on said Wednesday; they may be further examined by the commissioners under oath and further testimony taken in favor of or against their applications. All cases shall be heard summarily and decided as soon as heard. If the board shall believe any applicant is entitled to registration according to the provisions of this section he shall be registered as a voter; otherwise his application shall be rejected. If registered, opposite his name on the registry shall be entered the word "absentee" or "invalid," as the case may be. (Ib., sec. 26.)

Sec. 271. Revised lists of voters—when to be completed and how posted.—The board of election commissioners shall cause to be printed and ready for distribution not later than Friday of the week prior to the election, the revised registry lists as returned to them by the registration board at the close of revision, and further corrected as far as may be necessary by the judgment of the supreme court, court of appeals, or the circuit court, or transfers by the board of commissioners, or registrations of absentees or invalids as herein provided. In cases, however, where the order of any court shall be received, or any transfer or registration shall be made by the election commissioners, as herein provided, at so late a date that the name ordered to be registered cannot be printed upon the revised registry lists, all of such names so to be registered in any precinct shall be printed in a supplemental list, copies of which shall be given upon application to any qualified voter in such precinct upon demand; a copy of which shall also be given to the judges of election of such precincts with the ballot-box and poll books. Such revised lists shall be, except as corrected by the board of registration at revision, and by the orders above mentioned, in all respects like the registration lists above ordered to be published on the Friday of the fifth week before said election. (Ib., sec. 27.)

Sec. 272. Delivery of poll-book, ballot-boxes, etc., to judges.—Said commissioners shall, on the day preceding any election, have delivered to one of said judges, at his residence, one of the registers of said precinct, and the key (or keys, if there be more than one to the ballot-box), and to a judge of the opposite political party, at his residence, the other of said registers, the ballot-box, poll books, verification lists and necessary blanks and stationery, and a sealed package of ballots. (Ib., sec. 28.)

Sec. 273. Polls to be opened and closed, when—place of absent judge or clerk, how filled—penalty for absence or detention of ballot-box, register, etc.—The election polls shall be opened at six o'clock in the morning and continue open until seven o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, at which time they shall be closed. No judge or clerk shall absent himself to exceed five minutes at any one time until the ballots are all cast and counted, and returns made thereof. If any judge or clerk shall not be present after the expiration of fifteen minutes from the time to open the polls, or be disqualified, or refuse to act, the judge or judges present shall fill the place of such absent judge or clerk, or vacancy, by selecting a person of the same political party as the judge or clerk absent. One of the judges shall administer to such judge or clerk the oath required of the judge or clerk originally appointed, and such appointee shall perform like duties and be subject to the same punishment and penalties as any other judge or clerk. If any judge or clerk shall be fifteen minutes late, but shall present himself at the precinct for which he is appointed, and offer to act, at or before seven o'clock in the forenoon, he shall be permitted to act, and the person, if any, who has been appointed to fill his place shall retire but shall be entitled to one-half day's pay provided for judges and clerks hereunder, and the judge or clerk appointed who has failed to be present shall be entitled only to receive the remaining half day's pay; if, however, any judge or clerk shall not present himself at the polling place for which he is appointed to act at or before seven o'clock in the forenoon he shall not be permitted to act during that day, nor be entitled to any compensation for that day. (Ib., sec. 29.)

Sec. 274. Ballot-box to be kept in public view—penalty.—Before voting begins the ballot-box shall be empty, and it shall be opened and shown to those present to be empty, and not be removed from public view from the time when shown to be empty until after the close of the polls. It shall be locked and the key delivered to one of the judges and shall not again be opened until the close of the polls. If any obstruction shall be, prior to or during such election, interposed so that all who desire cannot constantly see such ballot-box, it shall be the duty of such judges to remove such obstruction on request of any voter of the precinct, or on their own motion. (Ib., sec. 30.)

Sec. 275. Poll-book, how kept.—Each of the clerks of the election shall keep a poll-book which contains a column headed "number," another headed "residence," and another headed "names of voters." The name and street and number of the residence of such voter shall be entered upon each of the poll-books by the clerks, in regular succession, under the proper headings, and the number of such voter, in the order in which he voted, placed opposite the name in the column headed "number." (Ib., sec. 31.)

Sec. 276. Procedure when ballot is offered by voter—in cases of challenge.—One of the said judges of election shall receive the ballot from the voter, and shall announce his residence and name in a loud voice, and shall write on the back of said ballot the number of the same, in the order in which it was received, which number shall also be placed opposite the name of the voter in the poll-book, in the column headed "number," and another judge shall put the vote in the ballot-box in the presence of the voter and the judges and clerks, and in plain view of the public. The judge or clerk having charge of the registry shall then, in a column prepared thereon, in the same line of the name of the voter, mark in ink or with indelible pencil "voted." If such person so registered shall be challenged or disqualified, the party challenging shall assign his reason therefor, and thereupon one of said judges shall administer to him an oath to answer questions, and he shall be questioned by said judge or judges touching such cause of challenge, and touching any other cause of his disqualification, and may also be questioned by the person challenging him in regard to his qualifications and identity, but if a majority of the judges are of the opinion that he is the person so registered and a qualified voter, his vote shall then be received accordingly. The vote of no one shall be received by said judges whose name does not appear upon the books of registration as a qualified voter. (Ib., sec. 32.)

Sec. 277. Registry in force between general elections.—In any special election occurring in a portion of such city for the purpose of filling a vacancy occurring in a single office there shall not be a revision of the registry. At every election held in such cities between the general registration referred to, the last general registry shall be used, and for that purpose the board of registration shall meet on Thursday of the seventh week preceding such election; the canvassers shall make their canvass on the Friday following; and the board of revision shall hold its session, for revision, on Friday of the fourth week prior to said election. Said sessions shall be held from eight o'clock a. m. until ten o'clock p. m. on each of said days, and names may be added, on the day of registration, or stricken from the register, on the day of revision, in the same way, upon sworn applications, as in the case of a general registration. There may be appeals for registration to the circuit court on Friday and Saturday of the third week before said election. The board of election commissioners shall sit to register absentees or invalids on Wednesday of the first week prior to said election. There shall be no publication of the names of judges and clerks, or of the revised lists. In all other respects the proceedings, forms and requirements are to be observed as provided for general registration. At every election held in such city between the time this act becomes a law and the next general registration provided for herein the registry books of qualified voters in such cities at the last general city or state election, and used in said election as the registry of qualified voters of such cities, and the registry of qualified voters under the various sections of this act providing for registration shall be the registry of qualified voters of such city used and in force for such elections. New books of registry shall be prepared and furnished as provided in this act by said election commissioners for the registration required to be made in every presidential year by this article; and the registry and other books no longer required, or used, shall be kept and preserved in the office of the election commissioners. (Ib., sec. 33.)

Sec. 278. Judges to be peace officers—challengers.—Said judges of election shall have authority to keep the peace and to cause any person to be arrested for any breach of the peace or for any breach of the election laws, or for any interference with the progress of such election or of the canvass [of the] ballots, and it shall be the duty of all officers of the law present to obey the orders of a majority of such judges of election, but less than a majority of such judges shall have no authority and no power to give any order to any such officer. And it shall be the duty of the board of police commissioners of such city to instruct all police officers accordingly. At every registration and election, each of the political parties shall have a right to designate and keep a challenger at each place of registration, revision of registration and voting, who shall be assigned such position inside the polling or registration booth, as will enable him to see each person as he offers to register or vote, and who shall be protected, in the discharge of his duty, by the judges of election. And authority signed by the recognized chairman or presiding officer of the chief managing committee of a party in any such city shall be sufficient evidence of the right of the challenger for such party to be present inside the room where the ballot-box is kept. But in case the challenger does not or cannot produce the authority of such chairman, it shall be the duty of such judges of election to recognize a challenger that shall be vouched for and presented to them by the persons present belonging to such political party or who shall be vouched for by the judge representing such party. The chairman of the managing committee of each political party may remove such challenger appointed by him, and substitute another in his place. Two persons of each political party, represented on the ballot, of good character and standing, shall be admitted, by the judges, into the polling place to be present during the canvass of the votes and the making of the returns, in the same manner as herein provided in regard to challengers. Such challengers and other persons shall be duly registered voters of the precinct in which they act as challengers or watchers, of good character and sober, and shall in no wise interfere with such canvass. (Ib., sec. 34.)

Sec. 279. Vote to be canvassed, when.—As soon as the poll of an election shall be finally closed, the judges of election, in their several precincts, shall immediately, and at the same place of the election poll, proceed to canvass the votes. Such canvass shall not be adjourned or postponed until it shall be fully completed, nor until the statements herein required to be made by the judges and clerks shall be made out and signed by them. The judges of election shall have the right to station one or more police officers or other peace officers, at such entrance to the room where such canvass is begun or about to take place, to exclude noisy or disorderly persons, and to keep the peace. (Ib., sec. 35.)

Sec. 280. Vote, how canvassed.—The judges of election shall first count the whole number of ballots in the box. If the ballots shall be found to exceed the number of names entered upon each of the poll-books they shall reject the ballots, if any, found folded inside of a ballot; and if the ballots and the poll-list do not agree after such rejection, they shall reject all ballots not numbered, and no ballot not so numbered shall be counted. The ballots so rejected shall be enclosed in an envelope marked "rejected ballots," and return[ed] with the ballot-boxes to the election commissioners; and the ballots or poll-lists agreeing or being made to agree in this way, the board shall proceed to count the votes in the following manner: Said judges shall open the ballots and place those which contain the same names together, so that the several kinds shall be in separate piles, or on separate files. Each of the judges shall examine the separate files which are on, or supposed to be alike, and exclude from such files any which may have a name or any erasure, or in any manner shall be different from the other of such file. One of said judges shall then take one file of the kind of ballots which contain the same name and count them by the tens, carefully examining each name of each of said ballots. Said judge shall then pass the ten ballots aforesaid to other judges, who shall count them in the same manner, and call the names of the persons named in the ten ballots, and the offices for which they are designated, and the poll-clerks shall tally ten votes for each of such persons. When they shall have gone through such file of ballots containing the same names by tens in that way, and when the clerks shall have tallied all the votes by tens for each of said persons, they shall then take up the next pile of ballots containing the same names, and shall count them by tens in the same way, and shall call the names of the persons named in said ballots and the offices for which they are designated, and the clerks shall tally the vote by tens for each of said persons in the same manner. When the counting of each file of ballots which contain the same names shall be completed, the clerks shall compare their tallies together and ascertain the total number of ballots of that kind so canvassed, and when they agree upon the number, one of them shall announce it in a loud voice. The said judges shall then canvass the other kind of ballots which do not correspond, those containing names partly from one kind of ballots and partly from another, being those usually called "split tickets," and those from which the names of the persons proper to be voted for on such ballots had been omitted or erased, usually called "scratched tickets." They shall be canvassed separately by the judges, and each name called out to the clerks and the office for which it is designated, and the clerks making tally of the same. When all ballots are canvassed in this manner, the clerks shall compare their tallies together, and ascertain the total number of votes received by each candidate, and when they agree upon the number, one of them shall announce in a loud voice the number of votes received by each candidate on each of the kinds of ballots containing his name. (Ib., sec. 36.)

Sec. 281. Vote on proposition canvassed, how.—Whenever any proposition is submitted to a vote of the people, and is printed or written upon the same ticket with the names of candidates for an office, the names, together with such proposition, shall be canvassed in the following manner: All the ballots shall be first separated into three piles, the first pile containing all the ballots in favor of such proposition; the second pile containing all the ballots against such proposition; and the third pile containing all the ballots not mentioning such proposition, or being neither for nor against such proposition. Each of the judges shall then examine each pile and see that the separation has been properly made. Then the first pile shall be counted by tens and the result announced to the clerks, who shall tally the same by tens, and so the second pile shall be counted, announced and tallied, and likewise the third pile; and the clerks shall announce the number of votes for, and the number of votes against, such proposition. The ballots for or against any proposition submitted shall always be canvassed, counted and tallied before the names of candidates for any office are canvassed, counted or tallied. If the tally sheets and returns should contain no heading for any proposition submitted, it shall be the duty of the clerks to write into such tally-sheets and returns the headings necessary in order to keep a correct tally and to make a correct and accurate return, and it shall be the duty of the clerks and judges of election to make a true count and correct return of all votes upon any such proposition, and certify the same to the election commissioner, as provided herein in other cases. (Ib., sec. 37.)

Sec. 282. Statement of result of canvass made and certified, how.—The said judges of election shall make two statements of the results of the canvass, one of which shall be written or partly written and partly printed in each of the poll-books used at such election. Each of these statements shall contain a caption stating the day on which, and the number of the election precinct and the ward, and city, in relation to which such statement shall be made, and the time of opening and closing of the polls of such precinct. It shall also contain a statement showing the whole number of votes given for each person, designating the office for which they were given, which statement shall be written or partly written and partly printed in words at length; and in case a proposition of any kind has been submitted to a vote at such election, such statement shall also show the number of votes cast for or against such proposition, written out or partly written and partly printed in words at length, and at the end thereof a certificate that such statement is correct in all respects, which certificate and each sheet of paper forming part of the statements, shall be subscribed by the said judges and election clerks. If any judge or election clerk shall decline to sign such returns, he shall state his reason therefor, in writing, and a copy thereof signed by himself shall be enclosed in an envelope, which shall then be securely sealed, and each of the judges and each of the election clerks shall write his name across every fold at which the envelope, if unfastened could be opened. And the envelope shall be directed on the outside to the election commissioners. Each set of tallies shall also be signed by the election clerks and judges of election, and shall also be enclosed in an envelope, securely sealed and signed and directed on the outside of envelope to said election commissioners. On the outside of envelope shall be endorsed whether it contains the statement of the votes cast or the tallies, and for what precinct and ward. (Ib., sec. 38.)

Sec. 283. Poll-books to be placed in ballot-box—to be sealed, how.—The poll-books which contain the statement of returns shall be placed in the ballot-box, and the ballot-box shall then be locked and the key removed; whereupon said judges of election shall all write their names upon a slip of paper of sufficient length for the following purposes: Said slip of paper, after the signing of their names thereon by said judges, shall then be pasted over the keyhole of the said box and extending upward to the upper lid of the box and carried for some distance over the top, and it shall be placed in such a way that the signatures of said judges shall extend across the place of the opening of the lid of the box, so that when the box is opened it shall tear such paper and destroy the signatures written thereon, and when the key shall be inserted in the keyhole it will tear the paper so pasted over the keyhole. Such paper shall be fastened with some adhesive material and so as not to permit the removal of such slip of paper without defacing it. (Ib., sec. 39.)

Sec. 284. Disposition of ballots.—The judges shall fold in two folds and string closely upon a string or wire, all ballots counted by them, except those marked "defective," or "rejected," unite the ends of such string or wire in a firm knot, enclose the ballots so strung in an envelope, on which shall be endorsed, in writing or print, the number of the precinct, date on which such election was held, and securely seal such envelope, so that it cannot be opened without breaking the seal, and return said ballots, together with the package containing the ballots marked "defective" or "objected" or "rejected," in such sealed package or envelope to the election commissioners. Two of said judges of opposite politics shall immediately after signing the statement of the result of the canvass and tally sheets and the sealing of the ballot-box, go together to the office of the election commissioners and deliver said ballot-box and the key thereto to said election commissioners, who shall keep the office open until all of said ballot-boxes have been received. Immediately upon receiving said ballot-boxes said commissioners shall give a receipt therefor to said judges, and shall place them properly arranged in the order of precinct numbers in boxes which shall be securely locked. Said boxes shall be placed in a vault having a double lock, and said vault shall be locked and keys retained by commissioners of opposite political parties. Said election commissioners shall securely keep said ballot-boxes for twelve months, not opening or inspecting them nor allowing any one else to do so, except upon order of court in case of contested election, or when it shall be necessary to produce them at the trial of any offense committed under this article. At the end of twelve months after said election, said ballots shall be destroyed: Provided, that if any contest of the election of any officer voted for at such election, or prosecution under this article shall be pending at the expiration of said time, the said ballots shall not be destroyed until such contest or prosecution be finally determined. (Ib., sec. 40.)

Sec. 285. Statement and tally-sheet to be delivered to commissioners, etc.—Another judge shall take a statement of the votes cast into his possession, sealed up in an envelope as aforesaid, and one of the clerks shall take a tally-sheet, sealed up in an envelope as aforesaid, and the judge having possession of statement and the clerk having possession of tally-sheet, shall each, before twelve o'clock of the next day after such election, deliver the statement and tally-sheet to the said election commissioners, and take a receipt from them therefor. And it shall be the duty of the said election commissioners to receive the same, and keep safely under lock and key until ordered to be surrendered as herein provided. (Ib., sec. 41.)

Sec. 286. Judges and clerks to be exempt from jury duty.—Every judge or clerk of election shall be exempt from jury duty from the day of his qualification as such until two years after his term of office expires if and so long as he performs his duty as such judge or clerk at every election held in the precinct for which he is appointed from the day of his qualification until his term of office expires; and where a judge or clerk, duly appointed by the board of election commissioners, has qualified and performed his duty as judge or clerk at an election, he shall be exempt from jury service until the next election, and if such second election falls within the term for which he is appointed and he fails to perform his duties thereat, his exemption from jury service shall thereby cease. Any person not regularly appointed by the board of election commissioners, but who shall duly serve as judge or clerk at any election, because appointed to fill a vacancy at the polling place, shall be exempt from jury service for six months thereafter. It shall be the duty of the jury commissioners in all cities subject to this act having jury commissioners, to see that no person is summoned to do jury service during the time for which he is exempt, as herein provided. And it shall be the duty of the board of election commissioners, after each election, to certify to the jury commissioners the names of the judges and clerks who served at such election. (Ib., sec. 42.)

Sec. 287. Disposition of ballot-boxes by commissioners—(penalty for failure to deliver to commissioners.)—The said election commissioners, upon the receipt of said ballot-box and key thereto, shall note the condition of seal or stamp on said box, and enter the fact touching the same upon a book kept by them, together with the name of the judge who returns such ballot-box; he shall thereupon open said ballot-box and remove the poll-books containing the returns of the votes cast, and note upon the book their condition, and put them in a secure place under lock and key, to which the public, in no event, shall have access. (Ib., sec. 43.)

Sec. 288. Abstract of votes, how made—copy to be sent to secretary of state.—Within eight days after the close of such election such board of election commissioners shall publicly open all the returns aforesaid and shall make abstracts of statements of all the votes for governor and lieutenant-governor on one sheet; all votes for other state officers on another sheet; all votes for presidential electors on another sheet; all votes for judges of the supreme court on another sheet; all votes for judges of the court of appeals on another sheet; all votes for members of congress and for senators and representatives to the general assembly on another sheet; all votes for county officers on another sheet; all votes for city officers on another sheet; all votes for any other officer on a separate and appropriate sheet; all votes for and all votes against any proposition which may be submitted to a vote of the people on another sheet. It shall be the duty of such board to canvass, add up and declare the result of every election held within the boundaries of such city, and transmit an abstract of the same to the secretary of state, or other proper officer, as required by law; and such abstracts or results, and a certified copy thereof, shall be treated everywhere within the state, and by all public officers, with the same force and effect as the abstract of votes now authorized by the laws of the state in such cases made and provided. (Ib., sec. 44.)

Sec. 289. Commissioners to make out and deliver certificates of election.—The election commissioners shall make out a certificate of election to each person having the highest number of votes for the several offices voted for, including aldermen and members of the municipal assembly, and deliver such certificate of election to the person entitled to it on his application. (Ib., sec. 45.)

Sec. 290. Procedure in case fraud in returns is suspected.—If, upon opening the various returns so made, there shall be anything to indicate that a change has been made in such returns since signing the same by the judges and clerks, or any fraud in any respect touching such returns, it shall then be the duty of the board to have all the tallies opened and examined. If there shall be any doubts as to the genuineness of such returns for any precinct, and as to the actual vote as originally returned, and the truth respecting the same remain uncertain, it shall be the duty of said canvassers to examine any person or persons who were present at the time of the proclamation so made by the judges of election in such precinct, about which any doubt may arise, and the board shall be permitted to place such parties or witnesses under oath and examine them touching the same, and it shall be their duty to cause such parties who were present at the time of such proclamation to come before them, and a subpoena may be issued by the election commissioners compelling any such witness to come before such board and give their evidence touching the matter; and it shall be the duty of said board to declare the result of the vote in any such precinct in regard to which any question arises in the vote, in the same manner as it was proclaimed by the judges of election after the canvass by them in such precinct. The result, so declared, shall be binding and conclusive, except in case of election contests. (Ib., sec. 46.)

Sec. 291. Compensation of commissioners, secretary and clerks—expenses paid by city.—In all cities not within counties such election commissioners, secretary of the board, judges and clerks of election and registration and clerks and assistants employed by the board of election commissioners shall be paid by the city. The members of said board of election commissioners shall each receive a salary of three thousand dollars a year, and the secretary of the board a salary of two thousand dollars a year, all payable monthly. The assistants and clerks employed by the election commissioners shall each receive a salary of four dollars per day for the time actually employed, payable monthly. All office and other expenses incurred by said board of election commissioners, and all office and other expense and all costs and expenses of registration and election in such cities shall be paid out of the city treasury. All printing, binding, books, stationery, etc., shall be paid for in the same manner and contracted for by the board of election commissioners. (Ib., sec. 47.)

Sec. 292. Compensation of judges and clerks of election, etc.—The judges and clerks of election and the members of boards of registration and clerks, in cities in this state having 300,000 inhabitants and over, shall each receive five dollars a day, for pay and compensation for their services. When judges or clerks of election shall be required to call at the election commissioners' offices for ballot-boxes, registration books, or for any other purpose, on any day except on election day, they shall be allowed $2.50 for said services. Said pay and compensation of judges and clerks of election, boards of registration and clerks shall be paid by such city, and the municipal assembly thereof is hereby required to make the necessary appropriation for such payments. (Ib., sec. 48; amended Session Laws 1907, p. 112.)

Sec. 293. Majority may act for board.—The act of a majority of such board of election commissioners shall in all cases arising under this article be considered as the act of said board of election commissioners.

Sec. 294. Board to audit accounts.—Said board of election commissioners shall audit all the claims of the judges of election and of registration and all other claims, expenses and accounts under this article, and shall draw a warrant therefor upon the proper officer. (Ib., sec. 49.)

Sec. 295. Repealing inconsistent acts.—Article VIII, chapter 102 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri of 1899, and all acts amendatory thereto is hereby repealed, and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed, in so far as they are inconsistent therewith. (Ib., sec. 50.)

ARTICLE III.

Primary Elections (in so far only as not governed by the new primary election law of 1907, which latter applies to all elective offices, but not "special elections to fill vacancies, nor to county superintendents of schools, to city officers not elected at a general state election, and to town, village and school district officers").*)

Sec. 296. Short title and application of act.—The short title of this act shall be the "Primary election law." Except as otherwise herein provided it shall be controlling: (1) On the methods of the registration of voters in cities in this state which now have, or which may hereafter have, over 300,000 inhabitants according to the last preceding census; (2) on the conduct of primary elections in such cities; (3) on party conventions in such cities, or for any political subdivision thereof; (4) on the choice in such cities, or in any political subdivision thereof, of the members of political committees. (Session Acts 1901, p. 149. Primary Election Law, sec. 1—i.)

Sec. 297. Definition and construction of act.—The terms used in this act shall, for the purpose of this act, have application as provided in this section, unless other meaning is clearly apparent from the language of the context or manifest intent. The term "general committee" shall apply to any committee chosen in pursuance hereof, or of the rules and regulations of a party, to represent the members of such party in any such city; and the term "committee" shall apply to any committee chosen in like manner to represent the members of a party in any political subdivision of such city. The term "convention" shall apply to any assemblage of delegates of a party in and for any such city, or in and for any political subdivision of such city, duly convened for the purposes of nominating candidates for public office, electing delegates to other conventions, electing members of political committees, or transacting any other business relating to the affairs of a party. The term "primary election" shall apply to any election by the members of a party duly convened in any such city, or in any political subdivision of such city, of delegates to a convention, or of party committeemen, or of candidates for public office, or to any such election upon any questions submitted to the vote of a party. The term "primary period" shall apply to the time intervening from the date of the election of state officers to the date of the next subsequent election of the same officers. The term "party" shall apply to any political organization which, at the last preceding election, polled at least 10,000 votes for governor, or for supreme judge if the governor was not elected at such election. No organization or association of citizens solely for the election of city officers shall be deemed a political party within the meaning of this act, and membership in any such organization or association shall not prevent an elector from voting and acting as a member of a political party. (Ib., sec. 2.)

*The new primary law therefore in nearly all cases supersedes the primary law as given in this article. The provisions of said new act of 1907 were enacted too late to appear in this revision in numerical order, but they are set out in full hereinafter, and designated as Article IV of this Chapter.

The provisions of this article III, following next hereinafter, are the acts of 1901, pages 149-165, which repealed prior inconsistent acts. (For the old law see Mun. Code, pages 121-123). Primaries were regulated by art. 4, ch. 102 R. S. 1899, in so far as the provisions of the article are not altered by the St. Louis primary act: Sieber vs. McCaffery, 108 Mo. App. 49, 56. The board acts in an administrative and not judicial capacity: Kalbfell vs. Wood, 193 Mo. 687.

(i) As stated in the preceding note the application of this act is, since the enactment of the primary law of 1907, very limited.

Sec. 298. Primary registration books to be prepared.—The election commissioners in all cities in this state to which this act is applicable, shall cause to be prepared, within ninety days after this act shall become a law and be in force, original primary registration books to the number of two for each election precinct. Such registration books shall be so arranged that the names of all the electors of the election precinct may be inscribed therein alphabetically; there shall be fourteen columns on each page; the first for the surnames of the electors; the second for the christian names of the electors; the third for their residence addresses; the fourth, fifth and sixth, for the words at the top of page, "1st official," "2nd official," "3rd official," respectively, and over same the word "Democratic;" the seventh, eighth and ninth, for the words at the top of page, "1st official," "2nd official," "3rd official," respectively, and over the same the word "Republican;" the tenth and eleventh for the word at the top of page "unofficial;" said last eight columns shall be of sufficient width to permit the word "voted" to be plainly written therein; the twelfth column shall be of sufficient width to permit the word "challenged" and date thereof to be plainly written therein; the thirteenth column shall have at top of page the words "oath administered;" and the fourteenth column shall be of sufficient width to permit the elector to plainly sign his full name. (Ib., sec. 3.)

Sec. 299. Form of registration sheet.—The form of each registration sheet in the primary registration books shall be as follows, viz.:

Sec. 300. Elector shall sign registration books.—When an elector shall have been registered as a qualified voter in any precinct in such city, either at the office of the election commissioners, or in any such precinct on any day of precinct registration, his name and residence address shall be entered at the proper place by the election commissioners, or judges at precinct registration, in the two original primary registration books for that precinct, and such elector shall forthwith sign his name in the column provided therefor. In case an elector shall be unable to sign his name, he shall make his mark, and the same shall be evidenced as like signatures are by law in sealed instruments. If an elector shall refuse to sign his name as above provided, his registration for primary purposes shall be deemed void, and the registration officer, or officers, shall forthwith strike his name from such primary books by running a red line with pen and ink through his name. Nothing herein, however, shall be construed to prevent such elector, being a qualified voter for other than primary purposes, from subsequently appearing before the proper registration officers, and, by complying with provisions above required, having his name duly registered in said primary books, and becoming an elector for primary purposes. (Ib., sec. 5.)

Sec. 301. Registration provided for.—No elector shall be permitted to vote at any primary election unless he be a registered voter in the precinct at the time he offers to vote, and at the time actually resides in such precinct at the number designated in his registration. If an elector shall be duly registered for primary purposes in an election precinct in such city, and shall thereafter move his residence out of such precinct to another precinct in the same city, said elector may, after he shall become a qualified voter of such last named precinct, have his primary registration changed to conform thereto, but if such re-registration is made at the office of the election commissioners, the officer making such re-registration shall forthwith strike the name of such elector from the primary books in which he was last before registered by running a red line through the same with pen and ink. If such re-registration for primary purposes be made by the judges on any day of precinct registration, said judges shall, over their proper signatures, certify to the re-registration of such elector, giving the ward, precinct and residence address from which he was last before registered in the primary books, on blanks provided therefor, and return the same in sealed envelopes, with the primary books to the office of the election commissioners, and the election commissioners shall forthwith cause the name of such elector to be stricken from the primary books in which he was last before registered by running a red line through the same with pen and ink. If an elector shall move from one place in a precinct to another place in the same precinct, he must re-register in the manner above provided before he can vote at any primary election. (Ib., sec. 6.)

Sec. 302. Registration suspended, when.—No primary election shall be held in any city in this state to which this act is applicable on any day of precinct registration, nor within five days preceding, or following, any such day. The election commissioners in any such city shall suspend all primary registration on the day of primary election, and during the five days preceding and following the same. Any elector who shall register and become a qualified voter in any precinct during any suspension of primary registration shall have the right to subsequently register for primary purposes by complying with the provisions of this act governing primary registration.

Sec. 303. Commissioners to attest registration books.—Within three days prior to any primary election held under the provisions of this act the election commissioners in such city shall certify, over their own proper signatures, in each of the two primary registration books, in each precinct in such city, or district, in which such primary is held, that the primary registration books for such precinct contain a full, complete, and correct list, alphabetically arranged, of all the electors in said precinct who are registered for primary purposes, and that all of said electors were duly registered, and are bona fide residents of such precinct, and as such, entitled to vote as they verily believe, and said certificate shall be attached to, and made a part of said primary registration books. (Ib., sec. 8.)

Sec. 304. Registration books delivered to judges, when.—The original primary registration books shall be used at all official primary elections, and shall be delivered by the election commissioners to the proper judges of primary election within twenty-four hours before the opening of the polls on each official primary day, and shall be returned by the judges to such election commissioners forthwith, after the completion of the canvass and count of the votes cast at such primary. (Ib., sec. 9.)

Sec. 305. Unofficial primary held, how.—Unofficial primary elections may be held by any political organization or association of citizens in any such city, and such organization or association shall have the right to use the primary registration books thereat, by duly notifying the election commissioners of such city of their wish to use said books, and in all respects complying with the provisions of this act governing the filing of delegations, and defraying the expense of such primary. (Ib., sec. 10.)

Sec. 306. Wards divided into primary election districts.—The election commissioners shall within thirty days after this act shall take effect and be in force, divide every ward in cities to which this act is applicable, into two primary election districts, each of which shall consist of two contiguous districts, composed of precincts lying compactly together and as nearly as may be, so that each primary district shall contain the same number of voters registered for primary purposes. There shall be one polling place in each of such primary districts, which shall be designated and provided at public expense by the election commissioners, and such polling place shall be, as nearly as may be, centrally located in such primary districts. Whenever the ward lines of any ward in such city shall be changed in any manner, said election commissioners shall, within thirty days after such change, again divide each of said wards so changed into two primary districts in the manner above provided. (Ib., sec. 11.)

Sec. 307. Duties of political committees—of commissioners.—Whenever the general committee representing a political party in any city to which this act is applicable, or the committee representing a district in such city, shall officially call a primary election, at which the electors belonging to such party in such city, or district, shall select; (1) delegates from the various wards in such city, or district, to any convention of such party to be held for the purpose of nominating a candidate, or candidates, for public office; (2) to nominate, by direct primary vote, a candidate, or candidates, for public office; (3) to select, either by direct vote, or through delegates elected at such primary, the representative of the managing committee of such party from any district or ward in such city, the chairman of such committee shall certify and deliver to the election commissioners a statement of the conventions, committees, and offices for which delegates, members or candidates, as the case may be, are to be elected thereat, and the number of delegates to conventions apportioned among the various wards in such city, or district, and members of the committees to be elected in each ward, or district. The election commissioners shall forthwith prepare a notice of such official primary election, and shall publish such notice for at least three days prior to such primary election in at least one newspaper having a general circulation in the city in which such primary is held of the political faith of the party calling such primary. Such notice shall specify the day of such primary election, the hours during which it shall be held, the location of each polling place, the election precincts whose electors may vote at each such polling place, the name of the party whose primary election will be held thereat, and the conventions, committees and offices for which delegates, members, or candidates, as the case may be, will be voted for thereat. Such notice shall also specify the number of delegates to which each ward in such city, or district, is entitled, in case a delegate convention is called. All official primary elections, held in pursuance of this act, shall be open from one o'clock in the afternoon to eight o'clock in the evening. All other primary elections, if any, shall be open for not less than three hours, commencing not earlier than four o'clock in the afternoon, and not later than eight o'clock in the evening. Notice of all unofficial primary elections shall be given in the same manner as in case of official primary elections, except that such notice shall be given by the proper party officers, and shall not be at public expense. Unofficial primary elections shall be held in such places in the various primary districts in such city, or part of city, as shall be designated by the organization or association of citizens calling the same: Provided, however, that the election commissioners may, at the request of such organization or association, combine the two election districts in any ward and provide but one polling place therein. (Ib., sec. 12—j.)

Sec. 308. Forbidden to hold primaries, where.—No primary election shall be held in a saloon or drinking place, or in any room connected therewith, or in any room which is not on the first floor of the building of which it forms a part, or that is not directly and easily accessible to the street. The election commissioners shall post, and keep posted during such election at or near the entrance to the room where the primary election is held, so that said notice is clearly visible from the street, a conspicuous notice, calling attention to the place at which the primary election is being held. Unofficial primary elections shall be held at the expense of the party holding them, and, except as herein otherwise provided, shall be subject to the rules of the organization or association calling the same. (Ib., sec. 13.)

Sec. 309. Delegations filed, when—expenses, how paid.—Whenever an official, or unofficial, primary election is called under the provisions of this act, the election commissioners shall fix a time within which delegations may be filed in their office, which in no case shall be less than fifteen days from the date of said call, and the party, committeeman, or person, filing such delegations, shall pay into the office of said election commissioners the sum of twenty dollars for each delegation filed to defray the expense of conducting such primary. Said commissioners shall pay, or cause to be paid, out of the funds thus created, the judges and clerks officiating at such primary within ten days thereafter, and any balance of such fund remaining over shall be by said commissioners paid into the city treasury. No delegation shall be received and filed from any ward in such city, or district in such city, except the petition therefor be duly signed by each elector whose name is submitted for delegate therein, and the same be endorsed by at least twenty qualified electors of such ward, evidenced by their signatures to a petition therefor, giving their residence address, and such petition shall be certified to by the committeeman or person filing the same, who shall make oath that the same is offered bona fide, and that the delegates named therein, and the petitioners signing the same, are actually resident qualified voters of the ward for which said delegation is offered, and that all said delegates and petitioners are members of the political party whose primary is to be held under the call for such primary, and that no name appears on the list of delegates submitted therein, which appears on any other delegation filed in said ward, as he verily believes. The election commissioners shall not receive and file any subsequent delegation from any ward to be voted for at such primary which contains the name of any delegate whose name appears on the list in any former delegation. Whenever a delegation is filed from any ward under the provisions of this act the same shall not be withdrawn for any reason, and it shall be the duty of the election commissioners to place the same on the official ballot to be voted for at such primary. All changes in the personnel of any delegation shall be made within three days from the last day fixed for filing delegations, and shall be only made at the written request of the person whose name is to be withdrawn, or at the written request of a majority of the electors composing such delegation, and the person filing such delegation shall thereupon substitute in each case of withdrawal the name of some other qualified elector residing in the ward in which such change is made. The party, committeeman, or person, filing such delegation shall, at the time he files the same, submit to the election commissioners the names of three resident qualified voters of each primary district in the ward for which such delegation is filed, for primary election judges in such districts, together with the names of three resident qualified voters of each primary district in such ward, for clerk and challenger. All the names thus submitted must be of electors belonging to the political party for which such primary is held, and must be reputable citizens actually residing in the primary district in which they are to serve. If there be but two delegations filed in any ward, the election commissioners shall select two judges out of the list submitted for judges for each delegation, and one clerk and one challenger out of the list submitted therefor. If there be more than two delegations filed in any ward, the election commissioners shall select from the list submitted with each delegation, one judge, one clerk, and one challenger, to represent the same at such primary. The judges and clerks thus selected shall qualify before a member of the board of election commissioners, or the secretary of such board, in the manner required of judges and clerks who serve at general state elections. If any judge, clerk, or challenger, thus appointed and qualified, shall fail to appear at the poll at which he was selected to serve in any primary district, within five minutes after the time fixed for opening the polls thereat, the committeeman, or person who submitted his name, or if not present, some member of the delegation in whose behalf his name was submitted, shall choose another resident qualified voter in such district, belonging to said party, who shall qualify before one of the judges present in the manner provided by law in such cases at general elections, and shall serve in the place of such absentee. All judges and clerks who serve at primary elections under the provisions of this act shall receive as compensation therefor the sum of three dollars per day. (Ib., sec. 14—k.)

Sec. 310. Proceedings when candidates for office are nominated by primary.

—If the general committee representing a party in any city to which this act is applicable, or the committee in any district in such city, shall determine to nominate a candidate, or candidates, for public office, or committeeman for said party, by direct vote of the electors, the chairman of said committee shall notify the election commissioners of such fact, stating what nominations are to be thus made, the date fixed for such primary election, and said election commissioners shall forthwith make publication thereof as hereinbefore provided in case the call is for a delegate convention. All candidates submitting their names for nomination for public office at the primary

(k) Any twenty qualified voters (in a case arising under the act of 1897) of a ward, members of the party ordering the primary, may by proper petition and the required deposit, have the delegates' names placed on the ballots; and when the delegation is duly recognized by the board it is duly nominated and each member entitled to be voted for and a second petition by twenty other voters under another caption cannot be filed which has the same persons on its delegation, and which would, if recognized, give the right to present the names of additional clerks and judges to the election commissioners: Johnson vs. Jones, 82 Mo. App. 204.

Under the same primary law in force when the above case was decided (R. S. 1899, secs. 7146-7161) it was held that mass-meetings held for the election of delegates to a congressional convention were not excluded as a lawful method, the law only requiring that if primaries were held, that then they be held in the manner designated: State ex rel. vs. McCaffery, 160 Mo. 317 (holding also that it made no difference that a different method had first been determined on by the committee if such action be properly rescinded by a full quorum of the committee).

thus called, shall file with the election commissioners within the time fixed to file delegations as provided in section 12 of this act, a petition duly signed by at least one hundred qualified electors of the city, or if from a district in such city, then at least twenty-five qualified electors of said district, and such petition shall state the full name of each candidate, his residence address, the office for which he seeks a nomination, and the political subdivision, city, or district, or ward in which he seeks such nomination. After all persons who desire to submit their names as candidates for nomination shall have filed their petition as above provided, the election commissioners shall apportion among such candidates, as nearly as may be, the expense of conducting said primary, taking into account only the sums of money necessary to pay the per diem of the primary judges and clerks, and all candidates thus submitting their names for nomination shall within three days after the last day fixed for filing their petitions, pay into the election commissioner's office, the amount assessed against them as their just proportion of such expense. Said election commissioners shall not place the name of any candidate for nomination on the official primary ballot who shall fail to fully comply with the provisions hereof. The judges, clerks and challengers, who serve at such primary shall be selected by the election commissioners from lists submitted by the managing committee of the party holding the same. (Ib., sec. 15—1.)

Sec. 311. Ballots.—If the call for such official primary election shall require nominations to be made by a delegate convention, the election commissioners shall prepare an official ballot on white paper of good quality, which shall contain the names of each delegation in any ward, grouped together, and side by side. Over each delegation shall be printed a caption designating the same, which in no case shall consist of more than three words. If the official call for such primary shall require candidates to be nominated by the direct vote of the electors, the election commissioners shall group the names of all the candidates for a given office together, with a caption above each set of candidates, designating the office for which they seek nomination, and all of said separate groups of candidates shall be printed on white paper of good quality, and in a single column. All ballots shall be printed plainly in good sized type and with black ink, and all printing on such ballots shall be of uniform size, excepting the captions thereon. After such official ballots for such primary election shall have been printed, the election commissioners shall securely keep the same and deliver to the judges of each primary district within twenty-four hours preceding the time fixed for opening the polls at said primary, a sufficient number of said ballots to accommodate the electors in each primary district. Such ballots shall be by said election commissioners placed in the ballot-boxes, which boxes shall be securely locked, and the ballots and boxes shall be thus delivered to said judges. The judges of primary election shall not deliver to any elector, or other person, any of the ballots, until after the opening of the polls, and shall then deliver but one ballot to any elector, who shall vote the same, or return it to the judges before leaving their presence. In case an elector shall require a second ballot, he shall return the first one given him, and the same shall be by the judges openly destroyed before a second ballot shall be given him. All unvoted ballots, except those destroyed as above provided, shall be returned to the office of the election commissioners in the ballot-box not containing voted ballots, and the same shall be securely locked. (Ib., sec. 16.)

Sec. 312. Registration books open to inspection.—The primary registration books used at primary elections shall be returned with the ballot-boxes, keys thereof, and the registration books, together with the affidavits, certificates and other papers in this act provided, and said registration books shall for thirty days thereafter, at all reasonable hours, Sundays and public holidays excepted, be open to the inspection of any citizen; and any elector who shall have voted at the primary election held by one party on any primary day shall not be permitted to vote at a primary election held by any other party during any one primary election period. (Ib., sec. 17.)

Sec. 313. Opening of polls, and voting at official primary elections.—Subdivision 1. The election commissioners in cities to which this act is applicable, shall within twenty-four hours prior to the time fixed for opening the polls at an official primary election, deliver to one of the judges appointed and qualified as required in this act in each primary district, two of the ballot-boxes used at general state elections, together with the keys to said boxes. Such ballot-boxes shall be securely locked, and one of them shall contain the official ballots for such primary district, as required in section 14 of this act, and said ballot-boxes shall not be opened until the hour of one o'clock p. m. on the day of such official primary. At said hour said boxes shall be opened, and the one found not to contain the ballots as aforesaid shall be publicly examined, and nothing shall remain therein. After such last named ballot-box shall be found to be entirely empty, the same shall be closed and securely locked, and the ballots of all electors voting at said primary shall be deposited therein. The judges shall then declare the primary opened, provided all of the judges and clerks appointed for such primary district are present. If any judge or clerk so appointed shall be absent, his place shall be filled as provided in section 12 of this act. When such vacancies, if any, shall be thus filled, the judges shall declare the primary opened. When any elector shall present himself to the judges, and declare his desire to vote, he shall announce his name, and residence, and if he shall be found to be duly registered in the primary registration books in his precinct, the judges of election, or a member thereof, shall deliver to him, unfolded, an official ballot. Thereupon and before voting, the elector shall retire into one of the booths of the polling place. Immediately upon entering such booth, the elector shall prepare his ballot by striking out with indelible pencil which shall be provided by the election commissioners, all but one of the delegations on the official ballot. The elector may strike out any name on the remaining delegation, and insert in lieu thereof any name appearing on any delegation stricken out. If the purpose of such primary is to nominate candidates by direct vote of the electors, each elector, on receiving his ballot in the manner above provided, shall retire into one of the booths and prepare his ballot by striking out all names on his ballot except the names of the candidates for whom he wishes to vote, but such ballot, when so prepared, shall not contain the names of more than one candidate for a given office. The elector shall, upon leaving such booth, be permitted to vote by delivering to one of the judges the ballot thus by him prepared, but the same shall be so folded that none of the printed or written matter on the inside thereof shall be visible. If any elector shall be unable to read or write, he may publicly request one of the judges of election to enter the booth with him and assist in preparing his ballot, but said judges shall alternate in rendering assistance to electors requesting the same. The ballot thus prepared shall be folded as above provided before it is delivered to the receiving judge. The judge to whom such ballot is delivered shall, unless the right of the elector offering to vote shall be challenged, at once and in the presence of the elector deposit the ballot in the proper ballot-box, and one of the judges of election shall immediately, in the presence of such elector, enter upon the poll-books in the proper column opposite his name the word "voted." If any challenger officiating at said primary polling place, or any judge or clerk officiating thereat, shall challenge the right of any elector to vote at such primary, the person making such challenge must state his grounds therefor, and one of the judges shall immediately, in the presence of such elector, enter in the proper column in the primary registration books the word "challenged," and the date thereof. Such challenge must be made before the ballot prepared by the elector shall have been deposited in the ballot-box. In case the right of an elector to vote be challenged, one of the judges of such primary shall forthwith put to him an oath or affirmation to answer truly such questions as shall be put to him, and he shall be allowed to vote if, and only if, he shall make such oath or affirmation, and shall answer in the affirmative each of the following questions: "Are you.....?" (using the name which he has given as his name). "Do you reside at, and is such your present and only home?" (giving the address that he has given as his residence). "Are you a registered and qualified voter of the election precinct in which you now reside?" "Are you a"? (giving the name of the party holding the primary). If such elector shall make oath that he will truly answer such questions, and shall answer in the affirmative each of the questions above given, one of the judges shall immediately enter, in the proper column in the primary registration books, in the presence of the elector, the words "oath administered," and the ballot of such elector shall then be received and deposited in the ballot-box: Provided, however, that any challenger, judge, or clerk, making challenge of the right of such elector to vote may require a further identification of such elector by comparison of his signature, and in such case the judges shall require the elector to sign his name on slips provided therefor made of white paper and of good quality, and the judges shall thereupon compare the signature thus written by such elector with the signature opposite the name on which such elector offers to vote on the original primary election books. If the judges after making comparison shall believe that such challenged elector is entitled to vote, they shall receive his ballot and deposit the same in the proper ballot-box, and one of the judges shall immediately enter in the proper column in the primary registration books, in the presence of such elector, the word "voted." If such elector shall fail in any way to comply with the above provisions he shall not be allowed to vote at such primary. Each ballot shall have written on the back thereof the initials of at least two of the judges before the same is offered to the elector, but such ballot shall not be marked for identification in any other way. No person shall cast more than one ballot. The judges shall declare the primary election closed promptly at the hour of eight o'clock p. m. on such primary day.

Subdivision 2. From the time of the opening of the polls until the result of the canvass of the votes cast thereat shall have been announced, and the official statement of such canvass shall have been duly signed, the ballot-box and all ballots shall be kept within the polling place. No person shall be admitted within the polling place during such period, excepting primary election judges and clerks, and duly authorized watchers or challengers, except persons duly admitted for the purpose of voting, officers admitted by the judges to preserve order or enforce the law, and persons admitted under the provisions of subdivision 3 next following.

Subdivision 3. Watchers, not exceeding one for each election district, may be appointed by any political committee, and by two or more persons whose names are upon any delegation or ticket to be voted for at such primary election by direct vote. Such watchers may be present at such polling place and within the same from at least fifteen minutes before the opening and examination of the ballot-boxes at the opening of the polls at such primary election until such primary is declared open by the judges; said watchers shall then retire from the polling place, but shall have free communication with the challengers therein, and when the polls are declared closed by the judges said watchers may re-enter the polling place and there remain until after the announcement of the result of the canvass of the votes cast thereat and the signing of the statement thereof by the judges. Electioneering shall not be allowed within any polling place, nor shall it be allowed within fifty feet of the door through which electors desiring to vote shall enter. No police officer, or deputy sheriff, or other peace officer shall remain with any polling place except when called in by one of the judges, and then only so long as may be necessary to quell actual or threatened breaches of the peace, or enforce the law. Any candidate being voted for for nomination for public office at any primary may be his own watcher if he so desires.

Sec. 314. Canvass of votes.—Subdivision 1. As soon as the polls at any official primary election shall close the judges of election shall forthwith publicly canvass and ascertain the result thereof, and they shall not adjourn or postpone the canvass until it shall have been fully completed. All questions touching the validity of ballots or their conformity with the provisions of this act shall be determined by said judges. The room in which such canvass is made shall be clearly lighted, and such canvass shall be made in plain view of the public, and in plain view of the watchers representing the parties as hereinbefore provided. The judges shall proceed to canvass the vote by counting the total number of ballots found in the box to have been voted, and comparing the number of ballots so found to have been voted with the number of electors marked "voted" on the original primary registration books. They shall then proceed to count the number of votes received by all persons voted for by direct vote of the people for any office, and make out a statement which shall be signed by them showing the total number of votes cast for each such person running for a particular office named and shall certify the result over their own signatures to the election commissioners immediately after such canvass is completed. In case the purpose of such primary shall be to elect delegates to a political convention, said judges shall first verify the number of ballots voted in the ballot-box with the number of electors marked "voted" on the original primary registration books, and they shall thereafter canvass the number of votes cast for each person whose name is voted for at such primary for delegates to any convention, and immediately certify to the election commissioners over their own signatures the names of all persons voted for as delegates and the number of votes cast for each. If two or more ballots shall be found in the ballot-box so folded together as to present the appearance of a single ballot they shall be destroyed, if the whole number of ballots in such box exceed the whole number of electors marked "voted," as shown by the registration books, and not otherwise. If any ballot shall be rejected as void, the reason for such rejection shall be written on the back thereof by one of the judges, or by the clerk of election at the direction of one of the judges. All ballots returned as void shall be secured in a separate sealed package, which shall be endorsed on the outside thereof with the names of the judges, the designation of the election district and the ward, and the number and kind of ballots contained therein. Such package shall be filed by the judges of election, together with the original statement of the canvass, with the election commissioners.

Subdivision 2. Immediately upon the completion of such canvass the judges in each primary district shall make public oral proclamation of the result thereof, and shall make a written statement of such result for such primary district in said ward, and also a duplicate thereof, which shall be known as the duplicate statement. Immediately after the completion of such statements, the judges shall file the original thereof with the election commissioners, together with all ballots marked "void" as hereinbefore provided and shall post the duplicate statement in a conspicuous place in said polling place, and it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to in any way tear down, or remove, or deface, or displace, or destroy said duplicate statement so posted, for three days after the date when such primary election is held.

Subdivision 3. At all reasonable times any elector shall have reasonable opportunity to make a transcript of such statement or any portion thereof, and any candidate shall be entitled to receive, upon demand, a written statement showing the result of the primary election, so far as he is concerned, in any one or more primary districts in such city. After the close of the canvass of the votes at primary elections, the ballots cast thereat except those rejected as void, shall be placed in one of the ballot-boxes, which at the time shall be empty, and such ballot-boxes shall then be securely locked and sealed, and shall be returned to the election commissioners from whom such boxes were received, who shall safely keep the same; subject, however, to be produced upon the order of any court of record or judge thereof, for not less than thirty days after the primary election, when the ballots shall be removed and, without examination, be destroyed.

Subdivision 4. The election commissioners shall forthwith proceed to canvass the statements so filed, and shall forthwith declare the results of such primary election, which result shall be entered of record in the office of such commissioners in a book to be provided therefor, which book shall be open at all reasonable times to the inspection of the public. In case the purpose of said primary shall be to elect delegates to any political convention, the election commissioners shall issue certificates duly signed and sealed, certifying to the election of each delegate who is entitled to admission as a delegate to the convention, as shown by the results of said primaries, and such certificate so held by such delegate shall entitle him to a seat in such convention and to participate in the preliminary organization thereof. In case the purpose of said primary is to vote for the nomination of a candidate or candidates for public office, or for committeemen of any political party, by direct vote of the people, the election commissioners shall issue a certificate to the person having received the highest number of votes for any office in the city if such primary is confined to the entire city and in a district if confined to a district, and in a ward if confined to a ward, and such certificate so issued, signed, sealed and delivered to such candidate shall be prima facie evidence of his nomination for the office therein named. (Ib., p. 159, sec. 19.)

Sec. 315. Judges and clerks to sign returns.—No judge or clerk of primary election shall, without reasonable cause, refuse to join in signing and certifying, with such objections as he may wish to note, the returns of any primary, or in any way interfere with the returning to the board of election commissioners of any ballots, books, lists, papers and boxes pertaining to such primary. (Ib., p. 161, sec. 20.)

Sec. 316. Committees and rules and regulations of parties.—Subdivision 1. Each party shall have a general committee for each county to which this act is applicable, and the city of St. Louis shall be construed as a county for the purposes of this act. Any party may also have committees in and for such other political subdivisions of such county or cities as the rules and regulations of such party may prescribe. All members of general committees, including congressional, and senatorial district committees, chosen in and for any city or district to which this act is applicable, shall be elected biennially at the primary elections on the day of primary for nominating candidates, or electing delegates to delegate convention to nominate candidates for circuit judge, sheriff, and other county officers: Provided, however, that in all cities and counties to which this act is applicable, there may be called a primary election prior to the first official primary day held under the provisions of this act, at which there may be elected members of all political committees for such cities, or political subdivisions thereof, which primary election shall only be called by authority of the now existing political committees of such cities. In case a primary or primaries shall be called for the purpose of electing such committeemen to represent any political party prior to first official primary day under the provisions of this act, such special primary election so called shall be subject to all the provisions of this act and shall be conducted under the provisions of this act, except the expenses thereof shall not be paid as herein provided for the payment of the expenses of official primaries.

Subdivision 2. The rules and regulations of parties and of the conventions and committees thereof shall not be contrary to or inconsistent with the provisions of this act, or of any other law of this state, and shall not be amended except upon reasonable notice. Every political committee shall, within ten days after its organization, file with the election commissioners a certificate specifying the names and addresses of its chairman and secretary. If any change shall thereafter be made as to either of said officers, a like certificate shall be filed with said commissioners. (Ib., sec. 21.)

Sec. 317. Conventions.—The delegates to every party convention in and for any city to which this act is applicable, or district in such city, shall be apportioned among the wards in such city, or district, as nearly as possible upon the basis of the number of votes cast therein for the party candidate for governor at the last preceding general election, or for supreme judge, if the office of governor was not filled at such general election. If the boundaries of any such ward or district shall have been changed since the last preceding general election, the party vote for governor or supreme judge, at such election within the limits of such newly constituted ward or district shall be estimated as closely as possible, and the apportionment of delegates shall be made in accordance with such estimate. The room designated for the meeting place of any convention shall have ample seating capacity for all delegates and alternates. Every convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the committee from whom the call originates, or by a person designated in writing for the purpose by such chairman, and such chairman or person so designated shall have the custody of the roll of the convention until it shall have been organized. No convention shall proceed to the election of a temporary chairman or transact any business until the time fixed for the opening thereof has arrived and at least a majority of the delegates named in the official rolls shall be present. The roll call upon the election of a temporary chairman shall not be delayed more than one hour after the time specified in the call for the opening of the convention: Provided, a majority of the delegates are present. The temporary chairman of the convention shall be chosen on a call of the roll. The person who calls the convention to order shall exercise no other function than that of calling the official roll of the delegates upon the vote for temporary chairman and the declaring of the result thereof. The committees of a convention shall be appointed by the convention, or by the temporary chairman, as the convention may order. Unless the convention shall otherwise order, the permanent chairman shall be chosen on roll call. The permanent officer shall keep the records of the convention and within forty-eight hours after the adjournment thereof, shall certify and file the same in the office of the election commissioners. Before entering upon their duties, the temporary and permanent chairman of every convention, and the chairman of any committee on contested seats therein, shall respectively take an oath to faithfully perform the duties of their offices, which oath may be taken before any officer authorized by law to administer an oath, and shall form a part of, and be filed with, the records of the convention. Each convention shall decide all questions as to contested seats therein. (Ib., p. 162, sec. 22—m.)

Sec. 318. Jurisdiction of and review by the courts.—Any action or neglect of the officers or members of a political convention or committee, or of any judge or clerk of primary election, or of any public officer, or board, with regard to the right of any person to participate in a primary election, convention or committee, or to register, or with regard to any right given to, or duly prescribed for, any elector, political committee, political convention, officer or board, by this act, shall be reviewable by the appropriate remedy of mandamus or certiorari, as the case may require. In addition thereto, the supreme court of this state, or any justice thereof, or the court of appeals having jurisdiction over any city to which this act is applicable, or any judge of such court of appeals, or the circuit court of any such city, or any judge of such circuit court, shall have summary jurisdiction, upon complaint of any citizen, to review such action or neglect. Such complaint shall be heard upon such notice as the said court or justice or judge thereof shall direct. In reviewing such action or neglect, the court or justice or judge shall consider, but need not be controlled by any action or determination of the regularly constituted party authorities upon the questions arising in reference thereto, and make such decisions and order as, under all the facts and circumstances of the case, justly may require. For any of the purposes of this section, service of a writ of mandamus, certiorari, order or other process of such court, or justice or judge thereof, upon the chairman or secretary of such convention, committee or board shall be sufficient. (Ib., sec. 23—n.)

Sec. 319. Optional to certain parties.—No party which, at the last preceding election of a governor or supreme judge, cast less than ten thousand votes for governor or supreme judge, shall be subject to the provisions of this act, unless, on or before the first day of May, in any year, such party shall elect to come in under the same. The evidence of such election shall be a certificate filed by the chairman and secretary of the state committee of such party with the election commissioners in each city in this state to which this act is applicable. In case such a certificate shall be so filed, the party on behalf of which it is filed shall be subject to the provisions of this act on and after the date of filing the same with said election commissioners and thereafter its registration, primary elections, conventions and committees shall proceed, in accordance therewith, until such time as a certificate of its election to be no longer subject to the provisions of this act shall be filed with the officers above mentioned. (Ib., p. 163, sec. 24.)

Sec. 320. Crimes and punishments.—Misdemeanors at, or in connection with, political caucuses, primary elections, registrations, committees and conventions. Any person who:

(m) Whether district delegates are duly accredited or not is to be settled by the city convention: Sieber vs. McCaffery, 108 Mo. App. 49, 60.

(n) This section (sec. 23 of act of 1901) does not authorize the circuit court by certiorari to direct the election commissioners and clerks to bring into court, after a primary election and before a certificate of election is issued, the ballots, ballot boxes, poll books and returns in order that the count may be made by direction of the court; that section does not purport to cover a contested election with either certiorari or mandamus, and hence neither writ is "appropriate:" State ex rel. vs. Reynolds, 190 Mo. 578. See section cited: Sieber vs. McCaffery, 108 Mo. App. 1 c. 60.

"Provided, that for county offices a declaration by the candidate, in which shall be stated the applicant's full name and residence, the office for which he proposes as a candidate, and the party upon whose ticket he is to be a candidate, shall be accepted and filed by the proper official in lieu of all other nomination papers as required in this act. Said declaration to be filed in the same time and manner as is provided for the filing of other nomination papers in this act."

Sec. 6. All nomination papers "except for county offices" shall have substantially the above form written or printed at the top thereof. No signatures shall be counted unless they be upon sheets, each having such form written or printed at the top thereof.

Sec. 7. Each signer of a nomination paper shall sign but one such paper for the same office, and shall declare that he intends to support the candidate named therein; he shall add his residence, with the street and number, if any, and the date of signing.

Sec. 8. For all nominations, except state officers, all signers of each separate nomination paper shall reside in the same precinct. For state officers, all signers on each separate nomination paper shall reside in the same county. The affidavit of a qualified elector shall be appended to each such nomination paper, stating that he is personally acquainted with all persons who have signed the same, and that he knows them to be electors of that precinct or county, a [s] the nomination papers shall require; that he knows that they signed the same with full knowledge of the contents thereof, and that their respective residences are stated therein, and that each signer signed the same on the date stated opposite his name, and that he, the affiant, intends to support the candidate named therein. Such affidavit shall not be made by the candidate, but each candidate shall file with his nomination paper, or papers, a declaration that he will qualify as such officer, if nominated and elected.

Sec. 9. Such nomination papers shall be signed: (a) If for a state office, by at least one per cent of the voters of the party of such candidate, in at least each of six counties in the state, and in the aggregate not less than one per cent, nor more than ten per cent of the total vote of his party in the state. (b) If for a representative in congress, by at least two per cent of the voters of his party, in at least one-tenth of the election precincts in each of at least one-half of the counties of the congressional district, and in the aggregate not less than two per cent, nor more than ten per cent, of the total vote of his party in such district. (c) If for an office representing less than a congressional district in area, by at least three per cent of the party vote in at least one-sixth of the election precincts of such district, and in the aggregate not less than three per cent, nor more than ten per cent of the total vote of his party in such district. Provided, that the office of representative to the general assembly of Missouri shall be regarded as a county office under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 10. The basis of percentage in each case shall be the vote of the party for the presidential elector receiving the largest vote at the last preceding presidential election. But any political organization which at the last preceding general election was represented on the official ballot by either regular party candidates or by individual nominees only, may, upon complying with the provisions of this act, have a separate primary election ticket as a political party, if any of its candidates or individual nominees receive one per cent of the total vote cast at the last preceding general election in the state, or subdivision thereof, in which the candidate seeks the nomination. Nomination papers may also be filed for non-partisan candidates; such papers shall contain at least two per cent and not more than ten per cent of the total vote cast at the last preceding general election in the state, or subdivision thereof, in which the person is a candidate, such signers to be distributed in each case as provided by the provisions of this act.

Sec. 11. All nomination papers shall be filed as follows: 1. For state officers, representatives in congress, and those members of senate and assembly whose districts comprise more than one county, in the office of the secretary of state. 2. For officers to be voted for wholly within one county, in the office of the county clerk of such county. 3. When nomination papers shall be received which contain ten per cent of the total vote, as limited in subdivisions a, b and c of section 9 of this act, the clerk, with whom such papers are required to be filed, shall not receive or file further nomination papers for the candidate named therein.

Sec. 12. At least fifty-five days before any primary preceding a general election, the secretary of state shall transmit to each county clerk a certified list containing the name and postoffice address of each person for whom nomination papers have been filed in his office, and entitled to be voted for at such primary, together with a designation of the office for which he is a candidate, and the party or principle he represents.

Sec. 13. Such clerk shall forthwith, upon receipt thereof, publish, under the proper party designation, the title of each office, the names and addresses of all persons for whom nomination papers have been filed, giving the name and address of each, the date of the primary, the hours during which the polls will be opened, and that the primary will be held at the regular polling places in each precinct. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to publish such notice for three consecutive weeks prior to said primary.

Sec. 14. Every publication required in this act shall be made in at least two, and not to exceed four, newspapers of general circulation in such county; one of such newspapers shall represent the political party that cast the largest vote in such county at the preceding general election, and one of such newspapers shall represent the political party that cast the next largest vote in such county at the preceding general election. In any case where the publication of notice cannot be made, as hereinbefore required, it may be made in any newspaper having a general circulation in the county in which the notice is required to be published.

Sec. 15. An official ballot shall be printed and provided for use at each voting precinct in the form provided herein. The names of all candidates for the respective offices, for whom the nomination papers prescribed shall have been duly filed, shall be printed thereon.

Sec. 16. At least twenty days before the August primary each county clerk shall prepare sample official ballots, placing thereon, alphabetically, under the appropriate title of each office and party designation, the names of all candidates to be voted for in the precinct of his county, for whom nomination papers have been filed. Such sample ballot shall be printed upon tinted or colored paper, and shall contain no blank endorsement or certificate. Such clerk shall forthwith submit the ticket of each party to the county chairman thereof, and mail a copy to each candidate for whom nomination papers have been filed with him, as required by this act, to his postoffice address, as given in such nomination paper, and he shall post a copy of each sample ballot in a conspicuous place in his office. On the tenth day before such primary the county clerk shall correct any errors or omissions in the ballot, cause the same to be printed and distributed, as required by law, in the case of ballots for the general election, except that the number of ballots to be furnished to each precinct shall be twice the number of votes cast thereat in the last preceding general election.

Sec. 17. All ballots, blanks and other supplies to be used at any primary, and all expenses necessarily incurred in the preparation for or conducting such primary, shall be paid out of the treasury of the city, county or state, as the case may be, in the same manner, with like effect, and by the same officers as in the case of elections.

Sec. 18. At all primaries there shall be as many separate tickets as there are parties entitled to participate in said primary election. There shall also be a non-partisan ticket, upon which under appropriate title of each office, shall be printed the names of all persons for whom nomination papers shall have been filed, as required by this act, who are not designated on such nomination papers as candidates for any political party, as defined by this act. The names of all candidates shall be arranged alphabetically, according to surnames, under the appropriate title of the respective offices, and under the proper party designation upon the party ticket, or upon the non-partisan ticket, as the case may be. If any elector write upon his ticket the name of any person who is a candidate for the same office upon some other ticket than that upon which his name is so written, this ballot shall be counted for such person only as a candidate of the party upon whose ticket his name is written, and shall in no case be counted for such person as a candidate upon any other ticket. In case the person is nominated upon more than one ticket, he shall forthwith file with the proper officer, or officers, in charge of the preparation of the ballots, a written declaration, indicating the party designation under which his name is to be printed on the official ballot. On any day of nomination of public officers in any primary election precinct, each qualified elector shall be entitled to receive from the judges of election one ballot of the political party participating in such election.

for which he desires to vote. It shall be the duty of such judges of election to deliver such ballot to the elector. Before delivering any ballot to the elector, the two judges of election having charge of the ballots shall write their names or initials upon the back of the ballot with indelible pencil, and no other writing shall be on the back of the ballot, except the number of the ballot voted.

Sec. 19. Vacancies occurring after the holding of any primary shall be filled by the party committee of the district, county or state, as the case may be.

Sec. 20. No person shall be entitled to vote at any primary unless a qualified elector of the precinct, and duly registered therein, if registration thereat be required by law.

Sec. 21. The party committee of each county may appoint, in writing, over their signatures, two party agents at each precinct or representatives, with an alternate for each, who shall act as challengers for their respective parties, and have the power prescribed by law. The right of any person to vote at a primary may be challenged upon the same ground, and his right to vote be determined in the same manner as at an election. The chairman of each party committee of any county may represent his party at the polling booth during the canvass and return of the vote at a primary, or he may appoint an agent, or designate a member of his committee for that purpose.

Sec. 22. The canvass of votes cast shall be made in the same manner and by the same officers as the canvass of an election. The party chairman of the county in a precinct canvass, of the county in a county canvass, of the state in a state canvass, or some duly appointed agent to represent each party, shall be allowed to be present and observe the proceedings.

Sec. 23. The precinct judges and clerks of election shall, on separate sheets, on blanks to be provided for that purpose, make full and accurate returns of the votes cast for each candidate, and shall, within twenty-four hours, cause to be delivered one copy of such returns as to each political party, to the county chairman of that party, and also cause such returns to be delivered to the county clerk: Provided always, that such returns shall be sent by registered mail where practicable.

Sec. 24. The county canvass of the returns of a primary shall be made by the same officers, and in the manner as now provided by law, for the canvass of returns of a November election. The canvassers shall meet and canvass such returns at ten o'clock on the Friday following the primary. (Laws 1874, p. 384, sec. 5. R. S. 1899, p. 2560.)

CHAPTER FOURTEEN.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.*

Section 355. Board of managers.—The institution known as the St. Louis House of Refuge shall hereafter be under the control of a board of managers, to be appointed as soon after the 1st day of April, 1873, as practicable, which shall consist of five members, four of whom shall be appointed by the mayor, with the advice and consent of the [municipal assembly] city council; and the mayor of the city shall be ex officio a member of and president of said board. (Laws 1873, p. 353, sec. 1. R. S. 1899, p. 2553.)

Sec. 356. Organization of board—term of office.—The board of managers so appointed shall organize within ten days after their appointment, by the election from among their members of a vice-president and secretary, and the members shall thereupon proceed to draw lots for their term of service; the one drawing ballot numbered one shall serve for one year; the one drawing ballot numbered two shall serve for two years; the one drawing ballot numbered three shall serve for three years; the one drawing ballot numbered four shall serve for four years; so that the term of service of one member of the board shall expire every year; vacancies occurring in the board by expiration of the term of service, resignation or otherwise, shall be filled by the mayor, with the advice and consent of the [municipal assembly] city council; a majority of said board of managers shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business or the exercise of any power conferred upon said board. (Ib., sec. 2.)

Sec. 357. Commitment of children, etc.—Every child found in the city of St. Louis in a state of want, or abandoned or improperly exposed, or grossly neglected by its parents or persons having its charge, and every child of any person in said city or county convicted of being a common prostitute, or keeper of a bawdy house or house of resort for prostitutes or of assignation, and every child found living in such house, may be committed to said house of refuge by the mayor or police justice of said city, or any judge of a court of record having jurisdiction within St. Louis county [city], upon complaint and competent proofs of the facts charged. (Ib., sec. 3—p.)

Sec. 358. Parents or guardian may send children, etc.—All males under the age of sixteen years, and females under the age of fourteen years, shall be liable to commitment to the house of refuge in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing section; and any parent or guardian having legal power to apprentice any male child or ward under the age of sixteen years, or any female child or ward, under the age of fourteen years, who shall, in writing, by him or her signed, represent to the board of managers of said house of refuge that such child or ward is a proper and fit subject for admission into said house of refuge, stating the particular facts which constitute such fitness, and petitioning said managers to take charge of said child or ward, may be examined in relation thereto by said board of managers, who are authorized to receive all such children or wards at their discretion;

*The name of "House of Refuge" was by ordinance of the City of St. Louis No. 22145 (R. C. sec. 1785) changed to "St. Louis Industrial School." See notation and reference in note to R. C. sec. 1785. Power of board of managers to arrange with public school authorities for education of children in House of Refuge. See Laws 1905, p. 301, set out infra, sec. 497.

The House of Refuge is an eleemosynary institution; its object is reformatory. Its design is to train its inmates to industry and to improve their morals. Such institutions are both penal and reformatory, and are well adapted for the confinement of juvenile culprits by separating them from the matured and hardened class of criminals. * * * When the house of refuge is designated as the place of confinement of a youth under 16 years of age under sentence for misdemeanor, it is as to him a penal institution, etc.; per Goode, (Barclay concurring) in In re Larkowski, 94 Mo. App. 1. c. 631-632; Goode, J., holding in a concurring opinion that a law (sec. 360 infra, being sec. 6 of the act) permitting restraint of liberty indefinitely at the discretion of the board, "is wholly inconsistent with the spirit of our institution, with the rights of citizens, and with the Constitution itself, which requires uniform punishment for offenses throughout the State and punishment of no unusual character," and concludes that there can be no lawful commitment for crime to the refuge. The majority held that prisoners committed for crime are entitled to one dollar per day in working out the fine, and that the fifty-cent law of the Court of Criminal Correction, (which had sent the youth to the House of Refuge) was void.

So in State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 69 Mo. App. 659, 1. c. 667 the court, commenting on Sec. 3 of the act (secs. 357 infra) observed: "The House of Refuge, as its name signifies, is an institution established and maintained by the City of St. Louis, under the sanction and authority of the State, for the benefit of the most exposed and unfortunate of the City's young children, such children, if unprotected and uncared for by the City, as would either find an early grave from neglect, starvation or from brutal treatment, or surviving, would grow up in ignorance and vice. The object of this charity is twofold: First, to provide a place of refuge, a home for the unfortunate and outcast children of the city; secondly, to provide them educational facilities and training in industrial pursuits."

(p) See comments on this section in State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 69 Mo. App. 659, 667.

the expenses of such child or ward before such reception shall be secured to be paid by the parent or guardian, unless in cases where the managers, for good cause, shall otherwise determine; and in all cases where such payment is ordered to be made by such parent or guardian, it shall be according to the rates fixed in the general regulations hereinafter provided for; but in no case shall any child be committed to the house of refuge under the age of three years; and all minors committed thereto shall be under the control of said board of managers, until discharged under the provisions of this act or under the general laws of the state. (Laws 1873, p. 354, sec. 4. R. S. 1899, p. 2554.)

Sec. 359. Pardoning power of mayor, etc.—The mayor shall have authority to order the discharge of any inmate from the house of refuge when, in his opinion, an urgent reason exists for granting said discharge before the next meeting of the board of managers, but in all other cases applications shall be made to said board, which shall dispose of the same at a regular meeting. The said board may surrender any inmate of said house of refuge, not convicted of crime, to its parents or guardian, or if it have no parents or guardian, to the managers of any asylum within the county of St. Louis, or chartered protectorate, who may desire to take charge of the same at their own expense: Provided, Such person shall satisfy the board of managers as to the qualification and ability to provide for the comfort and wants of such child, and to care for their moral and physical welfare; and provided, further, that no such child shall be surrendered to or placed in such asylum or protectorate, the officers or managers whereof, or a majority of them, are of different religious tenets from those of its former parents or guardians, if such tenets can be ascertained; and provided also, that no such asylum or protectorate shall have any claim upon the city of St. Louis or upon the county of St. Louis, or upon any public fund whatever, for or in respect of the care or support of any such child, nor on account of any expense incurred on account thereof. The board shall meet not less than twice in each month for the auditing of bills and other business. (Laws 1873, p. 354, sec. 5. R. S. 1899, p. 2554.)

Sec. 360. Commitment—transfer of males and females under certain ages to house of refuge.—All males under sixteen years of age and females under fourteen years of age who shall, under existing laws of the State of Missouri or ordinance of the city of St. Louis, or such as may hereafter be enacted or passed, be liable to confinement in the work-house of St. Louis city, the county jail of St. Louis county, may, at the discretion of the court or magistrate giving sentence, be placed in said house of refuge or the state reform school, if such school shall be established, and when so placed in the said house of refuge, shall be under the control of the board of managers thereof; but no such commitment shall be made for any specified term, but said minor or minors may be discharged at any time under the provisions of the preceding section. (Laws 1873, p. 354, sec. 6. R. S. 1899, p. 2555—q.)

Sec. 361. Who to pay for children.—For each child residing in St. Louis county, outside of the city of St. Louis, who may be committed to said institution, as hereinbefore provided, by order of any court of competent jurisdiction, the county court of said county shall pay into the city treasury forty cents per day; and the superintendent of said house of refuge shall render quarterly to said county court a statement of the number so confined, and said court shall audit and allow the same. (Laws 1873, p. 355, sec. 7. R. S. 1899, p. 2555.)

Sec. 362. Board of managers—general powers.—Said board of managers of said house of refuge shall have power and authority:—

First—To make all needful contracts for said house of refuge, its officers and inmates, subject to such conditions as may be imposed by the city council.

Second—To make, establish, alter and enforce all needful regulations for the government and control of said house of refuge, its officers and inmates.

Third—To issue a writ directed to any sheriff, marshal or constable of the State of Missouri or any municipality or county thereof, for the recapture of any fugitive from said house of refuge; such writ shall be in the name of the State of Missouri, and shall be signed by the mayor or acting mayor, and shall therefore be of legal and valid force.

Fourth—To make all needful by-laws for the government of said house of refuge.

Fifth—To employ and appoint such officers as may be needful.

Sixth—To apprentice any inmate of said house of refuge until the time when such inmate shall reach the age of eighteen years: Provided, That the mayor and (q.) So much of this section as seeks to authorize commitment for crime, without a specified term, is void, because in conflict with later controlling statutes (R. S. 1899, sec. 1791, 1792, 1793, 2384, 2685, 2686, etc.); nor is it within the power and authority of the board of managers to retain a minor for a longer term than specified in the commitment: In Larkowski, 94 Mo. App. 623, 629, 631. Judge Goode, in concurring, holds the entire section void as unconstitutional and void and that there can be no lawful commitment to the House of Refuge for crime.

city council [municipal assembly] of the city of St. Louis may, from time to time, provide by ordinance, not inconsistent with law, for the support, control and management of said house of refuge. (Laws 1873, p. 355, sec. 8. R. S. 1899, p. 2555.)

Sec. 363. Appropriations for support of.—The city council [municipal assembly] of the city of St. Louis shall annually appropriate a sufficient sum for the maintenance and to secure efficient operation of the said house of refuge. Said amount shall be based on an estimate submitted by the board of managers aforesaid to said council [assembly], and all bills presented for payment shall be signed by not less than two members of said board of managers, and approved by the mayor; and the said city council [municipal assembly] is hereby authorized to erect upon the following described lot of ground or parcel of land, to wit: block numbered eighty of the common of St. Louis, according to the survey and plat thereof made by Charles DeWard, such buildings and improvements, in addition to those now on said land, as may be suitable for a house of refuge for the confinement and reform of juvenile offenders, and for this purpose, when so required by the board of managers, may issue the bonds of the city of St. Louis to an amount not exceeding fifty thousand dollars, of such style and for such time as the council [assembly] may direct, or otherwise provide said amount: Provided, That the mayor and common council [municipal assembly] of the city of St. Louis may provide by ordinance for the sale of the property described above, and for the erection, with the proceeds of such sale, and with the money provided for by this act, of suitable buildings at any other place in the county [city] of St. Louis. (Laws 1873, p. 355, sec. 9. R. S., p. 2555.)

Sec. 364. Superintendent and matron.—A superintendent and matron may be appointed by said board for said house of refuge, who shall hold their office during the pleasure of said board unless sooner removed by the mayor, with the consent of the council [assembly], and the compensation of such superintendent and matron may be fixed by said board, subject to the approval of the council [assembly]; said board may also appoint such other employes as may be necessary; said superintendent shall render to said board of managers a monthly statement of all moneys by him received and paid out on behalf of said house of refuge, which shall be carefully inspected by at least two members of said board; and, if found to be in all respects correct, the same shall be approved. Said board shall keep a record of their proceedings, and shall report semi-annually to the city council [municipal assembly] of the city of St. Louis, the fiscal affairs, management and condition of the said house of refuge. No child shall be compelled to perform severe or exhaustive labor, and any cruelty or unnecessary harshness by any officer or employe shall be followed by the immediate discharge of such officer or employe. The board shall provide educational facilities, and some suitable employment for the inmates of said house of refuge; and all moneys derived from said employments, or in any other manner from the operation of said house of refuge, shall be promptly paid into the city treasury; and the semi-annual reports of the board of managers, which they shall make to the city and county, shall give a detailed statement of said collection. (Laws 1873, p. 356, sec. 11. R. S. 1899, p. 2556.)

Sec. 366. Certain inmates to be kept separate.—Said board of managers shall as far as may be possible, establish, and it is hereby made their special duty to establish apartments and grounds for inmates of said house of refuge committed there under sentence of court, as in section 6 hereinbefore provided, or inmates deemed by the superintendent especially vicious or ungovernable, separate and apart from the remainder of said inmates; and it is made the special duty of said managers and superintendents to prevent all contact and association between said classes hereinbefore mentioned, so far as may be practicable. (Laws 1873, p. 356, sec. 12.)

Such lists and information shall be kept in proper books and at all times as complete and correct as possible and up to date, in said office of license collector. (Ib., sec. 4, p. 81.)

The duties formerly resting on the License Commissioner are also transferred to the License Collector. See in connection herewith Rev. Code, Chap. 30, constituting Secs. 2104 to 2125 and see notations thereto. Also as to the [City] Collector Rev. C., Secs. 2288 et seq.

Sec. 388. Before he enters upon the duties of his office as treasurer, he shall give bond to the State of Missouri, with one or more sureties, in the penalty of ten thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties as treasurer of the board of police, and for the faithful application and payment over, pursuant to the order and direction of said board, of all moneys which may come to his hands as such treasurer. The bond of the treasurer shall be approved by a judge of the circuit court of the judicial circuit in which said cities shall be located and shall be delivered to and safely kept by the treasurer of said cities. The boards shall appoint a secretary to act as such for the board of police commissioners, to serve for the same time and in the same manner as other officers, and such appointments shall be additional to the number of appointments hereinafter provided for: Provided, that his salary shall be determined and fixed by the boards of police commissioners, and no other provisions of this article shall apply in the determination of the amount of said salary. A majority of the boards of police shall constitute a quorum; and the failure or refusal of the mayor or acting mayor of said cities to qualify or act hereunder, shall in nowise impair the right or duty of said commissioners to organize and proceed as herein provided. In case a vacancy shall occur on said board, the same shall be filled by the governor of the State of Missouri forthwith, after having been notified that such vacancy exists. Anyone of said commissioners, who, during his term of office, shall accept any other place of public trust or emolument, or who, during the same period, shall knowingly receive any nomination for an office elective by the people, without publicly declining same within twenty days succeeding such nomination, or shall become a candidate for the nomination for any office at the hands of any political party, shall be deemed to thereby forfeit or vacate his office. Any of said commissioners may be removed by the governor of the State of Missouri upon his being fully satisfied that the commissioner is guilty of any official misconduct. (Ib., p. 52, sec. 3. R. S. 1899, sec. 6210—c.)

Sec. 430. Governor to appoint commissioners.—The governor of the State of Missouri, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint the four commissioners provided for in section 3 of this article [sec. 429 above] and said commissioners shall hold their offices for four years and until their successors shall have been appointed and qualified. The governor shall issue commissions to the persons so appointed, designating the time for which they are appointed in case the appointment is to fill an unexpired term occasioned by death, resignation or any other cause, and whenever the term of office of any commissioner expires, the appointment of his successor shall be for four years. The commissioners now holding offices under existing laws in any city of this state to which this act applies, are to hold their offices until the expiration of their terms, and their successors are duly appointed and qualified. (Ib., p. 53, sec. 4. R. S. 1899, sec. 6211.)

Sec. 431. Duties of commissioners.—The duties of the boards of police hereby created shall be as follows: They shall, at all times of the day and night, within the boundaries of said cities, as well on water as on land, preserve the public peace, prevent crime and arrest offenders; protect the rights of persons and property; guard the public health; preserve order at every public election, and at all public meetings and places, and on all public occasions; prevent and remove nuisances on all streets, highways, waters and other places; provide a proper police force at every fire for the protection of firemen and property; protect emigrants and travelers at steamboat landings and railway stations; see that all laws relating to elections and to the observance of Sunday, and regulating pawnbrokers, gamblers, intemperance, lotteries and lottery policies, vagrants, disorderly persons, and the public health are enforced. They shall also enforce all laws and all ordinances passed or which may hereafter be passed by the common council or municipal assembly of said cities, not inconsistent with the provisions of this article or any other law of the State, which may be properly enforceable by a police force. In case they shall have any reason to believe that any person within said cities intends to commit any breaches of the peace, or violation of the law or order beyond the city limits, any person charged with the commission of crime in said cities and against whom criminal process shall have issued, may be arrested upon the same in any part of this state by the police force created or authorized by this act: Provided, however, that before the person so arrested shall be removed from the county in which such arrest is made he shall be taken before some judge or justice of the county, to whom the papers authorizing such arrest shall be submitted; and the person so arrested shall not be removed from said county, but shall forthwith be discharged, unless such judge or justice of the peace shall endorse and approve said papers. The said police commissioners, or either of them, shall have the power to administer oaths or affirmations in the premises, to any person appearing or called before them. They shall also have the power to summon and compel the attendance of witnesses before them, whenever it may be necessary for the more effectual discharge of their duties. (Ib., p. 35, sec. 5. R. S. 1899, sec. 6212—d.)

Sec. 432. May appoint and employ permanent police force—number of—term, etc.—To enable the said boards to perform the said duties imposed upon them, they are hereby authorized and required to appoint, enroll and employ a permanent police force for the said cities, which they shall equip and arm as they may judge necessary. The number of policemen to be appointed shall not be less than twelve hundred and fifty patrolmen and one hundred and fifty probationary patrolmen; provided, however, that appointees constituting the increase of patrolmen authorized by this act shall serve one year as probationary patrolmen before attaining the rank of patrolmen; the number of detectives to be appointed shall not be less than twenty-five; the number of turnkeys to be appointed shall not be less than thirty-five, and in the appointment of such turnkeys, retired and disabled policemen shall be given the preference, together with the officers hereinafter mentioned, and such number may be increased to such additional force as extraordinary emergencies may require, and any act of the municipal assembly or common council tending to diminish the number of men above specified shall be null and void. The boards alone shall have the power to determine whether such extraordinary emergencies requiring additional patrolmen exist or not, and their finding in the matter is not subject to review by any other power. Said boards shall cause the force of sergeants, patrolmen and probationary patrolmen in such cities to be divided as equally as may be into three platoons, and thereafter eight hours shall constitute the time of regular service for the members of each platoon during any one day of twenty-four hours. Nothing herein, however, shall be so construed as to prevent the Board of Police Commissioners in any city from suspending the operation of such rule fixing the time of regular daily service of such police officers in case of existing emergencies, and said board shall have full power to determine the existence and duration of such emergencies, and its finding in respect thereto shall not be subject to review by any other power. No person shall be appointed or employed as policeman, detective, turnkey or officer of police who shall have been convicted of, or against whom any indictment may be pending for any offense, the punishment of which may be confinement in the penitentiary; nor shall any person be so appointed who is not of good character, or who is not a citizen of the United States or who is not able to read and write the English language, or who does not possess ordinary physical strength and courage. The patrolmen, detectives and turnkeys hereafter appointed shall serve while they shall faithfully perform their duties, and possess mental and physical ability, and be subject to removal only for cause at the hearing by the board who are hereby invested with the exclusive jurisdiction in the premises. (Laws 1907, p. 113, amending Laws 1903, p. 92, amending R. S. 1899, sec. 6213—e.)

Sec. 433. Officers of police—rank—number—bond.—The officers of police shall be as follows: One chief of police, with rank of colonel, who shall give bond, with security, in the penal sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), for the faithful performance of his duties; one assistant chief of police, with rank of lieutenant-colonel; one chief of detectives, with rank of major; one assistant chief of detectives, with rank of lieutenant; one inspector, with rank of major; one secretary of the chief; one superintendent of Bertillon system; fourteen captains; fourteen lieutenants, and one hundred and thirty sergeants. They shall have commissions issued to them by the board of police commissioners and those hereafter commissioned shall serve while they shall faithfully perform their duties, (d) State vs. Boyd, 108 Mo. App. 1. e. 524-525; See also State ex rel. vs. Stobie, supra.

(e) As to the reasonableness of the number of the force (under the act of 1899 before the above amendment) see State ex rel. vs. Mason, 153 Mo. 23, also holding that there was no delegation of authority to the board contemplated to determine the number of men. The term for which a policeman is appointed was four years, and if he holds over after the expiration of that time it is not a new appointment by implication for another four years, but he becomes a mere locum tenens, and may be discharged by the board at will without notice, nor does the former provision giving an officer who has faithfully performed his duty a preference for reappointment change this result: State ex rel. Rife vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 360 (overruling State ex rel. Campbell vs. Board, 14 Mo. App. 308, s. c. 88 Mo. 144, which held that where there was no definite period of appointment the law fixed it at four years). But during the term for which the officer was appointed he could not be removed without notice and a hearing, and if so illegally removed he could mandamus the board to issue a warrant for his salary: State ex rel. Gieselman vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 387, following State ex rel. vs. Chapman, 153 Mo. 194. The tenure of a captain is not a definite term of four years but indefinite, depending on the pleasure of the board: State ex rel. Young vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 393; State ex rel. vs. Huebler, 177 Mo. 398. As to removal of turnkeys see State ex rel. Bruce vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 394; State ex rel. Rife vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 360, 382 (holding that a turnkey held at the pleasure of the board).

and possess mental and physical ability, and be subject to removal only for cause after a hearing by the board, who are hereby invested with the exclusive jurisdiction in the premises. (Laws 1907, p. 114, amending R. S. 1899, sec. 6214—f.)

Sec. 434. Compensation of police.—The chief of police shall receive five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; the assistant chief of police shall receive thirty-eight hundred dollars ($3,800.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; the chief of detectives shall receive thirty-five hundred dollars ($3,500.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; the assistant chief of detectives shall receive eighteen hundred dollars ($1,800.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; the secretary of the police board shall receive a salary of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; the inspector shall receive twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; the secretary to the chief shall receive two thousand dollars ($2,000.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; the superintendent of the Bertillon system shall receive eighteen hundred dollars ($1,800.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; each captain shall receive twenty-four hundred dollars ($2,400) per annum, payable in monthly installments; each lieutenant shall receive fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; each sergeant shall receive thirteen hundred and eighty dollars ($1,380.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; each detective shall receive thirteen hundred and eighty dollars ($1,380.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; each patrolman shall receive ten hundred and eighty dollars ($1,080.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; each probationary patrolman shall receive seven hundred and eighty dollars ($780.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments; each turnkey shall receive seven hundred and eighty dollars ($780.00) per annum, payable in monthly installments. The rate of salaries herein provided shall not be less than the amounts above enumerated, and any act of the municipal assembly or common council of the said cities tending to lower the above scale shall be null and void. It shall be the duty of the municipal assembly or common council of the said cities to make the necessary appropriation for the expense of maintenance of said police force in the manner hereinafter provided. (Ib., p. 55, sec. 8. R. S. 1899, sec. 6215.)

Sec. 435. Vacancies, how filled—promotions—relief—rules, etc.—When any vacancy shall take place in any grade of officers, it shall be filled from the next lowest grade: Provided, however, that probationary patrolmen shall serve at least one year as such before being promoted to the rank of patrolman; patrolmen shall serve at least three years as such before being promoted to the rank of sergeant; sergeants shall serve at least one year as such before being promoted to the rank of lieutenant; lieutenants shall serve at least one year as such before being promoted to the rank of captain; and in no case shall the chief or assistant chief be selected from men not members of the force or below the grade of captain. Patrolmen shall serve at least three years as such before promotion to the rank of detective; the inspector shall be taken from men in the rank not below the grade of lieutenant. The boards of police are hereby authorized to make all such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with this act, or other laws of the state, as they may judge necessary, for the appointment, employment, uniforming, discipline, trial and government of the police, and for the relief and compensation of members of the police force injured in person or property in the discharge of their duties, and the families of the officers or men killed while in such discharge of duty: Provided, that the allowance shall not exceed, in any one instance, twelve months' pay. The said boards shall also have power to require of any officer or policeman bond with sureties, when they may consider it demanded by the public interests. All lawful rules and regulations of the boards shall be obeyed by the police force on pain of dismissal, or such lighter punishment, either by suspension, fine, reduction or forfeiture of pay, or otherwise, as the boards may adjudge. (Ib., p. 55, sec. 9. R. S. 1899, sec. 6216.)

Sec. 436. Police officers to receive no gratuity.—No officer of police or policeman shall be allowed to receive any money or gratuity or compensation for any service he may render without the consent of the said boards; and all such (f) As to holding over after term and removal with or without notice and preference for reappointment, see preceding note. The power to determine whether a policeman has faithfully performed his duties is vested in the board and is not subject to review by the court: State ex rel. Rife vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 360, 379. Under the former act the board appointed the chief for a fixed time; where however they expressly did not fix the time it was held that the law fixed it at four years and that he could not be removed without cause before the end of the term: State ex rel. Campbell vs. Board, 14 Mo. App. 297, affirmed 88 Mo. 144; but that case was expressly overruled by the later case of State ex rel. Rife vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 360. The chief may be suspended pending trial: State ex rel. Campbell vs. Board, 16 Mo. App. 48. He is entitled to the benefit of counsel at the trial; so held in State ex rel. Kiely vs. Board of Police Commissioners, (Supreme Court in banc Feb. 26, 1906; no opinion was filed in the cause, to the time of this writing). The police are both state and city officers: See infra Sec. 451 and note to Art. IV, Sec. 43 of Charter.

moneys as any policeman or police officer may be so permitted to receive, shall be paid over to the boards, and together with all the proceeds of all fines, forfeitures and unreclaimed property which may come to the possession of said boards, or to be recovered by them under the provisions of this act, or any other law, or ordinance, shall be disposed of in accordance with rules adopted by the said boards, subject to the provisions of the laws of this state controlling and directing the dispensation of such funds. (Ib., p. 56, sec. 10. R. S. 1899, sec. 6217.)

Sec. 437. The boards to have office furniture, etc.—The said boards shall be and they are hereby authorized to provide themselves with such office and office furniture, and such clerks and subordinates as they shall need; and to have and use a common seal. They shall divide the said cities into twelve police districts, and provide in each of them, if necessary, a station house or houses, with all things and equipments required for the same, and all such other accommodations as may be required for the use of the police. The said boards, for all the purposes of this act, shall have the use of the fire alarm telegraph of said cities for police purposes, and all station houses, watch-boxes, firearms, equipments, accoutrements and other accommodations and things provided by said cities, for the use and service of the police, as fully and to the same extent as the same are now used by or for any present police, or as fully and to the same extent as the same may be used by any police force in any of the cities to which this act may hereafter apply; and the mayor and common council or municipal assembly, and all persons and municipal officers in charge thereof, are hereby ordered and required to allow such use accordingly. In case the said mayor and common council or municipal assembly of any [of] said cities, or its officers or agents, refuse or neglect to allow such use, as and whenever the same shall be required by the boards created by this act, or refuse to set aside and appropriate the revenue necessary to carry out the provisions of this act, or place obstructions or hindrances in the way of the proper discharge of the powers of said boards, the said boards may apply to the circuit courts of the judicial circuit in which said cities may be located, in the name of the state, for a mandamus to compel a compliance with the provisions of this section, and the application thereof shall be heard and decided by the court. One week's notice of the application shall be given, and the respondent or respondents shall have the right to answer within the week; and if testimony be needed on either side, the same shall be taken within ten days after the same is filed, or the said week shall be expired. From the decision of the circuit court in the premises either party may appeal within ten days; and it shall be the duty of the clerk of said courts to send up the record immediately, and the appeal shall be heard immediately by the supreme court, if then in session, and if not in session, at the next term. In both courts the case shall be taken up and tried in preference to all others. (Ib., p. 56, sec. 11. R. S. 1899, sec. 6218—g.)

Sec. 438. Sheriff to aid in maintaining public peace.—It shall be the duty of the sheriff of the county or city in which any of the cities to which this act may apply shall be located, whenever called on for that purpose by said boards, to act under their control for the preservation of the public peace and quiet; and, if ordered by them to do so, he shall summon the posse comitatus for that purpose, and hold and employ such posse subject to their direction; whenever the exigency or circumstances may, in their judgment, warrant it, the said boards shall have the power to assume the control and command of all conservators of the peace of the county or city in which any of the cities to which this act may apply, whether sheriff, constable, policemen or others, and they shall act under the orders of the said boards and not otherwise. (Ib., p. 57, sec. 12. R. S. 1899, sec. 6219—h).

Sec. 439. Boards to make estimate, etc.—It shall be the duty of said boards, within thirty days after this act shall take effect, and annually thenceforward on the 31st day of March of each year to prepare, in writing, an estimate of the sum of money which will be necessary for each current fiscal year, to enable them to discharge the duties hereby imposed upon them, and to meet the expenses of the police department, and they shall forthwith certify the same to the board of common council or municipal assembly, as the case may be, of said cities, who are hereby required to set apart and appropriate the amount so certified, payable out of the revenue of said cities, after having first deducted the amount necessary to pay the interest upon the indebtedness of said cities, the amount necessary for the expenses of the city hospital and health department, the amount necessary for lighting the city, and any sum required by law to be placed to the credit of the sinking fund of said cities. The said boards of police commissioners shall pass upon all claims presented against them for the expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties as herein provided and shall certify, by their president and secretary, all such claims as are entitled to payment and all salary rolls for salaries as provided in this act, and such claims and salary rolls, when so certified, shall be duly audited and paid by the proper disbursing officer or officers of said cities within five days after being audited, out of any moneys in the city treasury not appropriated to the specific purposes above enumerated: Provided, however, that the amount of said claims and salary rolls so certified shall not exceed, in any one year, the amount so, as aforesaid, estimated for that year to the common council or municipal assembly of said cities aforesaid. The common council or municipal assembly of said cities shall have no power or authority to levy or collect any taxes or appropriate any money for the payment of any police force, other than that organized and employed under this act. No officer or servant of the mayor or the common council or municipal assembly of said cities shall disburse any money for the payment of any police force other than that organized and employed under this act, and the power of said mayor and common council or municipal assembly to appropriate and disburse money for the payment of the police force organized and employed under this act shall be exercised as in this section directed and not otherwise. (Ib., p. 57, sec. 13. R. S. 1899, sec. 6220—i.)

Sec. 440. Interference with the enforcement of this act, how punished.—Any officer or servant of the mayor or common council or municipal assembly of the said cities, or other persons whatsoever, who shall forcibly resist or obstruct the execution or enforcement of any of the provisions of this act or relating to the same, or who shall disburse any money in violation thereof, or who shall hinder or obstruct the organization or maintenance of said board of police, or the police force hereinbefore provided to be organized and maintained, or who shall maintain or control any police force other than the one herein provided for, or who shall delay or hinder the due enforcement of this act by failing or neglecting to perform the duties by this act imposed upon him, shall be liable to a penalty of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) for each and every offense, recoverable by the boards by action at law in the name of the state, and shall forever thereafter be disqualified from holding or exercising any office or employment whatsoever under the mayor or common council or municipal assembly of said cities, or under this act: Provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be construed to interfere with the punishment, under any existing or any future laws of this state of any criminal offense which shall be committed by the said parties in or about the resistance, obstruction, hindrance, conspiracy, combination or disbursement aforesaid. (Ib., p. 58, sec. 14. R. S. 1899, sec. 6221.)

Sec. 441. Parties Arrested—Disposal—Sureties, etc.—The commissioners of police shall cause all person arrested by the police to be brought before some justice of the peace or other proper magistrate within said cities, to be dealt with according to law. Proper police officers in charge of police station houses may, if the offense charged against any person is a bailable one, at the request of such person, take from him a recognizance in such sum as may seem to be sufficient and proper with sufficient sureties for his appearance at the proper time before some justice of the peace or other proper magistrate; but no attorney-at-law, police officer, constable or his deputy, and no official or employe holding office under the municipality of the said cities, or the state of Missouri, and no clerk in the employ of such officer, officials or employes shall be accepted as surety upon such bond or bonds; the proper officers in charge of said station houses may administer oaths to parties qualifying as such surety or sureties; and may refuse to receive as such surety or sureties any and all parties with unsavory reputations or who as professional bondsmen, tend to defeat the ends of justice, and no one shall be accepted as bondsman who shall have standing against him an unsatisfied judgment rendered on a forfeited bond; such proper police officers in charge of police stations may, prior to the appearance of any person arrested before some justice of the peace or other proper magistrate, refuse to admit to the presence of arrested persons confined in stations, all persons who have the reputation of being what is known as grafters or shysters, or those attorneys who are guilty of the practice of soliciting business. (Ib., p. 58, sec. 15. R. S. 1899, sec. 6222.)

Sec. 442. Bertillon system department.—The boards of police commissioners shall establish the Bertillon system of identification of criminals and others by means of anthropometric indications, which shall be placed in charge of the superintendent of the Bertillon system provided for in section 7 [6214], and they are

(i) See Scheme Sec. 14. The police of the City have no right to act in the County of St. Louis (annulling so much of Sec. 14 of the Scheme as purports that they have: State ex rel. vs. Stobie, 194 Mo. 14 (Marshall and Valliant dissenting)). See also Charter Art. III, Sec. 26, clause 2; also Art. XVI, Sec. 16, which latter, however, is inconsistent with the above act of 1899 which requires the city to pay the police expenses according to the estimate of the Board, which estimate in itself operates as an appropriation, and the assembly is powerless to disregard same: State ex rel. vs. Mason, 153 Mo. 23.

further required to employ such additional assistance as may be necessary to properly conduct and manage this department. (Ib., p. 59, sec. 16. R. S. 1899, sec. 6223.)

Sec. 443. Boards to keep journal of their proceedings.—The boards shall cause a full journal of their proceedings to be kept, and shall also cause all their receipts and disbursements of money to be faithfully entered in books to be procured and kept for that purpose, and said journal, and all said books, and all other documents in possession of said boards, shall always be open to the inspection of the general assembly of the state of Missouri or any committee appointed by it for that purpose. It shall be the duty of the boards to report to the common council or municipal assembly of the said cities at each annual session thereof, the number and expenses of the police force employed by them under this act, and all such other matters as may be of public interest, in connection with the duties assigned them by this act. (Ib., p. 59, sec. 17. R. S. 1899, sec. 6224.)

Sec. 444. Mounted police.—The boards, whenever and for so long a time as may be necessary, is [are] authorized, out of the force hereinafter provided for, to appoint, mount and equip as many policemen as they may deem necessary for duty in the parks, outskirts and such other portions of the said cities as the board may deem necessary. (Ib., p. 59, sec. 18. R. S. 1899, sec. 6225—j.)

Sec. 445. Proceedings to suppress gambling.—Whenever the president or acting president of said board shall have the knowledge or shall receive satisfactory information that there is any prohibited gaming table or other gaming device or apparatus used in gambling, or any books, instruments, boards or devices used in recording or registering bets or wagers or selling pools, kept or used in any of said cities, he shall have the power to issue a warrant, directed to some officer of the police force under said board, to seize and bring before him such gaming table or other gambling device or apparatus used in gambling, or such books, instruments, boards or devices used in recording or registering bets or wagers or selling pools, and to arrest such person or persons as may be in charge of, conducting, owning or operating such table, device, apparatus, books, instruments, boards or devices so used; and upon the service of such warrant or warrants and seizure of any such table, device, apparatus, books, instruments, boards or devices, under such warrant or warrants, said acting president shall set a day, not less than five days nor more than ten days after the date of such service and seizure, for determining whether such property so seized is the kind of property mentioned in this act, and was so used or held for gambling purposes, or for recording or registering bets or wagers or selling pools. A written notice of the date or place of such hearing shall be given the owner or owners of such property by posting a copy of such notice in a conspicuous place on the premises in which said property is seized, at least five days before the date of said hearing, and such owner or owners may appear at such hearing and defend against the charges as to the nature and use of the property so seized, and said acting president shall determine, from the evidence produced at such hearing, whether the property is the kind of property, and was used or held for the purpose hereinbefore mentioned; and said acting president is hereby declared to be, and is constituted a magistrate and clothed with jurisdiction and power to issue such warrants in the same manner, and with like effect as warrants are now issued by justices of the peace, and to determine judicially the character, nature and use of the property so seized: Provided, that persons arrested under such warrants shall be sent before the judge of the police court or other proper magistrate of the said cities, together with the charges filed against them, and a list of witnesses to be summoned on part of the prosecution, and said judge of the police court shall thereupon have jurisdiction to try such persons as provided by law. (Ib., p. 59, sec. 19. R. S. 1899, sec. 6226.)

Sec. 446. Power of officers to break doors.—The officer charged with the execution of such warrants shall have the power to break open doors for the purpose of executing the same and for that purpose may have the assistance of the whole police force. (Ib., p. 60, sec. 20. R. S. 1899, sec. 6227.)

Sec. 447. Gambling devices, etc., to be destroyed.—It shall be the duty of such president or acting president before whom any such prohibited gambling table or other gaming device or apparatus used in gambling, or books, instruments, boards, or devices used in recording or registering bets, or selling pools, shall be brought, in case he decides after hearing, that such property so seized was used or held for gambling purposes, or for recording or registering bets or wagers, or selling pools, to cause the same to be publicly destroyed by burning or otherwise. (Ib., p. 60, sec. 21. R. S. 1899, sec. 6228.)

Sec. 448. Proceedings where property has been stolen.—Upon complaint being made, on oath, to the president or acting president of the board, that any personal property has been stolen or embezzled and that the complainant suspects that such property is concealed in any particular house or place in any of said cities, if such president or acting president shall be satisfied that there is reasonable ground for suspicion, he may issue a warrant to search for such property, and said president or acting president is hereby declared to be and is constituted a magistrate and clothed with judicial functions and powers to issue such warrants in the same manner and with like effect as warrants are now issued by justices of the peace. (Ib., p. 60, sec. 22. R. S. 1899, sec. 6229.)

Sec. 449. Warrants, how directed.—Such warrants shall be directed to some officer of the police force and shall command him to search the place where such property is suspected to be concealed, which place shall be designated and the property particularly described in such warrant, and to bring such stolen property before the police justice or some justice of the peace of said cities, and upon the return of such warrants to such justice he shall proceed thereon in like manner as if such warrants had been by him issued. (Ib., p. 60, sec. 23. R. S. 1899, sec. 6230.)

Sec. 450. No fee allowed, when.—No fee shall be allowed for the issue or execution of the warrants aforesaid. (Ib., p. 60, sec. 24. R. S. 1899, sec. 6231.)

Sec. 451. Whereas, by reason of the omission of any reference to said section eleven (11) in the title of said act, doubts have arisen as to the validity of that portion of said act amending said section eleven (11); now, therefore,

Section 1. Section eleven (11) of article twenty-nine (29) of laws specially applicable to the city of St. Louis, of the Revised Statutes of 1889, entitled "Police," is hereby amended, so as to read as follows:

The board of police commissioners are hereby authorized to make all such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with this act, as they may judge necessary for the appointment, employment, uniforming, disciplining, trial and government of the police, and for the relief and compensation of members of the police force injured in person or property in the discharge of their duty, and the families of the officers or men killed while in such discharge of duty. And whenever any person is employed by said board as a policeman, such employment shall be upon the following conditions:

Sec. 454. Sec. 455. Compensation to family in case of death.—Second—That if the person so employed as policeman shall lose his life while in and by reason of the performance of his duty as such policeman, or shall thereby receive injuries from which he shall thereafter die, leaving a widow, or child or children under the age of 16 years, then upon satisfactory proof of such facts made to it, such board shall order and direct that a monthly payment, equal to one-half the amount of the salary attached to the rank which said policeman held on said police force at the time of his death, shall be paid to the widow during her life, from the funds provided by the municipal assembly for the payment of the police force of said city, and if there be no widow, then to such child or children until they shall become 16 years of age; but if such widow shall marry, then such payment shall cease.

Sec. 456. May retire after 20 years' service—compensation.—Third—That any person so employed, who shall serve for the period of 20 years or more, may in the discretion of said board be retired from active service, and be thereafter paid during his natural life a yearly salary equal to one-half the amount of the salary attached to the rank which he may have held on such police force for one year next preceding his retirement: Provided, that any person who is retired from active service under this section on account of disability may be summoned to appear before the board at any time thereafter, and shall submit himself thereto for examination as to his fitness for duty, and shall abide the decision and order of such board with reference thereto; and all members of the police force retired under the provisions of this section, except those retired after 20 years' service, shall report to the chief of police of the city on the — of each and every month, and in cases of emergency may be assigned to and shall perform such duty as said chief of police may direct, and such person shall have no claim against the city for payment for such duty so performed—7.

No member of the police force who shall be retired on half pay under this section after twenty years' service, or who shall be retired on half pay on account of physical disability as herein provided, shall be entitled to any relief from any police relief association organized under section 2885 of the Revised Statutes of 1889, nor shall the families of deceased policemen who may be provided for by the board of police commissioners under this section be entitled to receive any aid from any relief association organized under section 2885 aforesaid. The said board shall also have power to require of any officer or policeman bond with sureties, when they may consider it demanded by the public interest. All lawful rules and regulations of the board shall be obeyed by the police force on pain of dismissal, or such lighter punishment, either by suspension, fine, reduction or forfeiture of pay, or otherwise, as the board may adjudge. Sec. 470. Council of St. Louis city—powers and duties.—The council [assembly] of St. Louis shall, in all things appertaining to the assessing and collecting the state revenue and licenses in the limits of said city, perform and do all things which heretofore devolved on the county court of St. Louis county, not otherwise provided in the scheme and charter of said city. Whenever the county of St. Louis, or the county court of St. Louis county, is mentioned specially in this chapter, it shall be taken and understood as applying to the city of St. Louis. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9335—p.)

ARTICLE II.

THE COLLECTOR.*

Sec. 471. Collector's bond.—Every collector of the revenue in the various counties in this state, and the collector of the revenue in the city of St. Louis, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall give bond and security to the state, to the satisfaction of the county courts and in the city of St. Louis to the satisfaction of the mayor of said city, in a sum equal to the amount of all the revenue to be collected by him for any one year, conditioned that he will faithfully and punctually collect and pay over all state, county and other revenue for the four years next ensuing the first day of March thereafter, and that he will in all things faithfully perform all the duties of the office of collector according to law. The official bond required by this section shall be signed by at least five solvent sureties. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9206, amended by Laws 1907, p. 390—q.)

Sec. 472. Bond of ex officio collector.—In any county where any officer thereof is ex officio collector of the revenue of said county, he shall give bond and security as such ex officio collector to the state of Missouri, to the satisfaction of the county court of such county, in a sum of at least equal to the amount of all the revenue to be by him collected for any one year, conditioned that he will faithfully and punctually collect and pay over all state and county revenue during his term as such ex officio collector, and that he will in all respects faithfully perform all the duties of collector according to the statute laws of the state governing county collectors of the revenue. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9207.)

Sec. 473. Failure to give bond vacates office.—If any collector shall neglect or refuse to give bond, as required by the next preceding section, his office shall, immediately upon such neglect or refusal, be vacant. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9208—r.)

Sec. 474. Bond to be in duplicate—where filed.—Such bond shall be executed in duplicate; one part thereof shall be deposited and recorded in the office of the clerk of the county court, and the other part shall be transmitted by the clerk to the state auditor. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9209.)

Sec. 477. New bond, when required—books not to be delivered until, when.—The collector's bond, when received by the auditor, shall be carefully examined, and if found to be made in conformity to law, and the sureties satisfactory, he shall file the same in his office, and immediately certify the fact thereof to the clerk of the county court; but if said auditor finds said bond to be not in accordance with law, or if he has reason to doubt the sufficiency of the security, he shall immediately return the bond to the clerk of the county court, who shall notify the collector to correct said bond, or make a new bond, as may be required by the auditor. If a new bond is required, it shall be approved and recorded, and subject to the requirements of this section, the same as the first bond given by the collector. No tax-book or lists shall be placed in the hands of the county collector until the auditor's certificate, under the seal of his office, has been received by the clerk of the county court, showing that the collector's bond has been received and filed in the auditor's office. Any evasion of this section by the clerk of the county court or collector shall subject them each to a penalty of not less than five hundred dollars, and all damages and costs to be recovered before any court of competent jurisdiction in this state; and the auditor is hereby required to bring suit, without delay, for every evasion of the requirements of this section, as soon as the same comes to his knowledge—the amount recovered on such fines to be paid into the state treasury as revenue fund: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed as relieving the sureties of a collector from liabilities incurred under a bond not approved and filed by the auditor. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9212—t.)

Sec. 478. Bonds to be examined by county court, when.—The county court shall, at the end of the first year, carefully examine the bond given as collector, and may again examine the same at any time before the tax-book of the second year of his term shall be delivered to him, and by such examination ascertain if the bond be sufficient, and the sureties thereto still solvent and sufficient, and upon such examination, if found to be necessary, the court shall require an additional bond, as collector, with good security, to be approved by the court, as in the taking of the original bond. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9213.)

Sec. 479. Failure to give additional bond.—If such collector shall fail to give such additional bond and security for ten days after he shall be required to do so by law, his office of collector shall be vacant. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9214.)

Sec. 480. Sureties may be discharged, when.—The sureties on any bond given in pursuance of this chapter, or either of them, may, at any time after the execution of said bond, if they, or either of them, have good reason to believe that the officer in said bond is about to fail to comply with the conditions thereof, file with the clerk of the county court a notice, in writing verified under oath by the person asking to be discharged, setting forth the facts in the case, and asking to be released from any further liability on said bond; whereupon the clerk with whom such notice shall be filed shall notify the said officer to give additional security, equal to the security about to be released by the county court; which notice may be served by the said clerk, or by any person appointed by said court or clerk. If the officer so notified shall not appear and give additional security within ten days from the time he may be so notified, the county court may remove him from office; and in all such cases the person appointed to fill the vacancy occasioned by such removal shall execute bond, qualify and perform the duties required as such officer: Provided, that if the sureties on any collector's bond, or either of them, shall be satisfied that such collector is making improper use of the funds, collected by him, or has absconded or is about to abscond from this state, whereby said sureties may become liable to pay any sum or sums of money, it shall be lawful for said surety to sue out a writ of attachment against the goods and chattels of such collector in like manner as he would be authorized to do if said collector was personally indebted to such surety; and the money collected on any such attachment shall be paid into the state, county, town or city treasury, by the officer collecting the same, in like manner as if paid over by the collector. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9215.)

Sec. 481. In case of vacancy, duty of successor.—In case of a vacancy, as mentioned in the foregoing section, the person appointed to fill such vacancy shall execute a bond and collect and pay over the taxes in the same manner as the collector should have done, and his acts shall be as binding and effectual as the collector's would have been had he completed the collection. The collector so appointed may obtain judgment, and sell delinquent lands and lots in like manner as the collector would have been authorized to do had he completed such collections. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9216.)

Sec. 482. Collector may appoint deputies.—Collectors may appoint deputies, by an instrument in writing, duly signed, and may also revoke any such appointment at their pleasure, and may require bonds or other securities from such deputies to secure themselves; and each such deputy shall have like authority, in every respect, to collect the taxes levied or assessed within the portion of the county, town, district or city assigned to him, which, by this chapter, is vested in the collector himself; but each collector shall, in every respect, be responsible to the state, county, towns, cities, districts and individuals, companies, corporations, as the case may be, for all moneys collected, and for every act done by any of his deputies whilst acting as such, and for any omission of duty of such deputy. Any bond or security taken from a deputy by a collector, pursuant to this chapter, shall be available to such collector, his representatives and sureties, to indemnify them for any loss or damage accruing from any act of such deputy. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9217—u.)

(t) Additional Bond: State ex rel. vs. Lafayette Co., 41 Mo. 545.

(u) The state is the real party in interest in an action for delinquent taxes and if the collector retires from office his successor need not be made a party: See case cited infra in note to Sec. 491. The bill cannot in an action be excluded because signed by a deputy, and it may be shown that he was in fact such; nor need a person subsequently acquiring an interest in the property be made a party: State ex rel. vs. Miller, 16 Mo. App. 539.

As to charter power to appoint deputies see Art. V, Sec. 33.

ARTICLE III.

SETTLEMENTS OF, AND DEPOSITS BY COLLECTOR.

Sec. 483. Collector to return delinquent list under oath.—At the term of the county court to be held on the first Monday in March, the collector shall return the delinquent lists and back tax-books, and in the city of St. Louis the uncollected tax-bills and back-tax books, under oath or affirmation, to such court, and settle his accounts of all moneys received by him on account of taxes and other sources of revenue, and the amount of such delinquent lists, or so much thereof as the court shall find properly returned delinquent, shall be allowed and credited to him on his settlement. Before allowing the collector such credit for any delinquent lists, the county court shall make special inquiry and be fully satisfied that he has used due diligence to collect the same, and that he could not find any personal property of the tax-payer out of which to make the taxes. If the court is satisfied that there are any names on the lists of persons who have personal property out of which the taxes could have been made, it shall, in passing upon such lists, strike such names therefrom. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9247—v.)

Sec. 484. Collector St. Louis city to deposit, where.—The collector of the city of St. Louis shall, on Monday in each week, deposit in such bank as may be designated to him by the treasurer of the state, to the credit of such treasurer, all moneys received by him for the state, first deducting the amount of his commission, and take from the cashier a certificate of every such deposit, which shall be received by the treasurer of the state in payment of the revenue. Such collector, when he shall make such deposit, shall transmit to the state auditor an affidavit, setting forth the amount of revenue which he has received since the last deposit, and the amount retained by him for his commission. Nothing contained in this section shall be so construed as to affect in anywise the rate or amount of commission which such collector would be entitled to on his final settlement. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9258—w.)

Sec. 485. Penalty on collector for failure.—For every failure of the collector to deposit the revenue, as required by this chapter, he shall forfeit to the state the sum of five hundred dollars, to be recovered of him or his sureties by suit on his official bond, and the auditor shall direct the prosecution of such suit immediately on the occurrence of such failure. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9259.)

Sec. 486. Collector's commissions—county clerk to certify to state auditor.—The collector shall receive as full compensation for his services in collecting the revenue, except back taxes, the following commissions and no more: * * *

XII. In all counties or cities wherein the total amount of all such taxes and licenses levied for any one year exceeds one million dollars, the collector of revenue shall receive, collect and retain, as full compensation for his services, for collecting all revenue and other dues which he is authorized to collect, belonging to the state, school, county and city, the following commissions, viz.: On current and tax revenues as follows: On all sums collected up to and including eighty per cent of the total amount of such tax-bills placed in his hands, one-half of one per cent commission; on all sums collected over eighty per cent and up to and including ninety-five per cent, one per cent commission; on all sums collected over ninety-five per cent, two per cent commission. On licenses and all other dues, except delinquent and back taxes, collected in any one year, as follows: When the amount collected for the city aggregates eight hundred thousand dollars, or less, two and one-half per cent commission; on all licenses and other dues collected for the city in excess of eight hundred thousand dollars, four per cent commission; on all such licenses collected for the state, three per cent commission. All such commissions hereinbefore enumerated shall be deducted and retained by such collector out of the amounts collected for state, school, county and city respectively, and, upon settlement with such collector, shall be credited to his account and charged to the respective revenue accounts. On all back taxes and all other delinquent taxes, he shall be allowed a commission of two per cent, which shall be added to the face of the tax-bill and collected from the party paying such tax as a penalty, in the same manner as other penalties are collected and enforced. The said collector shall pay all salaries and other expenses of his office, and all other costs of collecting the respective revenues: Provided, that the municipal authorities of such cities may limit the maximum number of and maximum salaries to be paid to all employes of the collector, and may otherwise reasonably limit the expenditures of his office and the cost of collecting the revenue. The collector shall make settlement annually on the first Monday of March, and at the expiration of his term of office, with the proper officer of the city, for all commissions retained; and all commissions hereinbefore allowed shall be computed for the year or part of the year next preceding the dates of such settlement. Said collector shall present for allowance proper vouchers for all disbursements made by him on account of salaries and expenses of his office, and other costs of collecting the revenue, which shall be allowed to him as against the commissions retained by him; and out of the residue of such commissions in his hands after deducting the amount of such vouchers allowed, he shall be allowed and authorized to retain, as far as the said residue of such commissions in his hands will permit, a compensation at the rate of ten thousand dollars per annum. Should such residue of commissions be less than sufficient to cover the above compensation, then the entire residue shall be allowed to him, and shall be in full payment for his services. If, however, such residue is more than sufficient to cover such compensation, then the surplus shall be paid over to the state, school, county and city in proportion as the amount collected from each bears to the total amount of collections: Provided, that this section shall not be construed as repealing the law requiring the collector to deposit, daily, in the city treasury, all moneys collected for the city, or the law requiring him to deposit, weekly, with the state treasurer, all revenue collected for the state. Collectors of revenue, under this subdivision, shall keep at all times in their office a notary public, who shall administer oaths and take notarial acknowledgments in connection with such office, without charge. All fees, commissions or other compensations heretofore charged, received or allowed, by or to any such collector, as compensation for his services, whether under or by virtue of state law or not, are hereby abolished; and such collector and all his deputies and employes are hereby forbidden, under penalty of forfeiture of office, to collect, charge or receive, directly or indirectly, any fees or commissions in the nature of compensation or other compensation other than those allowed and authorized by this section.

XIII. For the purpose of enabling the state auditor to determine the compensation of the collector to be paid by this state, it is hereby made the duty of the clerk of the county court, immediately after such annual settlement made by the collector, to make out and forward a statement to the state auditor, under the seal of the court, showing the aggregate amount of all such taxes and licenses levied for the year for which such settlement was made, including therein local, special and school and all other taxes: Provided, that no collector shall be allowed to retain over nine thousand dollars of commissions and fees in any one year except as provided in subdivision twelfth herein; and all fees and commissions coming into the hands of any collector, from any source whatever, in excess of nine thousand dollars, except as provided in subdivision twelfth, shall be paid into the city, county and state treasuries in proportion to the amount received on taxes collected for each; and it shall be the duty of each collector, once in each year, to file in the county court in each county and in the office of the comptroller of each city not in a county, a statement, under oath, of the amount of fees and commissions received by him and from what source, and shall immediately pay over the excess according to the order of the county court or comptroller: Provided, however, that this act shall not apply to any county adopting township organization. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9260—x.)

Sec. 487. When collector's term expires—vacancies, how filled.—The terms for which collectors are elected shall expire on the first Monday in March of the year in which they are required to make their last final settlement for the tax-book which was to be collected by them. And when any collector resign, or be, from any cause, removed from office, and all collectors appointed by the county courts, or mayor of any city not within a county, to fill vacancies at the expiration of the term for which they were appointed (or as soon thereafter as his successor shall have qualified), they shall pay over all moneys which may be in their hands, due the state, or their successors in office, and take duplicate receipts therefor, one of which receipts they shall file with the clerk of the county court of their respective counties, and in St. Louis city with the city auditor, and retain the other for their own benefit. It shall be the duty of the county clerks and city auditor, as soon as they receive the receipts above mentioned, to certify the same to the state auditor, stating the amount of such receipts; and it shall be the duty of the auditor, upon the receipt of the same, to place the amount thus certified to the credit of the collector whose term of service has expired, and charge the same to his successor in office (R. S. 1899, sec. 9267.)

(x) The collector in St. Louis is entitled to three per cent commission on revenue collected by him for the school board on the amount of merchants' and manufacturers' licenses: Board vs. Ziegenhein, 156 Mo. 313. A collector who begins and conducts to judgment, a back tax suit is entitled to the fees, although he is not in office when the judgment is rendered and the taxes collected: Watson vs. Schnecko, 13 Mo. App. 208. Under the ordinances of St. Louis it was held that where there were two successive incumbents in the office of collector during one fiscal year, in determining the rate at which the commissions of the latter incumbent were to be computed, the collections made by his predecessor should be taken into account: Lemoine vs. St. Louis, 72 Mo. 404. The statute allowing reasonable attorney's fees to be taxed as costs in tax suits is valid: State ex rel. vs. Railway, 176 Mo. 443. See Butler vs. Sullivan, 108 Mo. 630.

ARTICLE IV.

DELINQUENT AND BACK TAXES.

Sec. 488. Tax bills for real estate and railroad taxes prior to 1887 stricken from the lists.—The comptroller or other proper officer in each city of this state having three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, shall, at the first annual settlement made by the collector of such city after the taking effect of this act, strike from the delinquent lists all real estate and railroad tax bills due prior to the year 1887, and shall cancel the tax bills issued therefor, and the collectors of said cities shall not be charged with the same from and after their cancellation. (Laws 1903, p. 253, sec. 1.)

Sec. 489. Certain bills to be cancelled by commission.—At the first annual settlement made by a collector of the revenue after this act shall take effect, in each city in this state having three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, all delinquent real estate tax lists and back tax bills for taxes on real estate shall be carefully examined by a commission to be composed of the comptroller, collector and president of the board of assessors, or other proper officers of such city, and if there appear thereon any back tax bills which, in the opinion of a majority of said commission, are too small to justify the expense of suit, or which are against exempt property, or which are against property which is not worth the taxes, interest and costs, the same shall, upon order of such commission or a majority thereof, be stricken from such delinquent real estate or back tax books and the tax bills therefor cancelled by the comptroller of such city. (Ib., sec. 2.)

Sec. 490. Repeal.—All acts or parts of acts not in conformity with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed. (Ib., sec. 3.)

Sec. 491. List to be made into back-tax book—duty of collector—suit to enforce.—The clerk of the county court shall file the said list in his office, and within ten days thereafter make the same into a "back-tax book," as contemplated by R. S. 1899, section 9300, under the seal of the court, and deliver the same to the collector of the revenue of his county, whose duty it shall be to proceed to collect the same, and to that end shall have the power, and it is hereby made his duty, to levy upon, seize and distrain personal property, and sell the same for such taxes, in the manner provided in this article. In the city of St. Louis the uncollected bills shall be returned with said list: Provided, that the city comptroller, or other proper officer, shall return said list within thirty days to the city collector. And if it appear that any county court or county clerk of this state has, within five years next before the taking effect of this act failed in the discharge of any one of the duties prescribed by R. S. 1899, sections 9290 and 9300, of this article, or shall so fail at any time hereafter, to such an extent that the collection of said taxes cannot be enforced by law, it shall be the duty of the said county court and clerk, or their successors in office, immediately after such omission or defect is discovered, to proceed at once to correct the same and supply the omission, or defect, and return such corrected "back-tax book" to the collector, whose duty it shall be to collect the same, as hereinbefore set forth. There being an emergency existing under the constitution, it is hereby ordered that this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9292—y.)

(y) Petition must contain description, or the judgment will be void, and this even if a description be contained in the tax bill filed with the petition: Vaughn vs. Daniels, 98 Mo. 230; or in the judgment rendered on a defective petition: O'Day vs. McDaniel, 181 Mo. 529; and there must be a correct description in the tax bill or the proceedings are ineffectual: State ex rel. vs. Burroughs, 174 Mo. 700; an erroneous assessment does not make the judgment void collaterally: Warren vs. Manwarring, 173 Mo. 21; bill is prima facie proof that notice was given as required: State ex rel. vs. Vogelsang, 183 Mo. 17. Omitted property may be subsequently assessed and taxes recovered, and limitation only begins to run from the time the taxes are delinquent: State ex rel. vs. Vogelsang, 183 Mo. 17. The record proper in suit for back taxes is the petition, answer, reply and judgment; hence in the absence of exceptions, and if the petition correctly describes the land, the judgment must be affirmed: State ex rel. vs. Sanford, 181 Mo. 134. There can be no personal judgment: O'Day vs. McDaniel, but the suit is so far in personam that the Supreme Court has not jurisdiction on appeal on the ground that title to real estate is involved: State ex rel. vs. Elliott, 180 Mo. 658. And as to personal remedy of one buying at sale where sale is void see cases cited in Phelps vs. Brumbach, 107 Mo. App. 16. The tax should be against the record owner (see infra) but after the court has once acquired jurisdiction the proceeding is against the property: Kilton vs. Smith, 134 Mo. 499. Land Co. vs. Bippus, 200 Mo. 688.

The right to assess for taxation where the taxpayer is not found at his residence or place of business attaches upon a notice being left by the district assessor at either place, between June 1 and January 1, requiring the property owner to make a statement of his taxable property; and on his failure to do so the assessor making the assessment in a lump sum, and no appeal taken, the owner cannot complain in an action to collect the tax: State ex rel. vs. Cummings, 151 Mo. 49. The remedy provided by laws 1897, p. 213, for taxes due St. Louis by an action in the name of the city is cumulative, and does not impair the right to maintain an action in the name of the state at the relation of the collector: State ex rel. vs. Cummings, 151 Mo. 49, 61. The state is the real party in interest, in an action for delinquent taxes and if a col-

Sec. 492. Institution of suits before dates named.—Nothing in this chapter shall be so construed as to prevent the institution of suit before the times herein named: Provided, that if it be real estate in the city of St. Louis, and the owner thereof, if a resident of such city, is about to remove therefrom, or, being a non-resident of such city, comes within the same, so that personal service can thereby be had upon him, or if real estate be in any county of the state outside of St. Louis city, and the owner thereof is about to remove from such county, or, being a non-resident such county, comes within the same, so that personal service can thereby be had upon him. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9318.)

ARTICLE V.

ASSESSMENT AND TAXATION OF RAILROADS.

Sec. 493. Duty of prosecuting attorney—when additional counsel may be employed.—It shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney of each county to prosecute all suits for taxes under this article. County collectors shall have power, with the approval of the county court, or, in St. Louis city, the approval of the mayor thereof, to employ such attorneys as may be deemed necessary to aid and assist the prosecuting attorney in conducting and managing such suits; and the court in which suit is brought shall, if plaintiff obtain judgment, allow such attorneys a reasonable fee for bringing and conducting such suit, which shall be taxed against the defendant and paid as other costs in the case. At the request of the collector, the governor may direct the attorney-general to assist in the prosecution of any such suits. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9378—z.)

Sec. 494. Duties of officers of St. Louis city.—All services required to be performed by county officers under this article shall be performed by the corresponding officers of the city of St. Louis, and wherever the word "county" occurs, the same shall be construed to apply to and include the city of St. Louis. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9383—a.)

ARTICLE VI.

TAXATION OF MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS.

Sec. 495. Lower rate of tax than that on real estate authorized.—All cities in this state having a population of over three hundred thousand inhabitants are lector retires from office his successor need not be made a party: State ex rel. vs. Sanford, 127 Mo. 368.

One who pays all taxes except such as are illegal as being in excess of the constitutional limit, may maintain injunction: Arnold vs. Hawkins, 95 Mo. 569, 572, and cases cited.

The collector may establish against a decedent's estate the claim for school and city taxes in the name of the state to his use and at his relation, whether such taxes accrued before or after the death of decedent; and the petition should set out the taxes due each year in separate counts: State ex rel. vs. Tittmann, 103 Mo. 553, 564; State vs. Seaborn, 139 Mo. 582, 604. The claim may be brought in either the circuit or probate court: State ex rel. vs. Edwards, 162 Mo. 1. c. 666. See as to taxes against decedents Woerner on Administration, Sec. 329, p. 691; as to real estate taxes, see Id. Sec. 518, p. 1151.

It is sufficient to bring a suit for taxes against the party who, by the records, appears to be the owner; and this applies to a married woman, who subsequently becomes a widow and again marries, the record name remaining unchanged; suit against her by her record name, by publication, held sufficient and not the same as publication directed to a dead person, which is void: Schnitger vs. Rankin, 192 Mo. 35, citing numerous cases on analogous points. See further as to suit against record owner being sufficient: Hilton vs. Smith 134 Mo. 499. Land Co. vs. Bippus, 200 Mo. 688. But if the suit is against the apparent or record owner the purchaser takes no title if he had actual notice of who the real owner was, and such real owner is not a party; and facts and circumstances sufficient to put a man of ordinary circumspection on inquiry amount to actual notice; and if the collector has actual notice of who the real owner is it is his duty to bring the suit against him, though he is not the record owner: Stuart vs. Ramsey, 196 Mo. 404.

As to when a tax bill, duly certified, makes a proper prima facie case, see State ex rel. vs. Edwards, 151 Mo. 472, 477.

See also State ex rel. vs. Tobacco Co. 140 Mo. 218; State ex rel. vs. Hurt, 113 Mo. 90.

As to what allegations, in a petition for collection of taxes, are sufficient, and as to what is a sufficient form of tax bill and certificate, see State ex rel. vs. Cummings 151 Mo. 49, 54 et seq.

A judgment in a tax suit cannot be set aside collaterally (as in suits to quiet title) by a defendant in the suit brought in by personal service or publication, by showing that the taxes had been paid, so as to defeat the title of the purchaser; but publication notice must be by full name and not merely initials, and if this is not done there is no notice and the sale is void: Evarts vs. Lumber Co. 193 Mo. 433. See other cases on these points cited in the opinion. Where the record title gives the owner's full Christian name, notice by publication by initials only is insufficient and the tax sale does not divest him of title. Burkham vs. Manewal, 195 Mo. 500, citing numerous cases.

authorized to levy for local purposes, a less ad valorem rate of taxation than that levied by them on real estate or other property for the same purpose; and said reductions may, from time to time, be arranged to apply on both or either the tax rate for payments of valid indebtedness or the tax rate for city purposes. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9397.)

Sec. 496. Regulations of merchants' and manufacturers' licenses.—All such cities, for city and local purposes, are hereby authorized to license, tax and regulate the occupation of merchants and manufacturers and may graduate the amount of annual license imposed upon a merchant or manufacturer in proportion to the sales made by such merchant or manufacturer during the year next preceding any fixed date. (R. S. 1899, sec. 9389—b.)

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

- Art. I. Board of Education created, to establish, maintain and govern public schools of the city of St. Louis.
- Art. II. Pension and retirement fund.
- Art. III. Compulsory education.

ARTICLE I.

BOARD OF EDUCATION CREATED TO ESTABLISH, MAINTAIN AND GOVERN PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS.

Sec. 497. Board of managers of certain charitable or penal institutions to arrange for education of inmates at public schools.—The boards of managers of houses of refuge, houses of correction, orphan asylums, or any public institutions having charge of delinquent or dependent and neglected children, in cities now having or which may hereafter have one hundred thousand inhabitants or over, shall have power to arrange with the public school authorities of such cities for the education, schooling, instruction and training of such children. (Laws 1905, p. 301-302.)

Sec. 498. Emergency.—Whereas, there is at present a want of power on the part of said boards to arrange with the public school authorities for the education, schooling, instruction and training of the inmates of said public institutions, and whereas, it is important that said boards shall have said powers, an emergency exists within the meaning of the constitution, and therefore this act [Sec. 497] shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage. (Ib.)

Sec. 499. The act to establish a corporation in St. Louis for public education approved February 13, 1833, and Art. IV, Chapter 143, R. S., repealed.—An act entitled "An Act to establish a corporation in the city of St. Louis for the purpose of public education," approved Feb. 13th, 1833, and all acts supplementary to and amendatory thereof, and article IV of chapter 143 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri entitled "Election of school directors in cities having three hundred thousand inhabitants," are hereby repealed. (Laws 1897, p. 220.)

Sec. 500. Cities of 300,000 inhabitants shall constitute a single school district and be a body corporate—supervision of schools vested in a board of education composed of 12 members and a superintendent of instruction and a commissioner of school buildings—board may sue and be sued, etc.—Every city in this state now having or which may hereafter have three hundred thousand inhabitants or over, together with the territory now within its limits, or which may in the future be included by any change thereof, shall be and constitute a single school district, shall be a body corporate, and the supervision and government of public schools and public school property therein shall be vested in a board of twelve members, to be called and known as the "board of education of ——" (in which title the name of such city shall be inserted) and in a superintendent of instruction and a commissioner of school buildings. Such board of education shall, by and in said name, sue and be sued, purchase, receive, hold and sell property, do all things necessary to accomplish the purpose for the attainment of which such school district is organized, and succeed to all the property, rights and privileges, of whatever kind and nature, granted and belonging to any previous corporation, board of directors or school district in such city, or officers thereof, authorized or empowered by any enactment of the general assembly of the state to do anything in reference to public education: Provided, that all pending suits to which any such previous corporation, board of directors, or school district, or officer thereof, is a party, may be prosecuted to an end in the name of such party. All titles to property previously granted to such city by the United States or this state for school purposes, and the title to all school lands and other property of every kind, shall be vested in the board of education established by this act. (Ib., p. 221, sec. 2. R. S. 1899, sec. 9919—c.)

Sec. 501. General powers of board prescribed.—Every such board of education shall have general and supervising control, government and management of the public schools and public school property in such city; shall exercise generally all powers in the administration of the public school system therein, appoint such officers, agents and employes as it may deem necessary and proper, and fix their compensation; shall have power to fix the time of its meetings, to make, amend and repeal rules and by-laws for its meetings and proceedings, for the government, regulation and management of the public schools and school property in such city, for the transaction of its business, and the examination, qualification and employment of teachers, which rules and by-laws shall be binding on such board of education and all parties dealing with it until formally repealed; to provide for special and standing committees, to loan its funds, and to levy such taxes as are or may be authorized by law for school purposes; and to purchase and hold all property, real and personal, deemed by it necessary for the purposes of public education, or for the investment of the public school funds, to build and construct improvements for such purposes, and to sell the same. Such board of education shall have all the powers of other school districts under the laws of this state except as herein provided. (Ib., p. 222, sec. 3. R. S. 1899, sec. 9920—d.)

Sec. 502. Members of board, how elected, qualifications—no compensation for service.—The members of such board of education shall be elected from such city at large on a general ticket and shall be at least thirty years of age, citizens and residents of the city and tax-payers therein on property therein assessed in their individual names, and shall have been such residents, citizens and tax-payers for at least three years immediately preceding their election. They shall not hold any office, except that of notary public, in such city or state, nor be interested in any contract with or claim against the board, either directly or indirectly. If at any time after the election of any member of said board he becomes interested in any contract with or claim against the board, either directly or indirectly, or as agent or employe of any individual, firm or corporation, which is so interested, he shall thereupon be disqualified to continue as a member of said board, and shall continue to be so disqualified during the remainder of the term for which he was elected. Every member of such board shall, before assuming the duties of his office, take oath before a judge of the circuit court, or justice of the peace of such city, which oath shall be kept of record in such board, that he possesses all the qualifications by this act required, and that he will not, while serving as a member of such board, become interested in any contract with or claim against said board, directly or indirectly, or as agent or employe of any individual, firm or corporation which is so interested, and that he will not be influenced, during his term of office, by any consideration except that of merit and fitness in the appointment of officers and the engagement of employes. No compensation shall be paid to the members of the board, but they shall be exempt from jury duty and from service as election officers during their term of office. (Ib., p. 222, sec. 4. R. S. 1899, sec. 9921—e.)

Sec. 503. Mayor to appoint members of first board until general election—duty of board after its organization—election of president and vice president.—The members of such board of education shall be elected on a general ticket and by the qualified voters of such city at large as hereinafter provided, and shall qualify by taking the oath prescribed by this act, and proceed to organize by electing one of their number president and another vice-president; and thereupon it shall be the duty of any then existing corporation, or board of directors, or officers of the school district of such city, to surrender their offices and to deliver to said board of education, or to its officers, agents or employes, all the public school property, both real and personal,

Power of School Board to levy taxes for school purposes: State ex rel. vs. Tracy, 94 Mo. 217. The Board of Public Schools is a public, but not a municipal, corporation: Heller vs. Stremmel, 52 Mo. 309; although a quasi municipal corporation: State ex rel. vs. Board Pub. S., 112 Mo. 213; and is not subject to garnishment: Kein vs. School District, 42 Mo. App. 460; nor execution: State to use vs. Tiedemann, 69 Mo. 306.

(d) Power of Board to levy taxes: See note to sec. 520 infra, p. 197.

(e) See State ex rel. vs. Board Pub. Schools, 112 Mo. 213. Election laws relating to school directors in St. Louis are not void as special legislation: State ex rel. vs. Miller, 100 Mo. 439. The offices of school director and deputy sheriff are not so incompatible that the same person cannot hold both positions; and there is no constitutional inhibition that prohibits such holding: State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. 325, 331 et seq. See also note to Charter Art. XIII.

of every kind whatsoever, and the control and management of the public school affairs of such city. Provided, that until such board of education shall be organized, the administration of the public schools and the management of school property in such city shall remain in the control of any such existing corporation, board of directors, or officers of the school district, in the same manner and with the same powers as existed prior to the passage of this act, or the attaining by said city of the requisite number of inhabitants. It shall be the duty of the said board of education as soon as practicable after its organization, to appoint a superintendent of public instruction, a commissioner of school buildings, a secretary and treasurer, an auditor, and such other officers, employes and agents as it may deem proper: Provided, that no such officer, employe or agent shall be a member of said board. And such board of education may continue the employment and service of any existing officers, teachers, agents or other employes, in their several capacities, in connection with the administration of school affairs until such time as they may effect the change of the administrative system applicable to the public schools as contemplated in this act; and said board of education may thereafter retain or remove any agents, teachers, janitors, engineers or other employes then rendering service in connection with the public schools of such city. At its first regular meeting after the first day of October in each year following its original organization, said board of education shall reorganize by electing one of its members president and another vice-president. All vacancies in such board shall be filled by the mayor by appointment until the next election for members of said board, when the vacancy shall be filled for the remainder of the term. All rules and by-laws made by any existing corporation, board of directors, or officers of the school district, at such time vested in such city with the management of the public schools, for the government of the public schools and school property, in such city, shall continue in force, so far as consistent with this act, until repealed or altered by such board of education. (Ib., p. 222, sec. 5. R. S. 1899, sec. 9922.)

Sec. 504. Special election of members of board provided for—terms of office and classification.—Within sixty days after the taking effect of this act, or the same becomes applicable to such city, there shall be held in every such city a special election at which twelve members of such board of education shall be elected, who shall, by lot, divide themselves into three classes of four members each. The first class shall hold office until the next ensuing municipal election in such city, whether for general offices or members of the house of delegates; the second class until the second such ensuing election; the third class until the third such ensuing election, and until their successors shall have been elected and qualified. Such special election to be held within sixty days after this act takes effect shall be held on such day as shall be named by the election commissioner of such city, who shall, in due time, name such day and perform all duties imposed on them by any law pertaining to elections in any such city for municipal officers or members of the house of delegates. Such special election and all the elections for members of such board of education shall be subject to and governed by the same laws, rules and regulations which govern elections in such city for municipal officers or members of the house of delegates, including the law pertaining to the registration of voters. After such special election there shall be elected at such municipal election, whether for general municipal officers or for members of the house of delegates, four members of such board of education, who shall assume the duties of their office at the first regular meeting of such board of education after their election, and who shall hold office for six years, and until their successors shall have been elected and qualified. (Ib., p. 223, sec. 6. R. S. 1899, sec. 9923—f.)

Sec. 505. Superintendent of instruction appointed by board—assistants authorized—duties and powers of assistants.—The superintendent of instruction shall be appointed by the board of education for a term of four years, during which term his compensation shall not be reduced. The board of education may, on the nomination of the superintendent of instruction, appoint as many assistant superintendents as it may deem necessary, whose compensation shall be fixed by the board, and who may be removed by the superintendent with the approval of the board. The superintendent of instruction shall have general supervision, subject to the control of the board, of the course of instruction, discipline and conduct of the schools, text-books and studies; and all appointments, promotions and transfers of teachers, and introduction and changes of text-books and apparatus, shall be made only upon the recommendation of the superintendent, and the approval of the board. The superintendent shall have power to suspend any teacher for cause deemed by him sufficient, and the board of education shall take such action upon the restoration or removal of such teacher, as it may deem proper. All appointments and promotions

Sec. 534h. Children between 14 and 16 not to be employed certain places, etc.—certificate.—No child between the ages of fourteen and sixteen shall be employed or be engaged in service in any mine, factory, workshop, business house, place of amusement, or in any other place or manner who has not first furnished his employer a properly attested birth certificate, or an affidavit, as provided for in section four of this act, giving the date of birth and physical characteristics and the signature of the child. (Ib., p. 431, sec. 8.)

Sec. 534i. Same—children between 8 and 14 years.—No child between the ages of eight and fourteen shall be employed or be engaged in service during the usual school hours in any mine, office, factory, workshop, business house, place of amusement, or in any other place or manner, unless such child shall first furnish his employer a certificate, properly signed by the attendance officer, or an excuse from school attendance issued by a court of competent jurisdiction, showing that such child is for the time being excused from attendance at school, in accordance with section two of this act. (Ib., sec. 9.)

Sec. 534j. Employer violating act—penalty.—Every owner, superintendent, officer, or person in charge of any mine, office, factory, workshop, business house, or place of amusement, or any person who shall employ or have in his service any child between eight and sixteen years of age contrary to the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined for each offense in a sum not less than twenty or more than fifty dollars and costs. (Ib., sec. 10.)

Sec. 534k. Employer to keep record of age.—Every owner, superintendent, officer, or person in charge of any mine, office, factory, workshop, business house, or place of amusement, or any person who employs or has in his service any child between eight and sixteen years of age, shall preserve and keep on file for each child between the aforesaid ages that is in his employ or service, the affidavit or certificate of age, or the certificate of exemption from school attendance which has been furnished to said employer, as provided for by sections nine and ten of this act; and every employer, as aforesaid, shall, upon the request of the attendance officer, submit any or each of said certificates, affidavits, or exemptions from school attendance for inspection and examination of such officer. Sec. 534n. Emergency.—The existing laws having been found inadequate in cities of five hundred thousand inhabitants and over for the declared purpose of enforcing the constitutional right of every child in such city to an education, and the necessity of making an adequate provision therefor, creates an emergency within the meaning of the Constitution, and therefore, this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage. (Ib., sec. 14.)

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT.

SANITARY DISTRICTS AND SEWERS.*

Section 535. Sanitary districts—how established.—Whenever the construction and maintenance of a common outlet or channel, or of a system of drains or sewers, for the drainage of any area in the state of Missouri, shall become necessary to secure proper sanitary conditions for the preservation of the public health, if such area shall lie in part within and in part without the corporate limits of any city having a population of 300,000 or more, said area may be established and incorporated as a sanitary district under this act, in the manner following, to wit: The mayor and assembly of the city, or the county court of the county, within whose limits any part of such area may lie, or in case the area is situated in part in a city authorized to perform all the functions of a county, and part in a county, both the mayor and assembly and the county court may petition the circuit court or courts having jurisdiction for the appointment of commissioners as hereinafter provided, and to take such further action as may be necessary to the submission to the legal voters resident in such area, of the question whether such area shall be organized and incorporated as a sanitary district under this act. Such petition or petitions, which may be in the form of an ordinance of the city or order of the county court, shall set forth a description in general terms of the territory to be embraced in, and suggest a name for, the proposed sanitary district. (Laws 1905, p. 62, sec. 1.)

*Laws 1905, p. 62, secs. 1-16. See Charter provisions on sewers, etc: Art. IV, secs. 34, 36; Art. III, sec. 26, clause 2; and particularly Art. VI, sec. 20-23; also notations thereto appended.

Sec. 536. Commissions—reports—elections.—The circuit court or courts so petitioned are hereby authorized to appoint three disinterested persons, one of whom shall be a civil engineer or surveyor, as commissioners to lay out and define the boundaries of the proposed sanitary district. Said commissioners may alter, or amend the boundaries of the proposed district, as set forth in the petition or petitions, so that it may embrace all of the area capable of being efficiently drained by the common outlet or channel, or by the system of sewers or drains, or so as to exclude from the sanitary district any part of the natural drainage area which is so situated as not to be benefited by the proposed sanitary drainage, and for this purpose they shall have power to have made all surveys and maps necessary to locate and describe the said boundaries. Said commissioners shall qualify by taking oath to faithfully and impartially perform their duties, and when so qualified shall give notice by publication at least five times, in one or more newspapers having a general circulation in the proposed district, of the time and place where they will meet to consider and establish said boundaries. Said notice shall be given at least twenty days prior to the meeting, and the meeting place shall be in the courthouse of the county, or city hall of the city. At the meeting the commissioner first named in the order of appointment shall preside, and all persons residing or owning real property in such proposed district, or adjacent thereto, shall have the right to be heard as to the location of the boundaries of such proposed district; and the commissioners or a majority of them after such hearing shall fix and determine the boundaries of the proposed district. The commissioners may adjourn from day to day until the hearing shall be complete, and for their services shall receive $10 per day each, for each day of actual service. They may employ a competent person as stenographer and clerk, whose compensation shall be $5 per day. The commissioners shall make their report, accompanied by a map or plan showing the boundaries of the proposed district, in relation to the property lines intersected or followed by them, also in relation to city or county boundaries, to the court or courts by which they were appointed. Said report and map, if approved by the court or courts, shall then be filed in the office of the recorder of deeds for the county or counties, or city, in which the proposed district is situated, and copies of the map with the mayor of the city and with the county court of the respective county or counties. It shall then be the duty of said mayor and county court or courts to submit to the legal voters of the proposed district the question of the organization and incorporation of the proposed sanitary district, with boundaries as determined by the said commissioners and approved by the said court or courts, at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November thence next ensuing; notice whereof shall be given as required by the statutes of the state of Missouri regarding the election of county officers. Polls shall be opened, so far as practicable, at or near the usual polling places at general elections. Votes shall be received and counted by three persons at each polling place, chosen from their number by the lawfully qualified electors resident in the proposed district, not less than nine in number present at any poll. The returns of the vote, certified to under oath by those who receive and count the vote, shall be made to the secretary of state of the state of Missouri, who shall ascertain and declare the result. Each legal voter resident within such proposed sanitary district shall have a right to cast a ballot at such election, with the words thereon: "For sanitary district," or "Against sanitary district." If a majority of the votes cast shall be "For sanitary district," such proposed district shall thenceforth be deemed an organized sanitary district under this act. When the board of trustees hereinafter provided for shall be appointed and organized, such sanitary district shall be considered in law and equity a body corporate and politic, known by the name and style of "The sanitary district of ————," and by such name and style may sue and be sued, contract and be contracted with, acquire and hold real estate and personal property necessary for corporate purposes, and adopt a common seal. All courts in this state shall take judicial notice of the existence of all sanitary districts organized under this act. If the proposition to establish the sanitary district is carried, the cost of all preliminary proceedings shall be borne by the district; if it is defeated, all costs of court, of commissioners and of the election shall be borne by the city and county, if of independent jurisdiction—each being liable for all expenses in regard to proceedings under its petitions. If its jurisdiction is single, the county court shall pay for all said expenses. When a natural drainage area includes territory lying in part in a county and in part in a city exercising the functions of a county, or in two or more counties, then the proceedings hereinbefore prescribed shall state that the proposition is to unite the parts so situated in independent jurisdictions into a single sanitary district; and if the proposition is carried by a majority vote in each of the parts, then the district shall be united and organized as described in said proceedings, and the circuit court having jurisdiction over the major part of the area included in the district so organized, shall have and is directed to exercise jurisdiction in all cases or questions arising out of the organization of the district, or from the acts of the board of trustees thereof. (Ib., p. 63, sec. 2.)

Sec. 537. Trustees—term, etc.—The board of trustees for the sanitary district shall be constituted as follows: The county court shall appoint one; the mayor of the city, with the approval of the higher branch of the legislative department of the city government, shall appoint one; and the court having jurisdiction over the whole or major part of the territory embraced in the district, as shown by the map thereof, shall appoint one, who shall be a civil engineer of good repute in his profession, and a recognized expert in matters of drainage. The appointee of the circuit court shall be the president of the board, and its executive officer. For their services the trustees shall receive salaries proportioned to the actual services rendered the district; the amount of salaries in each case shall be fixed on a per diem basis by the circuit court which appoints the third member, as before provided. If more than one sanitary district be organized with territory common to the same city and county or counties, the same persons may be appointed as trustees for any or all such districts. The official or court appointing the trustees shall have the power to appoint a successor when any vacancy occurs by reason of death, resignation, or removal from office or expiration of term. He or it may also remove such appointee for cause. The term of office of the first appointee of the circuit court shall be three years; that of the county court two years, and that of the mayor one year. Subsequent terms shall all be for three years, always subject to the condition that the board of trustees may be abolished, as hereinafter provided. The board of trustees shall have power to elect a clerk, chief engineer and attorney, and to employ from time to time such other persons as may be necessary, and to remove and discharge them at its pleasure; to fix the compensation of such appointees or employees, and to require them to give bond for the faithful performance of their duties: Provided, that no salary so paid, calculated on per diem basis, shall exceed the per diem allowed the president of the board. (Ib., sec. 3.)

Sec. 538. Same—powers of board.—Said board of trustees shall have power to pass all necessary rules and regulations for the proper management and conduct of the business of said board of trustees, and of said corporation, and for the carrying into effect the objects for which such sanitary district is formed. (Ib., p. 65, sec. 4.)

Sec. 539. Means to carry act into effect.—To provide means to carry into effect the objects for which such sanitary district is formed, the lawful authorities in the city, and the county court in counties, in which sanitary districts may wholly or in part be situated, shall levy and assess upon all the lands lying within such sanitary district, exclusive of streets, roads and alleys duly opened to public use, a uniform special drainage tax, to be fixed by requisition and certified by ordinance of the board of trustees of such sanitary district. And the mayor and assembly of said city are hereby authorized and required to levy such special tax, in addition to the amount they may be authorized to levy for general municipal purposes by the charter of said city. And the county court or courts is hereby authorized and required to levy such special tax, in addition to the amount it may be authorized to levy for general county purpose. The amount of such special tax in any year shall not exceed one-half of one per cent on the assessed and equalized valuation of such lands for that year. No lands, other than streets, roads and alleys shall be exempt from said special tax, and if not valued and assessed for other purposes, shall be valued and assessed for this. Such special tax shall be collected and enforced by the same officers and in the same manner as provided for state and county taxes. The amounts collected shall be paid into the treasury of the city and of the county or counties in which the collections are made, and be credited to a special fund, called "The drainage fund of the sanitary district of _____," and shall be used for no other purpose than for the payment of vouchers, drawn under the authority vested in the board of trustees for the sanitary district, as hereinafter specified.

Sec. 539a. Vouchers.—The board of trustees of sanitary districts shall have the power to issue vouchers payable by the treasurer of the city or of the county in which such sanitary district is wholly or in part situated, out of any funds in such treasurer's hands to the credit of the special fund of the sanitary district for the following named purposes, to wit: For the preliminary expenses incurred in organizing the district; for salaries and current expenses of the board, and salaries of its employees; for making surveys, plans and superintendence of work; for the payment of judgments for damages and costs, or the agreed price for right of way and easements; for payment of principal and interest of lawfully incurred indebtedness, and for work done or materials furnished for the construction or maintenance of channels, drains or sewers. (Ib., sec. 5.)

Sec. 540. Board to make surveys and define areas.—It shall be the duty of the board of trustees to make the necessary surveys, and to map out and define the several natural drainage areas in the district, and to lay out a general plan for the drainage thereof; besides the main outlet or outlets, the plan shall embrace branches or sub-mains, necessary for a complete system of principal drains for the entire district. Branch or sub-mains to be paid for out of the general revenue of the district, shall not be extended beyond the point at which they will receive the drainage of an area of less than 800 acres. Outlets and the larger branches or sub-mains may be open channels, whose general course shall be followed by intercepting sewers, to collect and convey sewage or polluted drainage. The board shall also subdivide the district into convenient sub-districts, not larger than 1,000 acres in extent, within which the sewers or drains necessary to complete the drainage shall be constructed at the expense of the sub-district, as hereinafter provided. When such plans are complete for a definite district or sub-district, the board of trustees shall adopt them by ordinance, and such ordinance when published in one or more newspapers having general circulation in the sanitary district, shall be binding upon all persons, corporations and municipalities; and nothing shall be done affecting the drainage of any part of the district (other than ordinary farm or agricultural drains) by any person, corporation or municipality inconsistent with such plans or without the permission of said board of trustees. (Ib., sec. 7.)

Sec. 541. Condemnation of private property.—If, in the judgment of the board of trustees, it is necessary to acquire rights of way or easements for drainage purposes, through private property, it shall, by ordinance duly certified, call upon the authority of the city or county having the right to cause the condemnation of private property for public use, to procure such rights of way or easement by due process of law; or said board may obtain the same by purchase, gift or otherwise. All costs of proceedings and damages allowed shall be paid out of the special drainage fund in the treasury of the city or county in which the property taken is situated. The board of trustees of such drainage district, if it be necessary to cross, follow or traverse public streets, roads or alleys, or grounds held or used as public parks or places, shall have the right to do so upon the following conditions: The board of trustees shall file with the county court or mayor of the city having immediate jurisdiction over the street, road, alley or public park or place, a map showing the location and extent of the proposed occupancy for drainage purposes and a plan of the proposed works, which plan shall be so made and arranged as not to interfere with the ordinary and lawful use of said street, road, alley, public park or place, except during a reasonable time for the construction of the necessary works—said map and plan to be subject to approval by the county court or mayor of the city. The entire expense of the works and restoration of the ground occupied to its former condition, as near as may be, shall be borne by the sanitary district. (Ib., p. 66, sec. 8.)

Sec. 542. Bonds.—If, in the judgment of the board of trustees, the construction of the whole or any part of the general plan adopted is an urgent sanitary measure, and the means provided under section 4 of this act are insufficient to do the work as rapidly as may, in the judgment of said board, be necessary, the said board may apply to the court or courts having jurisdiction for an order of said court or courts, authorizing the issue of bonds for the purpose of anticipating the revenue of the sanitary district. The application shall state the purpose, amount and all conditions of the proposed issue of bonds. Said court shall have the power, in its discretion, to authorize the issue of such bonds, provided that the total amount outstanding shall, at no time, exceed the anticipated revenue of the sanitary district for the ten years next ensuing, computed on the basis of a levy of one-half of one per cent annually, upon the valuation for the year in which the authority for issue is given. Bonds issued under the authority of this act shall not run for a term exceeding twenty years, nor bear a higher rate of interest than six per cent per annum. When bonds are so issued and sold, the special fund before described, arising from tax collections, shall each year first be charged with the interest falling due that year, and with a proportion of the total amount of outstanding bonds, ascertained by dividing said total amount by the number of years the bonds have to run, and the amount so ascertained shall be set apart as a sinking fund to provide for the payment of interest, and for the payment or purchase of said bonds. The bonds issued under the authority of this act shall have a copy of this section and of the order of the court printed on their back, and shall be registered in the office of the secretary of state of the state of Missouri. The sinking fund above provided for shall each year be paid into the treasury of the state, and payments therefrom for interest and principal shall be made as provided in the case of bonds payable by the state of Missouri. The proceeds of bonds issued under the authority of this act shall be deposited with the treasurer of the city, and shall be a special fund, and be used for no purpose except the payment of vouchers for work done or materials furnished for the construction of channels, drains and sewers. In case of appeal from the action of the court applied to as above provided, the appeal shall be heard and determined as a privileged case by the supreme court of the state of Missouri. (Ib., sec. 9.)

Sec. 543. Contracts.—The board of trustees for the sanitary district shall let contracts for all work to be done, excepting in case of repairs or emergencies requiring prompt attention, in the construction of channels, drains or sewers, under the authority of this act, the expense of which will exceed five hundred dollars, to the lowest responsible bidder therefor, upon not less than twenty days' notice of said letting, giving by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the district, and in the discretion of the said board, in one or more newspapers of general circulation among contractors. The said board shall have the power and authority to reject any and all bids, and readvertise the work. The board of trustees shall also have the power to enter into agreements with persons, firms or corporations of known standing and competence for the execution and preparation of the surveys, maps and plans needed and required by the said board, and also for the laying out and superintendence of work to be constructed under the authority of this act; but no single agreement so made shall cover more than one piece or class of work. (Ib., sec. 10.)

Sec. 544. City authorities to construct sewers and drains, when.—The lawful authorities of any city or incorporated town or village, the county court of any county, individual owners or associations of such owners, shall have the right to construct sewers or drains in sanitary districts, organized under this act, at their own expense, but plans for such sewers and drains must conform to the plans adopted by the board of trustees, and all such plans must be submitted to and be approved by said board of trustees before any construction work is done thereon.

Sec. 545. Special taxes—payment.—When sewers are needed for the complete or sanitary drainage of a sub-district, being a part of a sanitary district not exceeding 1,000 acres in area, such sewers may be built by the board of trustees created under this act, if parts of the sub-district so to be drained be situated in different and independent jurisdiction; but, if such sub-district lie wholly within the limits of a single jurisdiction, then the powers conferred by this section shall be vested in and exercised by that jurisdiction. The board of trustees herein created, in the case described above, otherwise the city, incorporated town or village, or county court, having jurisdiction over the sub-district, shall have the power, when petitioned so to do by a majority of the resident tax-payers within the sub-district described in the petition, or upon a recommendation of a lawfully organized board of health, that the complete or sanitary drainage of a certain described area in a sub-district is needed as a sanitary measure, to provide for the construction of a complete system of sewers in such sub-district or convenient part thereof, and to assess the cost of such sewers upon the property drained thereby as a special tax; said special tax shall be uniform in the proportion that the area of each lot or parcel of ground, taken to a distance not exceeding 200 feet from the center line of the sewer, bears to the whole area drained by the sewers for which assessment is made. Special tax-bills shall be issued against each lot or parcel of ground drained or drainable by the sewer, or the portion of such lot or parcel lying within 200 feet of the center line of such sewer or sewers. Such special tax-bills shall be a lien upon the property charged therewith, as is provided for other special tax-bills authorized by the statutes of the state of Missouri; but if any owner of any lot or parcel of ground assessable hereunder shall, within twenty days after the passage of the ordinance or order for the construction of such sewers, make written request that he be allowed to pay the special tax thereon by installments, said special tax-bills against the property described in his request shall be divided, and portions made payable at certain dates and in amounts named; but the time of payment shall not extend beyond five years, nor the number of installments to more than five. Each installment shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from date of issue of the special tax-bill until due, and if not paid when due the rate of interest shall thereafter be 10 per cent per annum. If any installment remain unpaid for six months after it become due, then all unpaid installments shall be deemed to have become due with it, and the lien upon the property may be enforced for the whole amount unpaid together with interest thereon. Said special tax-bills shall be issued by the board of trustees and authenticated by the seal of said board or by the authorities of the city, in the manner other special tax-bills are issued by said city. If the sewers be built by the board of trustees, or a county court, the cost of engineering and superintendence shall be added to the cost of construction, in ascertaining the amount to be assessed against the property drained; but the cost of engineering and superintendence shall not exceed 10 per cent of the cost of construction, as finally estimated. If the sewers be built by the city, incorporated town or village, the cost of engineering and superintendence shall be borne by such city, incorporated town or village. The special tax-bills shall be issued to the contractors, or to persons rendering service or furnishing materials in a sub-district, under contract or agreement with the board of trustees, or the competent authorities of the city, incorporated town or village, or county court, in full settlement for all sums that may be due, arising from such contracts or agreements; but no claims shall be entertained or allowed for payment in any other way than by the issue of and delivery of such special tax-bills. (Ib., p. 67, sec. 12.)

Sec. 546. Acceptance of private sewers already constructed.—The board of trustees created by this act, or the authorities of the city, town or village, or the county court, shall have the power to accept from private persons or corporations any sewers or drains constructed by them before or after the organization of the sanitary district, and to allow an equitable credit for such sewers or drains; or to acquire the same by process of law if needed: Provided, that the sewers or drains accepted, in plans, materials and construction, conform to the plans adopted and approved by the board for similar work done by said board; and provided, in the case of acceptance, that the amount allowed shall not exceed the amount assessable as a special tax against the property drained thereby, under the preceding section of this act. The title to or ownership of such sewers or drains shall be considered as attaching to all lands actually drained thereby in proportion to the areas of such lands, and the credit shall be allowed to the owners of record. (Ib., sec. 13.)

Sec. 547. Dissolution of board.—When the object for which a sanitary district was organized is accomplished by the completion of the main channel, drains or sewers, contemplated and adopted in the general plan, and when the areas of divided jurisdiction are drained or otherwise provided for (which facts the circuit court for the district in which the whole or the major part of the territory embraced in the district shall determine), then the board of trustees of such sanitary district shall cease to exist at the expiration of sixty days after the date of the decree of court expressing such determination. But provision shall be made for the fulfillment of all contracts and obligations which have been made by said board of trustees, the responsibility therefor being assumed by the city or county directly interested. Provision shall also be made for the prompt payment of all outstanding bonds of the sanitary district. (Ib., p. 69, sec. 14.)

Sec. 548. Certain officers to assist in making act effective.—It is hereby made the duty of the secretary of state, the mayors of cities, the circuit court, the county court of counties, and all assessors, sheriffs, collectors, treasurers and other officials in the state of Missouri, to do and perform all the acts and to render all the services necessary to carry out the purposes of this act, and for such services they shall receive the fees, or other compensation allowed by law for similar services rendered to cities, counties, or the state. (Ib., sec. 15.)

Sec. 549. How this act construed.—Nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to constitute a contract or grant between the state of Missouri and any sanitary district formed under its provisions, or to prevent, debar or deprive the state of Missouri from, at any time in the future, altering, amending or repealing this act, or imposing any conditions, restrictions or requirements other, different or additional to any herein contained, upon any sanitary district formed hereunder. (Ib., sec. 16.)

Sec. 554. Fees of sheriff.—The sheriff of the city of St. Louis, for his services, shall be allowed the same fees in the St. Louis criminal court, the St. Louis court of criminal correction and the probate court of the city of St. Louis, as were heretofore allowed the marshal of St. Louis county for like services, to be taxed and collected as other costs in criminal and civil cases. (Laws 1879, p. 40, sec. 3. R. S. 1899, p. 2548—i.)

Sec. 555. General duties of sheriff and coroner.—All general laws relating and applicable to the sheriffs and coroners of the several counties of this state shall apply to the same officers in the city of St. Louis, and all special laws applicable to the sheriff, marshal or coroner of St. Louis county, as organized before the separation of the city and county of St. Louis, by the adoption of the scheme of separation, shall still apply to the sheriff or coroner in the city of St. Louis, and all acts and parts of acts providing for any legal process to be directed by any sheriff or coroner of any county or the marshal of St. Louis county, shall be so construed as to mean the sheriff or coroner of the city of St. Louis, as if such officer were specifically named in such act. (Laws 1879, p. 39, sec. 1. R. S. 1899, p. 2548.)

Sec. 556. Sheriff to keep account of all fees received.—The sheriff of the city of St. Louis shall keep full, complete, itemized accounts of all fees, commissions and emoluments accruing to him by virtue of his office, and of all expenses, including the pay of his deputies, incurred by him in the discharge of the duties of his office. (Laws 1879, p. 98, sec. 1. R. S. 1899, p. 2548—j.)

Sec. 557. Shall file statement with circuit clerk.—Said sheriff shall, within ten days next after the end of each six months of his term of office, make and file in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of St. Louis city, an itemized statement, verified by oath, of all such fees, commissions, emoluments and expenses of his office for such period of six months; and such clerk shall note the filing of such statement upon the docket of the court in general term; and the court in general term shall, without delay, proceed to examine and settle with such sheriff his accounts of the fees, commissions, emoluments and expenses of his office, and, in such settlement, shall carefully inquire into and charge such sheriff with all the fees, commissions and emoluments of his office for such period, and, in like manner, inquire into the expenses of such office for such period, and disallow all such expenses as the court may find have been improperly incurred, and in such examination the court may compel the attendance of and examine witnesses, and compel the production of books and papers, as occasion may require; and such settlements, when made, shall be conclusive of the amounts of such fees, commissions and emoluments, and of the expenses of such office. (Laws 1879, p. 98, sec. 2. R. S. 1899, p. 2549—k.)

Sec. 558. Amount of fees retained—remainder to be paid to treasurer.—Such sheriff, out of the fees, compensation and emoluments of his office, may for each year of his term of office, receive and retain the sum of ten thousand dollars, over and above all such expenses as shall be allowed to him in his settlements above provided for; and all fees, compensation and emoluments which shall be collected by any sheriff or by his successor for him, in excess of the amount which

(i) The Sheriff is entitled to $1.25 per day under the statute for safe-keeping a person "undergoing an examination preparatory to his commitment," where held for more than a day, nor does he lose such fee where such person is kept in the calaboose furnished by the city authorities, guarded by the city jailer and police: State ex rel. vs. Clark, 170 Mo. 67. Although the Sheriff of St. Louis is required to attend the criminal courts and Court of Criminal Correction in St. Louis, yet as no statute provides for a fee, and as statutes allowing fees are strictly construed, he is not entitled to any compensation therefor: State ex rel. vs. Brown, 146 Mo. 401.

(j) The sheriff of St. Louis must render a separate account of receipts and expenditures for each year, and the fees of a particular year are those earned for that year, no matter when collected. Harrington vs. St. Louis, 107 Mo. 327. Under the constitution and act of 1879, the sheriff of the city of St. Louis is not entitled to more than $10,000 in the aggregate out of his entire official earnings of any one year. State ex rel. v. Pohlman, 60 Mo. App. 444; Kenefick v. St. Louis, 127 Mo. 1. If such earnings during any year are collected in part by the sheriff himself and in part by his successor, and his own collections do not exhaust such limit of $10,000, he is entitled to recover enough of such collections by his successors to make good the deficit: State ex rel. v. Pohlman, 60 Mo. App. 444.

(k) The auditor is without right of authority to inquire into the correctness of a settlement of the sheriff's account by the circuit court, which is final against the city; his sole duty is to issue his warrant for the amount shown: State ex rel. vs. Brown, 72 Mo. App. 651. See also as to right of Ct. Crim. Cor. to provide for proper expenditures: State ex rel. vs. Smith, 5 Mo. App. 427.

such sheriff may so receive and retain, shall be paid to the treasurer of the city of St. Louis, for the use of said city. (Laws 1879, p. 98, sec. 3. R. S. 1899, p. 2549—l.)

Sec. 559. Fees, how apportioned in certain cases.—If such sheriff fail to hold his office during the whole of any year, he shall be entitled to retain therefor, such part of the sum of ten thousand dollars as shall bear to such sum the same proportion as the part of such year during which he shall hold such office shall bear to the entire year. (Laws 1879, p. 98, sec. 4. R. S. 1899, p. 2549.)

Sec. 560. Proceedings upon failure to file statement.—If any sheriff fail to make and file such statement with said clerk, as above required, the said court, in general term, shall issue a citation to such sheriff requiring him to make and file such statement on or before a day to be named in such citation; such citation may be served upon such sheriff in such manner as the court shall order; and if such sheriff, after service of such citation, fail to make and file such statement as required by the court, the court may, by attachment, compel the attendance of such sheriff, and if necessary, commit him to jail until he make and file such statement, and in addition thereto may fine him for his failure to make and file such statement according to the provisions of section eight of this article, in a sum not exceeding ten thousand dollars. (Laws 1879, p. 98, sec. 5. R. S. 1899, p. 2549.)

Sec. 561. The city may sue and recover, in what cases.—The city of St. Louis may sue for and recover all sums of money payable into the treasury thereof by any sheriff, and the sheriff and his sureties on his official bond shall be liable therefor. (Laws 1879, p. 98, sec. 6. R. S. 1899, p. 2549.)

Sec. 562. Sales of real estate, how conducted.—All sales of real estate in the city of St. Louis made by the sheriff of said city, shall be made in the manner now provided by law, and as hereafter made by the sheriff of the county of St. Louis. (Laws 1877, p. 191, sec. 1. R. S. 1899, p. 2549.)

Sec. 563. Effect of sales.—All such sales so made by the sheriff of said city shall be valid and binding, and shall be effectual to pass the title of the property sold to the purchaser thereof. (Laws 1877, p. 191, sec. 2. R. S. 1899, p. 2550.)

Sec. 564. Sheriff to execute deed.—For the property so sold by him, the said sheriff of said city shall execute and deliver to the purchaser thereof good and sufficient deeds of conveyance, which he shall first acknowledge before the St. Louis circuit court; and all such deeds, when so executed, acknowledged and recorded, shall have same force and effect as are given by law to deeds made by other sheriffs in this state. (Laws 1877, p. 191, sec. 3. R. S. 1899, p. 2550.)

Sec. 565. Powers and duties of coroner, appointment, deputies.—The coroner of the city of St. Louis shall do and perform all acts within the limits of the said city of St. Louis required by law of coroners of the different counties of this state, and he is hereby authorized and empowered to employ two deputies, who shall take the same oath, possess the powers and perform the same duties as their principal, and for whose official conduct their principal shall be responsible. The appointments of such deputies shall be in writing, shall be filed with the mayor of said city of St. Louis, and may be revoked at the pleasure of their principal. (Laws 1893, p. 117. R. S. 1899, p. 2550.)

Sec. 566. Fees and costs, how paid.—The costs and expenses of any inquest, including the fees of the coroner, of jurors, witnesses, constables and others entitled to fees, for which the city is liable, shall be audited and paid as may be provided by the charter and ordinances of the city of St. Louis. (Laws 1877, p. 191, sec. 4. R. S. 1899, p. 2550.)

Sec. 567. Powers and duties of mayor.—The mayor of the city of St. Louis shall do and perform all acts required of the county court by chapter forty-one of the revised statutes of Missouri, entitled "Coroners and Inquests." (Laws 1877, p. 191, sec. 2. R. S. 1899, p. 2550.)

Sec. 568. Duties generally—when entitled to counsel fees.—Every sheriff shall quell and suppress assaults and batteries, riots, routs, affrays and insurrections; shall apprehend and commit to jail all felons and traitors, and execute all process directed to him by legal authority, including writs of replevin, attachments and final process issued by justices of the peace; and he shall attend upon all courts of record at every term, and in all cities which now have or shall hereafter have a population of three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, he may employ counsel to aid and advise him in the discharge of his duties, and to represent him in court, and may fix the compensation to be paid such counsel, not, however, to exceed the sum of two thousand dollars per annum. Provided, the whole compensation is paid out of the fees of his office of sheriff; and the court shall have power to audit and allow such compensation as other fees and expenses are allowed by law. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10046.)

CHARTER THIRTY.

SMOKE ABATEMENT.*

Section 569. Emission of dense smoke into open air declared a public nuisance—penalties—penalties accumulative.—The emission or discharge into the open air of dense smoke within the corporate limits of cities of this state which now have or may have hereafter a population of one hundred thousand inhabitants is hereby declared to be a public nuisance. The owners, lessees, occupants, managers or agents of any building, establishment or premises from which dense smoke is so emitted or discharged, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, in any court of competent jurisdiction, shall pay a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars. And each and every day whereon such smoke shall be emitted or discharged shall constitute a separate offense: Provided, however, that in any suit or proceeding under this act, it shall be a good defense if the person charged with a violation thereof shall show to the satisfaction of the jury or court trying the facts, that there is no known practicable device, appliance, means or method by application of which to his building, establishment or premises the emission or discharge of the dense smoke complained of in that proceeding could have been prevented. (Laws 1901, pp. 73-74—m.)

Sec. 570. Cities empowered to enforce act by ordinance.—All cities to which the provisions of this act are applicable are hereby empowered to enact all necessary or desirable ordinances, not inconsistent with the provisions herein, nor the constitution, nor any general law of this state, in order to carry out the provisions of this act. Sec. 571. Inconsistent acts repealed.—All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act, or any part hereof, are hereby repealed. (Ib.)

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE.

STENOGRAPHERS.

ARTICLE I.

STENOGRAPHERS IN CITIES AND COUNTIES HAVING THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND OR MORE INHABITANTS.

Section 572. Authorizing judge of a division circuit court to appoint stenographer for his division.—For the purpose of expediting the public business and preserving an accurate report of proceedings in the trial of causes without expensive delays, the judge of the circuit court, or when said court consists of more than one judge, then the judge of each division thereof, in all cities and counties in this state which now have and such as may hereafter have a population of three hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants or more, is authorized to appoint one official stenographer for such court or division. Such stenographer shall be an officer of such court, and shall file therein an affidavit to discharge faithfully and impartially the duties of such office, and shall also file therein a bond to the State of Missouri, in the sum of three thousand dollars with two sureties approved by said judge, conditioned for the faithful and impartial discharge of such duties, upon which any person injured by breach thereof may maintain an action as upon other official bonds. Such stenographer shall hold his office until removed by an order of such judge or by an order of such judge appointing a successor. (Laws 1901, p. 250, amending R. S. 1899, sec. 10105.)

Sec. 573. Duties of stenographer.—It shall be the duty of each official stenographer so appointed to attend the sessions of the court, or division to which he is assigned, according to the direction of the judge thereof, to take full stenographic notes of the oral evidence offered in every case tried in said court or division, and of other proceedings when directed by said judge to be so reported, together with all objections to the admissibility of testimony and the rulings of the court thereon, and all exceptions taken to such rulings; to preserve all official notes taken in said court for future use or reference, and to finally deposit the same with the records of said court, according to the directions of the judge thereof; and to furnish to any person a long-hand transcript of all or any required part of said evidence or oral proceedings upon the payment to him of the fees hereinafter provided. When not reporting in open court, it shall also be his duty to take such notes as may be requested by the judge in chambers, and to furnish the latter a transcript thereof when required. R. S. 1899, sec. 10106—n.)

*Ordinances in pursuance hereof, see Rev. Code, Chapter XVIII; Art. V, Secs. 1619-1631 inclusive, and notation of cases thereto.

(m) Indictment hereunder of one as "manager" is sufficient, without stating for whom the buildings were managed: State vs. Everman, 115 Mo. App. 660. The provisions of this law were fully sustained in State vs. Tower, 185 Mo. 79.

(n) The law prescribes the stenographer's duties; all else is extra-official: Padgitt vs. Moll, 159 Mo. 143, 155.

Sec. 574. Salary and fees.—Each official stenographer shall receive, as compensation for his services, the sum of eighteen hundred dollars per year, which shall be paid in installments of one hundred and fifty dollars at the end of each month of said year, by the treasurer of the city wherein the court of which he is stenographer is situated, upon presentation to such treasurer of vouchers duly approved and certified by the judge in whose division of court such stenographer is employed. Each stenographer shall also receive from any person ordering long-hand transcripts of his notes such fees for the same as may be from time to time established by orders of said court, or judges, as mentioned in section 10105 of this article, not exceeding, however, fifteen cents per folio of one hundred words, each four figures to be also counted as one word; and any judge of any court may, in his discretion, order a transcript of all or any part of the evidence or oral proceedings for his own use, and the stenographer's fees for making the same shall be taxed in the same manner as other costs in the case. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10107.)

Sec. 575. Fee to be taxed in each case.—In every case, except in suits by the state for the collection of delinquent taxes, now or hereafter pending in any circuit court or division thereof where an official stenographer is appointed, the clerk of said court shall tax up the sum of three dollars, to be collected as other costs, and thereupon to be paid by said clerk to the city treasurer, to apply to the payment of salary of such stenographers as above. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10108—o.)

Sec. 576. Deputies.—Each official stenographer may appoint one or more deputies, when necessary, to assist him in the discharge of his duties, by a written appointment, approved by said court and filed therein, and shall be answerable for the proper performance of the duties of such deputy; and the compensation of the latter shall be paid by such stenographer. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10109—p.)

Sec. 577. May exchange work.—The stenographers, or deputies, in the several divisions of said court may, with the approval of the judges thereof, interchange with each other or report for each other in any of the divisions of said court, and shall otherwise conform to such regulations as may be made by said court or the judges in their several divisions touching the performance of their duties. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10110.)

ARTICLE II.

STENOGRAPHERS IN COURTS HAVING JURISDICTION IN CASES OF FELONY IN CITIES OF OVER ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND INHABITANTS.

Section 578. Criminal courts to have stenographer—tenure of his term.—In cities having a population of over 100,000 inhabitants, courts having jurisdiction in cases of felony shall have a stenographic reporter, such reporter to be appointed by the court, to hold his office from month to month, during the pleasure of said court, or until removed for cause shown, as hereinafter provided. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10130.)

Sec. 579. Salary of stenographer.—The stenographer so appointed shall receive a monthly salary of one hundred and fifty dollars, payable at the end of each month by the treasurer of said city upon the presentation to said treasurer of vouchers duly approved and certified by the clerk of said court. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10131.)

Sec. 580. Shall take oath.—Such reporter, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, shall take an oath, before some competent person, to faithfully discharge the duties of said court. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10132.)

Sec. 581. Duty of stenographer.—Such reporter shall attend upon said court, as directed by the judge thereof, and shall take accurate shorthand notes of the evidence, proceedings had, instructions given by the court and arguments made, and all other pertinent matter, and shall also attend upon any examination of a criminal matter, when directed by the prosecuting officer, and shall furnish transcripts of his said notes, or any part thereof, in legible English, for the use of the state, when so directed by the judge of the court. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10133.)

Sec. 582. Disposition of stenographic notes.—All short-hand notes of examinations in criminal matters, other than regular trials thereof, shall be turned over at once by said reporter to the prosecuting officer of the court. But all other short-hand notes taken by said reporter shall be filed by him in the clerk's office of such court, and shall become part of the records of such court, and such reporter shall transcribe, in legible English, any of such notes, or any part thereof, whenever required by the clerk so to do; and such clerk shall make out certified copies of such transcript or long-hand notes for any person, upon payment of the legal fees allowed by law for copies of records and papers, except that whenever said reporter shall be required to take notes before the grand jury, he shall be sworn to secrecy, and all such notes so taken shall also be turned over by said reporter to the prosecuting officer of said court; and provided, that in cases of appeal and on motions for new trial, the transcript of the evidence shall be furnished to the defendant upon the order of the court without costs to said defendant when it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that the defendant is unable to pay the cost of such transcript for the purpose of making such appeal; and provided, further, that the stenographer shall be allowed for making such transcript the sum of fifteen cents per folio of 100 words for each transcript so furnished; and when the court shall be satisfied that the defendant is unable to pay for making such transcript the same shall be taxed as costs in the case against the state or county, as may be proper. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10134, amended Acts 1907, p. 440; also 441—q.)

(o) This provision is sustained by the courts; but it does not apply to a garnishment case: Bank vs. Glaser, 40 Mo. App. 371.

Sec. 583. In case of absence of stenographer, proceedings.—In case of the temporary absence of such reporter, from any cause, the court may appoint a skillful short-hand reporter in his place, who shall take the same oath, and for the time being shall perform the same duties and labors and receive the same compensation, pro rata as the regular reporter. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10135.)

Sec. 584. Stenographer to be removed, when.—If said reporter shall fail to perform, in whole or in part, faithfully, the duties, obligations and labors enjoined upon him in this article, he shall be at once removed by the court, upon any application of any responsible person showing good cause therefor by competent evidence, and if said reporter shall be guilty of any willful or corrupt misconduct or neglect in the discharge of any of the duties, obligations or labors required to be by him performed by any of the provisions of this article, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the city jail for a term of not exceeding one year. (R. S. 1899, sec. 10136.)

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO.

STREET GRADES, ESTABLISHMENT AND CHANGE OF.*

Section 585. Authorized to establish and change grades—preliminary proceedings necessary—remonstrance—when filed—in cases where charter requires the recommendations of the board of public improvements.—Every city now having or which may at any time hereafter have a population of three hundred thousand inhabitants or over, shall have at all times the power to establish the grade and change the grade already established, of any street, alley, avenue, public highway or public place, or any part thereof, as often as it may be deemed best for the public interest, and to cause the same or any part thereof to be graded to the established grade or to any change thereof: Provided, however, that when a change is proposed to be made in the grade of any street, alley, avenue, public highway or public place, or any part thereof, which has once been established, the two houses of legislation of such city shall by resolution declare the work of improvement to be necessary, and cause such resolution, or the substance thereof, to be published in the newspaper doing the city printing, for ten days (Sundays included); and unless the resident owners of the city who shall own the majority in front feet of all the lands belonging to such residents fronting on the street, alley, avenue, public highway, public place or part thereof to be improved, shall, within thirty days after the first day of the publication of such resolution, file

(g) It is for the Judge of the St. Louis Criminal Court to determine whether the official stenographer shall attend, and his action is not subject to review: State vs. Pagels, 92, Mo. 300. A defendant was entitled to have a transcript of the evidence furnished to him without cost: State ex rel. Scales v. Zachritz, 145 Mo. 269; State ex rel. Martin v. Wofferd, 121 Mo. 61. Mandamus will lie to compel the judge to order such transcript: State ex rel. Scales v. Zachritz, 145 Mo. 269; State ex rel. Martin v. Wofferd, 121 Mo. 61.

*Charter Powers: See Charter Art. III, Sec. 26, clause 2; Art. VI, Secs. 1-27; Rules for damages changing grade of streets see Chart. Art. VI, Sec. 19 and cases there cited in notes. Act of 1891, p. 47 (R. S. 1899, Secs. 6234-6236) concerning the establishment and regulation of boulevards, etc., was held unconstitutional in St. Louis vs. Dorr, 145 Mo. 446.

The act of March 14, 1893 (R. S. 1899, sec. 6237), requiring the whole cost of improvement of streets, etc., to be charged against adjoining property and said cost to be "levied, collected and paid" as "now provided by law or charter," etc., was held void as special legislation: Murname vs. St. Louis, 123 Mo. 479.

The law of 1899 is new in that revision. Formerly proceedings for changing grades and assessing damages therefor were governed by R. S. 1899, secs. 6109-6114: It was held that in such proceeding the commissioner's report could not be approved in part as to some parties and set aside in part as to others, so as to constitute a final judgment as to some and not the others, and no appeal would lie under such conditions, as there can be but one final judgment: St. Louis vs. Nelson, 169 Mo. 461.

The city can, (so under the former statutes) institute proceedings to assess damages and benefits for street grade changes without the consent of the owners of the land affected: St. Louis vs. Lang, 131 Mo. 412, 421.

with the city register their remonstrance against the proposed change, then the two houses of legislation of such city shall have power by ordinance to cause the proposed change to be made: Provided, further, however, that when the charter of any such city shall require that such resolution or ordinance shall, before being passed, be recommended by a board of public improvements, or other authority of such city, then the same shall, before being passed, be recommended as therein required. If the remonstrance of the resident property owners above mentioned shall be filed with the city register, as herein provided, the power of the two houses of legislation to make the proposed change in the grade of such street, alley, avenue, public highway or public place, or any part thereof, shall cease until a sufficient number of the persons so remonstrating or their grantees shall, in writing, withdraw their names or the property represented by them from such remonstrance, so that said remonstrance shall cease to represent a majority of the resident owners as above provided, when the two houses of legislation may again proceed in the manner above mentioned. (Laws 1899, p. 61, sec. 1. R. S. 1899, sec. 6238.)

Sec. 586. Remuneration or damages—property benefited.—When the property owners to be disturbed or damaged by the grading, regrading, or other change of any street, alley, avenue, public highway, public place, or any part thereof, are lawfully entitled to remuneration or damages under the constitution of the state of Missouri, and shall not have waived all right or claim thereto, the ordinance which shall order the grading or regrading of any such street, alley, avenue, public highway or public place, or any part thereof, shall also prescribe and determine the limits within which private property is benefited by the proposed grading or regrading. (Ib., p. 62, sec. 2. R. S. 1899, sec. 6239.)

Sec. 587. Street commissioner to furnish maps of property benefited.—Within thirty days after the taking effect of the ordinance, the street commissioner shall furnish the mayor a map or plat containing a correct description of the several lots or parcels of private property in the benefit limits described in said ordinance. (Ib., p. 62, sec. 3. R. S., sec. 6240.)

Sec. 588. Proceedings determined by circuit court or judge in vacation.—The proceedings hereinafter provided for shall be heard and determined by the circuit court of the county in which the city is located, or if it is not in session, by a judge thereof; and when they are had in vacation the same record thereof shall be made and kept as if such proceedings had been had in term time. (Ib., sec. 4. R. S. 1899, sec. 6241.)

Sec. 589. How proceedings may be begun and determined in circuit court to ascertain damages or benefits derived from proposed grading or regrading.—When the mayor shall file or cause to be filed a certified copy of said ordinance in the circuit court, or with the clerk thereof, such court or judge thereof shall fix a day and place for assessing the damages and benefits derived from the proposed grading or regrading, and shall make an order reciting the title of the ordinance, and stating the general object and nature of the ordinance, and also stating the limits within which private property is benefited by the proposed grading or regrading as determined and prescribed by the ordinance, and said order shall be directed to all persons to whom it may concern, without naming them, notifying them of the day and place fixed for the ascertaining of damages and benefits to arise from said grading or regrading, and that unless they file their claim for damages as herein required they shall thereafter be precluded from making any claim on account thereof. A copy of such order shall be published in each issue of a newspaper at the time doing the city printing for ten days (Sundays included), the last insertion to be not more than one week prior to the day so fixed for said hearing. The court or judge thereof may, at the time of making said order, further order that all or any portion of the residents of the city owning or having an interest in real estate fronting on the street, alley, avenue, public highway, or public place, or any part thereof, proposed to be graded or regraded, or in the real estate within the limits of the district prescribed by the ordinance within which private property is deemed benefited by the proposed grading or regrading, be served with a copy of said order, either by delivering to each of such owners a copy of the order, or leaving such copy at their usual place of abode with some member of their respective families over the age of fifteen years, and in the case of resident corporations by service of said order in like manner as with summons in ordinary civil causes. If service of such notice cannot be made on any or all such parties as above described, within the city limits, when personal service is ordered by said court or judge, the returns on such notice shall so state. Thereupon an alias order specifying a different date may be made by said court, or judge thereof in vacation, if deemed advisable, notifying such unserved parties of the facts, as in case of original notice above provided. Said cause may be continued or postponed from time to time. It shall not be required in any case to bring in any person other than the owners of the property, or cause those interested therein, who were such at the time of the taking effect of the ordinance providing for the improvement, and the parties claiming or holding through or under such owners or parties interested, or any of them, shall be bound by the proceedings as fully as if they were brought in; but any person having any interest in the real estate liable to be affected by said proceedings may, upon application and entering his appearance, be made a party thereto; but no notice of said proceedings shall be necessary to the validity thereof, except the publication of the order, as herein provided. Notice so given by publication shall be sufficient to authorize the court, or judge thereof in vacation, to hear and determine the cause, and to make any finding or order therein as though all the parties had been sued by their proper names, and had been personally served. Affidavit by the publisher, manager, or any person connected with the newspaper in which such order was published, accompanied with a copy of the notice, shall be evidence of the fact of publication of the notice or order as stated therein. *See Charter Provisions Art. X; Art. III, Sec. 26, clauses 5 and 11; and see notations thereto.

For ordinances concerning same see Rev. Code, secs. 1863-1903, and see notes to Rev. Code, Chap. 23, Art. VI; see as to licensing, R. C. sec. 2257 etc seq.

It is to be noted that in the Municipal Code, pages 167-168, (secs. 487-493) a number of statutes are referred to as applicable to the City of St. Louis (R. S. 1899, Secs. 5438-5444); but an examination shows that these statutes apply only to "cities of the first class," which, in law, does not include the City of St. Louis, which is organized under a special Constitutional provision, and has its own special charter thereunder. These are omitted here.

Most of the other provisions herein referred to have become obsolete, or are displaced by constitutional provisions and charter provisions enacted thereunder; a number of statutes here given do not apply specially to St. Louis, and are general, but as a reference thereto may be of some value, most of them are retained as heretofore in the Mun. Code, though not strictly appropriate to this revision.

Sec. 596. Tickets to be sold.—The street railroad companies in the city of St. Louis shall keep on hand for sale and shall sell to any person passenger tickets, in packages of five for twenty-five cents, and in packages of twenty for one dollar, and also tickets for children under twelve (12) years old in packages of ten for twenty-five cents, and in packages of forty for one dollar; such tickets shall be kept for sale by the conductor of each car, and also at the offices of said companies during business hours. The holder of any ticket thus issued shall be entitled for the same to one transportation over any one of the different lines of street railroads now in operation or hereafter established in the city of St. Louis. (Laws 1869, p. 207.)

Sec. 597. Tickets to be redeemed and exchanged.—The street railroad companies of St. Louis shall be bound to exchange with and redeem from each other the tickets issued by them respectively, and said street railroad company shall have the right to charge and collect a fare of seven cents from each passenger transported by them and not presenting a ticket as herein provided. The annual tax levied or assessed for state, county or city purposes upon street railway companies in the state of Missouri, shall be assessed upon the value of the property owned by each of said companies in the same manner and to the same extent as assessments are made on the property of individuals. Sec. 598. License to be paid.—In addition to the annual tax herein provided, each of said railway companies shall pay a license to the city of St. Louis to be fixed by ordinance of said city, not exceeding twenty-five dollars per annum for each car run by said companies respectively, and the taxes and license payable under the provisions of this act shall be in lieu of all taxes, burdens and expenditures and repairs of streets outside of their track required of such companies by former laws and ordinances. and seventy feet in length, to enable the cars to run on Olive and Morgan streets; the switches on Morgan street may be east of the double track contemplated to be built. (Laws 1859-1860, p. 516.)

Sec. 603. St. Louis Railroad authorized to extend road.—The St. Louis Railroad Company may extend their road north from Salisbury street, along Broadway and Bellefontaine road, to the city limits; and may further extend the same to the Bellefontaine cemetery and the Calvary cemetery, and south from Gate street, along the Carondelet road, to the city limits; and may further extend said road, through the St. Louis commons, to or through the city of Carondelet; provided, that before such extension is made through any road or avenue outside the city, the consent of the board of county commissioners shall be obtained, and the consent of the city council of Carondelet shall be obtained before running through any street of that city. Sec. 629. Sections 8298, 8299, 8300 and 8301, R. S. 1889, not repealed.—Nothing in this act shall be construed as repealing sections 8298, 8299, 8300, 8301, of the Revised Statutes of 1889, and an act entitled "An act concerning street railroads in the city of St. Louis," approved January 16, 1860. (Laws 1899, p. 374.)

Sec. 630. Emergency clause.—The fact that the law in reference to street railroads is imperfect, and that a necessity for a full and complete law relating thereto exists creates an emergency within the meaning of the constitution why this act should take effect at once; therefore, this act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage. (Laws 1899, p. 374—t.)

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE A.

SUBWAYS.*

Sec. 630a. Subways owned by cities.—All cities in this state having one hundred thousand inhabitants or over are hereby authorized and empowered to build or to acquire, by purchase or otherwise, within their respective corporate limits, a subway or subways, to be exclusively owned by such cities, with such suitable approaches, connections, loops, turn-outs, sidings, stations, exits, entrances and other appurtenances, and land, right of way and easements and estates and rights in lands, including the right to go on, under or above the surface, as may be necessary or expedient for the construction and efficient use of such subway or subways for the transportation of persons, baggage, express and freight, and for cars, other means of transportation, pipes, wires and cables used for public service purposes. (Laws 1907, p. 117, sec. 1.)

Sec. 630b. Powers of city—limitation of powers.—All such cities may operate or may lease such subway or subways, or parts thereof, on terms to be fixed

*This act is not technically applicable specially to St. Louis, but practically is so, and hence it has been inserted.

(s) Consolidation amendment referred to in Tanner vs. Lindell Ry. Co., 180 Mo. 1. This section is also discussed in connection with the relations between the United Rys. Co. and the St. Louis Transit Co., in the recent case of Moorshead vs. United Rys. Co., 119 Mo. App. 541, 567, 577, which was certified to the Supreme Court and affirmed in February, 1907 (not reported at this writing).

(t) See Moorshead vs. United Rys. Co., 119 Mo. App. 541, 567 (certified to Supreme Court and affirmed in Feb. 1907).

by said cities. Such cities may contract for the purchase or construction of such subway or subways, and for lease of same, and may grant rights therein, or in any part thereof, upon such terms as they may deem best, for cars, other means of transportation, pipes, wires and cables used for public service purposes. But no such lease or grant shall be made for a longer period than fifty years. And such cities may regulate the use of such subway or subways, and of the construction and operation of cars, other means of transportation, pipes, wires and cables used therein: Provided, that such city shall not lease, grant or let such street railroad, street railroad system, subway or subways, or any part thereof, or rights therein, for any purpose whatever, without the assent of a majority of the qualified voters of such city voting for or against such lease, grant or letting at an election held for that purpose. (Ib., sec. 2.)

Sec. 630c. Bonds.—Any such city may issue and sell, at not less than par, its bonds, payable out of the revenue or income from such subway or subways. (Ib., sec. 3.)

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR.

TOBACCO, PETROLEUM AND BEER INSPECTION.

- Art. 1. Petroleum inspection.
- Art. 2. Tobacco inspection.
- Art. 3. Beer and grain inspection.

ARTICLE I.

INSPECTION OF PETROLEUM.*

Sec. 631. Compensation, etc.—Each inspector shall demand, collect and receive from the owner or person calling upon him to inspect, or for whom he shall make any inspection, fees at the following rates for inspecting or testing, gauging and branding said oils or fluids under this article, to wit: For each barrel or larger package the sum of twelve cents; for each small package the sum of six cents; and when an inspection in bulk is made, in the manner provided in section 7586, the sum of twelve cents for each barrel or other package filled, gauged and branded according to the provisions of said section: Provided, that all cities in the state, which may now have or may hereafter have a population of three hundred thousand inhabitants or more, the said inspector of oils and petroleum shall have and retain seven thousand dollars out of the said fees collected for inspections as herein stated and required of him, as and for his full compensation, fees and salary, and out of which he shall pay all clerical hire and other employes and all expenses of whatever character in the management and conduct of the business of his office; and the balance of said fees so collected over and above the said sum of seven thousand dollars, he shall pay over to the treasurer of the state of Missouri, to be placed to the credit of the general revenue fund of the state. Said inspector shall at the time of said payments to the treasurer, take a receipt and duplicate receipt therefor. The original he shall file with the state auditor and the duplicate he shall file in his own office and keep as a part of the records thereof. Said payments shall be made to the treasurer on the second Monday in January and July of each and every year, and said inspectors shall on said dates file a full, true, complete and sworn statement with the auditor of the state of all oils inspected during the six months preceding and since his last statement and settlement, also containing the names of the persons, firms or corporations for whom inspections were made and number of gallons of oils inspected, barrels gauged and branded. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7593—u.)

ARTICLE II.

INSPECTION OF TOBACCO.

Sec. 632. Inspection of tobacco—term of office, and qualifications of inspector.—There is hereby established in the city of St. Louis, Missouri, a tobacco inspection. The governor shall appoint in the City of St. Louis an inspector

*The inspection of Petroleum in general is covered by Rev. St. 1899, secs. 7582-7597, applying to St. Louis, Hannibal, St. Joseph, Kansas City and such other towns as may petition the Governor therefor. The only section peculiarly applicable to St. Louis is the one relating to compensation, which is herein set out.

(u) This statute was upheld as constitutional in State ex rel. vs. Speed, 183 Mo. 186. It was also there held that the $7,000 provision means annually, not semi-annually. The inspector has no authority to inspect oils outside the limits of the city: State ex rel. vs. White, 75 Mo. 465, 468. Term of office: State ex rel. vs. Stone-street, 99 Mo. 361. Duties of inspectors, rules of inspection: See State ex rel. vs. Baggett, 96 Mo. 63; Priest vs. Tank Co., 51 Mo. App. 205; State vs. Parsons, 12 Mo. App. 205, Liability on Bond: Co. Court vs. Fossett, 65 Mo. 418.

of tobacco, who shall hold his office for two years; said inspector shall be a discreet, suitable person, and shall not be interested in any of the tobacco warehouses selling leaf tobacco in the city of St. Louis as a stockholder or otherwise than as tobacco inspector. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7598.)

Sec. 633. Duties of inspector.—No inspector shall either buy or sell any tobacco, except of his own raising, but shall auctioneer and cry off all inspected leaf tobacco, for the owner or agent, sold at the warehouse. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7599.)

Sec. 634. His bond.—The inspector shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, enter into bond to the city of St. Louis, to be approved by the mayor of said city, with sufficient security, in a sum not less than ten thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties according to law, which bond shall be recorded in the office of the city register and filed in the office of the secretary of state, and a certified copy thereof shall be evidence. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7600.)

Sec. 635. Books to be kept by him.—The inspector shall keep a book, in which shall be entered the marks of all tobacco which he may be required to inspect, and he shall inspect and examine the same in due time as it shall be entered in such book, unless otherwise agreed, without favor or partiality, and shall attend at the respective warehouses during all business hours of each regular secular day, whenever called on so to do. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7601.)

Sec. 636. Penalty for failing to attend.—Any inspector failing to attend when so requested shall forfeit to the party aggrieved fifty dollars for every such failure, or the aggrieved party may recover all damages he may have sustained by such failure by action on the bond of such inspector or by civil action. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7602.)

Sec. 637. Charges and fees, by whom paid.—The purchaser and seller shall each pay one-half of all warehouse charges, including inspection fees, on all tobacco sold, but when the sale of any tobacco offered is rejected, then the owner or agent shall pay the whole of the warehouse charges, including the inspection fees. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7603.)

Sec. 638. Warehouse-keeper to have tobacco inspected.—Any person or persons who may erect or shall keep a tobacco warehouse in the city of St. Louis, for the purpose of offering and selling leaf tobacco prized in hogsheads, shall have such tobacco inspected before sale, by the state inspector appointed in and for the City of St. Louis, and by no other. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7604.)

Sec. 639. Oath of inspector.—The oath of the inspector shall be in the form following:

I, ———, do solemnly swear that I will carefully and diligently inspect and examine all tobacco which I may be called on to inspect, and that I will not change, alter or give out any tobacco as a sample other than such as shall have been taken from the hoghead for which the receipt to be taken was given, and that I will not, directly or indirectly, be engaged in the manufacturing, shipping or exportation of tobacco, nor will I deal in any manner in the article during the time that I shall continue in office, except as expressly permitted by law, but that I will in all things well and faithfully discharge and perform my duty in the office of inspector, according to the best of my skill and judgment, and according to the direction of the law, without fear, favor or affection, malice or partiality, so help me God. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7605.)

Sec. 640. To be filed, where.—Such oath shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and a violation thereof shall be deemed perjury, and shall subject the party, upon conviction, to the penalties of perjury. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7606.)

Sec. 641. Hogsheads to be weighed and branded before inspection.—The inspector of tobacco shall, before any hoghead of tobacco is uncased for inspection by him, cause the same to be carefully weighed and the gross weight marked or branded thereon. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7607.)

Sec. 642. Mode of inspection.—After a hoghead has been thus weighed and marked and branded, the inspector shall uncage and break the same in not less than two nor more than four places and take from each break a like proportion of tobacco as a sample of the whole hoghead that he may inspect, and each hoghead shall be by him carefully weighed in the scales or the balance, and with the weight kept in the warehouse, and shall be by him marked with the tare of the hoghead and the quantities of tobacco therein contained, and also with the words "Missouri State Tobacco Inspection." (R. S. 1899, sec. 7608.)

Sec. 643. Tare and net weight.—The tare, with the addition of ten pounds or weight of sample, shall be deducted from the gross weight; the remainder shall be the net weight, and the inspector shall in all cases deliver to the owner or the purchaser of any hoghead of tobacco the samples which were drawn from the same. Whenever any hoghead of tobacco shall have been weighed under the superintendence of the inspector, and the net weight registered and marked on such hoghead of tobacco, he shall be responsible to the purchaser, owner or agent of the same for the net weight of tobacco so registered and marked on such hogshead of tobacco, reasonable allowance being made for waste in handling. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7609.)

Sec. 644. Samples to be done up, how.—It shall be the duty of the inspector to have all samples of tobacco drawn by him well tied, tagged and sealed; the card or tag so placed upon the sample shall contain the number, gross weight, net weight and date of inspection, and the seal so used shall contain the words "Missouri state tobacco inspection." (R. S. 1899, sec. 7610.)

Sec. 645. Form of certificate of inspection.—The inspector shall issue a certificate to the owner or agent for each hogshead of tobacco by him inspected, which shall, as near as possible, be in the form following:

At _____ warehouse in the city of St. Louis, in the state of Missouri, this _____ day of _____ 19____, inspected for _____ one hogshead of leaf tobacco (strips, scraps or stems, as the case may be), number, mark and weight as follows: Number 1, marks 1, gross 1, tare 1, net 1. Witness my hand, the day and year aforesaid.

A_____, inspector.

And the keeper or superintendent of any warehouse where such tobacco is left on storage shall, upon every certificate issued by the inspector, certify upon the face of the same that said tobacco is on storage and deliverable only on return of said certificate to the holder thereof. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7611.)

Sec. 646. Hogshead to be restored to good shipping order.—It shall be the duty of the inspector to attend and see that after the uncasing and inspection of tobacco the same be replaced to its former condition, and in good shipping order, and that all leaf tobacco belonging to each and every hogshead so opened and inspected be put back as near as possible to where it belonged before the same was uncased. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7612.)

Sec. 647. Inspector's fees.—For every hogshead of tobacco inspected in the city of St. Louis, the inspector shall receive twenty-five cents inspection fee, which may be collected with the other warehouse fees. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7613.)

Sec. 648. Penalty for unauthorized inspection.—If any person other than the inspector shall inspect any hogshead of tobacco within the city of St. Louis, or if any person occupying any store or warehouse within the city of St. Louis shall suffer or permit any person other than the inspector to inspect any hogshead of tobacco upon the premises occupied by him, such person inspecting the tobacco and such person or persons suffering or permitting such illegal inspection, shall each be fined in the sum of one hundred dollars for every hogshead of tobacco so inspected to the use of the state, to be recovered by indictment. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7614.)

Sec. 649. Scales and hands, by whom furnished.—No inspector shall be required to furnish scales or hands to strip or break tobacco, but the same shall be furnished by the warehouse or any person or persons that may have tobacco inspected in the city of St. Louis. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7615.)

Sec. 650. Fraudulently packed hogsheads to be marked, how.—In case the inspector in the inspecting or sampling of any hogshead of tobacco shall find any evidence or indication of its being falsely or fraudulently packed, it shall be his duty to write across the face of his certificate and across the face of the tag in red ink, "falsely or fraudulently packed," and he shall further give notice to the assembly of dealers before offering said hogshead of tobacco for sale. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7616.)

Sec. 651. Appointment and qualification of deputies.—The inspector is hereby empowered, if necessary to the convenient dispatch of his respective duties, to appoint one or more deputies at his own cost, for whom he shall be accountable, which deputies are hereby empowered to perform duties of inspection, and shall be liable to the same penalties as the inspector; said deputies shall take the same oath as prescribed for the inspector, and for whose official conduct the said inspector shall be liable upon his official bond. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7617.)

Sec. 652. Inspectors and warehouse-keepers not responsible for natural loss in weights.—Section 7906 shall not be construed so as to hold the inspector and warehouse-keeper, or either of them, responsible for the natural losses of weight that may occur or take place during storage and while the same is undergoing the sweat to which leaf tobacco is subject. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7618.)

Sec. 653. Sales of tobacco to be approved by the owner.—All tobacco cried off, or offered for sale, shall be subject to the approval of the owner or agent thereof, but it shall be the duty of the said owner or agent to accept or reject the sale of said tobacco before the tobacco sale is over on that day; but in the event of his failure to accept or reject such sale within the time specified as above, it shall be at the option of the purchaser to accept the terms of said sale. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7619.)

Sec. 654. Certificates of inspection negotiable.—The certificate of a hogshead of tobacco issued by the inspector of tobacco, and countersigned by the keeper or superintendent of the warehouse, shall be negotiable, and the warehouse, store, person or persons under whose charge the package or hogshead of tobacco for which said certificate was issued is stored, shall be responsible for the full value of the same to the holder of said certificate, loss or damage from elemental causes alone excepted. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7620.)

Sec. 655. Appointment of local inspectors in other towns.—Nothing in this article shall be so construed as to prevent any other town, city or county from establishing tobacco inspection, when twenty free-holders shall petition the governor for the appointment of a tobacco inspector for such local inspection: Provided, said inspector so appointed by the governor shall be subject to all the provisions of this article relating to the qualification, duties and fees of the tobacco inspector for the city of St. Louis, except so far as regards the matter of residence and filing his bond. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7621.)

Sec. 656. Limit of warehouse fees.—The warehouse fees shall not exceed three dollars for each hogshead including inspection fee at any one offer. (R. S. 1899, sec. 7622.)

ARTICLE III.

BEER AND GRAIN INSPECTION.*

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE.

WORLD'S FAIR AND CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION.

Section 657. [Laws 1899, pp. 130-134 (R. S. 1899, secs. 1523-1535), being "an act authorizing the incorporation of organizations designed for the purpose of holding world's fairs and centennial expositions, and defining the powers and duties of such corporations. Laws 1903, p. 138, exempting such companies from taxation and payment of certain fees, etc. As to appropriations for the Fair see Laws 1901, p. 39, Laws 1903, p. 47, Ib., p. 196.]

*The provisions of the law relating to grain inspection are Rev. St. 1899, secs. 7623-7681, inclusive, and those relating to beer inspection Rev. St. 1899, secs. 7682-7697, inclusive. They are both of a general nature and hence not "specially applicable" to St. Louis and are therefore not herein set out. The beer inspection law was sustained as constitutional: State vs. Bixman, 162 Mo. 1; Pabst Brew. Co. vs. Crenshaw, 198 U. S. 17.

It is thought that a reference to these acts may not be out of place, since the Fair was held in St. Louis and hence peculiarly applicable here in effect, although, as the law is one general in its terms, and not technically applicable to St. Louis alone, and as the fair of 1904 was temporary, and has passed into history, the provisions of the acts are merely referred to as a matter of convenience, and its lengthy provisions are not set forth verbatim in this revision. At the election of Nov. 6, 1900, the constitutional amendment was adopted authorizing the city to issue $5,000,000 of bonds in aid of the Fair, (amending Art. X, sec. 12), and in pursuance thereof the city issued the bonds as per ordinances 20641 and 20758. See also constitutional provisions Art. IV., sec. 45.

For other ordinances connected with or relating to World's Fair matters, see ord. No. 20412 (authorizing the use of any of the parks for the site), No. 21201 (temporary buildings), No. 21470 (use of frame buildings for temporary hotels), No. 21971 (extension of time to remove temporary buildings), No. 21479 (closing certain streets during the fair), No. 20654 and 20669 (library and museum in Forest Park), No. 21518 (police court in Forest Park, see note to Rev. Code, sec. 1263), No. 21353 (engine house in Forest Park); No. 21523 (water rates; see note to sec. 2488 of Rev. Code).

ORGANIC PROVISIONS RELATING TO THE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT OF THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS.

INCORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF ST. LOUIS.

SCHEME OF SEPARATION AND REORGANIZATION.
(ANNOTATED.)

CHARTER OF THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS.
(ANNOTATED.)

INCORPORATION OF THE TOWN OF ST. LOUIS.*

The town of St. Louis was first incorporated on the 9th day of November, 1809, by the court of common pleas for the district of St. Louis, upon the petition of two-thirds of the taxable inhabitants, under authority of an act of the legislature of the Territory of Louisiana, passed June 18, 1808, entitled "An act concerning towns in this Territory." The judges constituting the court were Silas Bent, president, and Bernard Pratte and Louis LeBeaume, associates. The charter granted by the court was the only one under which the town existed until 1822, when it was incorporated as a city. It is to be found in the records of the court, in book A, page 334, in the following words:

"On petition of sundry inhabitants of the town of St. Louis, praying so much of said town as included in the following limits to be incorporated, to-wit: Beginning at Antoine Roy's mill, on the bank of the Mississippi; thence running sixty arpents west; thence south on said line of sixty arpents in the rear, until the same come to the Barriere Denoyer; thence due south until it comes to the Sugar Loaf; thence due east to the Mississippi; from thence, by the Mississippi, to the place first mentioned. The court having examined the said petition, and finding that the same is signed by two-thirds of the taxable inhabitants residing in said town, order the same to be incorporated, and the metes and bounds to be surveyed and marked, and a plat thereof filed of record in the clerk's office. And David Delaunay and William C. Carr are appointed commissioners to superintend the first election of five trustees, in pursuance of the law." (Mun. Code, p. 177.)

*A history of the early charters of the City of St. Louis may be found in the introductory note to Mr. McQuillin's valuable work "Amended Charter of St. Louis," 1901. The author also treats of the developments until the adoption of the present charter.

Section 1. Boundaries of the City of St. Louis—Territory of St. Louis County.—The boundaries of the City of St. Louis are hereby enlarged, settled and established as follows:

The corporate limits of the City of St. Louis shall comprise all that district of country situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Missouri, to-wit: Beginning at a point in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi river, and running thence westwardly at right angles to said channel, to a point on the west bank of said river 200 feet south of the center of the mouth of the River des Peres; thence westwardly and parallel to the center of the River des Peres, and 200 feet south thereof, to the eastern line of the Lemay Ferry road; thence westwardly to a point in the west line of said Lemay Ferry road at its intersection with the center of the Weber road; thence westwardly along the center of the Weber road to its intersection of the east line of lot (1) one of the Carondelet Commons, south of the River des Peres; thence westwardly to the southeast corner of Rudolph Overman's, or northeast corner of B. H. Haar's land; thence westwardly to said Haar's northwest corner; thence northwestwardly to a point in the center of the Gravois road (600) six hundred feet southwardly from the center of the bridge across the River des Peres; thence northwestwardly to the southeast corner of lot (31) thirty-one of the subdivision of the Mackenzie tract in United States Survey one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three (1,953) thence northwestwardly in continuance of said last mentioned line to the southern line of lot twenty-one (21) of the subdivision of the said Mackenzie tract; thence northwestwardly to a point in the southern line of United States Survey 2,035, twenty-six (26) chains eastward from the southwest corner of said survey; thence northwardly to a point in the north line of the subdivision of East Laclede, six hundred (600) feet west of the McCausland road; thence northwardly and parallel with the center of the McCausland road, to a point on the Clayton road (600) six hundred feet west of its intersection with the McCausland road; thence northwardly and parallel with the Skinker road, and (600) six hundred feet west thereof, to its intersection with the old Bonhomme road; thence northeastwardly to the intersection of the center lines of McLaren avenue and Mead street; thence in a northeastwardly direction to a point in the Bellefontaine road (600) six hundred feet north of its intersection with the Columbia Bottom road; thence northwardly and parallel with center line of the Columbia Bottom road to the northern boundary line of United States Survey number (114) one hundred and fourteen; thence eastwardly along said line to the center of the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence with the meanderings of said channel southwardly to the point of beginning; and the residue of what now constitutes the County of St. Louis shall hereafter be called St. Louis County.

See note to Art. I, Sec. 2, of the charter.

Sec. 2. City and County declared separated; authority of County Court annulled.—The City of St. Louis, as described in the preceding section, and the residue of St. Louis County, as said county is now constituted by law, are hereby declared to be distinct and separate municipalities, and all authority heretofore exercised by the County Court of St. Louis County, or any officer of said county, is hereby forever abrogated and annulled, except for the purposes and in the cases as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 3. Election of officers for St. Louis County—judicial and representative districts established—county seat.—At the general election for State and other officers, on the Tuesday next following the first Monday in November, 1876, and every two years thereafter, there shall be elected officers for St. Louis county, as follows: A Sheriff, who shall be ex-officio Collector, Coroner, Assessor, Treasurer; a Clerk of the County Court, who shall be ex-officio Recorder of Deeds; they shall hold their offices for the term of two years, and shall perform such duties as are now provided by law for such officers, until their successors are duly elected and qualified; also, a Public Administrator, who shall be elected at said election, and every four years thereafter, and shall hold his office for four years, and perform the duties now prescribed by law. There shall also be elected at said election three Justices of the County Court, who shall constitute the County Court of said county, and their powers, duties and terms of office shall be as defined and governed by the general law at present applying to other counties in this State. And for that purpose the County of St. Louis, as established by this Scheme, shall be divided into two districts by a line commencing at a point where the Clayton road intersects the boundary between the City and County of St. Louis, as established by this Scheme and Charter, and running thence westwardly with the Clayton road to the eastern boundary of Bonhomme township, as now established; thence north with the eastern boundary of said township to the Missouri River. So much of said county as lies north and east of said line shall constitute district number one, and so much of said county as lies south and west of said line shall constitute number two. One Justice of the County Court shall be elected by the qualified voters of each of said districts, and the Presiding Justice of said County Court shall be elected at large by the qualified voters of said county. Said county shall be divided and numbered in the same manner into two Representative Districts, and until otherwise districted by law, one Representative in the General Assembly of the State shall be elected by the qualified voters of each of said districts. Immediately succeeding the election in November, 1876, and when the result thereof is officially determined as hereinafter provided, the Justices of the County Court shall meet at James C. Sutton's house, on the Manchester road, for the purpose of organizing the new government of the county, determining the bonds of the county officers, and making such appointments as may be authorized by law. Said Court may determine at what place in said county said Court shall meet and the county offices be located until the question of a permanent seat of justice may be determined. And for that purpose the following persons shall be and they are hereby appointed Commissioners, to-wit: Robert G. Coleman, Wm. W. Henderson and Thomas J. Sappington, who shall, after the Scheme goes into effect, select a suitable place for the count seat of said county, and report such selection to the County Court of said county, when it shall be the duty of said Court to submit to the qualified voters of said county, at a special election to be ordered by said Court, within six months from the filing of said report, the question as to whether the place so selected shall be the place for the permanent seat of justice of said county; and if a majority of the qualified voters of said county, voting at said election, shall be in favor of said location, then the same shall be, and remain the seat of justice or county seat of such county; but if a majority of the qualified voters, voting at such election, shall be against such location, then the permanent seat of justice shall be established in the manner as at present provided by law in regard to new counties. There shall be elected at said election such justices of the peace and constables for the county as said county may be entitled to under existing laws, who shall hold their offices according to the general provisions of law applying to other counties in this state.

The legislature has power to change the tenure of office and dates of election of officers as fixed by this section of the Scheme, and it did so as to clerks of courts by laws 1877, p. 192: State ex rel. vs. Matthews, 94 Mo. 117.

Sec. 4. Present County Court to order election November, 1876—duties and responsibilities of Court in connection with separation.—The present County Court of St. Louis County shall order and make all necessary arrangements for the general State election in November next, and shall order at the same time the election of the Justices and officers for St. Louis County, as specified in the preceding section, and the members of the present County Court thereof shall continue in authority and in the discharge of their present duties, except as herein otherwise provided, until the new County Government is organized, and the proper county officers, as provided herein, are commissioned and qualified, and thereupon their terms of office and that of Clerk of said Court shall cease, and the offices of Justices of the County Court and Clerk of the said County Court, as now established, shall be forever abolished: Provided, That nothing in this section shall relieve said Court and its officers and employees from full responsibility for the management and custody of all interests and property of the County of St. Louis, as constituted previous to the adoption of this Scheme, until a formal transfer of the same to the proper authority, as herein provided, has been effected.

See note to Art. IV, Sec. 1 of Charter.

Sec. 5. Election of Sheriff, Coroner, and Public Administrator for city—duties and compensation.—It shall be the duty of the Mayor of the City of St. Louis to order an election on the same day as the general election in November, 1876, and every two years thereafter, for a Sheriff for the City of St. Louis, and Coroner for said City, who shall be elected by the qualified voters of said city, and shall hold their offices for two years and until their successors are duly elected and qualified, and they shall be commissioned by the Mayor. A Public Administrator for said city shall also be elected at the general election aforesaid, and every four years thereafter, whose term of office shall be four years, and whose duties shall be as provided by law. The official bond of said officers shall be fixed and determined by the Municipal Assembly, in conformity with the constitution and laws; and pending such action the Sheriff, Coroner and Public Administrator shall give bond in such amounts as now required of like officers for the present County of St. Louis, with not less than two securities, owners of unincumbered real estate in the City of St. Louis, to be approved by the Mayor; and said bonds, when so approved, shall be filed with the Register; and said officers shall respectively perform within the city limits such duties as are now provided by law in regard to the Sheriff, Coroner and Public Administrator of St. Louis County, and shall receive the same compensation allowed said officers of St. Louis County prior to the adoption of this Scheme, until otherwise provided by law. The Coroner shall discharge the duties of Sheriff in all cases in which Coroners are authorized to discharge those duties by law.

See as to elections, terms, etc., note to Charter, Art. IV, Sec. 1. The adoption of the Scheme and Charter was at first supposed to be defeated, and no election for sheriff was called in November, 1876, for the City of St. Louis; but the office of the old county no longer existed owing to the fact that the Scheme of separation had actually as it developed, been adopted, and it was held that one elected as sheriff for the supposed county had no more than color of title and it devolved on the Governor to appoint the first lawful sheriff: State ex rel. vs. Finn, 4 Mo. App. 347.

Duties and Powers of Sheriffs and Coroners in St. Louis, see references in notes to Charter, Art. IV, Secs. 14 and 31.

Sec. 6. City Marshal to assume duties of former County Marshal.—The Marshal of the City of St. Louis, in addition to his other duties, shall assume and discharge all the duties heretofore discharged by the Marshal of St. Louis County, within the limits of the City of St. Louis; and the present County Marshal shall deliver to said City Marshal all books, documents and property of every kind in his possession by virtue of said office, except such property as may properly belong to the reorganized County Government, which shall be delivered to the Sheriff of St. Louis County, elected in November, 1876.

Effect of Scheme on old county marshal was to abolish the office and confer same on the new city marshal until otherwise provided, etc.: See discussion as to duties of marshal, sheriffs, etc., in State ex rel. vs. Mason, 4 Mo. App. 377. Duties of Marshal: See also Scheme, Secs. 18, 27, 30; Charter, Art. IV, Sec. 31; Rev. Code, Secs. 1329-1339.

Sec. 7. County Sheriff ex-officio Collector—County Clerk ex-officio Recorder—present Recorder to continue in office.—The Sheriff of St. Louis County, elected as provided in section 3, shall be ex-officio Collector of the revenue of said county; and the Clerk of said County Court shall be ex-officio Recorder of Deeds for said county; and the present Recorder of Deeds for St. Louis County shall hereafter be known as Recorder of Deeds, and shall hold his office for his term as now prescribed by law, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified; and at the general election in November, 1878, and every four years thereafter, a City Recorder shall be elected by the qualified voters of the City of St. Louis.

Sheriff as ex-officio collector of St. Louis Co. under this section: See Webster vs. Smith, 78 Mo. 163.

Sec. 8. Assessment and collection of taxes under Scheme—duties of Collector and Treasurer as to moneys—uncollected tax-bills—office of County Auditor abolished.—The office of the President of the Board of Assessors is hereby declared a city office, and is placed under the control of the city government, but the President of said Board shall cause the books and plats of said office to be divided, and such portions thereof as exclusively refer to St. Louis County shall be delivered to the proper officer for the use of said county; but if this cannot be done, or can be done only in part, then abstracts shall be made thereof and the cost of same paid out of the City Treasury. The present State and County Collector shall continue in office until the expiration of his official term, and thereafter his duties shall be discharged by the City Collector, and upon this Scheme going into operation the said State and County Collector shall pay over all collections for city and county taxes levied for general purposes, and for licenses collected within the city limits, as herein extended, and all county taxes for interest and parks, to the Treasurer of the City of St. Louis; and all collections for county and school taxes on property and licenses, except all county taxes for interest and parks, in St. Louis County, he shall pay to the present County Treasurer, until the Treasurer of said county is elected, as provided for in section 3; and when that officer has duly qualified, the present County Treasurer shall pay over to him all such collections for the use of said county, and from and after the time the County Treasurer of St. Louis County, as constituted by this Scheme, is elected and qualified, and during the continuance in office of said County Collector, he shall in like manner pay over all revenue collections, above mentioned, to the City and County Treasurers respectively. At the close of his term of office he shall effect a settlement with the city and county authorities, and shall account for all tax-bills placed in his possession, and shall turn over all uncollected bills in his possession, as follows: To the Comptroller all tax-bills on property within the city limits as herein established, and to the Clerk of the St. Louis County Court all tax-bills on property outside of city limits. The office of County Auditor, as it at present exists, is abolished, but that officer shall continue in office, and be responsible on his bond until all books, documents, moneys, and other property in his hands, or under his charge by virtue of his office, have been properly accounted for and turned over to the parties authorized by law to receive them. The assessment of property for the taxes of the year 1877 in the city as constituted by this Scheme, shall be made by the President of the Board of Assessors of the present County of St. Louis, in the manner provided by law; said President shall keep a separate set of books for the property in the city as now constituted, and for that in the enlarged limits of the city. As soon as the assessment books for the city and for the enlarged limits shall have been completed and corrected as required by law, they shall be turned over by said President with the other books and plats of his office to the proper officer of said city. After the assessment books have been corrected, the President of Assessors shall make out a fair copy of the same and shall make an abstract of said books, showing the amounts of the several kinds of property taxed, specifying: First, the amount of all property within the old limits of the City of St. Louis, second, the amount of value of all property within the new or extended limits, and outside the old limits, and add thereto his certificate that the same contains a true and correct list of all taxable property in the City of St. Louis, so far as he has been able to ascertain the same. Said abstract shall be verified by oath and delivered to the Mayor of St. Louis on or before the fourth Monday of June, 1877. As soon as the Assessor of St. Louis County shall be elected and qualified, the President of the Board of Assessors shall deliver to the said Assessor the books, plats, and all papers appertaining to the property of said county, as herein provided, and it shall be the duty of the Assessor of said County to assess the property of said county in the same manner as now provided by law for other counties of this State.

Sec. 9. County Court to transfer public buildings, moneys, etc., to City—employees to continue until, etc. - Mayor may retain or discharge appointees of Court.—It shall be the duty of the present County Court of St. Louis County to see that all buildings, moneys, and other property belonging to the county, which are placed under the control of the city under this Scheme, shall be formally and properly transferred. Said Court shall cause all records, books, papers, etc., now in the office of said Court to be turned over to the Register, who shall duly schedule same, and report the same for inspection of the Mayor. All employees and officers now in the service of the county in connection with public institutions or otherwise, under appointment of said Court, and within the limits of the City of St. Louis as herein established, shall continue in the discharge of their duties under the present rules and regulations until notified to the contrary by the Mayor of the city, who shall have authority to retain or for unfitness discharge such as he may deem necessary and to fill any vacancies that may occur, until the Municipal Assembly can provide by ordinance for the government of such institutions and regulations of such service.

The mayor, under this section, had power to remove or suspend, pending the period of doubt as to the adoption of the Scheme and Charter: Howard vs. St. Louis, 88 Mo. 656, 660.

Sec. 10. Title to public buildings, parks, etc., transferred to City—assumption of County debt by City.—All the public buildings, institutions, public parks, and property of every character and description heretofore owned and controlled by the County of St. Louis, within the limits as extended, including the Court-house, the County Jail, the Insane Asylum and the Poor-house, are hereby transferred and made over to the City of St. Louis, and all the right, title and interest of the County of St. Louis in said property, and in all public roads and highways within the enlarged limits, is hereby vested in the City of St. Louis, and divested out of the County; and in consideration of the city becoming the proprietor of all the county buildings and property within its enlarged limits, the city hereby assumes the whole of the existing county debt, and the entire park tax; and the Municipal Assembly shall, as soon as practicable after the adoption of this Scheme and Charter, provide by ordinance for the management of the property and public institutions hereby placed under its charge.

For the purpose of electing a Municipal Assembly under such Charter, an election for members of the Municipal Assembly shall be held at the same time as the general State election to be held in November, 1876, and the term of office of the members of said Assembly shall continue for the same time and on the same condition as if the same commenced after the city election in April, 1877, as provided for in such Charter: Provided, That in case of a vacancy in the office of the Mayor, the present Comptroller of the city shall be authorized to act and shall act as such Mayor until such vacancies shall be filled as provided in the Charter framed under this Scheme; and provided further, That

And all collections made on account of taxes for interest and the parks, and that portion of said balance which was collected for general purposes within the extended city limits, shall be paid into the City Treasury; and that portion which was collected for general purposes within the County of St. Louis, as constituted by this Scheme, shall be paid into the treasury of said county; and the same course shall be pursued with reference to all moneys coming into the hands of the present County Treasurer after this Scheme shall go into operation. The term of the present County Treasurer shall cease when the Treasurer for the County of St. Louis, as herein constituted, shall have been elected and qualified. The County Auditor shall properly account for all school moneys for which he is in any way responsible to the proper authorities, and all tax collections for school purposes, made either by the City or County of St. Louis for the present or any other year, shall be applied only to the support of public schools. Sec. 14 of the Scheme in so far as it purports to confer power or jurisdiction on the city police to act in the County of St. Louis, is superseded and annulled by the metropolitan police act of 1899, and the police force of the city have no authority to act as such in the county: State ex rel. vs. Stobie, 194 Mo. 14, (Marshall and Valliant, JJ., dissenting).

All commissions of Justices of the Peace and Constables elected in the City of St. Louis shall be issued by the Mayor, and a record thereof kept by the City Register. All bonds of Constables, and of all Notaries Public appointed, shall be approved by the Mayor, and a record of the same shall be kept in said Register's office.

It being at first supposed that the adoption of the Scheme and Charter were defeated, the act of the county court in approving a constable's bond in the interim was validated by the de facto principle: Schaeffer vs. Bernero, 11 Mo. App. 562, 564.

Approval of Constables' bonds: See Rev. Code, section 1506 and 1678.

As to Justice of the Peace and Constables generally, in St. Louis, see "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," sections 173-204; also Rev. Code, secs. 1324-1328.

Sec. 16. City and county surveyors.—The Mayor of the City of St. Louis, with the approval of the Council, may appoint any number of competent persons, being civil engineers, as City Surveyors, whose duties and powers shall be as now provided by law in regard to County Surveyors; but all applicants shall produce satisfactory testimonials of good character and competency, and when appointed shall give bond in the sum now required by law from surveyors in St. Louis County, and the County Court of St. Louis may appoint County Surveyors under the same restrictions. The present County Surveyors, commissioned by the County Court under an act entitled "An act to amend chapter 27 of the General Statutes of Missouri relating to County Surveyors," approved March 25, 1872, may continue in authority and in discharge of their present duties in the City and County of St. Louis until the expiration of the commissions held by them respectively, and the said City Surveyors shall have power to execute in the County of St. Louis all orders of the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, as they were authorized to do before this Scheme went into operation.

Ordinances as to City Surveyors: Rev. C., Ch. 2, Secs. 235-238.

Sec. 17. Sec. 18. Powers of Sheriffs of City and County—duties of City Marshal.—The Sheriff of the City of St. Louis shall, within the limits of said city, exercise the authority now vested by law in the Sheriff of the County of St. Louis, and after this Scheme shall go into operation, all writs and other process which are now by law provided to be executed by the Sheriff of the County of St. Louis, within the city limits, shall be directed to and executed by the Sheriff of the City of St. Louis. The City Marshal, after this Scheme goes into operation, in addition to the duties now required by law to be performed by him, shall, within the city limits, exercise the same power and perform the same duties as are now provided by law in regard to the County Marshal. And the Sheriff of St. Louis County shall execute all process directed or delivered to him by any court of record of the County of St. Louis, as are now established by law.

Judges of Election for November, 1876—returns, etc.—The Judges of the Election for State and other officers to be held in November, 1876, and for officers of the city and county as provided in this Scheme, shall be appointed as now provided by law, and the same Judges shall act in the election for city and county officers at such November election, 1876, and the returns shall be made to the clerk of the present County Court, who shall officially certify to the result; and in the event of any neglect or failure on the part of said County Court, or any officer of the city or county, to order and arrange for the election herein provided, the St. Louis Court of Appeals, or any Judge thereof, may cause the same to be done, and may in such event appoint Judges and take all other steps necessary to insure the holding of said election in the manner contemplated herein.

Sec. 20. Public officers to assist in carrying out Scheme.—It shall be the duty of all existing officers of St. Louis City and County to assist in carrying out the provisions of this Scheme, so far as any official act is necessary for that purpose; and in all cases in which said officers are continued in office under this Scheme, their duties and compensation shall be the same as are now provided by law.

Sec. 21. City may hold real estate in county.—The City of St. Louis may purchase, take and hold real estate in the County of St. Louis for the use of the city.

St. Louis may hold property outside city limits, etc. Charter, Art. I, Sec. 1; and note thereto.

Sec. 22. Salaries of judicial officers.—Until otherwise provided by law, the salaries of all the judges of courts now paid out of the County Treasury, and of all judicial officers not affected by the operation of this Scheme, shall be paid proportionately by the City and County of St. Louis, according to the aggregate of taxable values in each; and to carry out this section the Municipal Assembly shall annually provide for paying such expenses, and it shall be the duty of the County Court of said county, and a binding obligation thereon, to pay into the City Treasury annually an amount equal to the proportion of the expenses herein indicated; and the officers of said city may make any temporary arrangement necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, until the Municipal Assembly can regulate the subject by ordinance.

Sec. 23. Tax bills on property intersected by city limits.—Immediately after this Scheme goes into operation, the present State and County Collector of Revenue shall turn over to the President of the Board of Assessors all the tax-bills then in his hands that apply to lots or parcels of land which shall have become intersected by the new city limits line, for which bills the said President shall return him a detailed receipt, to be held by him (the Collector) as his sufficient voucher, against the corresponding tax amounts for which he may stand charged; and the said President shall proceed at once to make, in lieu of the bills received, new bills, whereon the amounts of taxes shall be separated in the proportion of quality and value of land, or land and improvements, respectively lying within and without the newly established city limits, to the end that the taxes distributable to the county and those distributable to the city shall all be represented by separate bills. The new bills thus ordered when completed by the said President, shall be by him delivered to the Comptroller to be examined and stamped, and they shall next, with the least practicable delay, be returned by the Comptroller to the Collector for collection. The old tax-bills herein above named shall likewise be by the President surrendered to the Comptroller, who shall cancel them.

Sec. 24. Authority of County Court conferred on Municipal Assembly.—The Municipal Assembly shall have power within the city of St. Louis to do all acts and perform all functions not otherwise provided for in this Charter and not inconsistent with its terms, which have heretofore been done and performed by the County Court of the County of St. Louis.

Section cited: Kenefick vs. St. Louis, 127 Mo. 1, 9.

Sec. 25. Admission to Poor-house, Insane Asylum, etc.—Until the County of St. Louis, as organized by this Scheme, shall otherwise provide, the County Court thereof shall be authorized to send the paupers of said county to the Poor-house, or County Farm, now in use, and the insane paupers of said county to the Insane Asylum now in use, and for the maintenance of such paupers shall pay to the Treasurer of the city the cost of maintaining paupers in those institutions, to be ascertained by the annual reports of the same.

As to insane asylum see Rev. Code, Secs. 753, 747 and references in notes thereto.

As to poorhouse see R. C., Sec. 773 and note.

Sec. 26. Prosecuting Attorneys and Clerks of Eighth Judicial District continued in office.—The Circuit Attorney and Assistant Circuit Attorney for the Eighth Judicial Circuit, the Prosecuting Attorney, the Assistant Prosecuting Attorney, and the Clerk of the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, and the Clerk of the St. Louis Criminal Court, shall continue to hold their offices and discharge the duties thereof, as now provided by law, until the expiration of their respective terms of office, and until their successors are duly elected and qualified.

Sec. 27. Grand Jury, how selected and summoned.—After this Scheme goes into operation, and until otherwise provided by law, the Grand Jury of the Eighth Judicial Circuit shall be selected by the Judge of the St. Louis Criminal Court from the City and County of St. Louis, and shall be summoned by the Marshal of the City of St. Louis.

Selection, etc., of Grand Jury: See R. S. 1899, Secs. 6569-6570. (Set out herein ante, p. 113 under "Laws Specially Applicable to St. L." Secs. 171-172.)

Sec. 28. Grand Jury, how paid.—All members of Grand Juries selected from the City of St. Louis shall be paid out of the City Treasury, and those from the County of St. Louis shall be paid out of the County Treasury. All payments shall be upon certificates of the Clerk of the St. Louis Criminal Court.

Pay of Grand Jurors: See Rev. Code, Sec. 1335.

Sec. 29. Costs in criminal cases.—In the criminal cases occurring in the City of St. Louis, in which, by the law in force prior to this Scheme going into operation, the County of St. Louis was liable to pay costs, such costs shall, after that time, be paid out of the City Treasury, and in like cases occurring in the County of St. Louis, shall be paid out of the Treasury of the County of St. Louis.

Sec. 30. Petit Jurors—how selected and summoned—Jury Commissioner to continue in office.—Petit jurors to serve in the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, in the St. Louis Criminal Court and in the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, shall, until otherwise provided, be selected and summoned as now provided by law, except that jurors for the said Circuit Court shall be summoned by the Sheriff of the City of St. Louis, and jurors to serve in the said other two courts shall be summoned by the Marshal of the City of St. Louis. And the act to provide a jury system in St. Louis County, approved March 3rd, 1857, and the acts amendatory thereof, shall remain in force until altered or repealed, and the present Jury Commissioner of St. Louis County shall remain in office until the expiration of his official term, and perform all the duties now required of him by law.

Jury Commissioner, summoning petit jury, etc.; See R. S. 1899, Secs. 6539-6570. (Set out herein ante pages 106 to 113, under Laws Spec. Applicable to St. Louis, Secs. 140-172.) Ordinance on Jury Com'r, see R. C., Sec. 1334.

Sec. 31. Petit Jurors—how paid.—For all services of petit jurors rendered in the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, they shall be paid out of the City Treasury, and for all such services rendered by citizens of St. Louis, in the St. Louis Criminal Court and the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, they shall be paid out of the City Treasury, and for all such services rendered in the last mentioned courts by citizens of St. Louis County, they shall be paid out of the County Treasury.

Pay of Petit Jurors: R. S. 1899, Sec. 6562, set out herein ante page 112, "Laws Specially Applicable to St. L.," Sec. 163; Ordinances, see R. C., Secs. 1335, 2412; in police court, see R. C., Sec. 1297.

Sec. 32. Collections payable into City Treasury—payments into County Treasury—appropriations by Municipal Assembly.—In all cases where, according to the laws in force up to the time when this Scheme shall go into operation, any public officer or other person was required to pay any money coming into his hands from any source whatever into the County Treasury of St. Louis County, and where it is not otherwise provided in this Scheme, or the Charter framed under it, such officer or person shall, after the time aforesaid, pay all such money into the Treasury of the City of St. Louis, at or within such times as he was theretofore required to pay the same into the County Treasury; and if no time shall be prescribed by law for any such payments, then he shall pay the same monthly on the first Monday of each month, into said City Treasury, and shall take triplicate receipts therefor, stating the account on which such payment was made, one of which he shall file in the City Auditor's office, and one with the Comptroller, who shall charge the Treasurer with the amount so paid; and the said Auditor and Treasurer shall keep accounts showing the account on which such payments were made and the source from which the money was derived. All such money shall be applied and used for the purposes for which it was collected, or for which it is made applicable by law, and in all cases when such money is not set apart or appropriated by law for specific purposes, the Municipal Assembly of the city may appropriate it to such municipal uses as it may deem proper: Provided, however, That all fines, penalties and forfeitures collected or accruing in the County of St. Louis, or on account of said county or the people thereof, shall be paid in the manner and at times aforesaid into the County Treasury of said county, and duplicate receipts shall be taken as aforesaid by the officer or person paying the same, one of which he shall file with the County Clerk of said county, who shall charge the Treasurer with the amount so paid, and such money shall be appropriated and used as it is or may be provided by law; and provided, further, That if any public officer or other person shall, at the time this Scheme goes into operation, be in default in the payment of any such money into the said County Treasury, he shall immediately pay the same into the said City Treasury in the manner aforesaid, and the same shall be disposed of as herein provided.

Sec. 33. Power of former County Collector vested in Sheriff of County.—All powers heretofore vested in the Collector of the County of St. Louis, and all duties required to be performed by him in reference to taxes on property situated outside of the limits of the City of St. Louis, as enlarged, and in reference to the sale of such property for taxes and the redemption thereof, shall, after the election and qualification of the Sheriff of the County of St. Louis, as provided by this Scheme, be executed and performed by such Sheriff; and all deeds for the sale of land for taxes made by him shall be acknowledged before the Clerk of the County Court of St. Louis County.

See Webster vs. Smith, 78 Mo. 163, 165.

Sec. 34. Authority of municipal assembly as to revenue.—The Municipal Assembly shall have power to enact all ordinances that may be necessary to carry into execution the laws relating to State, county, city and other revenue within the city of St. Louis, as enlarged; and such powers as are now vested by law in the County Court of St. Louis County, or the Clerk of said Court, or the County Collector and Auditor, may be exercised by such tribunals and officers as may be provided by ordinance.

Sec. 35. Regulations as to animals running at large.—It shall be unlawful for any domestic animal of the species of horse, cattle, mule, ass, swine, sheep or goat to be suffered to run at large, by the owner thereof, in the City or County of St. Louis; and if any such animal be found running at large in said city or county after this Scheme and Charter go into operation, it shall be lawful for any person to take up and restrain the same forthwith; and such person shall, within three days after so taking up and restraining such animal, give notice thereof to the owner, if known, and thereupon such owner shall pay a reasonable compensation for taking up, keeping and feeding such animal, and for damages actually caused by such animal. If the owner be not known, or fails to make such reasonable compensation after being notified, any animal so taken up shall be deemed an estray, and may be proceeded against by the taker up thereof, in the manner provided by law in regard to strays: Provided, however, That this section shall not be so construed as to prohibit any person from driving, herding and guarding such stock upon the unclosed lands belonging to said County, the State, or the United States.

See note and references to Chapter 2 of Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis, Secs. 4-11, ante pp. 79-81; and for ordinances see R. C., Secs. 1576-1578 and notes.

Sec. 36. School districts intersected by city limits.—In all cases where the limits of the City of St. Louis as herein extended, include a part only of any school district, the following shall be the mode of adjustment as to property held by or for the use or benefit of such district: First, where the part of such district, included within such extended limits, contains any school-house or other real estate belonging to the district, the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools shall pay into the County Treasury of St. Louis County, for the use of that part of the district not so included, such proportion of the valuation of said school property as the taxable value of property in the part of such district not so included bears to the taxable value of all property in such district, as constituted before such extension. Second, where the part of such district, not included within such extended limits, contains any school-house or other real estate belonging to the district, the inhabitants of the district not so included shall pay to the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools such proportion of the valuation of said school property as the taxable value of property in the part of such district included within the city limits bears to the taxable value of all property in such district, as constituted before such extension. The valuation of school property mentioned in this section shall be made by arbitrators, one of whom shall be selected by the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools, and one by the Directors of the school district affected, who, if disagreeing, may select a third; or, if unable to agree on the selection of such third arbitrator, any School Director, or member of the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools, may apply to the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit to appoint one. A report of the valuation made by such arbitrators, or a majority thereof, shall be filed as soon as practicable in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit. Any money to be paid to the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools shall be provided for by the assessment, levy and collection of a special tax on all taxable property within such districts not so included.

Sec. 37. School property transferred to St. Louis public schools.—All property, real, personal or mixed, of every kind and description, and the evidence of title thereto, now held by the County of St. Louis, or by the County Court of St. Louis County, in trust or for the use of the inhabitants of township forty-five north, of range seven east, for school purposes, and all such property, and the evidences of title thereto, held by any public officer for the use of any school district in said township, or held by or for the benefit of any such district, shall, as soon as this Scheme goes into effect, pass and be delivered to the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools; and the title to any and all such property shall, by operation hereof, vest in said Board.

School property is now controlled and vested in the Board of Education of St. Louis: Rev. St. 1899, Secs. 9919 et seq. set out in "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," ante p. 191, Secs. 499 et seq. As to Charter provisions see Art. XIII.

Sec. 38. Enumeration of children within school age—division of school property.—The Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools shall, forthwith after this Scheme goes into effect, cause an enumeration to be taken of all children within school ages within the limits of the City of St. Louis, as herein established, and the County Court of St. Louis County shall cause forthwith a similar enumeration to be taken within the County of St. Louis, outside of the city limits, as herein established, showing the enumeration in each school district and fractional school district separately, a correct report of which enumeration shall be filed by said Board and said court respectively, in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, within sixty days after this Scheme and Charter go into operation. So much of all property of every nature whatsoever, and the evidences thereof, belonging to the school fund of St. Louis County, or of Congressional townships affected by the extension of the present city limits, as, according to such enumeration, falls to the share of the district lying within the limits of the City of St. Louis, shall at once pass and be delivered by the County Court of St. Louis County, or public officers in charge thereof, to the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools, and the residue of all said property and the evidences thereof shall pass and be delivered by the present County Court of St. Louis County, or public officers in charge thereof, to the proper authorities of the County of St. Louis, as constituted by this Scheme. From and after the date this Scheme goes into operation all public officers within the City of St. Louis shall account for and pay over to the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis Public Schools, all fines and penalties and other moneys collected within said city, and heretofore payable into and forming part of the County School Fund of St. Louis County.

Distribution of school funds on separation of city from county see State to use vs. Rechtien, 7 Mo. App. 339.

Sec. 39. Expenses of board of freeholders.—All claims for the printing, clerk hire and other expenses of this Board of Freeholders shall be made out and certified to by the President of the Board immediately after the adjournment of this Board, and such claims, so certified, shall, as soon as this Scheme and the Charter framed thereunder are adopted, be paid by the Treasurer of the present County of St. Louis out of the general revenue of said county, and such payments shall be allowed to said Treasurer in the settlement of his accounts as provided for in this Scheme.

* INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS RESPECTING THE CHARTER.

The Scheme and Charter of St. Louis City was framed by a board of freeholders in pursuance of the provisions of Art. IX, Secs. 20 to 25, of the State Constitution of 1875, and was adopted by the people at an election held on August 22, 1876; it became the organic law of the city and county sixty days thereafter (Oct. 22, 1876), and all former charters and special laws of St. Louis County were superseded. State ex rel. vs. Finn, 4 Mo. App. 347, 356; State ex rel. vs. Mason, 4 Mo. App. 377; Badgeley vs. St. Louis, 149 Mo. 122, 129; St. Louis vs. Fischer, 167 Mo. 654, 660; State ex rel. vs. Sutton, 3 Mo. App. 388 (deciding the question whether the adoption had actually been carried); State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 174 Mo. 1. c. 140; Northcut vs. Eager, 132 Mo. 1. c. 273.

The separation of the city and county did not relieve St. Louis from the operation of such laws specially applicable to St. Louis County as were then in force and consistent with the altered circumstances: Eichelmann vs. Weiss, 7 Mo. App. 87, 89 (sheriffs' and marshals' act). The constitution limits the displacement to "special laws relating to St. Louis County inconsistent with such Scheme," Const., Art IX, Sec. 20. But in all other respects the city became independent of the county, and is a city proper, though in some respects performing the functions of a county: State ex rel. vs. Walsh, 69 Mo. 408. As to how far the city is to be treated as a county see infra, this note.

The City of St. Louis is not in any class with other cities, and it is not affected by legislation applicable to cities of the first-class as defined in the Constitution, because the St. Louis Charter is itself enacted in pursuance of a special constitutional provision, and does not fall under any classification: State ex rel. vs. Mason, 155 Mo. 486, 501 (overruling Murnane vs. St. Louis, 123 Mo. 479, and St. Louis vs. Dorr, 145 Mo. 423, and adopting the dissenting opinions in those cases); State ex rel. vs. Hawes, 153 Mo. 23, 52; Kansas City vs. Stegmiller, 151 Mo. 189, 204; St. Louis vs. Bircher, 76 Mo. 431.

The City of St. Louis derives its charter in pursuance of constitutional provisions, and the powers delegated therein are conferred by the state upon the municipality, and so long as they are not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the state they are valid and binding upon all who come within the scope of their authority or operation: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, 480; St. Louis vs. W. U. Tel. Co., 149 U. S. 465, 467; Kansas City vs. Oil Co., 140 Mo. 458, 471; Grand Ave. Ry. Co. vs. Citizens' Ry. Co., 148 Mo. 665, 671.

The charter so conferred and adopted has all the force and effect of a legislative charter largely delegating the state power upon the city, and such delegation of power is no infringement of the maxim that legislative power cannot be delegated: Sluder vs. Transit Co., 189 Mo. 107, 128; Meier vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 391, 409; St. Louis vs. Fischer, 167 Mo. 654, 660-661 (affirmed 194 U. S. 361); State ex rel. vs. Lindell Ry., 151 Mo. 162, 182.

As to the force and effect of ordinances as legislative enactments, see further, note to Art. III (introductory to Sec. 26 thereof) and note to Art. III, Sec. 12.

But the charter of a city cannot confer on it the power of the State concerning such things as are without the scope of municipal government, and not incidental to municipal functions; these are reserved to the State unless expressly conferred by the Legislature: State ex rel. vs. Telephone Co., 189 Mo. 83 (holding that Kansas City could not enforce a regulation as to telephone rates, expressly given in the charter. That such power to fix rates did not exist under the St. Louis charter see St. Louis vs. Bell Telephone, 96 Mo. 623; see also ordinance of St. Louis attempting to reserve the right to fix charges, R. C., Sec. 1195 and note, also see note to Sec. 1093); State ex rel. vs. Police Com'rs, 184 Mo. 109 (holding that the Kansas City charter could not confer powers respecting employment or discharge of policemen not in accord with the state; as to the St. Louis police act see State ex rel. vs. Stobie, 92 So. West. 191, s. c. 194 Mo. 14).

And the charter must always be in harmony with the Constitution and laws of the state: See cases heretofore and hereinbelow cited; also State ex rel. vs. Telephone Co., 189 Mo. 83; State ex rel. vs. Police Com'rs, 184 Mo. 109; Ewing vs. Hoblitzelle, 85 Mo. 64, loc. cit. 76 (discussing the objects in view in adopting the St. Louis charter); State ex rel. vs. Lindell Ry., 151 Mo. l. c. 182 (same); State ex rel. vs. Stobie, 194 Mo. 14, s. c. 92 Southw. 191 (see discussion as to St. Louis Scheme and Charter in both majority and dissenting opinions).

Hence, and also because the power of the legislature to supersede or modify the charter or ordinance provisions exists, it follows that when the ordinances or charter provisions are, or become, in conflict with prior or subsequent state statutes, or state policy, or with the constitution, such ordinances or charter provisions are, or become, void, and must yield to the higher law: State ex rel. vs. Stobie, 92 Southw. (Feb. 26, 1906), 191, 200; s. c. 194 Mo. 14, (holding a provision in the Scheme repealed by the police act); St. Louis vs. Meyer, 185 Mo. 583; State ex rel. vs. Police Com'rs, supra; Badgley vs. St. Louis, 149 Mo. 122 (declaring a charter provision void as contrary to the code civil procedure); Ford vs. Kansas City, 181 Mo. 137; State ex rel. vs. Railway, 117 Mo. 1, 11-12; Ewing vs. Hoblitzelle, 85 Mo. 64, 76; State ex rel. vs. Bell, 119 Mo. 70, 75; State ex rel. vs. Matthews, 94 Mo. 117 (Scheme provision changed by statute).

But mere differences in details do not render such laws inharmonious, and the charter provisions are effective: Kansas City vs. Oil Co., 140 Mo. 458, 471 (a decision frequently approved in later St. Louis cases; the court holds that "A constitutional provision authorizing a city like Kansas City or St. Louis to frame its own charter, implies the power to adopt a complete and harmonious system of local municipal government. . . . The charter . . . being a law for the government of the municipality, it is binding upon all courts, and it violates no principle of our government to say that the courts, when called upon, must enforce these municipal laws unless they conflict with the Constitution, and are not in harmony with the Constitution and laws, and, as already said, mere differences in detail do not render such laws inharmonious. . . . So long as the city . . . does not invade the province of general legislation or attempt to change the policy of the state as declared in her laws for the people at large, it will not be held to be out of harmony with such laws, notwithstanding the provisions of the special charter may be different from the general statutes prescribed for the government of other cities in their local affairs); to same effect: St. Louis vs. Dorr, 145 Mo. 466, 478 (to this extent this case has not been overruled); and see particularly St. Louis vs. Delassus, (Sup. Ct., July 2, 1907, not yet reported) fully discussing and sustaining the city's power to pass ordinances on subjects also covered by State statutes, though not identical therewith; also State vs. Vic De Bar, 58 Mo. 395 (showing to what extent the city was regarded as independent of state laws under the earlier decisions); and see discussion in State vs. Kessels, 120 Mo. App. l. c. 240, distinguishing the effect of the present constitution and the former one on the power of St. Louis to pass ordinances inconsistent with the state laws.

As to discussion of how far the city may enact ordinances declaring acts to be misdemeanors, where there are state enactments on the same point, and the effect of concurrent enactments by the city and state, see note to Rev. Code, sec. 1265 and cases there cited.

And the power of the city to tax is specifically recognized by the constitution: See note to Charter, Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 5, and particularly note to Charter, Art. V, Sec. 1.

It may be added that while the absolute general power of the legislature to alter or destroy its municipalities or to change their boundaries, without consulting the wishes of the inhabitants, is unquestioned (St. Louis vs. Russell, 9 Mo. 503, 507; McCormick vs. Ry., 20 Mo. App. 640 and cases cited; Forsyth vs. Hammond, 166 U. S. 506), yet it cannot be lawfully so exercised as to impair the obligations of contracts (such as bonds) previously entered into by such municipalities: Graham vs. Folsom, 200 U. S. 248; St. Louis vs. Russell, supra 1. c. 508.

Unauthorized Ordinances: And for like reasons an ordinance is void when it conflicts with the charter, or when it is not authorized by the charter, or enacted as the charter requires. All powers of the municipal assembly emanate from the charter and must find their support in it as the source of authority: See discussion of this subject and citation of cases in note introductory to Art. III, Sec. 26 (heading), of the Charter.

In some respects the charter bears the same relation to the ordinances that the constitution does to the statutes: Quinette vs. St. Louis, 76 Mo. 402, 404.

See for discussion of validity of ordinances "General Note on Ordinances" to Chart., Art. III, Sec. 12, and note to "Legislative Powers and Functions of Municipal Assembly" to Art. III, Sec. 26.

As to validity of acts of officers during the period when it was erroneously supposed the adoption of the Scheme and charter had been defeated, see: Schaeffer vs. Bernero, 11 Mo. App. 562; Adams vs. Lindell, 72 Mo. 198 adopting 5 Mo. App. 197; State ex rel. vs. Sutton, 3 Mo. App. 388; St. Louis vs. Stoddard, 15 Mo. App. 173.

Judicial and Public Notice: The constitution requires the courts to take judicial notice of the Charter and the city's incorporation. Const., Art. IX, sec. 21. Barclay, J., in Walsh vs. Mo. Pac. Ry., 102 Mo. 1. c. 589; St. Louis vs. Lang, 131 Mo. 412, 420. See also State vs. Nolle, 96 Mo. App. 524, 526.

The courts take judicial notice that St. Louis is the only city having 300,000 inhabitants: State vs. Anslinger, 171 Mo. 600, 610; State ex rel. vs. Miller, 100 Mo. 439, 450.

And that it is a separate political subdivision of the State: See infra.

The Charter is a Public Act of which all persons interested are bound to take notice: Perkinson vs. St. Louis, 4 Mo. App. 322, 1. c. 328.

The City of St. Louis is a political subdivision of the State of which the courts take judicial notice: (State vs. Nolle, 96 Mo. App. 524; State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. 1. c. 337; State ex rel. vs. Ry., 195 Mo. loc. cit. 241 and 246; see also State ex rel. vs. Finn, 4 Mo. App. 347); and hence all appeals in cases in which the city is a party go to the Supreme Court: See note to Charter, Art. XVI, Sec. 6.

That the public must take notice of the city ordinances as of other laws, but that the courts do not take judicial notice of ordinances and that they must be pleaded and proved as facts, is treated of in "General note on Ordinances," appended to Chart., Art. III, Sec. 12.

How Far the City is Treated as a County: The constitution provides that "the city as enlarged shall be entitled to the same representation in the General Assembly, collect the state revenue and perform all other functions in relation to the State, in the same manner, as if it were a county as in this Constitution defined," etc. (Const., Art. IX, sec. 23.) "The charter contains many provisions to define the mode in which the city should perform many essential governmental duties toward the state 'as if it were a county,' the city was practically put in the position of a county for the purposes of executing the functions of government in that locality; as those functions were to be performed by city officers, the Scheme and Charter undertook in the first instance to prescribe how, and by whom, those duties should be discharged. But matters of purely municipal and local concern the constitution intended to commit to local self-government, which the peculiar provisions in regard to St. Louis were designed to authorize": St. Louis vs. Dorr, 145 Mo. 466, 479.

The court-house is maintained not by virtue of the municipal functions of the city but in the performance of a county function in the sense of the constitutional provision, and the relation of the city to the court-house is the same as the county to the court-house was before the separation: Cunningham vs. St. Louis, 96 Mo. 53. The City of St. Louis being for all necessary purposes a county in itself, the seat of justice of such quasi-county is the city itself, and not the court-house building, and a public office is located at the seat of justice when in the new city hall, though such locality was not part of the city when the court-house was originally erected: Babcock vs. Hahn, 175 Mo. 136, 140.

The City of St. Louis occupies the dual relation to the state of a county and of a city under its Scheme and Charter: State ex rel. vs. Bell, 119 Mo. 1. c. 73.

Though the city is not a "county" in the ordinary sense used in the Constitution, it is in a qualified sense a county, in that it is a "legal subdivision of the state" and performs the functions of a county: State ex rel. vs. Finn, 4 Mo. App. 347; to same effect State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. 1. c. 337; State ex rel. vs. Railway, 195 Mo. loc. cit. 241, 246. But in all other respects the City as constituted by the Scheme of separation, is a city proper and not a county, and the St. Louis county laws do not apply to the city: State ex rel. vs. Walsh, 69 Mo. 408.

The Rev. St. 1899, Sec. 4160, subdiv. 19, provide that "whenever the word 'county' is used in any law, general in its character to, the whole State, the same shall be construed to include the City of St. Louis, unless such construction be inconsistent with the evident intent of such law or of some law specially applicable to such city." (See Laws Spe. Applicable to St. Louis, Sec. 373). This section referred to or applied in the following cases: Henderson vs. Koenig, 168 Mo. 1. c. 363; St. Louis vs. Clabby, 88 Mo. 573; State ex rel. vs. Dillon, 87 Mo. 487; State ex rel. vs. Wilder, 198 Mo. 1. c. 173; Bank vs. Umrath, 55 Mo. App. 1. c. 48. Rev. St. 1899, p. 2562, Sec. 1 (Art. XXV) provides that in certain cases moneys required to be paid out of the county treasuries shall in St. Louis be paid out of the city treasury; and Rev. St. 1899, Sec. 6536, enacts that respecting the statutes concerning Justices of the Peace and Constables, "so far as applicable said city shall be considered as a county;" and likewise a district in said city shall be held to be the same as a township in said chapter (Ch. 9).

In State ex rel. vs. Dillon, 87 Mo. 491, the court says: "St. Louis is not by name a county, nor within the limits of any county. It is, for many purposes, throughout the statutes, treated as a county," but the case holds that the chapter on election laws relating to state officers, which shall apply to St. Louis the "same as to counties," does not apply to those officers performing purely municipal functions, such as the mayor, and in the same case (p. 491) it is further said: "Many of the statutes are applied by the use of the word county. The general laws are in most cases designed to have and to take effect throughout the entire state. St. Louis, as we have seen, is not a county by name. Hence this paragraph, which is a part of the article of the general laws concerning the construction of statutes, declares that whenever the word county is used in any law, general in its character," etc.

Transfer of old county functions and offices to corresponding city functionaries under the Scheme and Charter. In addition to the constitutional and statutory provisions referred to in the preceding references pointing out how far and when the city is to be regarded as performing county functions, it may not be out of place to refer to other provisions of the law concerning the necessary transfer of the function formerly performed by the county officials upon corresponding new officials under the Scheme and Charter.

Thus the state statutes provide that "all laws requiring any officer of any county to perform any duty, service or trust, under the laws of this state, shall include all corresponding city officers named in the Charter and Scheme of separation for the government of the city and county of St. Louis": R. S. 1899, Misc. Prov., Art. XXV, p. 2562, Sec. 3.

And "any act or duty authorized or required to be performed by the clerk of the county court, such act or duty shall be performed by the Register of the said City of St. Louis, and the term 'county clerk' shall be construed to include the Register, so far as the same relates to any act or duty required to be performed in said city similar in character," etc. R. S. 1899, Sec. 4160, subd. 18; and "all laws providing for the performance of any duty, service or trust, by any county clerk, shall apply to the Register of the City of St. Louis, as if such officer was specially named in such law, acts or parts of acts." R. S. 1899, Art. XXV, p. 2562, Sec. 4 (see State ex rel. vs. Tracy, 94 Mo. 217; as to ordinances on Register see Rev. Code, Ch. 28, Secs. 2062-2069 and notes). So with respect to Justices of the Peace and Constables, R. S. 1899, Sec. 6536, provides that the duties and services concerning them required (in Chap. 9 of the R. S.) of the county clerk shall be performed by the Register, and those by the County Court by the mayor (except in case of a tie or contested election; as to which see State ex inf. vs. Kramer, 150 Mo. 89).

Again: "All acts and parts of acts which provide for the performance of any duty or trust by any county court in this state, shall also include the Municipal Assembly and the Mayor and Comptroller of the City of St. Louis: R. S. 1899, Art. XXV, p. 2562, Sec. 2.

So in the Scheme, Sec. 24, it is provided that the Municipal Assembly performs all functions (not otherwise provided for in charter) which were formerly performed by the County Court (see 127 Mo. l. c. 9).

By Sec. 34 of the Scheme, powers then vested "in the County Court of St. Louis Co., or the clerk of said court, or the county collector or auditor, may be exercised by such tribunals or officers as may be provided by ordinance." sec. 18 provided for powers of sheriffs and marshal (see note to said section); also secs. 5 and 6 (see notes thereto). Other officers were similarly considered (see Scheme in general).

Respecting revenue and taxation, by the Charter, Sec. 34 of Art. V, the City Collector performs the duties with respect to the collection of the revenue formerly required by the County Collector (except as modified by statute: See note to said section). And Sec. 9334, R. S. 1899 (see Laws Specially Relating to St. Louis, Chapter 26, Sec. 469) is to the same effect. The following section (R. S., Sec. 9335; Laws Sp. Ap. St. L., Sec. 470) provides that the council [now municipal assembly] shall with reference to the assessing and collecting of revenue in the city do those things performed by the county court, where not otherwise provided for in the Scheme and Charter. So by the charter, Art. V, Sec. 29, the comptroller is substituted for the County Court in the general provisions respecting "land delinquent list," the "sale of land for taxes," and all other matters relating to the assessment books and tax bills. While Sec. 4 of Art. XVI of the charter requires the City Counsellor to perform the duties respecting street-opening cases which were looked after by the Land Commissioner prior to April 7, 1877. And as to collection of railroad taxes, R. S. 1899, Sec. 9383, says that "all services required to be performed by county officers under this article shall be performed in the City of St. Louis by the corresponding officers of the City of St. Louis, and wherever the word 'county' occurs it shall be construed to include the city."

Speaking of these kind of provisions the court in the case of State ex rel. vs. Powers, 68 Mo. l. c. 324, said: "As the city government, authorized by the constitution for the City of St. Louis, is entirely different in its organization from that of the county . . . it became necessary to provide in the charter the requisite municipal agencies . . . Proper officials were to be designated, the mode of their selection prescribed, and the duties which were previously performed by the officials designated in the general law were, by express enactment, to be imposed upon them," etc. See on this point (taxation) note to Charter, Art. V, Sec. 1; Laws Spec. Appl. to St. Louis, notes to Chapter 26.

So in State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. l. c. 337, considering whether certain officers performed state, city or county functions the court says: "While the City of St. Louis is strictly a municipal corporation its territory is also a subdivision of the state, in which officers are elected to perform the functions of the state government as distinguished from those pertaining to municipal government. Those officers are in no sense municipal officers. Their designation as officers of the City of St. Louis refers to their territorial jurisdiction rather than the governmental duties they perform. They are officers under the laws of the state and perform their duties within the city limits."

ARTICLE I.

CORPORATE POWERS, BOUNDARIES AND WARDS.

SECTION.

1. Corporate name and powers—authority to purchase, hold and dispose of property—to receive bequests, etc., and have a common seal.

SECTION.

2. Corporate limits and boundaries.
3. Ward boundaries.
4. Correction of ward limits and permanent division lines.

Section 1. Corporate name and powers—authority to purchase, hold and dispose of property—to receive bequests, etc., and have a common seal.—The inhabitants of all that district of country embraced within the limits prescribed in the next succeeding section, shall be and continue a body corporate by the name and style of “The City of St. Louis,” and by that name shall have perpetual succession, shall sue and be sued, implead and be impleaded, defend and be defended in all courts of law and equity, and in all actions whatsoever; may purchase, receive and hold property, real or personal, within said city, and beyond the limits of the city, to be used for the burial of the dead of the city, for the erection of waterworks to supply the city with water, for the establishment and erection of gasworks to supply the city with light, for the establishment of a hospital or hospitals for the reception of persons infected with contagious or other diseases, for a poor house or poor houses, work house, house of correction, or for any other purposes; may sell, lease or otherwise dispose of any property for the benefit of the city; may receive bequests, gifts and donations, of all kinds of property, within or without the city, in fee simple or in trust, for charitable or other purposes, and do all acts necessary to carry out the purposes of such bequests, gifts and donations, with power to manage, sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the same; and may have and use a common seal, and may break; change or alter the same at pleasure.

Powers of City: As a municipal corporation the city has in general these powers and no others: Those expressly granted, those necessarily or fairly implied in or incident thereto, and those essential to the declared objects of the corporation—not simply convenient, but indispensable; and a fair doubt as to the existence of the power is resolved against the corporation: See on this subject authorities and discussion in note to heading of Art. III, Sec. 26 of the Charter.

And as to the legislative functions of the city, and to what extent the courts will review the same on the ground of fraud, oppression or unreasonableness, and the validity of ordinances see same note (under Art. III, Sec. 26, heading).

Authority to Purchase, Hold and Dispose of Property: City may hold, purchase, etc., real estate in the county for the city's use: Scheme, Sec. 21; Power to “purchase, rent or lease in the city or elsewhere, any real or personal property, and to control, manage, sell or lease or otherwise dispose of same,” etc. see Chart., Art. III, Sec. 26, clause 14. And as to power to sell or lease parks: Art. VIII, Sec. 4. Supplying water outside city limits: See R. S. 1899, Secs. 6488-6491. The city may take and hold real or personal property: Christy vs. St. Louis, 20 Mo. 143, 145.

The city may acquire and hold such property beyond the limits of the city as may be proper for its purposes; and such right was not limited strictly to the specific purposes enumerated in the charter (prior to the present charter); and no one but the State can question the city's power: Chambers vs. St. Louis, 29 Mo. 543; Hafner vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 34.

The city has ample authority to build and maintain a bridge across the Mississippi, although part of such bridge must necessarily be outside the limits of the city and State, and, it seems, may condemn property for that purpose in Illinois: Haeussler vs. St. Louis, decided in Supreme Court Missouri in banc, July 2, 1907 (not yet reported).

Ample power is conferred on the city to deal with and dispose of property to which the absolute title has been bought by the city: State ex rel. vs. Schweickardt, 109 Mo. 1. c. 508-509.

The City of St. Louis has a fee simple title to its commons and may under its charter pass such title to a purchaser: Woodson vs. Skinner, 22 Mo. 13. See also St. Louis vs. United States, 92 U. S. 462.

As to execution of city contracts and conveyances, and the formalities necessary, see note to Charter, Art. XVI., Sec. 7.

Trustee in testamentary trust: The city may be the active trustee in the administration of a charitable testamentary trust, hold the legal title, and may be compelled to execute the trust after acceptance: Chambers vs. St. Louis, 29 Mo. 543, (followed in Barker vs. Donnelly, 112 Mo. 561, 575).

Seal of St. Louis City: See Rev. Code, Sec. 2069.

Land dedicated to particular use—diversion to another use: Where an easement is created, an abandonment by the grantee restores the title to the grantor freed therefrom, and where the title is conveyed on condition, it reverts when the condition fails; but when the title is conveyed absolutely in trust for a particular purpose (as here to the city for a meat-shop) the land may after such particular use be used for other purposes where there is no reservation of the right of re-entry on the diversion or abandonment of the use: Hand vs. St. Louis, 158 Mo. 204, referring to numerous city cases and distinguishing same.

As to lands dedicated for street purposes and diverted see note to Art. VI, Sec. 1, of Charter.

Sec. 2. Corporate limits and boundaries.—The corporate limits of the City of St. Louis shall comprise all that district of country situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Missouri, to-wit: Beginning at a point in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi River, and running thence westwardly at right angles to said channel, to a point on the west bank of said river 200 feet south of the center of the mouth of the River des Peres; thence westwardly and parallel to the center of the River des Peres, and 200 feet south thereof, to the eastern line of the Lemay Ferry road; thence westwardly to a point in the west line of said Lemay Ferry road at its intersection with the center of the Weber road; thence westwardly along the center of the Weber road to its intersection with the east line of lot one (1) of the Carondelet commons south of the River des Peres; thence westwardly to the southeast corner of Rudolph Overman's, or northeast corner of B. B. Haar's land; thence westwardly to said Haar's northwest corner; thence northwestwardly to a point in the center of the Gravois road six hundred (600) feet southwardly from the center of the bridge across the River des Peres; thence northwestwardly to the southeast corner of lot thirty-one (31) of the subdivision of the Mackenzie tract in U. S. Survey 1,953; thence northwestwardly in continuation of said last mentioned line to the southern line of lot twenty-one (21) of the subdivision of the said Mackenzie tract; thence northwestwardly to a point in the southern line of the U. S. Survey 2,035, twenty-six (26) chains eastward from the southwest corner of said survey; thence northwardly to a point in the north line of the subdivision of East Laclède, six hundred (600) feet west of the McCausland road; thence northwardly and parallel to the center of the McCausland road, to a point on the Clayton road six hundred (600) feet west of its intersection with the McCausland road; thence northwardly and parallel with the Skinner road, and six hundred (600) feet west thereof, to its intersection with the old Bonhomme road; thence northeasterly to the intersection of the center lines of Mc-Laren avenue and Mead street; thence in a northeasterly direction to a point in the Bellefontaine road six hundred (600) feet north of its intersection with the Columbia Bottom road; thence northwardly and parallel with the center line of the Columbia Bottom road to the northern boundary line of the U. S. Survey number (114) one hundred and fourteen; thence eastwardly along said line to the center of the main channel of the Mississippi River; thence with the meanderings of said channel southwardly to the point of beginning.

Boundaries, Jurisdiction, etc.: The extension of the city to its present boundaries was expressly authorized by the constitution: Art. IX, Sec. 20. "The authority conferred by that section on St. Louis was not the right of amendment, but was a grant to embrace in the charter it was authorized to frame for the first time, other territory not then within its boundaries:" Kansas City vs. Stegmiller, 151 Mo. loc. cit. 200, 201. See boundary fixed in Scheme, Sec. 1. Boundary on the east by the Mississippi; see Constitution of Missouri, Art. 1, Sec. 1; as to Mississippi being a public highway, obstruction of same by buildings or construction work in the river, extent of riparian ownership and rights, etc., see State ex rel. vs. Longfellow, 169 Mo. 109, and discussion; also Myers vs. St. Louis, 82 Mo. 367; s. c. 8 Mo. App. 266, s. c. 113 U. S. 566; St. Louis vs. Knapp Co., 104 U. S. 658, reversing s. c. 6 Fed. 221. Wharf boundaries and city ownership of wharf lands, see Rev. Code, Ch. X, Sec. 345, and following, and notes thereto; Harbor boundary see Charter, Art. IX, Sec. 3. Jurisdiction over Mississippi between Missouri and Illinois: See *Sanders vs. N. O. S. 226; Owning lands by city outside of city limits, see note introductory to Charter under "authority to purchase and hold property," etc. Taxation of lands beyond city limits: see note to Charter, Art. V, Sec. 1. A city ordinance or a city contract designed for the city at large, operates throughout its boundaries whatever their change: Gaslight Co. vs. St. Louis, 46 Mo. 121. See also Blair vs. Chicago, 201 U. S. 1. c. 488-489, (Chicago Traction Company case).

NOTE—In the above ward descriptions where streets and avenues are named, it is understood to be the center of each street or avenue, and where railroads are named, it is understood to be the center of the main track.

The ward boundaries here given were established by ord. 19289 (approved March 28, 1898) under the provisions of the next section of this article, and are those still in force, but a bill to change them is now pending. See the original ward boundaries set out in Rev. Ord. 1881, pp. 103-114; and as to subsequent changes, see McQuillin Amen. Chart., p. 166, note c. The original boundaries were changed by commissioner's report, approved Feb. 11, 1887 (pursuant to Laws 1885, p. 72); then by ord. 16662, approved April 22, 1892; then by ord. 19289, approved March 28, 1898.

"The courts are authorized to take notice, without proof, that Arsenal street is in a distant southern part of St. Louis, by reason of the language of the charter of that city, in which it is expressly named as one of the ward boundaries": Per Barclay, Walsh vs. Ry., 102 Mo. l. c. 589.

Sec. 4. Correction of ward limits and permanent division lines.—The Municipal Assembly shall, every five years after the adoption of this Charter, establish corrected ward limits, which correction shall be made as near as practicable so as to equalize the number of registered voters in each ward; but in making the division the present eastern and western boundaries of wards as herein established shall be retained, so that Rosatti, Twelfth and Eleventh streets, Jefferson avenue and the present city limits shall remain division lines.

See note to preceding section.

ELECTION AND REGISTRATION.

See also Charter, Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 8. All the original charter provisions (except above) were superseded by the state statutes, which now control elections. The charter provisions are therefore omitted here. These election laws are set forth hereinbefore under "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis." Chapter 9, ante pp. 124-156. The present law has been sustained by the courts. See notes to said reference and cases there cited. For a history of election laws relating to St. Louis see McQuil. Amended Charter, p. 179, note.

Section 1. The Municipal Assembly.—The legislative power of the City of St. Louis shall be vested in a Council and a House of Delegates, to be styled the "Municipal Assembly of the City of St. Louis."

As to the powers of the municipal assembly, its legislative functions and the extent to which the courts may or may not interfere therewith, and when its ordinances are or may be declared invalid, etc., see note introductory to Art. III, Sec. 26, of this Charter, and authorities there cited.

As to ordinance provisions respecting the municipal assembly, its organization, elections thereto, etc., see Rev. Code, Chap. 15, Art. I, Secs. 1376 and following; as to ordinances on the subject of ordinances, see ib. Art. 2, Secs. 1397-1414, and note to Charter, Art. III, Sec. 12.

Until the constitutional amendment in 1902 the assembly was required to consist of two houses (as at present) but the amendment then passed will permit of an amendment to the charter so that the assembly will consist of "at least one house of legislation to be elected by a general ticket": Const., Art. IX, Sec. 22.

MEMBERS OF MUNICIPAL ASSEMBLY—ORGANIZATION AND SESSIONS.

Sec. 2. The Council.—The Council shall consist of thirteen members, one of whom shall be its president, who shall be chosen on a general ticket by the qualified voters of the city, for four years, subject to the exception stated in the next section. Every member of the Council shall be a qualified voter, at least thirty years of age, and shall have been a citizen of this State five years, and an inhabitant of the city for one year next before the day of his election.

The provision originally contained in Sec. 2, requiring a member of the council to be "a freeholder of property therein," is omitted because it was rendered void by Sec. 5259, R. S. 1899, declaring every such provision as "inoperative and void."

Elected and appointed officers of the city are required to be citizens of the city at least two years, etc. See Chart., Art. IV, Sec. 10.

As to the ordinances relating to councilmen, elections, compensation, etc., see R. C. 1377 et seq.

Sec. 3. Terms of councilmen first elected—elections.—Of the members of the Council first elected, the president and the six receiving the highest number of votes shall hold their office for four years, and the other six for only two years. In case of a tie the senior in age shall hold for four years. At each general election thereafter for members of the House of Delegates, members of the Council shall be elected to succeed those whose terms will then have expired.

Sec. 4. House of delegates—election.—The House of Delegates shall consist of one member from each ward, to be chosen every two years by the qualified voters of the several wards.

Sec. 5. Qualification of delegates.—Every member of the House of Delegates shall, before the day of election, have attained the age of at least twenty-five years, have been a citizen of the United States and an inhabitant of the city three years, and of the ward which he may be chosen to represent, one year, and shall have paid city and State taxes for at least two years next before the day of election.

Sec. 6. Additional qualifications.—In addition to qualifications in the preceding sections, every member of the Municipal Assembly shall possess the following: He shall not be directly or indirectly interested in any contract with the city, or any department or institution thereof, and shall not be indebted to the State or city on account of any tax. He shall not have been convicted of malfeasance in office, bribery or other corrupt practices or crimes. Before any member of the Council or House of Delegates shall take his seat or perform the duties of his office, he shall take and subscribe an oath before the Register, (who shall file the same in his office,) that he possesses all the qualifications required in this and the preceding sections, and is not subject to any of the disqualifications therein named, and that he will support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and faithfully discharge the duties of his office. Any member, who shall at any time during his term cease to possess any of the qualifications mentioned in this and the preceding sections, shall thereby forfeit his office, and the same shall be filled as provided for in cases of other vacancies.

Similar disqualifications as to all elected and appointed officers: See Chart., Art. IV, Sec. 10, and note thereto; see also as to assemblymen further ineligibility, Art. III, Sec. 10.

Member interested in contract: R. S. 1899, Sec. 2346, providing that a city officer is guilty of misdemeanor if he becomes interested in a city contract applies to a member of the municipal assembly: State vs. Kelly, 103 Mo. App. 711 (holding that he may be punished although the same statute provides for removal from office).

A similar provision making any interest in a city contract a disqualification for office exists as to "all elected and appointed officers," in Charter, Art. IV, Sec. 10, and the subject is more fully treated in a note thereto.

Payment of taxes: It seems that payment of taxes on the day of election is in time to avoid ineligibility under a statute making it such for a candidate to be in arrears for unpaid city taxes: State ex inf. vs. Berkeley, 140 Mo. 184; but a receipt made the day after election without naming any sum or specific property is worthless to show payment of taxes: State ex rel. vs. Williams, 99 Mo. 291.

Conviction for other corrupt practices or crimes, in this section means those of the same class as those enumerated, and selling lottery tickets is not such: State ex rel. vs. Bersh, 83 Mo. App. 657, 666.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in Assembly—how filled.—Whenever a vacancy occurs, from any cause, in the office of any member of the Assembly, the Mayor, upon information thereof, shall, by proclamation, order an election to fill such vacancy for the unexpired term thereof, if the same exceed three months, to be held upon some day named in such order, not less than twenty nor more than thirty days next after the issuing of the proclamation.

Ordinance provision, see Rev. Code, Sec. 1390. As to what constitutes a vacancy in general, see note to Art. IV, Sec. 5.

When the House ousts one of its members-elect as ineligible, a vacancy occurs and the House cannot declare the candidate receiving the next highest vote as elected, but the mayor must fill the vacancy: Sheridan vs. St. Louis, 183 Mo. 25.

Sec. 8. Officers—prerogatives of Assembly—sessions—quorum—adjournment.—Each house shall appoint its own officers, except the President of the Council, and shall be sole judge of the qualifications, election and returns of its own members; and in case of a tie vote shall certify the same to the Mayor, who shall order a new election; may determine the rules of its own proceedings, except as herein provided; may arrest and punish by fine, not exceeding three hundred dollars, or imprisonment, as provided by ordinance, not exceeding ten days, or both, any person not a member, who shall be guilty of disrespect to the House by any disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence during its sessions; may punish its members for disorderly conduct, and with the concurrence of two-thirds of all memberselect, may expel a member; but no member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause. The presiding member of the Council shall be designated as "president," and shall be elected as such by the qualified voters, by general ticket every four years. The presiding officer of the House of Delegates shall be designated as "speaker," and be elected by the members thereof. A majority of the whole number of members of each house shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such a manner and under such penalties as each house may provide. The sessions of each house shall be held with open doors. Neither house shall, without consent of the other, adjourn for more than seven days at any one time, nor to another place than that in which the two houses may be sitting. The Assembly shall hold its sessions in the City Hall, subject to temporary change as aforesaid.

Although the House of Delegates may oust a candidate returned as elected, on the ground that he is disqualified by former conviction for crime, it cannot declare the candidate against him as elected and admit him as a member, because it cannot fill a vacancy caused by its action: Sheridan vs. St. Louis, 183 Mo. 25. It was held at first by the Court of Appeals that notwithstanding the above charter provision the courts may exercise a supervisory control where the house departs from or exceeds its powers: State ex rel. vs. Giovanoni, 59 Mo. App. 41; but this case was overruled in State ex rel. vs. Bersh, 83 Mo. App. 657 (Biggs, J., dissenting) and it was held that it is solely within the sphere of the House to judge of the qualifications of its members and that its acts in that respect cannot be controlled by the courts.

The Speaker of the House holds his office at the will of a majority of the delegates, and may be at any meeting removed by them: State ex rel. vs. Alt, 26 Mo. App. 673. For ordinance on Speaker see R. C., Sec. 1381.

As to the President of the Council, see supra Sec. 2.

The functions of the presiding officers are legislative: See Albright vs. Fisher, 164 Mo. 1. c. 65 (overruling State ex rel. vs. Meier, 143 Mo. 439, in so far as the latter held that such officer could be compelled by mandamus to sign a bill).

Rules may be suspended, waived or modified: Sedalia vs. Montgomery, 109 Mo. App. 197, 210.

For ordinance on Rules and Regulations see R. C., Sec. 1388.

For ordinance on contumacy, how dealt with, see R. C., Sec. 1394.

Sec. 9. Journal to be kept.—Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and the yeas and nays of the members on any question shall, at the desire of any two members, be taken and entered therein.

As to yeas and nays see Art. III, Secs. 16, 17, 21, 25, 30; Art. IV, Sec. 12.

The journal required by statute for cities of the third class is competent proof of the proceedings but not conclusive in jurisdictional matters: Sedalia vs. Montgomery, 109 Mo. App. 197 (certified to the Supreme Court as in conflict with Knopf vs. Roofing Co., 92 Mo. App. 279 and Sedalia vs. Scott, 104 Mo. App. 595).

Silence of a member does not evidence his consent to a measure: Carle vs. De Soto, 63 Mo. App. 1. c. 163.

Sec. 10. Members ineligible to office during term.—No member of the Assembly shall, during the term for which he is elected, be eligible or appointed to any office under the city, nor shall any member of the Assembly, while such, be an employe of the city, or of either branch of the Assembly, in any capacity whatever, and no compensation shall be audited or paid for services as such officer or employe.

For other disqualifications of assemblymen see Art. III, Sec. 6; IV Sec. 10 and note thereto.

No member of General Assembly shall be appointed to any state office or of any municipality: Const., Art. IV, Sec. 12; in cities of over 200,000 inhabitants no person shall be both state and city officer or fill two municipal offices, (not applicable to notaries, justices of the peace or militia) Const., Art. IX, Sec. 18.

Sec. 11. One annual session.—One session of the Assembly shall be held annually, beginning on the third Tuesday of April.

Amendment passed in 1885; formerly sessions began on first Tuesday instead of third. Extra sessions of the municipal assembly and what legislation may be had thereat: see note to Art. IV, Sec. 18.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS—ORDINANCES.*

*GENERAL NOTE ON ORDINANCES.

For ordinances on the subject of ordinances see Rev. Code, Ch. 15, Art. 2, Secs. 1397 to 1414.

As to legislative powers of the Municipal Assembly, and its limitations, and the control of the courts to annul ordinances, see note to Art. III, Sec. 26 (heading).

Ordinances in force at adoption of charter, not in conflict with it, remain in force until repealed: Charter, Art. XVI, Sec. 1.

Departure from prescribed form by omission of the ordaining clause or similar informalities is not fatal to the validity of the ordinance; such provisions are directory unless stated to be indispensable: St. Louis vs. Foster, 52 Mo. 513. See to same effect Rockville vs. Merchant, 60 Mo. App. 365, 371; St. Louis vs. Stern, 3 Mo. App. 48; see also Tarkio vs. Cook, 120 Mo. 1, 7-8.

It was held that, like statutes, city ordinances cannot be shown to be invalid by going behind the formal attestation and showing that the requirements of the organic law were not complied with: Ball vs. Fagg, 67 Mo. 481, 484; but this case was overruled in subsequent cases; see notes to heading of Sec. 26 of this article.

Ordinances unauthorized by charter or in conflict with it, see note to Art. III, Sec. 26.

Ordinances to go into effect on certain contingency are valid. See note to Art. III, Sec. 21.

Partial validity of ordinances. Where certain provisions of an ordinance are attacked, which are valid, and such provisions are severable from and not dependent upon invalid parts, the whole enactment will not be declared void because of such invalid portions, but the valid portion will be sustained, unless that would defeat the general object of the enactment, in which case the whole is void: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, loc. cit. 489; St. Louis vs. Grafeman Dairy Co., 190 Mo. 492; Kirkwood vs. Highlands, 94 Mo. App. 637; Asphalt Co. vs. Ulman, 137 Mo. 1 c. 569; St. Louis vs. Ry., 89 Mo. 44; Hannibal vs. Ry., 31 Mo. App. 23; Quinette vs. St. Louis, 76 Mo. 402, 404.

Ordinances presumptively valid. Ordinances are presumed to be valid and the burden to show that any of the steps required by law in its passage were not properly taken rests upon him attacking it: Savings Bank vs. Ridge, 183 Mo. 506, 518 (special tax bill under ordinance); State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 174 Mo. 125, 136 (two-thirds vote required being presumed unless contrary shown); Young vs. St. Louis, 47 Mo. 492 (two-thirds vote presumed when required). They are presumed to be passed as required by the charter: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 169 Mo. 31, 37; if not passed in a certain required manner necessary to their validity or if certain conditions precedent essential to their validity do not exist, that is special matter of defense to be pleaded and proved: St. Louis vs. Gleason, 15 Mo. App. 25, 29 (street opening). Parol evidence was at one time held inadmissible: Ball vs. Fagg, 67 Mo. 481; but this was said to have been practically overruled by State ex rel. vs. Mead, 71 Mo.; See Fruin Bambrick vs. Geist, 37 Mo. App. 1 c. 516. See also cases under note to Charter, Art. III, Sec. 9.

Attacking ordinance in the courts for fraud or as being unreasonable or oppressive, see note to Charter, heading of Sec. 26 of Art. III, and authorities there cited.

Pleading ordinances—judicial notice. The courts will not take judicial notice of ordinances; the party relying on the same must set out so much of them as may be necessary for his position: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, 490 (and see p.485 that if one section of an ordinance, of many sections, is pleaded, it is very doubtful whether other sections of the same ordinance can be considered); Mooney vs. Kennett, 19 Mo. 551; St. Louis vs. Roche, 128 Mo. 541, 544-545; Tarkio vs. Loyd, 179 Mo. 600, 605; Givens vs. Van Studdiford, 86 Mo. 149 (distinguished in Bragg vs. Railway, 192 Mo. 1. c. 350); St. Louis vs. Bippin, 100 S. W. 1048.

Reference merely to title and date of passage without more is insufficient: St. Louis vs. Stoddard, 15 Mo. App. 173, 179. But if the ordinance is a mere matter of evidence, and not the basis of the claim, and simply defines certain duties, the ordinance need not be pleaded, for the rule that evidence should not be pleaded is applicable to ordinances: Bailey vs. Kansas City, 189 Mo. 503, 514; Bragg vs. Street Ry., 192 Mo. 331, 350; Meng vs. Railroad, 108 Mo. App. 553, 564; Mulderig vs. Railroads, 116 Mo. App. 655, 665. As to the sufficiency of pleading ordinances in a police court, charging violation of an ordinance, see notation to Rev. Code, Sec. 1279. And it may be that a strictly municipal court will take notice of the city ordinances of a general nature: See McQuil, "Amended Charter," note on p. 200 to Art. III, Sec. 26 of Charter, citing cases from other states.

Although the case declares on an ordinance and pleads it, yet if there is sufficient pleaded and proved to make a case at common law the plaintiff may recover although the ordinance is not proved: Winkelman vs. Electric Co., 112 Mo. App. 184, 190, citing other cases.

Evidence of ordinances—how ordinances proved. Rev. St. Mo. 1899, Sec. 3100, provides that printed copies of ordinances purported to be published by authority of the city and certified to by the officer having charge of the same (register), with the seal of the city, are admissible in all the courts of this state without further proof; and any printed volume purporting to be published by such authority and to contain the ordinances are so admissible: See on this subject Campbell vs. Railway, 175 Mo. 171, 176 (in that case being the St. Louis Revised Ordinances); and no seal or attestation to printed volume is in such case required: St. Louis vs. Foster, 52 Mo. 513, 517 (also referring to the Revised Ord. of St. Louis); Tarkio vs. Cook, 120 Mo. 1, 12, citing Tipton vs. Norman, 72 Mo. 381.

By ordinance provision a reference to the revision of the St. Louis ordinances by section number is sufficient: See Rev. C., Sec. 1414.

But it may be observed that even in case of the official statutory revision, it may be shown that a provision has been illegally carried into it, and reference to the original rolls in the office of the Secretary of State is permissible to ascertain the facts: Bowen vs. Railway, 118 Mo. 541.

Proof where original ordinance record torn out of regular ordinance record book: Webb City vs. Parker, 103 Mo. App. 295; proof where original ordinance is lost: Covane vs. Milan, 99 Mo. App. 672; Wells vs. Pressy, 105 Mo. 164, 178; Rockville vs. Merchant, 60 Mo. App. 365, 370.

That ordinances cannot be impeached by parol, or going behind the formal attestation, to prove that the formalities required by the charter were not complied with has been stated above in this note.

Public presumed to know ordinances. The residents within a municipality must be held to know and take notice of the ordinances of the city; and this requirement is not inconsistent with the rule that the courts do not take judicial notice thereof: Jackson vs. Ry., 118 Mo. 199, 218-219.

And the provisions enter into a contract made with the city, whether formally referred to therein or not: See note to Art. XVI, Sec. 7.

As to judicial and public notice of Charter provisions, see note introductory to Art. I of the Charter: "General Considerations Respecting Charter."

Estoppel to attack ordinance as invalid by one who claims the benefit thereof: California vs. Telephone Co., 112 Mo. App. 722; Henderson vs. Koenig, 192 Mo. 690. See also note to Chart., Art. VI, Sec. 25, as to estoppel of owner to contest ordinance on which special tax bill is issued; and as to the doctrine of estoppel applying against and in favor of the city see note to Chart., Art. XVI, Sec. 7 and cases cited.

Construction of ordinances: See note at heading of Sec. 26 of Art. III, and cases there cited.

See as to certain ordinances on construction of city ordinances: Rev. Code, Secs. 1400-1410.

Sec. 12. Style of ordinances.—The style of ordinances of this city shall be: "Be it ordained by the Municipal Assembly of the City of St. Louis, as follows:"

Sec. 13. Origin, amendment and passage of bills—report on public improvement bills required within limited time.—No ordinance shall be passed except by bill, and no bill shall be so amended in its passage through either house as to change its original purpose. Bills may originate in either house, and may be amended or rejected by the other; and every bill shall be read on three different days in each house. Except as hereinafter specifically provided, no bill shall be considered for final passage unless the same has been reported upon by a committee. No bill (except general appropriation bills, which may embrace the various subjects and accounts for and on account of which moneys are appropriated), shall contain more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title. Any bill or matter recommended by the Board of Public Improvements and referred to either a standing or special committee of the Council or House of Delegates shall be reported upon by that committee within forty days from the time it was so referred. In the event of failure of such committee to so report within the time specified, the bill or subject matter shall be considered as before the Council or House of Delegates, as the case may be, and shall be referred to a committee of the whole Council or House of Delegates, and acted upon by said committee of the whole.

That ordinances are presumed to be regularly passed, etc., and also that they are not void because of informalities in enactment, see preceding note (Art. III, Sec. 12).

This section is an amendment adopted at the election on Oct. 22, 1901, the amendment adding two sentences (after the words "expressed in its title").

Departure from the form is not fatal: See authorities in the preceding note.

Three different readings held directory as to cities of the fourth class: See Aurora vs. Aurora Co., 129 Mo. 540, 577; and as to City of St. Louis: St. Louis vs. Foster, 52 Mo. 513, 1. c. 515 (holding that an ordinance regularly authenticated in the revision, could not be impeached on that ground).

Changing purpose: See similar constitutional provision construed in State ex rel. vs. Mason, 155 Mo. 486, 502, where the court says: "This purpose means the general purpose of the bill, not the mere details through which and by which that purpose is manifested and effectuated."

No bill shall contain more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in the title: This clause is not violated if all the provisions are germane to the one subject, and the generality of the title is no objection so long as it is not made to deceive, or to cover legislation incongruous in itself; sound policy and legislative convenience dictate a liberal construction of the title and subject matter to maintain their validity: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, 489; State vs. Whitaker, 160 Mo. 59; State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 169 Mo. 31; Bergman vs. Ry., 88 Mo. 678, 683 (Henry, J., dissenting, 685); Senn vs. Ry., 124 Mo. 621, 627; Weber vs. Johnson, 37 Mo. App. 601; St. Louis vs. Weitzel, 130 Mo. 600, 615-616.

(Nearly all the above are decisions on St. Louis ordinances, but there are numerous decisions in this state upholding state statutes against a like constitutional provision, on the same principle. These cases are to the effect that the title is sufficient if not deceptive as to the chief topic, and the minor features have a natural connection with the subject named in the title. See also on this subject: Blair vs. Chicago, 200 U. S. 400 loc. cit. 451. The constitutional inhibition does not apply to an ordinance: Tarkio vs. Cook, 120 Mo. 1, l. c. 7.) But if the purpose of the bill is not expressed in the title, although the body of the bill expresses the object, it is void; it was said "the body of the bill expresses its object, the title disguises and conceals it": State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 371, 386 (Marshall, J., dissenting, p. 398), repeating a quotation found in Kansas City vs. Payne, 71 Mo. l. c. 162.

Sec. 14. Compensation of members.—Each member of the Assembly shall be entitled to receive, for his official services of every kind, annually, during his term of office, three hundred dollars, and no more; but may be paid his reasonable expenses, authorized and incurred in any such service, to be approved by the house of which he is a member. Whenever a member of the Assembly is absent, without leave from his house first obtained therefor, for an entire sitting of any meeting, he shall forfeit one dollar of his official compensation; and for this purpose the roll of each house shall be called at each meeting thereof, and the names of such absentees shall be entered upon the journal, and be reported at the close of each meeting to the auditor, who shall deduct from each member's allowance the amount of forfeitures incurred as aforesaid.

For ordinance on this subject see Rev. Code, Sec. 1378.

One not de jure but only de facto a member of the House cannot recover the salary from the City: Sheridan vs. St. Louis, 183 Mo. 25.

Sec. 15. Engrossment of bills.—All amendments adopted by either house, to a bill pending and originating in the same, shall be incorporated with the bill by engrossment. The engrossing shall be under the supervision of a committee of three, whose report to the house shall set forth, in writing, that they find the bill truly engrossed, and correct.

For similar constitutional provisions for statutes see Const., Art. IV, Sec. 29.

Sec. 16. Majority vote necessary to pass bill.—No bill shall become an ordinance unless on its final passage the majority of the members elected to each house vote in its favor, and the vote be taken by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against the same be entered on the journal.

Yeas and nays: See St. Louis vs. Foster, 52 Mo. l. c. 515-516, citing N. Y. case. See as to construction of corresponding constitutional provision with respect to statutes, (Const., Art. IV, Sec. 31): State vs. Mead, 71 Mo. 266. The court takes judicial knowledge of the number of senators and members of state assembly: State ex rel. vs. Mason, 155 Mo. 486.

Sec. 17. Amendments, conference reports.—No amendment to bills by either house shall be concurred in by the other, except by a vote of a majority of the members elected thereto, taken by yeas and nays, and the names of those voting for and against, recorded upon the journal thereof; and reports of committees of conference shall be adopted in either house only by the vote of a majority of the members elected thereto, taken by yeas and nays, and the names of those voting recorded upon the journal.

See substantially similar constitutional provision as to statutes: Const., Art. IV, Sec. 32.

Sec. 18. Reference to title insufficient to re-enact.—No ordinance shall be revived or re-enacted by mere reference to the title thereof, but the same shall be set forth at length, as if it were an original ordinance.

See like constitutional provision as to statutes: Const., Art. IV, Sec. 33. Construed State ex rel. vs. Finn, 8 Mo. App., 341; French vs. Woodward, 58 Mo. 66.

Sec. 19. Form of amendment.—No ordinance shall be amended by providing that designated words thereof be stricken out, or that designated words be inserted, or that designated words be stricken out and others inserted in lieu thereof; but the ordinance or section amended shall be set forth in full, as amended.

See constitutional provision, relating to statutes, Const., Art. IV, Sec. 34, construed: 96 Mo. 602; 92 Mo. 325; 47 Mo. 29; 58 Mo. 66 supra; 100 Mo. 439.

Sec. 20. Motion to reconsider.—When a bill is put upon its final passage in either house, and failing to pass, a motion is made to reconsider the vote by which it was defeated, the vote upon such motion to reconsider shall be immediately taken, and the subject finally disposed of before the house proceeds to any other business.

See Const., Art. IV, Sec. 35.

Sec. 21. When ordinances to take effect.—No ordinance passed by the Assembly, except the general appropriation ordinance, shall take effect or go in force until ten days after its approval, unless in case of an emergency, (which emergency must be expressed in the preamble or in the body of the ordinance,) the Assembly shall, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, otherwise direct; said vote to be taken by yeas and nays, and entered upon the journal.

See constitutional provision as to statutes: Const., Art. IV, Sec. 36.

This provision in the charter fixing the time within which ordinances shall take effect is in the nature of a limitation upon legislative and ministerial power. It is founded in the policy of allowing a certain time to elapse within which the public may acquire knowledge of the ordinance before it shall become operative for any purpose; as in case of an act of the general assembly, so if any step founded on such ordinance is taken before it becomes operative no validity attaches to such step: Keane vs. Cushing, 15 Mo. App. 96, 101. ;

But an ordinance may lawfully be made to depend and be made contingent in going into effect, upon the happening of a future event within a reasonable time after the expiration of the ten days: Construction Co. vs. Lœvy, 64 Mo. App. 430, 432 (relying on State ex rel. vs. Pond, 93 Mo. 606 l. c. 621; the case was affirmed without notice of this point: 179 Mo. 255); Sherwood, J., in St. Louis vs. Howard, 119 Mo. 41 l. c. 47.

Parol evidence and even the journal is inadmissible to show that an ordinance valid on its face was passed prior or subsequent to the date of its attestation: Ball vs. Fagg, 67 Mo. 481.

Sec. 22. Signing of bills—reading—objections.—No bill shall become an ordinance until the same shall have been signed by the presiding officer of each of the two houses in open session; and before such officer shall affix his signature to any bill, he shall suspend all other business, declare that such bill will now be read and that, if no objections be made, he will sign the same to the end that it may become an ordinance. The bill shall then be read at length, and if no objections be made, he shall, in the presence of the house in open session, and before any other business is entertained, affix his signature, which fact shall be noted on the journal, and the bill immediately sent to the other house. When it reaches the other house, the presiding officer thereof shall announce the reception of the bill, and the same proceedings shall thereupon be observed, in every respect, as in the house in which it was first signed. If in either house any member shall object that any substitution, omission or insertion has occurred, so that the bill proposed to be signed is not the same in substance and form as when considered and passed by the house, such objection shall be passed upon by the house, and if sustained, the presiding officer shall withhold his signature.

An entry that "the speaker in open session affixed his signature thereto in accordance," etc., is sufficient to show a signature in the presence of the house: Construction Co. vs. Loevy, 64 Mo. App. 430, 436 (see s. c. in Supreme Court, but not noticing this point, 179 Mo. 255); and the provision requiring the presiding officer to sign in open session being the only one in this section of the charter that is mandatory, a compliance therewith is sufficient, the other provisions, such as suspending all other business, etc., being directory: Paving Co., vs. Hunt, 100 Mo. 22, 26.

After the bill has gone through all the legislative stages, the mere signing by the presiding officer was held to be a ministerial duty which he can be compelled by mandamus to perform in case he refuses without warrant to sign: State ex rel. vs. Meier, 143 Mo. 439 (Sherwood, J., dissenting); but this case was criticised as not announcing a correct rule of law by Judge Sherwood and overruled in Albright vs. Fisher, 164 Mo. l. c. 65, 67-68, (Brace and Gantt, JJ., dissenting on the overruling of the Meier case). The Albright case regards the duties of the presiding officer as legislative instead of ministerial and beyond the reach of the courts.

Sec. 23. Return of bills by Mayor.—Every bill, immediately after its passage in both houses, shall be presented to the Mayor, for his approval or disapproval. And the Mayor shall, within ten days after such presentation, consider and return such bill to the house in which it originated with his approval indorsed thereon or accompanied by his objection. If he approves the same it shall become a law, or in case the Municipal Assembly remain in session for ten days after such presentation, and the Mayor fails to return such bill as herein required, it shall become a law as if approved by him. Provided, that if the Municipal Assembly shall finally adjourn within ten days after any such presentation, the Mayor shall, within ten days after such adjournment, return such bill to the Register, with his approval or reasons for disapproval, otherwise it shall become a law as if approved.

For ordinance provision see R. C., Sec. 1397.

This section is as amended at the election of Oct. 6, 1885.

Under the former charter provisions there was room for doubt what effect followed the adjournment of the assembly within ten days after the passage of a bill which had not been returned by the mayor; but it was held that such bill did not become a law, otherwise it would have been in the power of the assembly to nullify the charter requiring the concurrence of the mayor in a bill: State ex rel. vs. Carr, 67 Mo. 38, affirming s. c. 1 Mo. App. 490. The present charter obviates the question; and an ordinance is not invalid because filed by the mayor in the register's office instead of the house, when it appears that both houses of the assembly had adjourned on the day of presentation to the mayor: Paving Co. vs. Hunt, 100 Mo. 22.

If the record shows the mayor's approval of a bill, the actual signature need not be proven: Bank vs. St. Louis, 10 Mo. App., 587 (memo. opin.)

"By the charter of St. Louis, the mayor is a part of the law-making, or ordinance-enacting, power of the city government, and his concurrence in legislative action is essential to its validity, unless the ordinance is passed over his veto": Gantt, J., in State vs. Butler, 178 Mo. l. c. 340, citing Eichenlaub vs. St. Joseph, 113 Mo. 395. When a resolution is effective and when not, see note to Art. III, Sec. 26.

Sec. 24. Executive privilege as to items of appropriation.—If any ordinance presented to the Mayor contain several items of appropriation, he may object to one or more items while approving other portions of the bill. In such case, he shall append to the ordinance at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects, and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the Assembly be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the ordinance originated, a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If it be not in session, then he shall transmit the same within ten days to the Register, with his approval, or reasons for disapproval.

Sec. 25. Action on vetoes.—Every bill presented as aforesaid, but returned without the approval of the Mayor, and with his objections thereto, shall stand as reconsidered in the house to which it is returned. The house shall cause the objections of the Mayor to be entered at large upon the journal, and proceed, at its convenience, to consider the question pending, which shall be in this form: "Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Mayor thereto notwithstanding?" The vote upon this question shall be taken by yeas and nays, and the names entered upon the journal, and if two-thirds of all the members elected to the house vote in the affirmative, the presiding officer of that house shall certify that fact on the rolls, attesting the same by his signature, and send the bill, with the objections of the Mayor, to the other house, in which like proceedings shall be had in relation thereto, and if the bill receives a like majority of the votes of all the members elected to that house, the vote being taken by yeas and nays, the presiding officer thereof shall in like manner certify the fact upon the bill. This bill, thus certified, shall be deposited in the office of the Register, as an authentic act, and shall become an ordinance in the same manner, and with like effect, as if it had received the approval of the Mayor.

For Ordinance, see R. C., Sec. 1398.

LEGISLATIVE POWERS ENUMERATED—LIMITATIONS*

Powers of municipality in general. A municipal corporation possesses and can exercise the following powers and no others: (1) Those granted in express words, (2) those necessarily or fairly implied in or incident to the powers expressly granted; (3) those essential to the declared objects and purposes of the corporation—not simply convenient, but indispensable.' And any fair, reasonable doubt concerning the existence of power is resolved by the courts against the corporation and the power is denied: 1 Dillon Mun. Corp. (4 Ed.) 145, quoted and followed in St. Louis vs. Kaime, 180 Mo. 309, 314, 322; to same effect: State vs. Butler, 178 Mo. 272, 512 et seq. and cases cited; St. Louis vs. Telephone Co., 96 Mo. 623; Independence vs. Cleveland, 167 Mo. 384, 388; Joplin vs. Jacobs, 119 Mo. App. 134, 138.

But the construction of power must not be so strict as to defeat the evident objects and purposes of its creation: State ex rel. vs. Allen, 183 Mo. 283, 291. The construction should be in accordance with the intent of the charter framers, to be gathered from the language and object of the charter provisions, and giving that language an interpretation neither strict nor strained: St. Louis vs. Herthel, 88 Mo. l. c. 130. See to same effect: Railway vs. Railway, 105 Mo. 562, 575-576.

Ordinarily, in the absence of express authority to a municipal corporation the power to confer exclusive privileges or monopolies, will not be implied as within its powers: Kirkwood vs. Highlands, 94 Mo. App. 637, 644; Carroll vs. Campbell, 108 Mo. 557; Freeport Water Co. vs. Freeport, 180 U. S. 587, 598; Joplin vs. Light Co., 191 U. S. 150. Speaking of municipal powers in general, the U. S. Supreme Court says, in Citizens' Ry. vs. Detroit Ry., 171 U. S. l. c. 53: There are reasons "which insistently forbid that the future should be committed and bound by the conditions of the present time, and functions delegated for public purposes be paralyzed in their exercise by the existence of exclusive privileges," citing many cases. But the city may exclude itself from competing with a company upon which it confers certain franchises, if the terms used are clear and explicit: Vicksburg vs. Waterworks Co., 202 U. S. 453; Walla Walla vs. Walla Walla Waterworks, 172 U. S. l. c. 13-19. But only by express provision: Joplin vs. Light Co., 191 U. S. 150.

As to specific powers under the charter see Charter, Art. I, Sec. 1, and note; also powers designated in this section (Art. III, Sec. 26). The assembly is possessed of the powers formerly exercised by the county court; see paragraph on the "transfer of functions," etc., contained in note introductory to charter "General Considerations," etc.

Legislative functions of the municipal assembly—how far subject to judicial control—fraud. As will appear from the charter and authorities hereinafter cited, all legislative powers of the city are vested in the municipal assembly, (subject to the approval of the mayor, unless the bill is passed over his veto: See note to Chart. III, Sec. 23; also Sec. 25 supra); but this power is limited to the extent that all ordinances relating to public work or improvements are required by the charter to emanate from the Board of Public Improvements and which the assembly cannot even amend, but only either pass or reject. (See Art. VI, Secs. 1, 14, 17, 22 and 27 and notes to those sections.)

The municipal assembly of St. Louis when engaged in the passage of an ordinance is engaged in legislative functions, and in doing so is exercising a part of the law-making powers of the State, and in so doing constitutes part and parcel of the legislative department; and hence the courts have no jurisdiction to enjoin the municipal assembly from enacting a proposed ordinance or interfering with it in any way whatsoever: Albright vs. Fisher, 164 Mo. 56, 60, 65, reviewing the cases and overruling State ex rel. vs. Meier, 143 Mo. 429 (two judges dissenting as to overruling this case); State ex rel. vs. Bersh, 83 Mo. App. 657, 668; (See further, infra, this note.)

Ordinances have the force and effect of laws within the city. The municipal assembly is a "miniature general assembly," and when acting within its sphere its ordinances are accorded the same effect as to the laws of other legislative bodies: State ex rel. vs. Bersh, 83 Mo. App. 657, 668; St. Louis vs. Foster, 52 Mo. 513; St. Louis vs. Boffinger, 19 Mo. l. c. 15; Taylor vs. Carondelet, 22 Mo. 105; Albright vs. Fisher, 164 Mo. l. c. 64 and cases cited; Keane vs. Cushing, 15 Mo. App. 96, 101; Railway vs. Railway, 105 Mo. l. c. 575; Jackson vs. Railway, 118 Mo. l. c. 218; Grand Ave. Ry. vs. Citizens' Ry., 148 Mo. 665, 671-672 and cases cited.

See further on this point comments and cases cited under introductory note to Charter (Art. I).

The municipal assembly is the authorized agent of the State so far as the State powers are delegated to it by the charter, and its acts are entitled to the same consideration as State acts: See cases above; see also cases cited under note introductory to charter, "General Considerations on the Charter": See further State vs. De Bar, 58 Mo. l. c. 397.

That the public are held to notice of ordinances within the city see note to "Ordinances" under Charter, Art. III, Sec. 12.

To the extent that a city council is clothed with legislative authority from the State it is as free from control by the judiciary as the general assembly; but it differs from the general assembly in that it is not the original and essential part of the legislative department of the state and possesses no inherent legislative power and can only exercise the power conferred by law; and an act, even strictly legislative, after having been passed by such council, may, when attempt is made to apply it to the injury of the rights of an individual, be assailed as the product of fraud or corruption; and the city council in its ministerial functions, or acting in its contractual capacity, is under judicial control: State ex rel. vs. Gates, 190 Mo. 540, 556, 559, citing cases (and distinguishing Albright vs. Fisher, 164 Mo. 56, which involved the exercise only of legislative power with which the court denied the right of interference). See also Knapp Stout & Co. vs. St. Louis, 156 Mo. 343; s. c. 153 Mo. 560; Skinker vs. Heman, 148 Mo. 349, 355; Morse vs. Westport, 136 Mo. 276. See other cases below.

When it is said that the validity of a city ordinance may be attacked after its passage on the ground of fraud in its procurement it is not meant that actual bribery or corruption must be shown, but it is sufficient if the fraud charged is of that character that has been defined to be the willful doing of an unlawful act; such fraud may be shown by parol of the acts of the municipal assemblymen; and in a condemnation proceeding the objection of invalidity may be made by the property owner without formal pleadings; the courts will look through any sham of the municipal assembly and see the truth, and the best evidence obtainable, whether documentary or oral understandings, will be received to show the real purpose of the ordinance: Kansas City vs. Hyde, 196 Mo. 498.

But generally, in attacking an ordinance as having been procured by fraud, or illegal influence, it is absolutely essential to plead the acts which constitute the alleged fraud and invalidate the proceedings: Paving Co. vs. Field, 188 Mo. 182, 203; Nagel vs. Railroad, 167 Mo. 89; Knapp Stout Co. vs. St. Louis, 153 Mo. 560; s. c. 156 Mo. 343.

Ordinances are presumptively valid, and the burden to show the contrary, or that the legal steps required in their enactment have not been observed, is on the party attacking it: See "General Note on Ordinances" to Charter, Art. III, Sec. 12, and cases there cited.

When oppressive or unreasonable. But even if an ordinance is legally enacted and within the scope of municipal power over the subject, the courts will declare it void, if it is unjust, oppressive or unreasonable, but a clear case must be presented to warrant a court in annulling the ordinance: St. Louis vs. Weber, 44 Mo. 547 (prohibiting meat shops in new city limits upheld); Springfield vs. Jacobs, 101 Mo. App. 339, 342, citing numerous cases and text writers (license tax held void); Gratiot vs. Mo. Pac., 116 Mo. 450, 467 (railroad speed ordinance held valid); Neir vs. Mo. Pac., 12 Mo. App. 25 (same); Zumault vs. K. C. Line, 71 Mo. App. 670, 676 (same held void); White vs. Railroad, 44 Mo. App. 540; Plattsburg vs. Hagenbush, 98 Mo. App. 669 (same); Skinker vs. Heman, 148 Mo. 349, citing numerous cases on p. 356 (upholding special tax legislation); Hannibal vs. Tel. Co., 31 Mo. App. 23 (holding ordinance to change location of telephone poles as previously authorized to be void where no reason therefor existed); Lamar vs. Weidman, 57 Mo. App. 507 (ordinance requiring all weighing on scales to be void); Cape Girardeau vs. Riley, 72 Mo. 220 (ordinance allowing attorney fee in collecting tax is void).

And at all events where the ordinance is sustainable only under a general grant of power and not specific authority, the reasonableness thereof may be inquired into by the courts: Springfield vs. Starke, 93 Mo. App. 70, 77; St. Louis vs. Heitzeberg, 141 Mo. 375 (holding void ordinance prohibiting emission of smoke).

See as to power to enact ordinances respecting nuisances, note to Rev. Code, Ch. 11, Art. 12 (Secs. 584 et seq.).

But in the exercise of powers specifically and directly granted, the municipal authorities are beyond the control of the courts and act legislatively; and their discretion cannot, at least in the absence of fraud, or caprice, be reviewed judicially (most of the instances applying this rule are those of special taxation): Prior vs. Construction Co., 170 Mo. 439, 451; Skinker vs. Heman, 148 Mo. 349, 355-356, citing numerous cases; Heman vs. Schulte, 166 Mo. 409; Heman vs. Franklin, 99 Mo. App. 346; Heman vs. Allen, 156 Mo. 534; Morse vs. Westport, 136 Mo. 276; Lamar vs. Weidman, 57 Mo. App. 1. c. 513; Kansas City vs. Trieb, 76 Mo. App. 478. And as to avoiding ordinances for fraud, see this note above.

The enforcement of void ordinances by the city, threatening a multiplicity of suits, may be enjoined: Sylvester Coal Co. vs. St. Louis, 130 Mo. 325.

Unauthorized ordinances: An ordinance is void which conflicts with a charter provision, or which is not authorized by the charter, or is not enacted in essential matters as the charter provides. All powers of the municipal assembly emanate from the charter and must there find their support as the source of authority: St. Louis vs. Kaime, 180 Mo. 309; State vs. Butler, 178 Mo. 272, 299; St. Louis vs. Clemens, 43 Mo. 395, 404; Ruggles vs. Collier, 43 Mo. 353, 375; Carr vs. St. Louis, 9 Mo. 190; State ex rel vs. Johnson, 123 Mo. 1. c. 50.

In some respects the charter stands to the ordinances as the constitution does to the statutes: Quinette vs. St. Louis, 76 Mo. 402, 404; "the charter is the city's constitution and the common council, with the mayor's approval, is its legislative body": per Gill, in Forry vs. Ridge, 56 Mo. App. 1. c. 624 (holding that a meeting of the council in Kansas City is void if not at the time and place authorized by the charter).

A large municipal body, entrusted with the execution of a power, must be allowed some discretion in the choice of means, unless it appears that it was plainly intended to confine it to a prescribed mode: Page vs. St. Louis, 20 Mo. 136, 142.

That matters of form prescribed by charter in enacting an ordinance are usually directory only, and a departure therefrom not fatal: see note to Art. III, Secs. 12 and 13, and authorities there cited.

Uncertainty and vagueness may be such as to invalidate an ordinance (Ramsay vs. Field, 92 So. W. 350^o (Kans. City Ct. App.); See State vs. Railway Co., 146 Mo. 155, holding a statute void); but a reference to specifications on file in an official office is enough on that subject: Asphalt Co. vs. Ullman, 137 Mo. 543, 571; Becker vs. Washington, 94 Mo. 375, 380; Sheehan vs. Gleason, 46 Mo. 100 (in which the court says: "An ordinance may lack desirable precision, and still may so provide for the manner in which an improvement shall be made, and be such a compliance with the law, although a loose one, that the courts would not be authorized to invalidate the action of the city officers under it.")

Delegation of authority by the assembly. The general rule is that powers which are legislative in their nature cannot be delegated by the municipal assembly as that is the purpose of its creation but powers that are merely ministerial, requiring no legislative discretion, may be delegated: Ruggles vs. Collier, 43 Mo. 353, 365 (no authority to delegate question whether repaving to be done); St. Louis vs. Clemens, 43 Mo. 395, 403; s. c. 52 Mo. 133 (no authority to delegate determination of dimensions of sewers); Neill vs. Gates, 152 Mo. 585, 594 (same); St. Louis vs. Russell, 116 Mo. 248, 255 (no power to delegate power to determine location of livery stable to lot owners); St. Louis vs. Howard, 119 Mo. 41, 47 (no power to permit slaughter house location to be determined by adjacent occupants of houses); Tipton vs. Norman, 72 Mo. 1. c. 384 (power to provide for the convenient and proper work provided by ordinance); St. Louis vs. Lamp Co., 139 Mo. 560 (authorizing assembly to provide for a board to examine, in behalf of the city, applicants for licenses as engineers, dentists, etc. Such ordinances are in nature of police functions): See Fisher vs. St. Louis, 194

U. S. l. c. 371-372 ("the authority to delegate that discretion [singling out persons for certain privileges] to a board appointed for that purpose is sustained by the great weight of authority [citing cases] and by this court the delegation of such power even to a single individual, was sustained in Wilson vs. Eureka City, 173 U. S. 32, and Gundling vs. Chicago, 177 U. S. 183.")

The tendency of the later cases is to enlarge the power of delegation and make many acts valid that formerly would have been held unauthorized.

As to delegation in case of street improvement ordinances, see cases in note to Charter, Art. VI, Sec. 15.

See further as to when power may be delegated as ministerial the special subjects in connection with which the point is involved.

But an ordinance may be made to go into effect on a future contingency, dependent on the action of certain persons, and this is not a delegation of legislative power: See cases in note to Art. III, Sec. 21 of Charter.

Delegation of State power to city is lawful: See note introductory to the Charter.

Legislation by resolution or permit. By the charter the mayor is a part of the law-making or ordinance-enacting power of the city government and his concurrence in legislative action essential to its validity, unless the ordinance is passed over his veto: See note to Art. III, Sec. 23, citing State vs. Butler, 178 Mo. l. c. 340; State ex rel. vs. Carr, 67 Mo. 38 and other cases; see also 50 Mo. 488; 60 Mo. 153. St. Joseph vs. Wilshire, 47 Mo. App. 125; Silvester vs. St. Louis, 164 Mo. 601.

A resolution cannot accomplish that which is required to be done by ordinance: See Young vs. St. Louis, 47 Mo. 492 l. c. 495; Cape Girardeau vs. Fangen, 30 Mo. App. 551; Trenton vs. Coyle, 107 Mo. 193, and cases there cited; Nevada vs. Eddy, 123 Mo. 546; Reed vs. Peck, 163 Mo. 333.

Unless the action termed a resolution be in fact enacted with all the requisites of an ordinance and in fact is such: Tipton vs. Norman, 72 Mo. 380 l. c. 384; Springfield vs. Knott, 49 Mo. App. 612; Crebs vs. Lebanon, 98 Fed. 549. As in case of a resolution being ratified by a subsequent ordinance: State ex rel. vs. Milling Co., 156 Mo. 620.

And it would seem where the assembly alone has power to act, (the concurrence of the mayor not being required) a resolution is sufficient: See 156 Mo. l. c. 632, citing Eichenlaub vs. St. Joseph, 113 Mo. l. c. 402; Alma vs. Bank, 60 Fed. 203; s. c. 8 U. S. C. C. A. 564, 567.

So where an ordinance is required, a mere order or permit of the mayor without action of the assembly, confers no authority and is void: Lockwood vs. Ry., 122 Mo. 86; see also Carroll vs. St. Louis, 12 Mo. 444.

Ordinances of a de facto legislative municipal body are valid: Perkins vs. Fielding, 119 Mo. 149, 159, and cases cited; Hilgert vs. Barber Asphalt Co., 107 Mo. App. 385; so, ordinances passed by acting mayor and city council of St. Louis, after the council was abolished by the adoption of the Scheme of separation, but before the adoption was known, is not necessarily void: Adams vs. Lindell, 72 Mo. 198, affirming s. c. 5 Mo. App. 197; St. Louis vs. Stoddard, 15 Mo. App. 173, 177.

Construction of charter and ordinance provisions. Where there are two charter provisions, or two ordinances, both on the same subject, one of which is special and particular upon the subject, and the other general so that if standing alone it would cover the same subject, and would conflict with the special act, the special act controls the general: St. Louis vs. Kaime, 180 Mo. 309, 318; Ruschenberg vs. Railroad, 161 Mo. 70, 82; State vs. Butler, 178 Mo. 272, 302; Campbell vs. St. L. & S. Ry. Co., 175 Mo. 161, 176-177; Jaicks vs. Merrill, 98 S. W. (Sup. Ct. Mo., Dec. 22, 1906) l. c. 757.

The provisions of the charter must be so construed that effect is given to all of them: Hill vs. St. Louis, 159 Mo. l. c. 168; St. Louis vs. Lane, 110 Mo. l. c. 258; Verdin vs. St. Louis, 100 Mo. l. c. 122; Jaicks vs. Merrill, 98 So. West, 755, l. c. 757 (Sup. Ct., Dec. 22, 1906).

Construction of ordinances is for the court and should not be left to the jury: Barton vs. Odessa, 109 Mo. App. 76.

So the validity of an ordinance can never be left to the jury: Fruin, etc., vs. Geist, 37 Mo. App. 1. c. 516.

Charter provisions are construed against the implication of powers not expressly granted, but not so strictly as to defeat the municipal objects: See paragraph in this note "Powers of Municipalities," supra.

Nor should an ordinance be so strictly construed as to defeat the intent thereof, even in case of a public improvement to be paid for by special tax bill: See cases cited in note to Art. VI, Sec. 25.

In construing municipal ordinances dealing with important subjects it may reasonably be presumed that no provision escaped attention or was misunderstood: Cleveland vs. Electric Ry., 201 U. S. 529.

The title of an ordinance may be considered in its interpretation: St. Louis vs. Robinson, 135 Mo. 460, 470.

As to construction of penal ordinances and their enforcement in police courts see note to Rev. Code, Sec. 1265 (citing amongst others St. Louis vs. Robinson, 135 Mo. 460, 470.)

Rule of ejusdem generis: St. Louis vs. Laughlin, 49 Mo. 559; St. Louis vs. Herthel, 88 Mo. 128; St. Louis vs. Bell Tel. Co., 96 Mo. 623, 629.

The municipal assembly may define the terms used in an ordinance in the same manner as the general assembly: St. Louis vs. Weitzel, 130 Mo. 600.

As to certain rules of construction of ordinances, provided for by the ordinances of St. Louis, see Rev. Code, Secs. 1400-1410.

In the construction of ordinances, as in case of statutes, the courts lean to a construction which favors and upholds their constitutionality (Brown vs. Ry., 137 Mo. 529; Lamar vs. Weidman, 57 Mo. App. 1. c. 513 citing St. Louis vs. Griswold, 58 Mo. 192; State vs. Able, 65 Mo. 357; and see on this point cases cited under the foregoing paragraphs that ordinances are prima facie valid, etc.) But this rule only applies where the ordinance is authorized by the charter: State vs. Butler, 178 Mo. 272, 311.

Where the construction upholds an ordinance partially, as to whether the whole ordinance is void or not, see cases on "partial invalidity of ordinances" in note to Sec. 12 of Art. III.

Liability of city exercising legislative or ministerial functions. As to liability of city for defective highways and sewers, see cases in note to Chart., Art III, Sec. 26, clause 2; change of grade, note to Art. VI, Sec. 19; condemnations for public use, Art. VI, Sec. 1; nuisances, see head note to Rev. Code, Chap. 11, Art. 11, on "nuisances," preceding Sec. 584.

As to liability of officers of city see note to Art. IV, Sec. 43.

The general rule is that the city is not liable for damages resulting from acts done or omitted by it or its officers in the exercise of its legislative, public or governmental capacity, but is liable for damages resulting from negligence in its ministerial, private or proprietary capacity: Ely vs. St. Louis, 181 Mo. 724; Dinsmore vs. St. Louis, 192 Mo. 255; Ruppenthal vs. St. Louis, 190 Mo. 213; Murtaugh vs. St. Louis, 44 Mo. 479; Barree vs. Cape Girardeau, 197 Mo. 382; Donohue vs. Kansas City, 136 Mo. 657; Heller vs. St. Louis, 53 Mo. 159; McKenna vs. St. Louis, 6 Mo. App. 320; Ulrich vs. St. Louis, 112 Mo. 138; Johnston vs. Dist. Col., 118 U. S. 21; Gulath vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 38; Fuchs vs. St. Louis, 167 Mo. 620; St. Louis vs. Gurno, 12 Mo. 414; Foster vs. St. Louis, 71 Mo. 157; Kansas City vs. Lemen, 57 Fed. (C. C. A.) 905.

Hence the city is not liable for failure to enforce its own ordinances: Kiley vs. Kansas City, 89 Mo. 103; Armstrong vs. Brunswick, 79 Mo. 319; Moran vs. Pullman Car Co., 134 Mo. 641, 651; Harman vs. St. Louis, 137 Mo. 494, 499; Loth vs. Columbia Theatre Co., 197 Mo. 328, 357 and cases cited on p. 358. Nor for cases of defective legislation: Carroll vs. St. Louis, 4 Mo. App. 191; Saxton vs. St. Joseph, 60 Mo. 153. Nor where its officers act under a void ordinance believed to be valid: Worley vs. Columbia, 88 Mo. 106; nor for a trespass committed by its officers: Quinn vs. Schneider, 118 Mo. App. 39.

Liability of private persons inter sese for violation of ordinances was long a mooted question in Missouri. It is now held that a violation of a police regulation ordinance affords the basis of a civil liability in favor of one injured in consequence thereof: See authorities cited in note to Sec. 1864 of Rev. Code, especially Sluder vs. Transit Co., 189 Mo. 107, where the question is elaborately discussed and the authorities on both sides are fully collated in both the majority and dissenting opinions, with suggestions as to the limitation as well as application of the principle involved. That case has since been uniformly followed as the law of the state.

Sec. 26. Legislative powers vested in Mayor and Assembly.—The Mayor and Assembly shall have power within the city, by ordinance not inconsistent with the constitution, or any law of this State, or of this charter—

First—To levy and collect taxes, borrow and appropriate money.—To assess, levy and collect all taxes for general and special purposes, on real and personal property and licenses and on any or all of the subjects or objects of taxation which the municipality may tax under the Constitution and laws of this State; to borrow money on the faith and credit of the city, by the issue or sale of bonds or notes, for such amounts, and for such time, and for such purpose as may be required for current expenses, and for payment of maturing bonds and for such other purposes as may be authorized by this Charter or by the Constitution of this State in force at the time; but no note for the purpose of borrowing money shall be made or issued for a longer period than twelve months; to appropriate the money of the city for legitimate purposes, and provide for its debts and expenses.

Negotiable bonds of the city in the form of coupon bonds or registered bonds or both, or coupon bonds with the privilege of registration, may be issued from time to time within the limits prescribed by the Constitution of this State in force at the time for any one or more of the following purposes, to-wit:

1. For the completion of the City Hall in progress of construction.
2. For the construction and extension of water works or the purchase of the same, and the purchase of any land for that purpose, bonds for this purpose to be issued so as to comply with the provisions of the Constitution in force at the time of the issue thereof.
3. For the construction, reconstruction and extension of public sewers and the purchase of land for such purpose.
4. For the construction and reconstruction of buildings for the Fire Department, and the purchase of sites for such buildings.
5. For the construction, reconstruction and extension of bridges and viaducts, and the purchase of land for such purpose.
6. For the construction, reconstruction and extension of hospitals, Insane Asylum, Poor House, and the House of Refuge, and the purchase of sites for the same.
7. For the construction, reconstruction and extension of court houses, jails and work houses, and the purchase of sites for the same.
8. For the creation and laying out of public parks and squares, and the purchase of land for the same.
9. For the construction, reconstruction, purchase, acquisition or extension of any other public buildings or any other public improvements of a permanent character which the city is or may be authorized or permitted under its charter to construct, reconstruct, purchase, acquire or extend, and also to purchase land for the same, and the enumeration of the specific purposes in the preceding paragraphs numbered one to eight, inclusive, shall not be construed to qualify or limit the general provisions of this paragraph nine.

10. For refunding or renewing from time to time any bonded indebtedness of the city existing at the time.

No bonds of the city, except bonds for refunding or renewing bonded indebtedness, shall be issued under the provisions of this Paragraph First of Section 26, without the assent of two-thirds of the qualified voters of the city voting at an election to be held for that purpose. The Mayor and Assembly may from time to time by ordinance prescribe the manner of holding such election, the time and manner of giving notice of such election, the form of question to be submitted, the form of ballot and the method of conducting, canvassing and declaring the result of such election, and all such other proceedings and things as may be necessary or proper to do with respect to any such election, and the issue and sale of such bonds. It shall not be necessary in the ordinance calling the election, in the notice of election, in the question submitted, or in the ballot, or in any of the matters preceding the said election, for the Mayor and Assembly to state the amount of bonds proposed to be issued for each purpose, but it shall be sufficient if the ordinance and notice of election state the total amount of the bonds proposed to be voted upon at the particular election then to be held, and in general language the purpose or purposes for which such total amount of bonds is to be issued, and if two-thirds of the voters of the city voting at such election assent to the issuance of such amount of bonds, then such amount of bonds may be issued and such bonds or the proceeds thereof may from time to time by ordinance be appropriated by the Mayor and Assembly in such amount or amounts as they may determine to the purpose or purposes for which such total amount was voted.

Such bonds, after having been assented to by the voters of the city as aforesaid, may be issued from time to time in such amounts, not exceeding in the aggregate the total amount assented to by the voters, and in such form and containing such recitals and provisions, and payable in such kind of money, and bearing such rates of interest, and executed by such executive officers of the city, and sold at public or private sale by such officers and in such manner as may from time to time be prescribed by ordinance. Refunding or renewal bonds as aforesaid may be so issued from time to time without any vote of the voters of the city.

Bonds issued under the provisions of this Paragraph First of Section 26, requiring the assent of the voters of the City of St. Louis, under the Constitution of the State, may be made payable at such times that one-twentieth of the total amount of each issue of such bonds shall be payable each year, beginning one year from the date of the bonds, and so that the entire amount of each issue of such bonds shall be paid within twenty years from the date thereof, the city shall, before or at the time of issuing of any such bonds, provide by ordinance for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such bonds as it falls due, and also sufficient to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of one-twentieth of the principal thereof annually, and for the payment of the entire principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the indebtedness evidenced by such bonds; or the entire issue of such bonds may be made payable at any one time not exceeding twenty years from their issue, and the city shall, before or at the time of issuing any such bonds, provide by ordinance for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such bonds as it falls due, and also sufficient to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the entire principal thereof within twenty years from the time of issuing the same.

The authority above given to issue bonds for any of the purposes aforesaid is cumulative, and shall not be construed to take away, affect or impair any authority of the city or any of its officers to make any public improvements under any other provisions of the charter of the city or of the laws of the State, but the authority above given shall be construed as an additional authority.

Amendments: This (first) paragraph was last amended at the charter amendment election (held on June 23, 1903, pursuant to ordinance No. 21105.) It amended the former provision by designating specifically the objects for which bonds could be issued, it being deemed doubtful whether such power existed under the former general provision. The amendment added that portion beginning with "Negotiable bonds of the city," etc., to end of clause. The city availed itself of these powers at the bond election on June 12, 1906, in pursuance of ordinance 22366 and the issuance of bonds was authorized for each subject enumerated in the nine clauses. This section had also been amended at the charter amendments election of Oct. 22, 1901, pursuant to ordinance 20444. The issuance of the bonds was held valid by the Supreme Court as to all the subjects in general, but as to the Free Bridge bonds in particular, in the case of Haeussler vs. St. Louis, (in banc, July 2, 1907, not yet reported).

Appropriate for legitimate purposes: See note to Art. III, Secs. 30 and 33; XVI, Sec. 11.

Borrow money: Power limited by Constitution, Art. IX, Sec. 19; Art. X, Sec. 12. By the amendments to the latter section, passed in 1900, the city was authorized to issue the then proposed five millions in bonds in aid of the World's Fair. (This was done by ordinances 20641 and 20758; see ordinance to issue bonds in renewal of one million dollars in former city bonds: Ord. 21543 and 22865, and ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds for each of the purposes specifically enumerated in the above charter section; see ord. 22366; ordinance declaring result of election called by latter ordinance, and directing the issue of said bonds for $11,200,000 see ord. 22674). The bond issue for the Free Bridge across the Mississippi was sustained (amongst other grounds) as being within the debt limit allowed by the Constitution to St. Louis, in the case of Haeussler vs. St. Louis, decided in banc by Supreme Court, July 2, 1907 (not at this writing reported), discussing also the right of the city in general to issue bonds. See the provisions of the Constitution referred to as to the limit of indebtedness and the manner in which bonds can be issued, and the note appended to Sec. 12 of Art. X of the Constitution. See also discussion generally on the subject in note to Charter, Art. V, Sec. 1, herein; and also McQuillin's (unofficial) work "Amend. Chart.," introductory note pp. 124 et seq.; and his note on pp. 280-282; also Pryor vs. Kansas City, 153 Mo. 135, 151. As to what is included under the term "indebtedness" in the Constitution, see Saleno vs. Neosho, 127 Mo. 627, 638; and State ex rel. vs. Neosho, 101 S. W. 99 (Sup. Ct., Mar. 30, 1907). Charter provisions as to sinking fund for payment of city bonds see Art. XIV, Secs. 1-4. As to ordinances concerning sale, transfer and payment of bonds, etc., see Rev. Code, Chapter 37, Secs. 2390-2405; and as to provisions concerning water bonds, see R. C., Chap. 39, Art. 2, secs. 2528-2530, and Charter, Art. VII, Secs. 11, 13.

Second—To establish, improve, light, sprinkle, etc., streets—condemn property—repair streets, bridges, etc.—water courses—water works—police and fire departments.—To establish, open, vacate, alter, widen, extend, pave, or otherwise improve, and sprinkle all streets, avenues, sidewalks, alleys, wharves and public grounds and squares, and provide for the payment of the costs and expenses thereof in the manner in this Charter prescribed; and also to provide for grading, lighting, cleaning and repairing the same, and to condemn private property for public uses, as provided for in this Charter; to construct and keep in repair all bridges, streets, sewers and drains, and to regulate the use thereof, and to confine, wall up, cover over, alter or change the channel of water courses; to establish and maintain waterworks for fully supplying the city with wholesome water, and to distribute the same for public and private uses in such manner and upon such terms as shall be provided by ordinance; to establish and maintain a sanitary system, a system of police and a fire department; Provided, That no system of police shall be established or maintained, other than the present metropolitan system, as long as the same is established by law.

Establishment of streets, street openings, widenings, condemnation proceedings, etc., see Art. VI of Charter, Secs. 1-12, and notes and comments thereto appended.

Construction of streets, alleys, improvements, etc., see notes to Charter, Art. VI, Secs. 14-18, and of sewers ib. Secs. 20-23.

Special tax bills for public improvements see notes to Chart., Art. VI, Secs. 24-26, 14, etc.

Street sprinkling, see Art. VI, Sec. 29.

Damages for change of grade: See note to Charter, Art. VI, Sec. 9.

Use of streets by electric companies for such purposes as telegraph and telephone poles, conduits, manholes, subways, etc., is discussed in notes to Rev. Code, Chap. 12, Art. 6, Secs. 1093, 1179, 1195, 1188, in connection with the ordinances on the subject.

What included in terms street, alley, highway, etc., see note to Art. VI, Sec. 1.

Condemnation, dedication, diversion to different use, ownership of fee in streets and interests of abutting owners, see discussion in notes to Charter, Art. VI, Sec. 1.

Improvements of streets, etc., see Art. VI, Secs. 14, 15, 24-28.

For what purposes streets may be used—the use of the streets must be a public one—appropriation to private use is void—temporary obstructions, when permitted. The State holds a proprietary right in roads and streets in trust for the people; and to perform the trust the legislative authority is allowed such control that it may authorize structures to be built therein for the public use, even if some kinds of travel are thereby impeded: Morie vs. Transit Co., 116 Mo. App. 1. c. 22.

The right of the public to the free and unrestricted use is subject to reasonable limitations and restrictions, such for instance as delivery of fuel, goods, etc.; temporary obstructions of this kind are not invasions of the public easement, but incidents to or limitations of it, and can be justified when, and only so long as, they are reasonably necessary; and when unreasonably prolonged or done, such obstruction is unlawful: See as to right to temporary obstructions of streets and highways note to Rev. Code, Sec. 928, and authorities there cited. Many structures in the streets may be justified under legislative or municipal sanction which would otherwise be a nuisance: Seibert vs. Railroad, 188 Mo. 657 1. c. 670; Morie vs. Transit Co., 116 Mo. App. 12, and authorities; Belcher S. & R. Co. vs. St. L. G. E. Co., 101 Mo. 1. c. 204.

The legislature has paramount authority over all public highways, no matter how acquired, which it has to a large extent delegated to the city of St. Louis over the streets therein; the power to regulate the use is not limited to a mere right of way, but extends to all beneficial uses which the public good and convenience may from time to time require. New uses for streets and highways are constantly arising. As civilization advances new uses may be found expedient. All these and many others may be made of the streets without the consent of the lot owners. Private rights must yield to them, without compensation: Ferrenbach vs. Turner, 86 Mo. 1. c. 419; Julia Bing. Co. vs. Bell Tel. Co., 88 Mo. 258; see also Louis vs. Bell Tel. Co., 96 Mo. 623; W. U. Tel. Co. vs. Guernsey Light Co., 46 Mo. App. 120, 134; Laclede Gas Co. vs. Murphy, 170 U. S. 78. The words "to regulate the use thereof" are of broad import and confer comprehensive powers on the city: Sluder vs. Transit Co., 189 Mo. 107, 129; St. Louis vs. West. Un., 149 U. S. 1. c. 469.

Gas, water, sewer pipes and the like are proper uses: Ferrenbach vs. Turner, 86 Mo. 1. c. 420. Stepping stones, hitching posts, etc.: Wolff vs. Dist. Col., 196 U. S. 152 and cases cited; but see Fischer vs. St. Louis, 189 Mo. 567. In N. O. Gas Co. vs. Drainage Com'rs, 197 U. S. 1. c. 461, the court says that "the need of occupation of soil beneath the streets in cities is constantly increasing for the supply of water and light and the construction of systems of sewerage and drainage," etc.

So of telephone and telegraph poles and wires, underground conduits, manholes and subways: See cases cited in note to Sec. 1093 of Rev. Code.

Where the proposed extension by ordinance would end in a blind street or cul de sac, and for that reason not for a public use, it may be shown that another extension is proposed, to connect with the former so as to make a through street: Kansas City vs. Hyde, 196 Mo. 498.

A bridge from St. Louis to Illinois, across the Mississippi River is a proper highway for a municipality to provide: Haeussler vs. St. Louis (Sup. Ct. July 2, 1907, not yet reported).

But the streets and highways, whether dedicated or condemned, are held by the public authorities in public trust, primarily for the free and common use of the whole public, with special privileges to none, and secondarily for the benefit of abutting property owners to afford access to their property: Corby vs. Railroad, 150 Mo. 1. c. 468.

The public highways belong from side to side and end to end; to the public, and the public are entitled to a free passage along any portion of it: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 1. c. 383, quoting from prior decisions; Schopp vs. St. Louis, 117 Mo. 131, 136-137; Loth vs. Columbia Theatre, 197 Mo. 328 (citing numerous authorities); State ex rel. vs. Vandalia, 119 Mo. App. 406, 417, and cases there cited.

Hence an ordinance the effect of which is to subject a street to the advertising of individual business of one person, by providing for placing boxes for waste matter on the streets, with the exclusive privilege of advertising thereon by the contractor, is void: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 371; so also where the advertisement takes the form of a permanent balcony supported by posts in the streets; but a sign by an abutting owner so high as not to interfere with the public easement, and securely fastened, is not a nuisance per se: Loth vs. Columbia Theatre, 197 Mo. 328, (discussing numerous authorities as to when and what obstructions in the streets are unlawful). A city cannot authorize the occupation of a part of a main street by a structure containing farm scales and a corn sheller operated by machinery so that travel on that side is impeded: State ex rel. vs. Vandalia, 119 Mo. App. 406 (holding such structure a nuisance). The city has no power by ordinance to lease out portions of the street for huckster or produce stands. Schopp vs. St. Louis, 117 Mo. 131, 136; see also, Railway Co. vs. Ins. Co., 154 U. S. 515 (holding a lease of a street void, though its declivity was such as to be of little use to the public). Private scales are not a public purpose and cannot be maintained in the street; Coal Co. vs. Coal Co., 62 Mo. App. 93. Nor can the city of St. Louis "vacate" a street by ordinance for a certain time during which period it is to be used by a private concern, and thereafter again to be used as a street: Glasgow vs. St. Louis, 87 Mo. 678. It is not competent for the city to create a street in the name of the public, for the purpose of vacating it in the interest of whom it may concern, nor to establish a street or a system of streets at the expense of the property owners in the district for the use of a private individual or a number of individuals: Kansas City vs. Hyde, 196 Mo. 498. Nor will the power in the charter authorize an ordinance that houses fronting on a certain street shall be used for residence purposes only: St. Louis vs. Dorr, 145 Mo. 466, 472, 485.

Unauthorized obstruction of a street or highway is a nuisance: See discussion and authorities in introductory note to Rev. Code, Chap. 11, Art. 12 (preceding Sec. 585). See also below on this point. Power to remove, see also Charter, Clause 9, of this section and article, and ordinances R. C., Secs. 932 et seq.

Steam railroads in a street, sidewalk or alley so narrow or so operated that the use of the street by the railroads will destroy the use of the street by the public as a highway, are nuisances, and an ordinance purporting to permit such use or confer such right is void because an appropriation of a street to inconsisent uses, and as destroying the rights of the abutting property holders, and injunctive relief may be had: Lockwood vs. Wabash, 122 Mo. 86, and cases cited; Dubach vs. Railway, 89 Mo. 483; Morie vs. Transit Co., 116 Mo. App. 1. c. 24 et seq. citing numerous authorities; Lackland vs. Railroad, 31 Mo. 181; Lumber Co. vs. Railroad, 129 Mo. 455 (sidewalk obstruction—awarding injunction); Corby vs. Railroad, 150 Mo. 457 (alley—same) citing authorities; Knapp, Stout & Co. vs. Railroad, 126 Mo. 26; Sherlock vs. Railroad, 142 Mo. 172; nor can the city condemn private property for a street in order afterwards to give it over to a railroad to be used for switches: Kansas City vs. Hyde, 196 Mo. 498.

But a switch, part of the road, is not a private use but a public one: Knapp, Stout & Co. vs. Ry., 126 Mo. 26; Brown vs. Railway, 137 Mo. 529.

And unless it be shown that the use by the steam road will practically destroy the use of the street by the public the ordinance authorizing such use will not be held void, although in the more recent cases the tendency is toward more strictness against the railways: Morie vs. St. Louis Transit, 116 Mo. App. 1. c. 25, citing the authorities, especially Sherlock vs. Ry., 142 Mo. 172; and see Geofray vs. Merch. Bridge, 179 Mo. 698; St. Louis Transfer vs. Merch. Bridge, 111 Mo. 666; Brown vs. Ry., 137 Mo. 529; Randle vs. Ry., 65 Mo. 325.

Nor can the city authorize a private steam road to use the street for private purposes: Glaessner vs. Anheuser-Busch, 100 Mo. 508; see also Brown vs. Ry., 137 Mo. 1. c. 537.

See further as to when steam railroads are nuisances in the streets note to R. C., Chap. 11, Art. 12, on "nuisances."

The rights of abutting owners as affected by steam roads is fully discussed and the authorities collated, in De Geofray vs. Merch. Bridge Co., 179 Mo. 698, and it is held that no action lies where the road is built on the grade (only on the doctrine of stare decisis but that an action lies where the road is not built on the grade or street level. The court holds the tendency to be toward more liberal relief against railroads in favor of property holders and that if the question were new damages could be recovered even if the road be on the grade.

Street Railways in the streets, however, are not in all respects governed by the considerations applicable to steam roads in the streets, and the decisions above cited relating to the latter do not apply to street railways unless the tracks of such street roads are so defectively or peculiarly constructed as to prevent the current use of the highway by the public in the ordinary course of travel: Placke vs. U. D. Co., 140 Mo. 634, 637; see also discussion in Morie vs. Transit Co., 116 Mo. App. 12, 25 and cases cited. But the same principle applies to street as to steam roads: See Nagel vs. Street Railway, 167 Mo. 89, 97. See as to the difference between the power of the city over steam and street roads State ex rel. vs. Corrigan, 85 Mo. 263, 275 and cases cited.

The street car company (like a steam road) must lay its tracks on the street level or be liable to abutting owners for damages: Farrar vs. Electric Co., 101 Mo. App. 140. (And see Rev. St. 1899, Secs. 6116-6119, providing for assessment of damages before the grant by any city of a franchise to any elevated, underground or other street railway, on, over or under any street, etc. This act applies to surface street railways: Ruckert vs. Grand Ave. Ry., 163 Mo. 1. c. 276, but it confers no right to damages where none would exist before its enactment: Nagel vs. Lindell, 167 Mo. 89, 98; Ruckert vs. Grand Ave. Ry. supra. And the right of the public over the highway is paramount; so that the city, when changing conditions and increasing travel in a navigable stream under which the street car company operates through a tunnel make it necessary, may require the company at its own expense to lower such tunnel and increase thereby the depth of the water: West Chicago Ry. vs. Chicago, 201 U. S. 506.

The city has no power to confer on one street car company the exclusive use of a street for its own business; and other companies cannot be excluded from using its tracks on making just compensation (Charter, Art. X, Sec. 6, Rev. Code, Secs. 1894-1899): Grand Ave. Ry. vs. Citizens' Ry., 148 Mo. 1. c. 672, and cases cited; Railway vs. Railway, 132 Mo. 34, 43 and cases cited.

As to the rights and powers of the city over street railways see Charter, Art. X; also Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 11; ordinances R. C., Sec. 1863 and following.

Vacating streets: A street cannot in one ordinance be lawfully "vacated" for a definite period, after which it is again to become a street: Glasgow vs. St. Louis, 87 Mo. 678, 682. A street cannot be created for the purpose of vacating it in the interest of whom it may concern: Kansas City vs. Hyde, 196 Mo. 498.

The question whether or not a street or alley shall be vacated is wholly within the legislative discretion of the municipal assembly, with which (in the absence of fraud) the courts cannot interfere: Knapp, Stout & Co. vs. St. Louis, 156 Mo. 343; Glasgow vs. St. Louis, 107 Mo. 198; as to what is fraud in vacating street see Kansas City vs. Hyde, supra.

As to when the courts will interfere for fraud in enacting an ordinance see note introductory to this article (III, Sec. 26).

Nor can any but an abutting owner complain: Knapp, Stout & Co. vs. St. Louis, 156 Mo. 343; s. c. 153 Mo. 560; Glasgow vs. St. Louis, 107 Mo. 198.

When a street is vacated the abutting owners take the land free from the former easement: Thomas vs. Hunt, 134 Mo. 403.

A highway cannot be in effect vacated by way of estopping the city from claiming it to be public property because included in an action to condemn private land for public use: Moses vs. St. L. Sect. Dock Co., 84 Mo. l. c. 246-247.

But for the vacation of a street or alley the abutting owner is entitled to recover any special damage he may suffer thereby. His right is a property right and the vacation is subject to the constitutional provision against taking or damaging private property without just compensation, for which the courts of law will furnish him an adequate remedy, but not always an injunction: Christian vs. St. Louis, 127 Mo. 109; Heinrich vs. St. Louis, 125 Mo. 424 (discussing the lot owner's right to damages).

An ordinance, it was said, declaring an alley vacated is insufficient, because the abutting property owners have rights which could not be taken from them by the mere passage of an ordinance: Mitchell vs. Railroad, 116 Mo. App. 81, 88. Upon vacation of a street or alley the title reverts to the abutting property owners: ib.; see also note under Art. VI, Sec. 1, as to rights of abutting owners.

Liability for damages for defective streets, sidewalks, etc. The city having undertaken to open a street for pedestrians and vehicles is bound to keep the same in repair and reasonably safe for travel by day and by night, and is liable for injuries from neglecting this duty.

The cases on this subject are numerous, as well those applying the rule as those recognizing exceptions and limitations, but as this matter is one of general rules of law not specially affected by our charter and ordinances, a detailed discussion thereof would be out of place in a revision.

It may, however, be mentioned that the burden of keeping the street or sidewalk in a reasonably safe condition is not a police but a governmental duty which can not be shifted by the city upon a tenant who is not the owner, without his consent: Ford vs. Kansas City, 181 Mo. 137 (holding such provision void).

But the rule as to requiring the abutting owner to clear away snow and ice is held to be based upon the police power and is valid; but will not furnish the basis of a civil action to a private individual against such owner, nor enable the city, after being compelled to pay damages, to recover against the owner: See note and comments to Rev. Code, Sec. 1234 and cases there referred to. (As to liability of city for ice and snow on street see infra, this note.)

The duty to keep the streets safe for travel rests upon the city, and the city will be primarily liable for a failure to do so although by ordinance or agreement such duty is cast upon a street car company (Springfield vs. Ry., 69 Mo. App. l. c. 523) or a market company (Blake vs. St. Louis, 40 Mo. 569, 571) or an abutting owner to keep a sidewalk free of ice, etc. (Norton vs. St. Louis, 97 Mo. 537).

But a municipality against which judgment is recovered for a defective street, resulting from the negligence of another, has a remedy over against the latter: Gaslight Co. vs. Dist. Col., 161 U. S. 316.

The city is not liable for acts done in its governmental capacity, but only in its ministerial capacity and hence is not liable for injuries on streets or sidewalks, or parts thereof, which it never assumed to improve: Ely vs. St. Louis, 181 Mo. 724; Ruppenthal vs. St. Louis, 190 Mo. 213; Hannibal vs. Campbell, 86 Fed. (C. C. A.) 297;

Nor where there is no negligence in the execution but only in the plans: Foster vs. St. Louis, 71 Mo. 157; see cases cited in introductory note to this article.

Nor for failure to enforce its own ordinances; (see same note).

Nor for injuries on a street it did assume to take charge of and improve, if in fact it is not in the city limits: Steeley vs. Kansas City, 179 Mo. 400. See also St. Louis vs. University, 88 Mo. 155. But if the city by ordinance provides for improving a street it will be presumed that it is in the city limits: Kansas City vs. Block, 175 Mo. 433; and the city is liable where by an extension of its boundaries it takes in what prior thereto was a state road; it does not inherit the State's immunity: Foster vs. Kansas City, 114 Mo. App. 728. So the city is liable where it extends its sidewalk onto private property in such a manner that the line of demarcation cannot be distinguished: Deland vs. Cameron, 112 Mo. App. 704; O'Malley vs. Lexington, 99 Mo. App. 695; and for injuries resulting from excavations on private property so near the street that one using the sidewalk is injured by falling into the excavation: Wiggins vs. St. Louis, 135 Mo. 558; compare also Hannibal vs. Campbell, 86 Fed. (C. C. A.) 297, 301.

As to necessity of showing acceptance of dedication as street and what sufficient to show there is a street, see cases cited herein below.

Amongst the recent cases discussing the liability of the city for defective streets or sidewalks may be named the following: Projecting sign falling on pedestrian on street from above: Loth vs. Columbia Theatre, 197 Mo. 328. For injury on unimproved sidewalk—contributory negligence as matter of law: Ruppenthal vs. St. Louis, 190 Mo. 213. Same subject—cinder walk—what is evidence of assumption of jurisdiction by city of duty to repair: Dinsmore vs. St. Louis, 192 Mo. 255. Injury by servant of city assaulting conductor of street car to prevent passing repair-point in street: Barree vs. Cape Girardeau, 197 Mo. 382. For injury caused by stepping-stone on sidewalk—contributory negligence not as a matter of law: Fischer vs. St. Louis, 189 Mo. 567. Injury on sidewalk—subsequent repair: Bailey vs. Kansas City, 189 Mo. 503. Injury on defective sidewalk: Conner vs. Nevada, 188 Mo., 148. Obstruction of sidewalk—respective liability of property owner and city: Perrigo vs. St. Louis, 185 Mo. 274; Carvin vs. St. Louis, 151 Mo. 334 (same). Injuries to driver—dangerous cross-grade—contributory negligence: Kaiser vs. St. Louis, 185 Mo. 366. Excavation causing wall of building to fall: Gerst vs. St. Louis, 185 Mo. 191. Sidewalk defective: Halloway vs. Kansas City, 184 Mo. 19; same: Ford vs. Kansas City, 181 Mo. 137. Unimproved walk—governmental or ministerial duty: Ely vs. St. Louis, 181 Mo. 724. Entire width of street or walk once opened to public to be kept safe: Kossmann vs. St. Louis, 153 Mo. 293, 299 (street); Coffey vs. Carthage, 186 Mo. 573 (sidewalk—space between pavement and curbing); Fockler vs. Kansas City, 94 Mo. App. 464 (same). Obstructing sidewalk—third parties—when lawful: Hesselbach vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 505. Man-hole in street—contributory negligence in law: Wheat vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 572. Cellar door in sidewalk—notice: Fehlhauser vs. St. Louis, 178 Mo. 635. Water-meter box in sidewalk—notice—hidden defect: Carvin vs. St. Louis, 151 Mo. 334. Obstruction of sidewalk by loose counter—children playing in street: Straub vs. St. Louis, 175 Mo. 413. Defective sidewalk—notice in time to repair: Beauvais vs. St. Louis, 169 Mo. 500. Ice and snow on city sidewalks: Reno vs. St. Joseph, 169 Mo. 642 (irregular icy ridges); same: Reedy vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 523. Same: Peters vs. St. Joseph, 117 Mo. App. 499. Same: Quinlan vs. Kansas City, 104 Mo. App. 616. Defective street—timely notice of defect: Ball vs. Neosho, 109 Mo. App. 683, 693 and cases cited. Ditch in street, unguarded and unlighted: Jackson vs. Kansas City, 106 Mo. App. 52; Lindsey vs. Kansas City, 195 Mo. 166 (same). Defective sidewalk—no notice—no knowledge: Doherty vs. Kansas City, 105 Mo. App. 173. Same: Gerber vs. Kansas City, 105 Mo. App. 191. Stone falling from wall alongside street: Franke vs. St. Louis, 110 Mo. 516; Grogan vs. Co., 87 Mo. 321. Slippery mud on sidewalk: Milledge vs. Kansas City, 100 Mo. App. 490, distinguishing Badgeley vs. St. Louis, 149 Mo. 122.

Dedication of street not necessary. What is assumption of possession of street or walk by city sufficient to impose on it the duty to repair: See the following cases: O'Malley vs. Lexington, 99 Mo. App. 695; Dinsmore vs. St. Louis, 192 Mo. 255; Maus vs. Springfield, 101 Mo. 613; Meiners vs. St. Louis, 130 Mo. 274 (showing when dedication and acceptance by city need or need not be shown); and as to when land becomes a street, see further, note to Art. VI, Sec. 1.

Control over sewers, conferred by Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 2, "to regulate the use thereof," authorizes an ordinance (now Sec. 2304 of R. C.) requiring payment of a special tax bill before a lot owner may get connection therewith: Hill vs. St. Louis, 159 Mo. 159. A city's right to lay sewers necessary for the public health is paramount to a company's right to water pipes laid in pursuance of an ordinance: See Nat'l Water Works Co. vs. Kansas City, 28 Fed. (C. C.) 921; New Orleans Gas Co. vs. Drainage Comr's, 197 U. S. 453 (maintaining the city's right to compel change of location at the company's expense).

As to sewers and special tax bills therefor see Charter, Art. VI, Secs. 20-26 and notes thereto.

Liability of city for insufficient or defective sewers and for overflows and surface water. There is no liability for overflow occasioned by an extraordinary and unusually heavy rainfall, nor where the sewer is sufficient to carry off the water under ordinary conditions: Gulath vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 38 (Mill Creek sewer); nor is there any liability, even if the sewer is insufficient and out of repair, if the excessive rainfall would have produced the same damage whether the city had been negligent or not: Brash vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 1. c. 440, followed in Gulath vs. St. Louis, supra. But if the defects in the sewer are the result of municipal negligence and cause damage or contribute with other causes to do so, the city is liable: Brash vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 433.

Where the city is sought to be held for a sewer explosion it is incumbent on plaintiff to show the cause of the explosion to be due to the city's culpable neglect: Fuchs vs. St. Louis, 167 Mo. 620.

The city cannot be held for injuries resulting from causes which it could not in the exercise of ordinary caution and foresight have anticipated: Fuchs vs. St. Louis, 167 Mo. 620.

Upon the question of liability for insufficiency in the plan under which the sewer was built, so as to make it inadequate even when it is not out of repair and there is no neglect causing obstructions, etc., see Gulath vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 1. c. 53 (where the question was raised but the case decided on other grounds; see cases cited in briefs of respective counsel); Steinmeyer vs. St. Louis, 3 Mo. App. 256; see also Foster vs. St. Louis, 71 Mo. 157 (overflows caused by defective plan of street grade, city not liable); Johnston vs. Dist. Col., 118 U. S. 19.

As to liability of city for changing the flow of surface waters, see Rychlicki vs. St. Louis, 98 Mo. 497; Stewart vs. Clinton, 79 Mo. 603; Foster vs. St. Louis, 71 Mo. 157, and cases cited on p. 158; Payne vs. Ry., 112 Mo. 6; Barns vs. Hannibal, 71 Mo. 449; Carson vs. Springfield, 53 Mo. App. 289. And see as to pollution of streams, obstruction, etc., being nuisances: note to subject of "nuisances" in Rev. Code, Chap. 11, Art. 12 (preceding Sec. 584); Damages for defective water main, etc., causing flooding of premises: Rice vs. St. Louis, 165 Mo. 636.

Regulation of wharves: See authorities cited in Rev. Code, Sec. 345; see also Charter, Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 4 and references there made; see also Belcher Sug. R. Co. vs. St. L. G. El. Co., 82 Mo. 121; s. c. 101 Mo. 192.

Metropolitan police: A police law emanating from the State excludes the power of the city to provide for the same subject by charter, and the charter provision will be ineffective: State ex rel. vs. Stobie, 92 South, W. 191; s. c. 194 Mo. 14; State ex rel. vs. Police Commissioners, 184 Mo. 109; State ex rel. vs. Mason, 153 Mo. 23, and cases cited.

See as to the Metropolitan Police law now in force in St. Louis compilation of "Laws Relating Specially to St. Louis," ante pages 174-181, Chap. 24, Secs. 427-459, and the notes thereto.

Fourth—To improve harbor, regulate ferries, create port wardens, regulate mooring of vessels, lease portions of wharf, etc.—To construct all needful improvements in the harbor; to control, guide or deflect the currents of the river; to erect, repair and regulate public wharves and docks; to regulate marine railways; to regulate and license all ferries and towboats, towing boats or other water craft, into, or out of, or within the harbor; to sell ferry privileges within the city limits, and to establish ferry rates; create the office of port wardens, and define their duties; to regulate the stationing, anchoring and mooring of vessels and wharfboats within the city; to charge and collect wharfage and tonnage dues, levee rates, and wharfage on firewood, lumber, timber, logs, shingles, staves, posts, laths, and other articles brought to the port of St. Louis; to set aside, or lease, portions of the unpaved wharf for special purposes, such as the erection of sheds, elevators and warehouses, and for railroad tracks, for quay-places, for the landing of lumber for mills, for cotton presses, for manufactories, and for any purpose tending to facilitate the trade of the city,—but no permit to use any portion of the wharf, or any lease of the same, shall be granted for a term exceeding fifty years.

For harbor and wharf regulations, boundaries, offenses, etc., see ordinances and the comments and cases cited in notes appended thereto, found in Rev. Code, Secs. 345 to 372 of Chap. X, Art. 1.

For wharfage rates, leases, etc., see notes and comments to R. C., Secs. 373-382 of Ch. X, Art. 2; and note to Sec. 379 thereof treats of leasing unimproved portions of the wharf, etc., by the city; and note to Rev. Code, Chap. X, heading of Art. 2, treats of right to collect wharfage.

For wharfboat regulations, license, etc., see ordinances R. C., Ch. X, Art. 3, Secs. 384-392.

For provisions relating to Harbor and Wharf Commissioner see Charter, Art. IV, Sec. 38, and Art. IX in general; also ordinances Rev. Code, Sec. 1964-1969, 1999; employes: Secs. 1965, 2012-2014, 411.

Fifth—To license, tax and regulate various kinds of business, etc.—fix rates for carriages, drayage, etc.—regulate width of tires—to suppress certain occupations and amusements.—To license, tax and regulate lawyers, doctors, doctresses, undertakers, dentists, auctioneers, grocers, merchants, retailers, hotels, boarding houses, tenement houses, office buildings, public buildings, public halls, public grounds, concerts, photographists, artists, agents, porters, runners, drummers, public lecturers, public meetings and shows, real estate agents and brokers, financial agents and brokers, horse and cattle dealers, patent-right dealers, inspectors and gaugers, stock yard proprietors, examiners of titles, conveyancers, mercantile agents, insurance companies and insurance agents, bankers, banking or other corporations or institutions, telegraph companies or corporations, street railroad cars, livery and sale stables, hackney carriages, private carriages, barouches, buggies, wagons, omnibuses, carts, drays and other vehicles, and all other business, trades, avocations or professions whatever; to fix the rates for carriage of persons, and of wagonage, drayage and cartage of property, and regulate the width of the tires of all vehicles for heavy transportation; to license, regulate, tax or suppress ordinaries, hawkers, peddlers, brokers, pawnbrokers, money changers, intelligence offices, public masquerade balls, street exhibitions, dance houses, fortune tellers, pistol galleries, lottery ticket dealers, corn doctors, lock, private and venereal hospitals, museums and menageries, equestrian performances, horoscopic views, lung testers, muscle developers, magnifying glasses, billiard tables or any other tables or instruments used for amusement, circuses, operatic, theatrical and other exhibitions, shows and amusements; saloons, beer houses, tippling houses, dram shops, and gift enterprises; and to suppress prize fights, coon fighting, dog fights, chicken cock fights, gaming or gambling houses; and to suppress bawdy and disorderly houses, houses of ill-fame and of assignation; to provide for and enforce the registration of all births, marriages or deaths; to license, tax, regulate or suppress all occupations, professions and trades not hereinbefore enumerated, of whatever name and character.

The city is specially authorized by the constitution (Art. IX, Sec. 21) to provide in its charter for the levy of taxes for the maintenance of the city government, upon such subjects and in such manner as is not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the State, and is not included in the cities deriving their authority to levy taxes from legislative grant mentioned in Art. X, Sec. 1: St. Louis vs. Bircher, 76 Mo. 431; St. Louis vs. Sternberg, 69 Mo. 289, 298. See on taxation and assessment in general, note to Charter, Art. V, Sec. 1. The constitutional provisions in respect to taxation do not apply to license taxes: St. Louis vs. Green, 7 Mo. App. 468; s. c. 70 Mo. 562.

So long as there is no inequality, discrimination or favoritism, and the ordinance applies alike to all members of a class it is not objectionable as not being uniform in its operation: St. Louis vs. Bowler, 94 Mo. l. c. 634 and cases cited; Aurora vs. McGannon, 138 Mo. l. c. 48 and authorities cited; St. Louis vs. Sternberg, 69 Mo. l. c. 301.

A license cannot be imposed of a certain amount for one part of the city and a different amount for persons in the same class, for another part: St. Louis vs. Spiegel, 75 Mo. 145; St. Louis vs. Spiegel, 90 Mo. 587.

The courts will presume the ordinance to be valid and reasonable unless the contrary is clearly shown: St. Louis vs. Weber, 44 Mo. 547; and see cases on invalidity of ordinances on the ground of unreasonableness referred to in note to Chart., Art. III, Sec. 26 (heading).

The city may determine in what manner the tax is fixed and what the amount shall be, and acts in this legislatively and the courts, where authority to the city is specifically given, cannot review the same: Green vs. St. Louis, 7 Mo. App. 468; (s. c. affirmed 70 Mo. 562); St. Louis vs. Weitzel, 130 Mo. 600, l. c. 620.

The method of tax is for the city to determine: Aurora vs. McGannon, 138 Mo. l. c. 46, and cases cited; St. Louis vs. Weitzel supra.

App. 468; St. Joseph vs. Ernst, 95 Mo. l. c. 367; St. Louis vs. Weitzel, 130 Mo. l. c. 619.

See as to upholding the ordinances based on above charter provision: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464; St. Louis vs. Grafeman Dairy Co., 190 Mo. 492, 506; Same vs. Same, 190 Mo. 507; St. Louis vs. Reuter, 190 Mo. 514; St. Louis vs. Polinsky, 190 Mo. 516; St. Louis vs. Schuler, 190 Mo. 524.

Eighth—To regulate and provide for election or appointment of City officers, etc.—salaries and jurors' and witness' fees.—To regulate and provide for the election or appointment of city officers required by this Charter, or authorized by ordinance, and provide for their suspension or removal; and they shall establish the salaries of all officers and the compensation of all employes, excepting day laborers, and jurors and witnesses, respectively, for their services: Provided, That the salary of no officer shall be changed during the term for which he is elected or appointed, and that no officer receiving a salary shall receive any fees or other compensation for his services.

Election of officers is now regulated by the State law, as to which see same herein set out, with notes thereto, in "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," p. 124, Chap. 9, Secs. 237-321. See also Chart., Art. IV.

For elective and appointed officers, appointment, suspension and removal thereof, the filling and existence of vacancies, etc., see provisions of Charter, Art. IV, with discussion and citation of cases in the notes thereto.

For salaries of officers and discussion of authorities thereon, see note to Charter, Art. XVI, Secs. 17 and 18.

The provision that "No officer receiving a salary shall receive any fees, or other compensation for his services," excludes deputy recorder of voters from compensation other than his salary for overtime: Lemoine vs. St. Louis, 120 Mo. 419.

It was held that a similar Kansas City provision did not apply to policemen, whose salary is fixed by the Police Board: State ex rel. vs. Gifford, 70 Mo. App. 522; but in St. Louis there is an ordinance on witness fees which excepts city officers and prosecutors from claiming such fees in police courts: Rev. Code, Sec. 1297; and the Rev. Statutes 1899, Sec. 2840, provide that no officer, appointee, or employee holding a state, county, township or municipal office, including police officers and policemen, is allowed any witness fee for testifying before a coroner, grand jury or in any criminal case. The provision that the "salary of no officer shall be changed during the term for which he is elected or appointed," is in accord with constitutional and statutory provisions to the same effect; and since (it is held) the period during which an incumbent holds over after the expiration of his regular term, "until his successor is appointed and qualified" is considered part of his term, he cannot be permitted to participate in an increase in salary (enacted during the regular term) during that period for which he holds over thereafter: State ex rel. vs. Smith, 87 Mo. 158. But such provisions do not apply to officials who hold at the pleasure of the appointing power, but only where there is a definite term of office: State ex rel. vs. Johnson, 123 Mo. 43, 49.

The right of the city to fix compensation of officers does not confer the right to reduce, take away or change the same: See Carr vs. St. Louis, 9 Mo. 190. Also see in connection herewith, note on "Salaries" to Sec. 17 of Art. XVI of Charter. A city officer is entitled to the compensation fixed by ordinance and no more: Carroll vs. St. Louis, 12 Mo. 444. See also Chamberlain vs. Kansas City, 125 Mo. 430. An ordinance requiring one employed by the city to pay notary's fees for business done in connection with city matters (but paid by third persons) during city hours, into the city treasury, his salary as employee to cover such services, is void and the fees so paid to the city may be recovered: Wood vs. Kansas City, 162 Mo. 312.

The object of the provision "to regulate and provide for the election or appointment of city officers," etc., is "quite plain; it bestows, as its language imports, sufficient power . . . to make all necessary rules or laws in regard to municipal elections, whether those elections be general or special, whether occurring before the expiration of any official term of office and therefore anticipatory in their nature or after some regular election has failed of its purpose," etc. . . . "The authority thus delegated is plenary . . . a power which recognizes only such limitations as are marked out by the constitution or laws of this state or some other provision of the charter," etc.: State ex rel. vs. Thomas, 102 Mo. 85, 89-90 (upholding a special election under ordinance now Sec. 1690 of Rev. Code). The section was cited but not discussed in St. L. vs. Mnfg. Co., 139 Mo. 1. c. 568. See further on these subjects notes to Charter, Art. IV, Secs. 5-9, 12-13, etc.

As to lack of jurisdiction of the city officials in contest of Justice of the Peace and Constable elections see State ex rel. vs. Lobsinger, 7 Mo. App. 106; State ex rel. vs. McGee, 69 Mo. 504; State ex rel. vs. Kramer, 150 Mo. 89;

And as to mayoralty election: State ex rel. vs. Dillon, 87 Mo. 487. The municipal assembly is to determine in first instance who elected: Rev. Code, Sec. 1491; and contest is determined in circuit court: State ex rel. vs. Hough, 193 Mo. 615. See ordinance on jury fees: R. C., Secs. 1335, 2412; also jury law provided in state statutes: See Rev. St. 1899, Secs. 6539-6570 (set out herein under "Laws Sp. Appl. to St. Louis," Secs. 140-172); R. C., Sec. 1334; Scheme, Secs. 27, 28, 30, 31; as to witness and jury fees in police courts see R. C., Secs. 1297-1298.

Ninth—To prevent riots—regulate or prohibit animals from running at large—obstructions on streets, etc.—To restrain and prevent any riot, rout, noise, disturbance, or disorderly assemblage, and amusements, dangerous to persons or property, in any street, house or place in the city, and regulate or prohibit the running at large of cattle, cows, hogs, goats, dogs and every other brute animal within the limits of the city; to prevent and remove all obstructions and encroachments upon the sidewalks, curbstones, carriageways, streets, avenues and alleys, at the expense of the owners of the ground fronting thereon, and to regulate and prohibit the building of vaults under sidewalks.

Restraint of animals running at large: See ordinances in R. C., Secs. 1578-1581 and note of cases; see also statutes under State Laws for St. Louis, p. 79, Secs. 4-11; Scheme, Sec. 35.

Obstructions on streets and sidewalks, etc.: As to removal, etc., see R. C., Sec. 932 et seq.; sidewalks to be kept free from filth, snow and ice by the owners and agents, etc., see R. C., Sec. 1234, and cases in note appended thereto. As to what obstructions of streets are lawful and what are not see notes to Chart., Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 2; also note in R. C. to Chap. 11, Art. 12 (under "nuisances") and Secs. 584 et seq.

Vaults under sidewalks: See Rev. Code, Secs. 919 et seq.

Tenth—To impose and collect fines, etc.—commitments to workhouse.—To impose, collect and enforce fines, forfeitures and penalties, for the breach of any city ordinance. Any offender who shall neglect, or refuse to pay any fine, penalty and costs that may have been imposed upon him or her, shall be committed to the workhouse, or, in case of women, in such other place as for them may be provided, until such fine, penalty and costs be fully paid: Provided, that no such imprisonment shall exceed six months for any one offense. Every person so committed to the workhouse, or such other place aforesaid, shall be required to work for the city, at such labor as his or her health and strength will permit, within or without said workhouse or other place, not exceeding ten hours each working day; and for such work the person so employed shall be allowed, exclusive of his or her board, fifty cents per day for each day's work, on account of said fine and costs:

For ordinances on fines, penalties and forfeitures see Rev. Code, Chap. 18, Art. 8, Secs. 1650-1653 and in connection therewith the subjects below referred to; also see Charter, Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 14.

Eleventh—To protect rights of city in corporations—grant, regulate and repeal railway franchises—free passes on street railways prohibited.—To take all needful steps in and out of the State, to protect the rights of the city, in any corporation in which the city may have acquired an interest; to have sole power and authority to grant to persons or corporations, the right to construct railways in the city, subject to the right to amend, alter or repeal any such grant in whole or in part, and to regulate and control the same, as to their fares, hours and frequency of trips, and the repair of their tracks, and the kind of their rails and vehicles; but every right so granted shall cease, unless the work of construction shall be begun within one year from the granting of the right, and be continued to completion with all reasonable practical speed, and it shall be cause of forfeiture of the rights and privileges derived from the city, of any railroad company operating its road only within this city, which shall allow any person to ride or travel on its road gratuitously or for less than usual price or fare, unless such person be an officer or employe of such company.

Section cited: State ex inf. vs. Lindell Ry., 151 Mo. 1. c. 181.

As to the effect of the reservation by the city in the conferring of franchises of the "right to alter, amend or repeal" the provisions thereof, see San Antonio Traction Co. vs. Altgelt, 200 U. S. 304 (subsequent legislation affecting fares allowed); Detroit vs. Ry., 184 U. S. 368 (same not allowed, having been expressly contracted for and no effective reservation made); Railway vs. Philadelphia, 101 U. S. 528 (allowing increase in license on cars); Bank vs. Owensboro, 173 U. S. 636 ("the reserved power deprives the contract of its irrevocable character and submits it to legislative control," p. 644); Sioux City Street Ry. vs. Sioux City, 138 Mo. 98 (allowing imposition of additional expenses on company for paving street).

For ordinances regulating the hours and frequency of trips, see R. C., Sec. 1867, with note thereto. For repair of tracks, character of rails, speed limit, surrender of franchise, and numerous police regulations, see Rev. Code, Ch. 23, Art. 6, Sections 1863 to 1903 inclusive, with notes thereto; also Charter, Art. X, and notes.

Power to "license, tax and regulate" street-cars is conferred by Charter, Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 5, and on this point see ordinance R. C., Sec. 2257, with discussion and citation of cases in note thereto. But in general the powers of the city on the subject of street railways, granting of franchises, effect thereof, forfeiture, etc., are set out in Art. X of the Charter, which, together with the notes thereto, should be read in connection herewith in determining the effect of this section as to street railways.

For regulations concerning steam railroads, see Rev. Code, Chap. 23, Art. 5, Sections 1852 to 1863, with notes thereto.

Twelfth—To examine premises—regulate storage of gun-powder, etc.—prohibit wooden buildings, and enforce precautions against fire—inspection of buildings, etc.—The Assembly through its officers or agents, may at all reasonable times, enter into and examine all dwellings, lots, yards, enclosures and buildings of every description, to ascertain their condition for health, cleanliness and safety; take down and remove buildings, walls, or superstructures that are or may become dangerous, or require owners to remove or put them in a safe and secure condition, at their own expense; regulate the storage of gun-powder, giant powder, dynamite, nitroglycerine, and other explosive compounds and of all combustible and inflammable materials, the use of lights and candles in stables, shops and other places; remove, or prevent, the construction of any fire-places, chimneys, stove, oven, boiler, kettle or any apparatus used in any house, building, manufactory or business, which is liable to cause fires, or conflagrations; direct the safe deposit of ashes, or other dangerous rubbish or material, and order and regulate the building of partition, parapet and fire walls, partition fences, smoke flues, hot-air flues, smoke stacks, and the erection and cleaning of chimneys; shall provide for the safe construction, inspection and repairs of all private or public buildings within the city; regulate, restrain or prohibit the erection of wooden buildings within the prescribed limits and remove the same at the owner's expense when erected or suffered to remain contrary to law or ordinance; compel persons to aid in extinguishing fires, or in the preservation of property liable to be destroyed or stolen, and compel owners of buildings to have scuttles on their roofs and stairs or ladders leading thereto.

All the provisions of this clause have had ordinances enacted in pursuance thereof. Most of these ordinance provisions will be found under what is known as the Building Code, comprising Rev. Code, Secs. 27 to 234 inclusive, containing many and minute provisions and regulations. As to ordinances on gun-powder, etc., see R. C., Secs. 19-26; fire-crackers and fireworks, Secs. 228-229; lamps in stables, ib. Sec. 225. For fire limits for wooden buildings see Charter, Art. XI, Sec. 4; also R. C., Sec. 68 (and note to Sec. 66 as to authority of city to remove buildings erected in violation thereof).

Right to enter and examine premises, etc., to ascertain sanitary conditions: See as to right of Health Commissioner in this respect, Charter, Art. XI, Sec. 3; and as such right in the members of Board of Appeals from Building Commissioner's rulings, see Rev. Ord., Sec. 60; as to right of the Mayor to enter to abate nuisances, see Charter, Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 6; right of Sewer Commissioner to enter premises, Rev. Code, Sec. 2315. And see in general under "Right of Entry," etc., in the Index to Rev. Code, for references.

Power to require owners to remove or put in safe condition does not authorize an ordinance requiring the agents of owners to do so: St. Louis vs. Kaime, 180 Mo. 309 (the ordinance has since been amended in this respect: See R. C., Sec. 216).

Power to provide for safe construction, inspection and repairs does not confer power on the city to change the common law rule as to lateral support between adjacent owners in case of excavations: Carpenter vs. Reliance Realty Co., 103 Mo. App. 480, 494 (ord. R. C., Secs. 72-73).

Thirteenth—To provide for insane persons and paupers—assessments, etc., of State revenue.—To provide for the support and maintenance and confinement of insane persons; and to make suitable provisions for the maintenance and support of poor persons; to exercise the same powers and perform the same duties in regard to the assessment and collection of the State revenue, within the City of St. Louis, as is now by law vested in the County Court of St. Louis County, in such manner as provided by ordinance.

Ordinances as to insane asylum and confinement and care of the insane: Rev. C., Chap. 11, Art. 16, Secs. 747-770 and notes; see also Charter, Art. XII, Sec. 4. As to poor persons and Poor House see Rev. C., Chap. 11, Art. 17, Secs. 771, 791, and notations.

Fourteenth—General welfare clause—general authority to pass and enforce ordinances—census of inhabitants.—Finally, to pass all such ordinances, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Charter, or the laws of the State, as may be expedient, in maintaining the peace, good government, health and welfare of the city, its trade, commerce and manufactures, and to enforce the same by fines and penalties, not exceeding five hundred dollars, and by forfeitures not exceeding one thousand dollars; to purchase, rent, or lease, within the limits of the city or elsewhere, any real or personal property, and to control, manage, sell or lease, or otherwise dispose of the same, for such purposes and considerations as they may deem proper for the public welfare of the city, and to provide for the enumeration of the inhabitants of the city.

Power to purchase, rent, lease, control, dispose of, etc., property within and without the city limits, etc.: See discussion in note to Charter, Art. I, Sec. 1, and citation of cases.

As to formalities and execution of city contracts, deeds, ratifications, estoppel, etc., see note to Chart., Art. XVI, Sec. 7 and cases.

Enforcing ordinances by fines and penalties, etc: See references to ordinances, charter and state provisions in note to Charter, Art. III, Sec. 26, Clause 10. See also discussion in notes to R. C., Secs. 1265, 1650.

General welfare clause: The powers broadly conferred under this clause may be limited and qualified by special and particular powers expressly conferred, the general clause not enlarging nor annulling those specifically conferred by the special clauses undertaking to confer powers over that subject: St. Louis vs. Kaime, 180 Mo. 309, 317 (denying power to compel agent to remove unsafe building); State vs. Butler, 178 Mo. 272, 302; St. Louis vs. Bell Telephone, 96 Mo. 623, 631 (denying power to fix telephone rates).

Inspection of milk under general welfare clause: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, 480.

Temporary closing of street: Haller vs. St. Louis, 176 Mo. 606, 620.

Vagrancy: St. Louis vs. Benty, 11 Mo. 61.

Prohibiting keeping open place of business on Sunday: St. Louis vs. Cafferata, 24 Mo. 94.

Prohibiting cruelty to dumb animals: St. Louis vs. Schoenbusch, 95 Mo. 618 (in which the court says that "the cases show that general welfare clauses are not useless appendages to the charter powers of municipal corporations. They are designed to confer other powers than those specifically named. The difficulty in making specific enumeration of all such powers as may be properly delegated to municipal corporations renders it necessary to confer such powers in general terms. Ordinances relating to the comfort, health, good order, convenience and general welfare of the inhabitants are regarded as the exercise of police regulations").

Dramshops in Parks: State ex rel. vs. Schweickardt, 109 Mo. 496.

Abolish Wells in Streets: Ferrenbach vs. Turner, 86 Mo. 416.

Regulate Steam Boilers and require licensed engineer, etc.: St. Louis vs. Lamp Co., 139 Mo. 568.

Removal by Mayor of appointed officer as penalty for misconduct is within general welfare clause: State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 119 Mo. 383, 393.

Prohibit disturbance of the peace, drunkenness, gambling, further public safety, prohibit carrying concealed weapons, noises, immorality, and numerous other miscellaneous offenses, etc. See ordinances and notes thereto in Rev. Code, Chapter 18.

See further authorities under the particular subjects involved.

Sec. 27. Fires to be guarded against.—The Assembly shall, without unnecessary delay, enact stringent and efficient laws for securing the safety of persons from fire in halls and buildings let or used for public assemblies, and for entertainments or amusements.

See ordinance precautions against fire in numerous sections of the Building Code (R. C. secs. 27 to 234 inclusive.)

Sec. 28. Numbering, printing and repeal of ordinances.—Every ordinance when passed and approved by the Mayor, or when it shall have become a law, shall be sent to the City Register, and by him shall be numbered, printed, filed, and preserved in his office, according to ordinance; and no special or general ordinance, which is in conflict or inconsistent with general ordinances of prior date, shall be valid or effectual until such prior ordinance, or the conflicting parts thereof, are repealed by express terms.

For ordinance provisions on numbering, printing and repeal of ordinances, see Rev. Code secs. 1401-1405, and as to the effect of repealing a repealed ordinance, R. C. secs. 1411, 1401; and the effect of a repeal on tenure of office, R. C. sec. 1412. In how far repeals affect rights in pending matters, etc., R. C. secs. 1403, 1405, 1406, and see notes to some of above sections.

Repeal: See similar provision in ord. R. C. sec. 1404.

Under this provision of the charter it is held that where there is a special ordinance enacted on the same subject as a general ordinance, so that if standing alone the latter would include the same matter and conflict with the special act, the special and particular must be taken as intended to create an exception to the general, and not as a repeal thereof by implication: Ruschenberg vs. Railroad, 161 Mo. 70, 82; Campbell vs. Ry., 175 Mo. 161, 176-177. See also other authorities to this effect cited in note to heading of Art. III, sec. 26 (under paragraph "Construction of Charter and ordinance provisions.")

Where the supposed sections are not materially variant the charter provision does not apply, and at all events the last section is invalid only to the extent of the conflict, and to that extent only leaves the original ordinance in force: St. Louis vs. Weitzel, 130 Mo. l. c. 617.

A contention that an ordinance is void because in conflict with a former general ordinance not expressly repealed, under this section, is futile where such former ordinance is not offered in evidence or referred to in the trial: St. Louis vs. Liesing, 190 Mo. l. c. 490.

This section does not apply where both ordinances are special; a special ordinance may be repealed by implication by a subsequent special ordinance in conflict with it: Schumacher vs. St. Louis, 3 Mo. App. 297.

But where a provision is of a general nature, no subsequent special or general ordinance which does not repeal the former in express terms will operate to affect it, and the first ordinance remains unrepealed: Lamoine vs. St. Louis, 72 Mo. 404, l. c. 406. Hence a general ordinance imposing a license of $100 not in express terms repealing a prior general ordinance imposing a license of $50 for the same purpose is invalid, and remains so until the first is expressly repealed: St. Louis vs. Sanguinet, 49 Mo. 581.

It is manifest that since the General Assembly's enactments are paramount to those of the Municipal Assembly, any ordinance in conflict with a prior or subsequent statute is to that extent simply void, independently of any question of express or implied repeal: See authorities and discussion in general note introductory to Art. III, sec. 26. These charter and ordinance provisions as to repeals do not, of course, apply to statutes.

As to repeal of an ordinance or part thereof not reviving a former ordinance repealed see R. C. sec. 1401. In State vs. De Bar, 58 Mo. 395, it was held that where a charter provision operated to exclude a state provision on the same subject, within the city, a repeal of the charter provision did not revive the statutory provision as to the city: see also State vs. Lewis, 5 Mo. App. 465. Where a charter provision is enacted which renders certain parts of an ordinance theretofore passed in conflict with the new provision, the ordinance will be superseded only to the extent of the conflict, if that does not impair the remainder: Quinette vs. St. Louis, 76 Mo. 402. As to partial validity of ordinances see note to Charter, Art. III, sec. 12, and cases there cited.

Sec. 29. Revision of general ordinances.—There shall be a revision of the general ordinances of the city once in every five years, to be provided for by ordinance.

Effect of Revision.

The revision of the ordinances does not have the effect of breaking the continuity of those provisions in force prior to the revision and carried into it, but only to continue their existence: St. Louis vs. Foster, 52 Mo. 513, 516; St. Louis vs. Alexander, 23 Mo. 483, 509.

The provision of the Charter (now Art. XV, sec. 2) that every ordinance passed shall be published in the papers doing the city printing within five days after its approval, does not apply to a revising ordinance: St. Louis vs. Foster, 52 Mo. 513, l. c. 516.

That the official revision purporting to contain the ordinances is admissible in evidence without more, to prove the ordinance provisions therein contained, see authorities and reference found in note to Charter, Art. III, sec. 12.

And by Rev. Code, sec. 1414, it is provided that a reference to this "Revised Code of St. Louis" by section number is a sufficient designation of any ordinance therein contained to which reference is desired.

But it is to be observed that even in case of the revision of the State statutes it may be shown that a provision has been illegally carried into the official volumes, and the court may inform itself concerning the existence of a statute which is challenged by examining the original rolls in the office of the Secretary of State: Bowen vs. Ry., 118 Mo. 541.

Special and General Ordinances.

These are thus distinguished by Mr. McQuillin (see Mun. Code, p. 224; also McQ. unofficial work "Amend. Chart." p. 230): All ordinances of a general nature having an obligatory force on the community and upon the administration of the municipal government are denominated general. Those granting franchises, special privileges, as the making of excavations, etc., to persons or corporations, providing for public work or improvement, to establish sewer districts, the construction of sewers, streets and sidewalks, to fix the grade of streets, to authorize the city to borrow money, to authorize officials to do certain things, as the leasing of property, laying of water distribution pipes, etc., are usually special."

Function of Revision.

A general revision of the ordinances, such as is provided for by this section of the charter, is in form but a single ordinance, adopted by the assembly as any other ordinance. The present Revised Code, (which covers only general ordinances) is ordinance 22902, approved March 19, 1907. It is believed that the charter provision that no ordinance shall contain more than one subject "which shall be clearly expressed in the title" applies to a revising ordinance; the provision for notifying the public of ordinances passed, within five days thereafter, by publication, does not apply (St. Louis vs. Foster, supra); and for these technical reasons, (and others more potent which suggest themselves when we consider the practical situation, requiring a comparatively hasty examination and adoption by the municipal assembly of a reviser's voluminous work, which would make it almost impossible to notice the changes) it is believed that it was not intended that new ordinances, not enacted in the usual manner, should be included in a revision for the first time as a part thereof, nor that any of the existing live ordinances should be repealed by simple omission from the revision, although the ordinance providing for the revision enacts that "all ordinances in conflict therewith shall be repealed." The principal object of a revision is to put the existing ordinances in accessible form; chiefly by eliminating those repealed, inserting new ordinances enacted since the former revisions or improperly omitted therefrom, indexing same, inserting head-lines, etc., and other matters of form. The revision of the revised statutes of the State is not based upon the same procedure and the function of the revision thereof every ten years furnishes no safe guide to the effect of a revision of the ordinances. Changes in substance involve legislative discretion and deliberation in the Municipal Assembly, which cannot be accorded by it to each of the voluminous general ordinances submitted in bulk by a reviser. Hence in this and the preceding revision numerous changes were suggested to the Municipal Assembly for adoption, in a preliminary report by the reviser, many of which were adopted in time to be noticed herein, others of which were not adopted. The ordinance authorizing the present revision is ord. No. 22046, which requires in addition to the ordinance revision a collation of state laws specially applicable to the City of St. Louis, and annotation thereof as well as of the charter and ordinances.

General Revisions of St. Louis Ordinances.

The revisions of the ordinances of St. Louis prior to the Scheme and Charter were as follows: By Wilson Primm in 1835-6; A. B. Chambers in 1843; Chas. D. Drake in 1846; Jno. M. Krum in 1850; S. V. Papin, city register, in 1853; Thos. C. Chester in 1856; Chas. H. Tillson in 1861; J. Gabriel Woerner in 1866; E. W. Pattison in 1871. After the present Charter by M. J. Sullivan in 1881 (ord. 11668); by same in 1887 (ord. 14000); by Chester H. Krum (ord. 17188); by Eugene McQuillin in 1900 (ord. 19991, officially designated "Municipal Code of St. Louis"); and the present revision, in 1906, (being ordinance No. 22902, approved March 19, 1907, officially designated the "Revised Code of St. Louis").

Sec. 30. Remission of taxes—donations—exemption from burdens, and compromise of claims, forbidden.—The Assembly shall not have power to relieve any citizen from the payment of any lawful tax, or to exempt him from any burden imposed upon him by law, or ordain the payment of any demand not authorized and audited according to law, nor shall the Assembly have power to ordain or authorize the compromise of any disputed demand, or any allowance therefor or therein, except as provided in the contract therefor, or the payment of any damages claimed for alleged injuries to person or property, except by ordinance and adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members of each house taken by yeas and nays.

Power of Comptroller to correct manifest errors in tax assessments: see Charter, Art. V, sec. 28. Charter provision prohibiting appropriations for charitable purposes: Art. III, sec. 33.

The exception in sec. 30, Art. III, requiring a two-thirds vote, added at the end of the section, applies to the whole section and not only the last clause thereof: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 174 Mo. 125, 135 et seq. giving a history of the section. Hence it is held that the city is not prohibited from reimbursing a police officer who, when ordered to shoot a mad bull in the streets, wounded a boy, resulting in the officer's being compelled to pay damages therefor: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 174 Mo. 125.

The city is not prevented from purchasing water pipe layed by private citizens and making it a part of the city system, by a proper ordinance, although it is styled as a relief ordinance: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 169 Mo. 31, 37.

But an ordinance making a donation of public money to a private institution or to an individual, is void as beyond the power of the Municipal Assembly: Hitchings vs. St. Louis, 49 Mo. 484; Campbell vs. St. Louis, 71 Mo. 106, 109, 111. See also Knapp vs. Kansas City, 48 Mo. App. 485, and citation of authorities.

Sec. 31. Power to compel attendance of witnesses.—The Assembly or either house, shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses, and the production of papers relating to any subject under consideration, and in which the interests of the city are involved, and shall have power to call upon any proper officer of the City of St. Louis to execute such process. The President of the Council and Speaker of the House, and the chairman of any committee of either house, shall have authority to administer oaths to witnesses.

See ordinance provisions Rev. Code, sec. 1392-1395. See discussion in In re Conrades, 185 Mo. 411, in which, however, it was held that the above charter provision was not applicable to compel attendance and submission of books and papers, where a committee of the House of Delegates is only authorized to "carefully and fully investigate the books, records and accounts in the several departments wherein returns are made of taxes. . . . and to subpoena witnesses and to send for persons and papers and to administer oaths;" and the court released by habeas corpus one who was sought to be punished for contempt in refusing to obey such committee's orders to produce books and papers.

The court in this case reversed the majority of the court of appeals in the same case (112 Mo. App. 21) which had held Conrades for contempt; see full discussion of authorities in the majority and dissenting opinions. In the case of In re Dunn, 9 Mo. App. 255, it is held that under this section an ordinance empowering a committee of either house to send for witnesses and to compel the production of books and papers, is not unconstitutional as an assumption of judicial power; and that either house may punish for contempt any witness who refuses to produce books material to a pending inquiry and properly called for in a subpoena duces tecum.

Sec. 32. Power to distribute duties and abrogate offices.—The Assembly shall have the power, by a vote of three-fourths of the members of each house, to transfer and distribute the powers and duties, in part or in whole, of any office provided for in this Charter to another, or others, and in such case the performance of the powers or duties added to those of any office shall not entitle its officer to additional compensation, and in case the entire powers and duties of an office be so transferred and distributed, the compensation of the holder of such office shall cease, and he shall no longer be the officer thereof.

Power to create offices by two-thirds vote: see Charter, Art. IV, sec. 45; power to define, change, increase or diminish duties: see Charter Art. IV, sec. 28; as to salaries see note to Art. XVI, sec. 17.

The assembly may repeal an ordinance creating an office and thereupon the office is abolished and the term of the incumbent ended, together with the right to the salary; the power to enact an ordinance is the power to repeal it: Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 495; State ex rel. vs. Longfellow, 95 Mo. App. 660, 665; Primm vs. Carondelet, 23 Mo. 22.

The duties which were by Art. XI, sec. 5, cast upon the Chief of the Fire Department were transferred to the Building Commissioner, under this section of the Charter: see Rev. Code, sec. 27.

Sec. 33. Appropriations for charitable purposes.—The Assembly shall not appropriate any money for charitable purposes, except such as shall be subject to its own supervision and administration, under a system of suitable arrangements to be established, whereby the partakers of the charity shall respectively earn what they receive to the extent of their ability.

See as to power of city to appropriate moneys for donations, etc., discussion and cases cited in note to sec. 30 of this article, supra.

Sec. 34. Restrictions as to quarries, etc.—No stone quarry shall be opened, or brick-kiln located, or soap factory, slaughter house, bone or rendering factory erected within the distance of 300 feet of any dwelling house built and inhabited before such opening, location or erection, without the consent, in writing, of the owner and of the occupant of every such house. The Assembly shall provide, by ordinance, for the effectual enforcement of this act.

Power to regulate stone-quarries, brick-kilns, soap factory, slaughter house, bone or rendering factory, etc. see Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 6.

As to ordinances respecting the subjects mentioned in this section (quarries, kilns, slaughter houses, soap and rendering factories, etc.) see Rev. Code, secs. 624, 625, 600-605. And see notes of authorities as to the validity of such ordinances appended to secs. 624, and in general note to "nuisances" in R. C., chap. 11, art. 12 (preceding sec. 584).

An ordinance providing no quarry shall be operated within 300 feet of a residence without the written consent of the occupant was upheld in St. Louis vs. Frein, 9 Mo. App. 590. (memorandum opin.)

Sec. 35. Restrictions as to cholera patients, etc.—No person, association or corporation shall knowingly receive for medical treatment of the invalid or sick, any patient sick with small-pox, plague, or cholera, unless authorized by an ordinance therefor. Every violation of this section shall be punished by a fine not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than three hundred dollars, to be collected as shall be provided for by ordinance.

As to infectious diseases in charge of health commissioner and his and Mayor's powers in case of epidemics see Charter, Art. XI, secs. 4 and 8.

Regulations and powers as to contagious diseases see Rev. Code, secs. 792-818. Quarantine and power to prevent spread of infectious diseases: Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 6.

Section 1. Elective officers and their terms.—The following named city officers shall be elected by the qualified voters of the city, and shall hold their office for a term of four years, and until their successors shall be duly elected and qualified, viz: A Mayor, Comptroller, Auditor, Treasurer,

Register, Collector, Recorder of Deeds, Inspector of Weights and Measures, Sheriff, Coroner, Marshal, Public Administrator, President of Board of Assessors, and the President of the Board of Public Improvements.

For ordinance provisions on appointment, qualification and duties of city officers, see Rev. Code, Chapter 20, Art. 1.

City elections are held under general election law: See note to Charter Art. II. See also Scheme, sec. 5, as to elections. The term of Sheriff and Coroner is two years (not four, as provided in the Charter), by reason of the Constitutional mandate, Art. IX, sec. 10, until the constitutional amendment of 1906 becomes effective in 1908, when it will be four years. See as to interpretation of constitutional provisions relating to Sheriff, discussion in State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. 325, 336-337, referring also to this section of the Charter. These officers are elected at the State election, and were eligible only four years in any period of six, (ib.) As to License Collector: Laws 1901, pp. 80-82; "The Mayor, Comptroller, Auditor, Treasurer, Register, Collector, Inspector of Weights and Measures, Marshal, President Board of Assessors and Board Public Improvements are elected for a term of four years, at the municipal election on first Tuesday of April; also the President of the Council and half of the councilmen (six); and for two years each member of the House of Delegates, one from each ward (28). At the municipal election held every two years after the election of the city officers, the members of the House are elected for two years and the other six Councilmen for four years. The Recorder of Deeds and Public Administrator are elected for a term of four years at the general State election," etc.: (McQuillin's Note to M. C., p. 227.)

Sec. 2. Appointive officers and their terms—first appointments under Charter to be for two years.—The Mayor shall appoint the following officers, who shall hold their office for four years, and until their successors shall have been duly appointed and qualified, to-wit: A City Counselor, such District Assessors as may be provided by ordinance, Superintendent of Workhouse, Superintendent of House of Refuge, Superintendent of Fire and Police Telegraph, Commissioner of Supplies, Assessor of Water Rates, two Police Justices, Attorney, Jailer, and five Commissioners on Charitable Institutions: Provided, however, that the first appointments under this Charter shall be for two years only, so that the appointments made thereafter, shall be made at the beginning of the third year of the Mayor's term.

All terms of office are limited by the Constitution not to exceed four years: Art. IX, sec. 14; Art. XIV, sec. 8. But these provisions do not apply to an officer holding at pleasure of appointing power and not for a definite term: State ex rel. vs. Johnson, 123 Mo. 43, 49.

As to the effect of the provision "and until their successors shall have been duly appointed and qualified" see State ex rel. vs. Smith, 87 Mo. 158; State ex rel. vs. Thomas, 102 Mo. 85. Similar provision in sec. 10 of this article.

Ordinances on when Mayor is to send in his nominations of officers to the council see R. C., sec. 1685; as to enumeration of officers to be appointed by the Mayor see Rev. Code, secs. 1509-1511.

When appointment may be implied: See note to R. C., sec. 1686.

Sec. 3. Board of Public Improvements, how constituted.—He shall also appoint five commissioners, who shall be known as Street Commissioner, Sewer Commissioner, Water Commissioner, Harbor and Wharf Commissioner, and Park Commissioner, who, with the president thereof, shall constitute the Board of Public Improvements.

Sec. 4. Gas Commissioner.—In case the city at any time become the owner of any gas works, then there shall be added to the commissioners before named, a Gas Commissioner.

Bonds of officers.—All city officers shall give such a bond for the faithful performance of their duties as the Municipal Assembly shall ordain; said bonds shall be approved by the Mayor and Council.

As to giving bond by the municipal officers, and effect of failure so to do, and suit for breach thereof, see Charter, Art. IV, sec. 43 and cases there cited.

As to ordinances on bonds and their approval, etc., see Rev. Code, secs. 1676-1684; also sec. 1506; (Constables, sec. 1678.)

Sec. 5. Suspension and removal of officers.—Any elected city officer may be suspended by the Mayor, and removed by the Council for cause; and any appointed officer may be removed by the Mayor or Council for cause. In either case the Mayor shall, temporarily, fill the vacancy, except as hereinafter provided.

For ordinance provisions relating to suspension and removal of officers, causes, procedure, filling vacancies, etc., see Rev. Code, Ch. 20, Art. 2, secs. 1691-1706; for removal of Mayor, R. C., sec. 1512. As to filling vacancies in appointive officers removed by Mayor or council see in addition to above Charter provision (sec. 5) Rev. Code, secs. 1703-1704; filling vacancies by Mayor where appointive officer removed by council, etc., see Charter, Art. IV, sec. 8; R. C., sec. 1704. Filling vacancy in elective offices see Charter, Art. IV, sec. 6; also sec. 13 and note; R. C., sec. 1689, filling temporary vacancy caused by suspension see also R. C., sec. 1694.

Filling vacancy in Municipal Assembly see Charter, Art. III, sec. 7.

As to removals by Commissioners of Charitable Institutions see Charter, Art. IV, sec. 49 and note thereto; also Rev. Code, sec. 1720.

The state statute (Rev. St. 1899, sec. 2346) provides that if any city officer becomes interested in any city contract, etc., he is guilty of a misdemeanor, and if appointive he shall be dismissed by the Mayor, if elective the Mayor shall suspend such official, report to the council, which shall try him and by two-thirds vote dismiss him: State vs. Kelly, 103 Mo. App. 711, 714.

An office is vacant in legal intendment for all purposes of election and appointment when the term has expired, as in case of death, resignation or removal, and also where the incumbent is a locum tenens or holdover holding until his successor be appointed or elected and qualified, provided provision is made by law for filling the office by appointment or election: State ex rel. vs. Thomas, 102 Mo. 85, overruling State vs. Lusk, 18 Mo. 333 and following State vs. Seay, 64 Mo. 88 (holding a vacancy occurs where one dies after election and before commencement of term), and State ex rel. vs. Stonestreet supra; but for purposes of salary, and continuing the office so that there is no vacancy in the functions thereof a different rule applies. See for instance State ex rel. vs. Smith, 87 Mo. 158.

The word "officer" in this section (Charter, sec. 5, Art. IV) means such as is referred to in the Charter. An inspector of buildings is not an officer within the meaning of this section: Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 495, 502; State ex rel. vs. Longfellow, 95 Mo. App. 660.

As to who is an "officer" see note to Chart., Art. IV, sec. 43 and cases there cited.

Right to salary of suspended or removed officer is discussed in the note to Art. XVI, sec. 17; see also ordinance, sec. 1705 of R. C.

Power to remove ordinarily includes power to suspend: Blackwell vs. Thayer, 101 Mo. App. 661; State ex rel. vs. Lingo, 26 Mo. 496, 499 (under St. Louis ordinance and Charter).

"The power to amove a corporate officer from his office, for reasonable and just cause, is one of the common law incidents of all corporations. . . . For the reason of the thing, from the nature of corporations, and for the sake of order and government, the power is incidental:" State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 119 Mo. l. c. 394, quoting from Dillon.

And the power to remove for cause is authorized by the general welfare clause of the Charter: Id., p. 393.

An appointment for a definite term implies that the incumbent cannot be removed except for cause designated by law, per Reyburn, J., in Horstmann vs. Adamson, 101 Mo. App. 119, 124; State ex rel. vs. Brown, 57 Mo. App. 1. c. 204.

And a right to remove only for cause implies that there must be reasonable notice, and specifications of the charges made, and an opportunity to be heard by the one sought to be removed, and this even where there is no express provision to that effect since this is implied as intended: State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 119 Mo. 383, 394-395; State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 90 Mo. 19; State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 62 Mo. App. 162, 164; State ex rel. vs. Brown, 57 Mo. App. 199.

In such case, where neither the Charter nor ordinances make any provision for the means whereby the motion or removal of an appointive officer is to be effected, yet if the grant of power is given, all the means necessary to effectuate the power pass as incidents of the grant: State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 119 Mo. 383, 394, 396. ("The Mayor has all the power necessary to carry into effect the authority granted by the Charter.")

The record of the proceedings of the Mayor in exercising power of removal vested in him by Charter, should show, in case of an appointive officer, that charges sufficient in law were preferred against him, that due notice was given, and a trial had whereat he was permitted to be heard, and an order of removal for cause entered: State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 62 Mo. App. 1. c. 164-165.

An attempted removal which is unlawful will not prevent the incumbent from recovering his salary by mandamus: See authorities in note to Chart., Art. XVI, sec. 17.

Where the Charter permits removal "for cause" but does not specify what causes are sufficient, the question of what cause is sufficient is a judicial one to be determined by the court from the circumstances in each case; what would be cause as to one office might not be as to another office: State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 69 Mo. App. 657, 1. c. 669.

A general allegation of misconduct in office is too vague and indefinite; the specific acts complained of should be stated in the record of the tribunal trying the officer, in order that it might appear, as a matter of law, that it has jurisdiction of the alleged offense; the proceeding is summary, and the record should be precise; no intendment can be indulged as to the jurisdiction and regularity of the proceedings: State ex rel. vs. Lupton, 64 Mo., 415, 417.

But where the law conferring the authority to make the appointment is silent as to the right of removal, and there is no limitation as to the tenure, the right to appoint carries with it the absolute right to remove, without notice, and at pleasure: Horstmann vs. Adamson, 101 Mo. App. 119, 125, citing a number of authorities on the point, state and federal; State ex rel. vs. Johnson, 123 Mo. 43, 50. See also Shurtleff vs. U. S., 189 U. S. 311, 314.

And an officer holding over after the expiration of his term, who is a mere locum tenens until his successor is appointed, may be removed at pleasure by the appointing power at any time without notice or cause: State ex rel. Rife vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 360, and cases cited; State ex rel. vs. Stonestreet, 99 Mo. 377 (holding also that in making subsequent appointments the executive cannot disregard the term as fixed by law, but can fill only the unexpired portion of the term as it would be if there had been no holding over).

Neither above Charter provision (Art. IV, sec. 5) nor ordinance provisions (now R. C. 1691 et seq.) were repealed by the state statute providing for the removal of any state, county or city officer guilty of willful and corrupt neglect of official duty and for trial by jury if demanded: State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 119 Mo. 383.

Sec. 6. Suspension of elective officers by Mayor—action of Council thereon.—Whenever the Mayor shall suspend any elected officer, he shall immediately notify the Council of such suspension, and the causes therefor.

If the Council be not in session, then he shall immediately call a session of the same in such manner as shall be provided by ordinance. The Mayor shall present charges against such suspended officer to the Council, and furnish a copy of the same to said officer, who shall have the right to appear with a legal adviser before the Council for his defense. If a majority of all the members elected shall, by resolution, sanction the action of the Mayor, then the suspended officer shall thereby be removed from office and a new election shall be ordered to fill the vacancy; but if a majority disagree with the Mayor, then he shall be immediately reinstated.

Suspension and removal of elective officer by Mayor and filling vacancy: See also in addition to this section (sec. 6) preceding section (5) and note thereto appended; also ord. R. C., sec. 1695 et seq.; Charter, sec. 13 of this article. As to removal by council see infra sec. 12; Rev. Code, sec. 1704.

Sec. 7. Removal of appointive officers and filling of vacancies.

—Whenever the Mayor shall remove any appointed officer from office, he shall immediately notify the Council of such removal and the causes therefor, and said Council shall fill the vacancy by electing a suitable person to fill the place. If the Council be not in session, the Mayor shall temporarily fill the vacancy, and shall report the fact of the removal at the next session of the Council. The Mayor shall have the same power of removing an officer so elected as if he had been appointed by the Mayor.

See note to sec. 5 of Art. IV, supra.

Sec. 8. Appointive officers removed by Council—Mayor to fill vacancies.—All officers appointed by the Mayor shall be subject to removal by a majority of the elected members of the Council, but if so removed, the Mayor shall fill the vacancy by another person, and no confirmation of the Council shall be required. Whenever the removal of any officer by the Council be proposed, and the same is not in session, the President thereof shall, upon a request in writing of five of its members, call a session thereof for the consideration of such removal.

See notes to preceding sections; Rev. Code, sec. 1704.

Sec. 9. Appointments by Mayor to be confirmed by Council—Council may elect officers—when.—All appointments made by the Mayor shall require the confirmation of a majority of the members of the Council. If the Council shall refuse to confirm the appointment of the Mayor, then he shall, within ten days thereafter, nominate another person to fill the office, and he may continue to nominate until his nominees are confirmed. If the Mayor fails to make another nomination within ten days from the rejection of a nomination, then the Council shall elect a suitable person to fill the office during the term.

See R. C., sec. 1685.

An ordinance which required in addition to the approval by the council that the city chemist shall receive the approval of the board of health, even if such addition be unauthorized, does not render void the appointment in accordance therewith, as the greater includes the lesser requirement: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, 491.

Sec. 10. Qualifications of elected and appointed officers.—All elected and appointed officers shall possess the following qualifications: They shall have been citizens of the United States and of the City of St. Louis for at least two years previous to their election or appointment, and shall be able to read and write the English language. They shall not at the time of their election be in arrear to the city for taxes, or indebted to the city in any way. They shall not be interested either directly or indirectly in any contract with the city, either for work to be performed or supplies to be furnished. They, excepting the Commissioners on Charitable Institutions, shall not hold any State or Federal office, and shall hold their offices until their successors are duly qualified.

General qualifications of city officers as required by ordinance: See R. C., sec. 1673. By Const., Art. IX, sec. 18, no person can be both state and city officer or fill two municipal offices (excepting from its operation, notaries, justices of the peace and militia). A member of the General Assembly cannot be appointed to a municipal office: State ex rel. vs. Valle, 41 Mo. 29. But there is no constitutional inhibition against a sheriff or deputy sheriff (who is not a state officer within the meaning of this section) from also holding the office of school director: State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. 325, with discussion of the various provisions and citation of cases construing same.

Free passes on railroads operate to forfeit office: Const., Art. XII, sec. 24.

As to qualifications of municipal assemblymen see Charter, Art. III, secs. 6 and 10 and note.

A collector or receiver of public money or an assistant or deputy is ineligible to office until he has paid over the public money he may be accountable for: Const., Art. II, sec. 19.

Residence and citizenship: "No person shall be elected or appointed to any office in this state, civil or military, who is not a citizen of the U. S. and who shall not have resided in this State one year next preceding," etc. Const., Art. VIII, sec. 12. See Barclay, J., in State ex inf. vs. Vallins, 140 Mo. 1 c. 537; See as to residence in city being necessary qualification, Charter, Art. IV, sec. 19. For a case where it was held that one elected was not entitled to office because under the facts in evidence he was not a citizen of the city of St. Louis as required by Charter, Art. IV, sec. 10, see State ex rel. vs. Williams, 99 Mo. 291.

Payment of taxes on the day of election is in time to avoid ineligibility: State ex inf. vs. Berkeley, 140 Mo. 184. A receipt for taxes made the day after an election without specifying amount or property, is worthless as evidence to show payment of taxes: State ex rel. vs. Williams, 99 Mo. 291.

Officers not to be interested in city contracts. The provisions of this section of the Charter do not apply to an election commissioner in the City of St. Louis, who comes neither within the letter nor spirit of the prohibition: State ex rel. vs. Meier, 96 Mo. App. 160.

Rev. St. 1899, sec. 2346, provide that a city officer who becomes interested in a city contract is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to removal: State vs. Kelly, 103 Mo. App. 711, 714; so by Charter, Art. XVI, sec. 11. See also as to validity of city contracts, note to sec. 7 of Article XVI of Charter.

For authorities on analogous points, and those of other states see discussion in McQuil, unofficial work on "Amended Charter," pp. 244-246; also in M. C., p. 230. The principle is the same as that which prevents a trustee or administrator in dealing with himself in the trust funds: See Dillon Mun. Corp., sec. 444 (4th Ed.); Woerner on Administration (2nd Ed.) sec. 334 p. *700 et seq.; ib. sec. 487, p. *1082 et seq.

In view of the provisions of the Constitution, statutes, Charter and common law, there is little doubt that contracts by the city, with a city official, or with a firm or corporation in which a city official is interested, are void, and recovery thereon cannot be had against the city; it was so held in an opinion by City Counselor Bates, reviewing the authorities and legal provisions applicable in an opinion dated June 9, 1902 (number 534 of Law Dept. files). Amongst the cases cited by him are: Berka vs. Woodward, 125 Cal. 199 (45 L. R. A. 420); 4 Pa. Dist. Rep. 707; State vs. Alderman, 34 N. J. L. 390; Call Pub. Co. vs.

Lincoln, 29 Neb. 149; Gas Co. vs. City, 28 Neb. 852; Bellaire Co. vs. Findlay, 5 Oh. C. C. 418; Bell vs. Quinn, 2 Sandf. 146; Currie vs. School District, 35 Minn. 163; Findlay vs. Pertz, 66 Fed. 427 (29 L. R. A. 188); Borough of Milford vs. Water Co., 124 Pa. St. 610; People vs. Township, 11 Mich. 222; Pickett vs. School District, 25 Wis. 551; Fort Wayne vs. Rosenthal, 75 Ind. 156; Smith vs. Albany, 61 N. Y. 444; State vs. Water Co., 56 N. J. L. 422; Sherlock vs. Village of Winnetka, 68 Ill. 530; McAdam vs. Alderman, 36 Hun (N. Y.) 340; State vs. Richards, 28 L. R. A. 298 (Montana).

Sec. 11. Officers to devote their entire time to official duties—hours for municipal business.—Any city officer, excepting the Mayor and Commissioners on Charitable Institutions, who shall, except when absent from the city, fail to devote his entire time during business hours to the duties of his office, shall be removed or suspended by the Mayor or Council. All city offices shall be kept open from eight o'clock a. m. to six o'clock p. m. from 1st of April to 1st of October, and from nine o'clock a. m. to five o'clock p. m. from 1st of October to 1st of April.

"No person elected or appointed to any office or employment of trust or profit under the laws of this state, or any ordinance of any municipality in this state, shall hold such office without personally devoting his time to the performance of the duties to the same belonging": Const., Art. II, sec. 18.

By Laws Mo. 1903, p. 93, amending R. S. 1899, sec. 6247, it is made the duty of heads of departments of cities of over 300,000, etc., where there are deputies, assistants or clerks to close the doors of said office at 12 o'clock on Saturdays, except when the necessities of the service require them to work; and the provision does not apply to fire and police forces. (See Laws Spec. Appl. to St. Louis, ante p. 160, sec. 349, Chap. 12.)

As to leave of absence see Rev. Code, sec. 1688.

No deduction from the legal salary can be made because an officer does not devote his time to his official duties: Bates vs. St. Louis, 153 Mo. 18 (see as to right to salary note to Art. XVI, sec. 17).

Sec. 12. Removal of elected officers by Council—removal of Mayor.—Any elected city officer may be removed from office by a two-thirds vote of all the members of the Council, notice thereof and an opportunity to be heard by counsel being given to said officer. In case the Mayor shall be removed from office, then the President of the Council shall act as Mayor until a Mayor is elected. Whenever any city officer shall be removed from office by the Council the yeas and nays shall be recorded on the journal of that body.

See discussion and authorities in note to sec. 5 of this article. See same section for removal and suspension of officers.

Ordinances for vacancy in office of Mayor, see R. C., secs. 1513, 1514; for removal of Mayor by council: R. C., sec. 1512. Vacancy in Mayor's office within 6 months of expiration of his term see next section (sec. 13).

Sec. 13. Vacancies in elective offices—how filled.—In case any elective office shall become vacant within six months from the expiration of the time for which its incumbent shall have been elected, then the Council shall by election fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. In case the Mayor's office shall become vacant within six months from the expiration of his term, then the President of the Council shall be ex-officio Mayor for the unexpired term.

See for ordinance similar to this section R. C., sec. 1689; ord. for filling vacancy in Mayor's office see R. C., secs. 1513-1514.

As to the suspension and removal of officers, existence and filling of vacancies see note to sec. 5 of this article.

The above section 13, providing for filling vacancies occurring in an elective office within six months of expiration of term, etc., does not (in view of Art.

III, sec. 26, clause 8) exclude the right of the municipal assembly to make provision for filling a vacancy occurring more than six months before the expiration of the time for which the term runs, and the ordinance applying to such case (now R. C., sec. 1690) is valid: State ex rel. vs. Thomas, 102 Mo. 85, 89.

Sec. 14. Deputies of Sheriffs, etc.—The Sheriff, Coroner and Marshal may have such deputies as may be provided by ordinance.

Assistants may be removed.—The assistants of any officer shall hold their position during good behavior, unless otherwise provided by ordinance, but may be removed for cause by the Mayor, or by the officer under whom they work, at his pleasure.

See note below.

Offices to be in City Hall.—All offices of the several departments of the city shall be in the City Hall or some other building owned by the city, unless otherwise specially provided by the Assembly.

Deputies of Marshal, see R. C., sec. 1332. Duties of Marshal, see Charter IV, sec. 31; R. C., secs. 1329-1333; Scheme, secs. 6, 18, 27, 30.

Sheriff's duties and powers: Scheme, sec. 18; Especially Act on Sheriffs and Coroners in St. Louis R. S. 1899, pages 2548-2551; also set out herein under "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," Chapter 29, secs. 550-568; when entitled to counsel see ib. sec. 568; R. S. 1899, sec. 10046.

Coroner's duties and powers: Scheme, sec. 5; R. S. 1899, pages 2548-2551, set out herein "Laws Sp. Ap." etc., secs. 555, etc. As to election of coroner see note to Charter, Art. IV, sec. 1.

Assistants to officers: Inspectors of buildings are "assistants" to the Building Commissioner within this section and removable by him at pleasure: Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 495, 504; State ex rel. Knittel vs. Longfellow, 93 Mo. App. 364 and State ex rel. vs. Longfellow, 95 Mo. App. 660.

Offices in City Hall: There is no law prohibiting the removal of the recorder's office from the old courthouse to the new city hall, nor does it make any difference that the latter is on ground which was outside the city limits when the city was the county seat: Babcock vs. Hahn, 175 Mo. 136.

Sec. 15. Qualifications of Mayor.—The Mayor shall be the chief executive officer of the city; shall be at least thirty years of age. When the Mayor ceases to possess the qualifications required in this Charter, his office shall become vacant.

The provision originally contained in this section (15) requiring the Mayor to be a freeholder of property in the city, was superseded and annulled by provisions of Rev. St. 1899, sec. 5259, and is omitted.

Sec. 16. Duties of the Mayor—may remit fines, etc.— may appoint examiners.—He shall, from time to time, give the Assembly information relative to the state of the city, and shall recommend to their consideration such measures as he may deem expedient in the interests of the city. He shall take care that the laws of the State and the ordinances of the city are respected and enforced within the city; and may remit fines, costs, forfeitures and penalties duly imposed for violation of any ordinance, and shall make a report of the same to the Assembly at every session thereof. He shall have power to appoint a competent person, or persons, to examine the affairs of any department, or departments, whenever he shall deem it necessary.

Ordinances specially respecting and relating to Mayor, are contained in Rev. Code, Chap. 17, secs. 1487-1514 inclusive; sec. 1493 being a literal repetition of this charter clause.

As to remission of fines, penalties, etc., see also note to R. C., sec. 1497, and of police court's power to remit, see note to sec. 1308. The authority of the Mayor to remit a fine can only be exercised after the fine has been imposed: State ex rel. vs. Noonan, 59 Mo. App. 1. c. 529, relying on State ex rel. vs. Francis, 95 Mo. 44.

Where the power to confer a grant is in the Mayor and assembly, a permit alone from the Mayor is void: Lockwood vs. Ry., 122 Mo. 1. c. 95; State ex rel. vs. Noonan, 59 Mo. App. 1. c. 528; nor can the Mayor alone appoint an attorney so as to make the city liable for his services: Carroll vs. St. Louis, 12 Mo. 444. Mandamus lies to compel the Mayor to revoke an illegal permit, the immunity from judicial control appertaining to the office of Governor not attaching to the mayoralty: State ex rel. vs. Noonan, 59 Mo. App. 524.

Sec. 17. Absence of Mayor—how provided for.—The President of the Council shall perform the duties of Mayor whenever, and so long as the Mayor from any cause is unable to perform his official duties. If the Mayor and the President of the Council are both absent from the city, or otherwise disabled from performing the duties of the Mayor, the Speaker of the House of Delegates shall, for the time being, discharge the duties of said office, and either of them, while acting as Mayor, shall receive the same compensation as the Mayor.

The ordinance (R. C., sec. 1494) is literally the same as above. The compensation of the Mayor cannot be reduced because of his absence: Bates vs. St. Louis, 153 Mo. 18, 22.

Sec. 18. Special sessions of the Municipal Assembly.—The Mayor may, by proclamation, call special sessions of the Assembly, giving not less than three days' notice, and shall specially state to them, when assembled, the objects for which they have been convened, and their action shall be confined to such objects.

Ordinance provision Rev. Code, sec. 1496, is the same as above; other ordinance provisions as to how special session to be called see Rev. Code, sec. 1379.

Under the above charter provision (sec. 18, Art. IV) the municipal assembly specially convened, can legislate only on subjects specially stated to it at the time that it is so assembled, and note on any additional matter that is communicated to it by the Mayor while in session but after the session began; and the Mayor must "specially state" the object when convening the session: St. Louis vs. Withaus, 90 Mo. 646, affirming 16 Mo. App. 247 and holding an ordinance passed at such session void as not within the object stated in the opening message, although in the latter it was stated that other matters might be submitted.

But a reference in general terms that legislation was desired under designated articles and sections of the St. Louis Charter, was held to be sufficiently definite in Allen vs. Rodgers, 20 Mo. App. 290.

So also it was thought by the Kansas City court of appeals that where the Kansas City charter provided for special sessions on call of the mayor, and publication in the papers as provided by ordinance, and there was no such ordinance, that such session and ordinances passed thereat, are void, because there was no publication; but the court further thought that inasmuch as the popular construction was otherwise and had been acted on for several years, so that a different construction "would unsettle many titles, distract, if not destroy, many private interests, and impair the public faith and confidence in a great variety of merely governmental regulations adopted at these special meetings," it was constrained to uphold the validity of such meetings, notwithstanding the court thought them void: Forry vs. Ridge, 56 Mo. App. 615, 622, followed in McQuiddy vs. Vineyard, 60 Mo. App. 1. c. 619.

Sec. 19. Officers to reside within the city.—The permanent residence of the Mayor and all other officers of the city except when otherwise provided by ordinance, shall be within the limits or jurisdiction of the city; otherwise their offices shall become vacant.

For ordinance see R. C., sec. 1687.

See as to residence and citizenship being qualification, Art. IV, sec. 10, and note.

Sec. 20. Duties of Comptroller.—The Comptroller shall exercise a general supervision over the fiscal affairs of the city; the collection and return into the treasury and disbursement of all revenue and moneys of the city; of all property, assets, and claims, and the sale or other disposition thereof; and, by and with the advice and consent of the Mayor, shall see that all necessary official and legal proceedings are had for the protection of the city's interests in all such property, assets and claims; that proper rules and regulations are prescribed and observed in relation to all accounts, settlements and reports, connected with the fiscal concerns of the city; that no liability is incurred, or expenditure made from the treasury, without due authority of law; and that appropriations are not overdrawn. He is especially charged with the preservation of the credit and faith of the city in relation to its public debt and other liabilities, and whenever it is necessary to meet payments thereof, principal or interest, he shall, with the written approval of the Mayor, make his requisition for a warrant on the treasury for that purpose; and shall, with the Mayor's written approval, do and perform any and all other acts and things, not inconsistent with the provisions of this Charter, and any ordinance thereunder, as are proper to accomplish the duties contemplated herein. He shall make annual reports to the Assembly and to the Mayor on his request, on the financial condition and requirements of the city, with careful statements and estimates of receipts and expenditures. The records in his office shall show the financial operations, conditions, property assets and claims of the city, the expenditures authorized for public works, and all contracts, with names of contractors, in which the city is interested, and the bonded or other indebtedness of the city. He shall require all claims returns, settlements, or reports to be verified by affidavit. He shall countersign all warrants drawn on the city treasury for any payments, except as hereinafter provided, and shall duly record the amount and nature of same. He shall have access to the books and other records of any department under the city government, whenever he so desires, and he shall see that the accounts of the city are kept in a plain, methodical manner.

See Rev. Code, sec. 2427.

Bond of Comptroller.—He shall give bond to the city in the sum of not less than three hundred thousand dollars, with not less than three good securities, holders of unincumbered real estate in the City of St. Louis, to be approved by the Mayor and Council.

See Rev. Code, sec. 2426.

Additional duties of Comptroller.—He shall have a seat in either branch of the Municipal Assembly, with a right to debate on any question pertaining to his department, but shall have no vote. Should any judgment be rendered against the city, for which no provision has been made by ordinance, or otherwise, the Comptroller is authorized, with the approval of the Mayor, to effect a temporary loan to meet the same, and to do and perform all other acts with the approval of the Mayor, necessary to preserve the credit and property, or rights of the city, and perform such other duties as may be provided by ordinance. All delinquent or special tax-bills, and all other claims, marshal's, sheriff's, or constables' deeds or certificates of sale, in the nature of liens on property in which the city is directly or indirectly interested as owner or creditor, shall be deposited with the Comptroller, and his receipts taken therefor and filed with the Auditor. He shall keep a full and complete register thereof, and whenever the Treasurer's receipt is presented and filed in his office for any such bill or claim, he shall release the same on the register, and, when necessary, the Mayor and Comptroller shall execute a quit-claim deed for the property redeemed.

For ordinances specially relating to Comptroller hereunder, see Rev. Code, Chap. 37, Art. 3 (secs. 2425-2437), some of which are reiterations of these charter provisions; respecting treasury department, see Ch. 37, Art. 1 (secs. 2387-2405).

There are many other charter provisions and ordinances affecting the rights and duties of Comptroller.

Sec. 21. Duties of Auditor—official bond, etc.—The Auditor shall be the general accountant of the city, and as such it shall be his duty to receive and preserve in his office all accounts, books, vouchers, documents and papers relating to the accounts or contracts of the city, its debts, revenues, and other fiscal affairs, and to adopt a proper mode and manner of double-entry bookkeeping. He shall state and render all accounts filed or kept in his office between the city and other person or body corporate, except when otherwise provided by law or ordinance. He shall examine, adjust and audit all unsettled accounts, claims and demands against the city for the payment of which any money may be drawn from the city treasury, and after having examined the same with all accompanying vouchers and documents, shall certify thereon the balance or true state of such claim or demand, and draw his warrant on the Treasurer in payment thereof; but no such claim or demand, or any part thereof, shall be audited against the city unless it is authorized by law or ordinance, and is in proper and fully itemized form, and unless the amount required for the payment of the same shall have been appropriated for that purpose by the Assembly. He shall have power to administer oaths, and shall require settlements of accounts to be verified by affidavit, whenever he thinks proper, and shall keep the accounts of the city, general and special, in a systematic and orderly manner. He shall audit all bills, when presented in proper form and duly authorized, bearing the necessary signatures, or certificates, and otherwise in accordance with the law and ordinance. He shall be responsible for all acts of his employes.

All moneys belonging to the city received by any officer or agent thereof, either from collections, loans, sale of bonds, fees, fines and penalties or otherwise, shall be deposited in the city treasury regularly once a day, unless otherwise provided by law or ordinance, and, in case the provisions of this section are not complied with, it shall be the Treasurer's duty to report any delinquencies to the Mayor. He shall give triplicate receipts in all cases, one for the party paying, one for the Auditor, and one for the Comptroller, which shall set out the amounts paid and from what it proceeds and to what account credited. All payments on account of pay-rolls shall be made by the Treasurer, after the same have been audited and placed in his hands therefor. His books shall at all times be open to the inspection of the Mayor, Comptroller, or any member of the Municipal Assembly, and he shall report the balance in the treasury each day to the Comptroller and Mayor.

Rev. Code, sec. 2439.

Selection of banks for city deposit.—The Mayor, Comptroller and Treasurer shall annually select a bank or banking institution which will give the highest rate of interest for the current deposit of the city's funds: Provided, however, that before any deposit shall be made by the Treasurer, the said bank or banking institution shall give a bond for five hundred thousand dollars, with good and sufficient securities, to be approved by a unanimous vote of the fund commissioners, for the safe keeping and prompt payment of said funds or any part thereof, when demanded by the Treasurer, and shall at all times keep the securities on its bond satisfactory to said commissioners.

For ordinances specially applicable to Treasurer hereunder, see Rev. Code, Chap. 37, Art. 4 (secs. 2438-2446); for treasury department see R. C., Chap. 37, Art. 1 (secs. 2387-2405).

For state law concerning selection of banks for deposit of city funds, see Laws Mo. 1903, page 95, amending R. S. 1899, sec. 6251 (set out herein in "Laws Spec. Applicable to St. Louis") Ch. 21, secs. 397-398; see R. C., sec. 2439.

Sec. 23. Duties of Register.—The Register shall have the custody of the city seal, the public records, the original rolls of ordinances of the Municipal Assembly, all original contracts, deeds and certificates relative to the title of any property of the city, all official, penal, indemnity or security bonds, and such other records, papers, and documents of value, as are not required to be deposited with any other officer, all of which shall be registered by numbers, date, and contents; he shall attest all public instruments or official acts of the Mayor, by his signature and the seal of the city, and shall also certify, under his hand and the seal of the city, all copies of such original documents, records and papers in his office, as may be required by any officer or person, and charge therefor to individuals such fees as may be provided by ordinance, and he shall provide copies of all contracts in his office for the Auditor and Comptroller, when requested so to do by them. He shall have general supervision of the public printing, and shall see that it is executed as hereinafter provided; and shall cause to be printed, filed and preserved, in his office, all ordinances passed by the Assembly; shall register and preserve, in his office, all contracts, the oaths or affirmations taken by the city officers, and may administer such oaths or affirmations. He shall appoint such clerks as he may require, subject to the approval of the Mayor. He shall do and perform all duties now required of the Clerk of the County Court by any general or special law not inconsistent with this section or the Scheme, and shall exercise the same power, authority and jurisdiction as said clerk for the proper execution of the laws of this State.

Ordinances specially relating to Register: Rev. Code, Chap. 28, secs. 2062-2069. See also note to said Chap. 28 and to sec. 2062, as to the duties of the Register. He performs certain functions performed by the county officials before the separation of the City and County: See note thereon and references introductory to Art. I of the Charter, under "General considerations respecting the Charter—transfer of old county functions to corresponding City officials," etc.

Sec. 24. Duties of Collector—official bond, etc.—The Collector shall collect all city, State and school taxes, licenses, wharfage, and all other claims that the city may have against any person, and shall pay the same over to the Treasurer once each day. The State and school taxes collected by him shall be paid as provided by law. He shall give bond, for the faithful performance of his duties, in such sum as the Municipal Assembly may deem requisite, not less than two hundred thousand dollars, with five securities, who are owners of unincumbered real estate in the city, which shall be approved by the Mayor and Council; and shall keep the books and accounts of his office as may be directed by ordinance, or, in the absence of any definite requirements, the Comptroller shall prescribe the manner of keeping such books and accounts.

For ordinance provisions on Collector see R. C., Chap. 32, secs. 2288-2297. See also Charter, Art. IV, secs. 30 to 34 inclusive, and Art. V., secs. 30-35.

That provision of this section which requires the Collector to collect all licenses is superseded by the statute creating the office of license collector, and conferring on him the duties respecting licenses theretofore performed by the city collector or license commissioner. (Water, dramshop, boat and wharf licenses are excepted): See said statute law herein set out, with notes, in "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," Chapter 17 (secs. 382-392); being Laws 1901, pp. 80, 82; and see further on this subject, particularly the notations to the Rev. Code, Chap. 30, constituting secs. 2104 to 2125. See also sec. 2288 et seq. And as to dramshop licenses see Chapt. 8 (secs. 229-236) of "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," with notations, being R. S. 1899, sec. 3019 et seq., as amended by Laws 1905, p. 141; and notes to R. Code, secs. 2150-2164.

Concerning the duties of Collector with respect to taxation in general see Charter, Art. V, secs. 30-35; also "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," Chap. 26, sec. 469, 471-492 and notes.

Sec. 25. Police Justices, powers and jurisdiction of.—The police justices, or any acting justices pro tem., shall have jurisdiction over all cases arising under this Charter, and of the violation of any ordinance, or of any provisions of this Charter, subject to appeal, either by the city or defendant, to the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, in like manner as provided by law for appeals from justices of the peace in criminal cases to their appellate court, and power to punish all contempts of court, by fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and by imprisonment not exceeding ten days; and power to enforce all legal orders and judgments, as a court of record may; and power to give final judgment against the principal and security on any forfeited bond or recognizance returnable to this court, subject to an appeal, as in other cases.

As to ordinances on Police Justices and police courts and officials connected therewith, see Rev. Code, Chap. 13, Art. 1 and 2 (secs. 1261-1323).

For full discussion of matters relating to police courts under the charter provisions, and in general as to their jurisdiction, procedure, nature of the proceedings, effect thereof, appeals incident to police court matters, executions, violations of ordinances, and similar matters, see note to Rev. Code, sec. 1265; and also notes to secs. 1279, 1264, 1305 and other sections under Art. 1 of Chap. 13.

Sec. 26. Police Justices to be conservators of the peace, etc.—Justices of the Peace to have concurrent jurisdiction in certain cases.—The police justices shall be conservators of the peace through the city, and shall exercise the powers and perform the duties which may be prescribed by ordinance. The justices of the peace within the city shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the police justices in all cases under ordinances or charter, when the Mayor shall direct prosecution before them.

Sec. 27. Municipal Assembly may increase number of Police Justices and establish judicial districts—Courts of Police Justices, where held.—The Municipal Assembly shall have power, from time to time, by ordinance, passed by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house, increase the number of police justices, who shall be appointed and hold office for a term of four years, as hereinbefore provided in reference to such justices. Said Assembly shall, by ordinance, divide the city into judicial districts, and may, from time to time, alter the same, and may also give, to the justices of such districts, exclusive jurisdiction of causes arising in their respective districts; and shall, by ordinance, provide for holding police courts whenever the justice of any such court is disabled or disqualified by absence, sickness or otherwise from holding the same; may authorize any other police justice or any justice of the peace of the City of St. Louis to hold such court and discharge the duties of such justice during the continuance of the disability or disqualification, and shall also provide for the trial of causes pending in the court of any police justice, in which said justice may be a material witness, or in which he may be interested or of kin to the defendant. The police justices shall hold their court in such places as may be provided by ordinance, and in the absence of and until such provision shall be made, they shall hold them at such places as the Mayor may direct.

Ordinances creating districts, holding court, jurisdiction, etc., see Rev. C., sec. 1261 et seq. As to creation of additional police court, see "Police Court South of Arsenal Street," Rev. Code, secs. 1318-1323.

Sec. 28. Municipal Assembly to define duties of city officers.—The Municipal Assembly shall, by ordinance, define the duties of all city officers, and may change, increase or diminish, them in a manner not inconsistent with this charter.

As to right of assembly to distribute charter duties amongst other officials, or to abrogate an office altogether, see Charter III, sec. 32 and note; as to power to create offices see Chart., Art. IV, sec. 45.

Assembly may define duties: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, 491; in the absence of any definition of the duties of a public officer, his duties may be inferred from the nature of his office and employment: State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 69 Mo. App. 657, 668.

An officer or city official has no vested interest in his office, and the city may abrogate the office and thereby cut off the salary: Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 495; Primm vs. Carondelet, 23 Mo. 22.

And hence in this country official duties may be modified, or changed, or abrogated, without the consent of the incumbent: See State ex rel. vs. Valle, 41 Mo. 29; Westberg vs. Kansas City, 64 Mo. 1. c. 503.

As to right of officers to recover salary, see also note to Art. XVI, sec. 17.

Sec. 29. Commissioner of Supplies, his duties, etc.—contracts to be approved by Mayor.—The Commissioner of Supplies shall purchase all articles needed by the city in its several departments. The Municipal Assembly shall provide, by ordinance, for the purchase of all articles, so far as practicable, by advertising for proposals at stated periods. All purchases made by him without advertising for proposals shall be approved by the Comptroller before the same shall become binding on the city. In advertising for proposals to furnish supplies, quantity and quality of all articles shall be fully stated, and any bidder may bid for any one article named. The award for each article shall, in all cases, be made to the lowest bidder therefor. The Commissioner of Supplies shall furnish to the bidders printed blanks, which shall be filled up by the bidders with the price of the article to be furnished, and shall, in specifying the quantity and quality of any article, recite the advertisement. All bids shall be sealed, and opened at an hour and place to be stated in the advertisement for proposals, in the presence of as many of the bidders as may desire to be present, and shall be subjected to the inspection of the bidders. All bids having any alteration or erasure upon them shall be rejected. All contracts shall be approved by the Mayor before they shall become binding upon the city.

Ordinances on Supply Commissioner see Rev. Code, Chap. 36, secs. 2366-2386.

Judge Sherwood in his elaborate dissenting opinion in Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. loc. cit. 161-164, considers this section (Art. IV, sec. 29) and distinguishes it from Art. VI, sec. 27, showing that the former applies only to the commissioner of supplies and applies only to a limited extent to the Board of Public Improvements when performing the duties assigned to it under Art. VI, sec. 27, and that the commissioner awards the contract to the lowest bidder without discretion. (But see present provision in R. C., sec. 2373.)

Art. VI, sec. 27, applies to letting contracts for public work. Art. XV applies to contracts for printing and binding.

Sec. 30. Inspector of Weights and Measures, duties, etc.—The Inspector of Weights and Measures shall, at least once in each year, and as much oftener as may be ordained by the Assembly, inspect every scale, weight and measure used in the City of St. Louis, for the purpose of determining the quantity of merchandise sold or offered for sale. The Assembly shall, by ordinance, fix the fee to be paid for such inspection, for which a license shall be granted in every case by the Inspector, and all such fees he shall monthly, report to the Comptroller, and daily pay into the city treasury. He shall keep a record of all scales and measures inspected by him, specifying date, place of inspection, and the names of the parties for whom the inspection is made. He shall receive a fixed salary for his services. No person within the City of St. Louis shall use any scale, weight or measure to determine the quantity of any merchandise sold or offered for sale, which shall not have been inspected and sealed by the said Inspector.

Inspection weights and measures see Chart. III, sec. 26, clause 7. For discussion and authorities see ordinances on the subject: R. C., Chap. 40, sec. 2531 et seq.

Sec. 31. City Marshal, duties, etc.—to serve and return notices of special tax bills.—The Marshal shall execute and return all processes and orders of the Mayor, Law Department, Health Department, Police Justices or Justices of the Peace, St. Louis Criminal Court and St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, and all notices of special tax bills, under any law or ordinance, except as in this Scheme or this Charter otherwise provided; he shall keep a detailed account of the receipts of all money collected by his office, and of all delinquencies, and shall report all receipts and delinquencies, monthly, to the Comptroller; he shall appoint, with the approval of the Mayor, such deputies as he may require.

Marshal's duties, etc.: See Rev. Code, secs. 1329-1333; Scheme, secs. 6, 18, 17, 30; State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 119 Mo. l. c. 395-396 (citing Charter, Art. IV, sec. 31); Report: Art. IV, sec. 48. As to Marshal's deputies see Chart., Art. IV, sec. 14; R. C., sec. 1332.

The above section is as amended at election on Oct. 22, 1901. The amendment was made to require the Marshal to execute "all notices of special tax-bills," thus providing an official record thereof, whereas prior thereto the service was left to the parties in interest.

Sec. 32. City Counselor, duties, etc.—The City Counselor shall be the chief law officer of the city. He shall prosecute and defend all suits originating or pending in any court of record, except the St. Louis Criminal Court and St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, to which the city is a party, or in which the city or any of its officers are officially interested; he shall advise either house of the Assembly or any committee thereof, in writing, when required, as to all legal questions that may arise before them. He shall advise the Mayor, and through him all other officers, in relation to their duties, or in relation to the interests of the city in which they are directly engaged, and from time to time make such reports in relation to the suits in which the city is interested as may be required by the Mayor or the Assembly. He shall have a superintending control over the business intrusted to the City Attorney, and when necessary he shall aid him in the discharge of the duties of his office, at the request of the Mayor.

As to ordinances relating to City Counselor, his duties, office, and associates and assistants, see Rev. Code, Chap. 14, Art. 2 (secs. 1348 to 1375). He is required to advise the Police Board: Charter, Art. XVI, sec. 4.

Sec. 33. Board of Public Improvements—meeting—duties of.—The Board of Public Improvements shall meet at least once in each week at its office to consider and take under advisement such business as may come before it. Said Board shall furnish through its President to the Mayor, the Municipal Assembly or either branch thereof, such data and information as may be required, or which it may from time to time deem necessary to impart. A majority of said Board shall form a quorum for the transaction of business, but no final action shall be taken in any matter concerning the special departments of any absent commissioner, unless this business has been made the special order of the day.

For ordinances on B. P. I. in general, see Rev. Code, Chap. 24, sec. 1904, and following. As to annual report of B. P. I. to Mayor see Art. IV, sec. 48; ordinances on salaries and bonds of members of B. P. I. and employes, R. C., Chap. 24, Art. 9, secs. 1995 to 2017, and see also references in notes to each head of department as given below.

Under the city ordinances (now amended and appearing as sec. 1909 in R. C.) in the absence of the Street Commissioner the assistant and acting Street Commissioner had the right to attend the board meeting, but not to vote; held that his attendance satisfied the provision that "no final action shall be taken in any matter concerning the special department of any absent commissioner," etc., when a unanimous vote is not required: Construction Co. vs. Loevy, 64 Mo. App. 430, 435 (s. c. 179 Mo. 455, no discussion on this point). As to ordinance of quorum see R. C., sec. 1914.

An appellate court cannot review the discretion of the B. P. I. unless it is so exercised as to be clearly subversive of public rights: Gay vs. Tel. Co., 12 Mo. App. 485; Forsythe vs. Tel. Co., 12 Mo. App. 494. As to discretion and duties of the board respecting contracts for Public Improvements see notes to Art. VI of Charter.

Record of board: It is true that the Charter does not, in express terms, direct the Board of Public Improvements to keep a record of its proceedings, but such a duty by necessary implication is imposed by reason of the important part or adjunct of the municipal government it fills. Its record is admissible in evidence to show a departure from jurisdictional forms prescribed by the Charter, but a finding of fact by the board is not conclusive: Fruin Bambrick Co. vs. Geist, 37 Mo. App. 509, 515.

Sec. 34. Members of Board to be heads of departments.—The Commissioners named in section 3 of this article shall be, respectively, the heads of their several departments, and shall be responsible for all actions of their employes.

See Rev. Code, sec. 1916.

Sec. 35. Street Commissioner—duties, etc.—The Street Commissioner shall have under his special charge the construction, reconstruction, repairing and cleaning of the public streets, alleys and places, excepting parks.

Sec. 36. Sewer Commissioner—duties, etc.—The Sewer Commissioner shall have under his special charge the construction, repairs and cleaning of all public district sewers, inlets, manholes, and other appurtenances belonging thereto.

As to provisions concerning sewers, see Charter, Art. VI, secs. 20 to 23; ordinances Rev. Code, Chap. 34, secs. 2302 and following, and notes; also Charter III, sec. 26, clause 2, and notes thereto; and Art. VI, sec. 2.

Sec. 37. Water Commissioner—duties, etc.—The Water Commissioner shall have under his special charge the pumping machinery, reservoirs and water pipes, and other property connected with the waterworks. He shall have the superintendence over the enlarging of the works and the laying of water pipe, and shall exercise a general supervision over the entire water works department, excepting the collection of water rates.

For ordinances on Water Commissioner and his office see Rev. C., Chap. 24, Art. 5, secs. 1957 to 1963; also ib. Art. 9, secs. 1998, 2001, 2005 to 2010.

For Charter provisions see Art. VII, and notes.

Sec. 38. Harbor and Wharf Commissioner—duties, etc.—The Harbor and Wharf Commissioner shall have under his special charge the construction and repairs of dykes, wharf and levee, and shall be specially charged with the execution of all ordinances of the city which relate to dykes, wharf and levee, steamboats and all other boats, vessels and rafts. He shall furnish to the Collector such information as will enable the said Collector to collect wharfage and other dues from boats, vessels and rafts.

For ordinances on Harbor and Wharf Commissioner in general see Rev. Code, Chap. 24, Art. 6, secs. 1964 to 1969; 1999. Salaries and employes, R. C., secs. 1965; 2012-2014; 411.

Ordinances on Harbor and Wharf department see Rev. Code, Chap. X, secs. 345 to 436; Charter, Art. IX; see also city's power to regulate wharves, etc.; Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 2, and note.

Sec. 39. Park Commissioner—duties, etc.—The Park Commissioner shall have under his special charge and control all the public parks and places and squares of the city, excepting such as are by this Charter, or by their dedication or other special provisions in the nature of a contract, excluded from the control of the city.

For ordinances on Park Commissioner and his office in general, see Rev. Code, Chap. 24, Art. 7, secs. 1970-1975. Salaries and employes: Rev. Code, secs. 2000-2002, 2015-2017.

As to Public Parks see Rev. Code, Ch. 25, and note; secs. 2018-2035; Charter, Art. VIII, and note.

Sec. 40. Gas Commissioner—duties, etc.—The Gas Commissioner shall have under his special charge and control all the property belonging to the city gas works, and shall exercise a general supervision over the said works and the laying of all gas mains and pipes, and erecting, repairing, lighting and cleaning street lamps.

Sec. 41. President of the Board of Improvements to have supervision over other commissioners, and authenticate special tax bills.—The President of the Board of Public Improvements shall preside at the meetings of the Board, and shall have charge of all the public improvements not specially provided for in this article. He shall have a general supervision over the departments of all other Commissioners of the Board of Public Improvements, and shall inform the Mayor or Municipal Assembly of any dereliction of duty of any Commissioner. He shall authenticate all special tax bills against property owners chargeable with special taxes for work performed or materials furnished under ordinances of the city which said bills shall be made out and certified to him by the head of the department under which said work is done or material furnished.

For ordinance on President Board Public Improvements, see Rev. Code, Chap. 24, Art. 2, secs. 1935 to 1944.

As to salaries and employes, see in addition to those in above sections: Rev. Code, secs. 1995, 2003, 2004.

As to duties in connection with special tax bills for improvements, etc., see Charter, Art. VI, sec. 24, and notes thereto. The duties of the President involve the exercise of high discretion and cannot be delegated: Stifel vs. Co., 38 Mo. 340.

Sec. 42. Assembly may provide additional duties for Board.—The Municipal Assembly shall provide by ordinance such additional duties of and requirements from the Board of Public Improvements and its several members, as it may deem necessary, and for the appointment by them of such assistants and employes as the demands of the several departments may require.

For ordinances in pursuance to this section see references in the several preceding sections. For note on this section see McQuillin's Amend. Chart. (unofficial work) p. 271.

Sec. 43. Oath of city officers—bond of same.—Every officer of the city and his assistants, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall take and subscribe to an oath or affirmation before some judge or justice of the peace or the Register, that he possesses all the qualifications prescribed for his office by the Charter; that he will support the Constitution of the United States, and of the State of Missouri, and the Charter and ordinances of the City of St. Louis, and that he will faithfully demean himself in office. And every officer of the corporation, when so required by law or ordinance, shall, within fifteen days after his election or appointment, and before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, give bond to the city in such sum as shall be designated by ordinance, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties, and that he will pay over all moneys that belong to the city as provided by law. If any person elected or appointed to an office shall fail to take and subscribe such oath or affirmation, or give bond as herein required, his office shall be deemed vacant. For any breach of the condition of said bond, suit may be instituted thereon by the city, or by any person in the name of the City of St. Louis, for the use of such person or persons.

See note below.

Officers defined.—The term "officers," whenever used in this Charter, shall include all persons holding any situation under the city government or its departments, with an annual salary or for a definite term of office; and the term "fiscal officers," whenever used, shall include all persons engaged in any relation in the collection and disbursement of the city's money.

See note below.

Forfeiture of office for failure to pay over money.—Any failure on the part of any city officer to pay into the treasury of the city the balance reported by the Auditor to be due from him to the city, upon the adjustment of his account, shall cause a forfeiture of his office, and such balance shall bear interest at ten per centum per annum from the time it should have been accounted for until it shall have been paid into the treasury. The Mayor shall immediately order suit to be commenced in the proper court against the delinquent officer for such balance.

Oath: For ordinance see R. C., sec. 1675. Oath is also required by Charter, Art. XVI, sec. 13. As to necessity of oath and failure to take within the time limited see Beach on Pub. Corp., sec. 176.

Officers: Under the definition of officers in this section, a building inspector is not included: Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 495, 503; State ex rel. vs. Longfellow, 95 Mo. App. 660.

See as to interpretation of a similar provision: Weesner vs. Bank, 106 Mo. App. 668.

So a Circuit Clerk: State ex rel. vs. Rombauer, 101 Mo. 499.

Board of Police and Metropolitan Police officers are state officers: State ex rel. vs. Commissioners, 184 Mo. l. c. 133 (Kansas City police), citing State ex rel. vs. Mason, 153 Mo. l. c. 43 (St. Louis police). See State ex rel. vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 360; Marshall, J., dissenting in State ex rel. vs. Stobie, 92 Southw. 191, l. c. 220; s. c. 194 Mo. 14.

But the police are city officers as well as state officers; the dual capacity is expressly provided and is recognized as lawful: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 174 Mo. 125, 131, citing Carrington vs. St. Louis, 89 Mo. l. c. 214. See further State vs. Boyd, 108 Mo. App. 518, 524; State ex rel. vs. Stobie, 194 Mo. 14; R. S. 1899, sec. 6232, set out in "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," sec. 451.

Member of the Municipal Assembly is a city officer: State vs. Kelly, 103 Mo. App. 711.

Election Commissioner in St. Louis is a state officer in the sense that his functions are not limited to municipal elections; and that he is not within the prohibition against city officers contracting with the city: State ex rel. vs. Meier, 96 Mo. App. 160.

But he is not a state officer so as to confer jurisdiction on the Supreme Court of an appeal to a case where a state officer is a party: State ex rel. vs. Higgins, 144 Mo. 410.

So also of a Sheriff: State ex rel. vs. Bender, 91 Mo. 206; see State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. l. c. 337 (holding a deputy sheriff not to be a state officer within the constitutional inhibition against a state officer holding office also in a city or county. See discussion by the court, as to when officers are state, county, or city officials).

Constable is state not city officer: State ex rel. vs. McKee, 69 Mo. 504.

After calling attention to the different provisions and phraseology of the constitutional references to officers the court in State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. l. c. 337, says: "While the City of St. Louis is strictly a municipal corporation, its territory is also a subdivision of the state, in which officers are elected to perform the functions of the state government as distinguished from those pertaining to municipal government. Those officers are in no sense municipal officers," etc.

De facto officers: As to salary of such see note to Art. XVI, sec. 17. Where there is no office there can be no officer de facto: Weesner vs. Bank, 106 Mo. App. 668, 672; State ex rel. vs. Finn, 4 Mo. App. 347.

When a municipal legislative body may be such de facto: Hilgert vs. Barber Co., 107 Mo. App. 385; see also Adams vs. Lindell, 5 Mo. App. 197, s. c. 72 Mo. 198; St. Louis vs. Stoddard, 15 Mo. App. 173, 177.

When appointment of one as officer will be implied, so far as the public are concerned: See note to R. C., sec. 1686.

Resignation: Under the constitution of this state any officer may resign at will: State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. l. c. 331 (citing Const., Art. 14, sec. 5).

Liability of officers: A public officer charged with discretionary duties is not liable for negligent performance thereof, nor erroneous performance not actuated by willfulness or corruption: Schooler vs. Arrington, 106 Mo. App. 607, 609, citing a number of Missouri cases. See also as to liability of officer alleged to have done an act "in pursuance of an order of the city": Quinn vs. Schneider, 118 Mo. App. 39, 43.

But a superintendent of a workhouse, or jailer, although not actuated by malice, who keeps a prisoner beyond the time authorized by law and charter, by exercising a void power to extend the term as a matter of prison discipline, is liable for false imprisonment: St. Louis vs. Karr, 85 Mo. App. 608, 614 (distinguishing cases holding an officer to be protected for acting under a void commitment fair on its face).

And a Street Commissioner, who grades a street without the lawful authority of an ordinance (proceeding on simple resolution, which is void) is liable as for trespass, as well as the Mayor and aldermen who are present assisting and encouraging the work of such grading, to the owner abutting on the street: Reed vs. Peck, 163 Mo. 333.

A collector is not personally liable for collecting taxes under an irregular assessment, but he is where the property is wholly exempt from taxation; nor is he liable where he proceeds under a legislative act, the validity of which is afterwards assailed and overthrown as unconstitutional: Walden vs. Dudley, 49 Mo. l. c. 420-421, and cases cited. And even where the property is exempt, if such exemption is not absolute but conditional with a tribunal to review an assessment and determine the question, the collector has a right to suppose the unassailed decision of that tribunal to be correct: Lee vs. Thomas, 49 Mo. 112.

Penalty for favoring unauthorized claim by any officer, missapplication of funds, etc., see Chart., Art. XVI, sec. 11. The criminal liability of municipal officers, agents and servants, is discussed in a note on p. 273 of Mr. McQuillin's unofficial work "Amend. Chart.," and thirteen different ways of violation of law enumerated.

Loss of office is also discussed by that author on the same page, and the different ways in which this may be incurred are set out.

Sec. 44. Mayor to settle disputes between officers.—All questions of difference between the officers of the city affecting their relative powers and duties may be referred by either of them to the Mayor, who shall examine and determine such questions, and his decision shall be final as between such officers.

Sec. 45. Power of Assembly to create offices.—The Assembly shall have power, by ordinance passed by a vote of two-thirds of the members-elect of each house, to create any other office which it may deem necessary, and to provide for the manner of filling the same.

Assembly may create office: St. Louis vs. Liessing, 190 Mo. 464, 491; or assembly may transfer duties from one office to another, or abrogate the office altogether:

Chart., Art. III, sec. 32; or it may define the duties, and may change, increase or diminish same: Chart., Art. IV, sec. 28.

Sec. 46. Mayor to enforce contracts—officers to report violations of contract.—The Mayor shall see that all contracts and agreements with the city are faithfully kept and performed, and to this end he shall cause legal proceedings to be instituted and prosecuted against all persons or corporations failing to fulfill their agreements with the city. And it is the duty of every city officer, when it shall come to his knowledge that any contract with the city, relating to the business of any office, has been violated by the other contracting party, forthwith to report the fact to the Mayor.

As to city contracts and incidents connected therewith, see discussion in note to Charter, Art. XVI, sec. 7.

Sec. 47. Chiefs of Departments to report annually to the Mayor and quarterly to the Comptroller—books, papers, etc., to be opened to inspection by Members of Assembly, Mayor and Comptroller—Mayor to submit all reports to assembly.—The Chief of every department shall report annually to the Mayor, and as often as may be required by him, and quarterly to the Comptroller, a full itemized account of all the money received and paid out by or through said department, and their books, papers and everything connected with their offices, shall be open for examination and inspection by any member of either house of the Municipal Assembly, and the Mayor and Comptroller. All annual reports shall be submitted by the Mayor, with his message, to the Assembly.

For ordinances making provisions for reports from all fiscal officers and board, see R. C., sec. 2394; water rates collector: R. C., sec. 2461.

Sec. 48. Report of Comptroller.—The Comptroller shall, at the opening of each stated session of the Assembly, submit his report of the financial condition of the city and of the business in his office, and therewith the reports of all other fiscal officers. His report shall contain his estimates of the receipts and of the necessary appropriations to meet all the wants of the current year.

Report of Auditor.—The report of the Auditor shall comprise full and complete tables of facts in relation to the receipts and expenditures of the revenues since his last annual report, and an exhibit of the condition of the several general and special revenue accounts, individual funds and other accounts on his books, and their balances.

Report of Treasurer.—The Treasurer's report shall exhibit the amount of cash on hand at the date of the last annual report, the amount since received and paid out, respectively, on account of each class of funds, and what balance remains to the credit of each.

Report of Collector.—The Collector's report shall embrace all his collections since his last annual report from all the different sources, respectively, and the expenses of his office in detail.

Report of Marshal.—The Marshal's report shall state how much he has collected from fines, fees and penalties, respectively, of all kinds, and how much from all other sources, and how much he has paid into the treasury, and also the expenses he has incurred and charged, and which were either deducted from his collections, or paid out of the treasury, and on what account, in detail; also the amount of all uncollected bills of fines and fees.

Report of Board of Public Improvement.—The report of the Board of Public Improvements shall set forth, in detail, the condition of the public works of the city, under appropriate headings, and description of each contract, the names of the contractors, the authority for and amount appropriated to each piece of work or contract, the amount paid thereon prior to the last annual report, the amount since, and an estimate of what is necessary to complete the same; how much, for what purpose, and under what authority expenditures have been made without written contract approved by the Assembly, and all other things in their department of interest to the administration or the public.

Sec. 49. Commissioners on Charitable Institutions—their duties and powers—may remove officers of institutions.—The Commissioners on Charitable Institutions shall have a general visitorial supervision over all penal and charitable institutions supported wholly or in part by the city. They shall have power by an unanimous vote, to remove any appointed officer or employe of such institution, and shall, in case of such removal, notify the Mayor, and request him to fill the vacancy. The Mayor shall have no power to reappoint any person removed by the Commissioners.

For ordinances on Commissioners of Charitable Institutions see Rev. Code, secs. 1715-1727.

The Commissioners have no right to remove a superintendent of the institutions, except for cause, and after due notice, charges and specifications and an opportunity to be heard: State ex rel. vs. Brown, 57 Mo. App. 199 (upholding also an ordinance, now sec. 1720 of R. C.).

Sec. 50. Commissioners on Charitable Institutions to meet monthly at the City Hall and visit institutions monthly—may recommend ordinances to Assembly—shall receive no compensation.—The Commissioners shall meet at least once in each month at their office in the City Hall, and shall visit all the institutions under their supervision at least once in each month. They shall recommend to the Assembly such ordinances as they may deem necessary for the welfare of the persons under their supervision, and in the interest of the city. They shall receive no pay for their services.

For ordinances see Rev. Code, secs. 1715-1727.

Section 1. Municipal Assembly to levy and collect taxes—rates for various purposes specified—rates for erecting public buildings, how increased—revenue for erecting public buildings.—For the support of the government of the city, the improvement thereof, and the payment of the public debt, the Municipal Assembly shall, by ordinance, annually levy, assess and collect taxes on all subjects and objects of taxation, and on all property within the city made taxable by law for State purposes; and establish the rate thereof, as follows, to-wit: For municipal purposes a sum not exceeding the maximum authorized by the Constitution of the State, or any amendment thereof; for the payment of the valid indebtedness of the city existing on the seventh day of April, eighteen hundred and ninety, and for the bonds issued in renewal thereof, a percentum sufficient, at least, to meet the requirements of Section two, Article fourteen of this Charter; for the payment of indebtedness which may have been incurred thereafter or may be incurred hereafter, a percentum sufficient at least to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for payment of the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same, or within such other period as may be permitted by the Constitution of this State in force at the time any such indebtedness is contracted, unless said interest and sinking fund are hereinafter, or hereafter, otherwise provided for; provided, however, that the rates of taxation for the payment of the indebtedness existing on the seventh day of April, eighteen hundred and ninety, as aforesaid, and for the payment of each separate indebtedness thereafter, shall be separately established; and provided further, that for the purpose of erecting public buildings, the rate of taxation for municipal purposes as herein limited, may be increased by the Municipal Assembly, when the rate of such increase and the purpose for which it is intended shall have been submitted to a vote of the people, and two-thirds of the qualified voters of the city, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote therefor. The taxes collected for the purpose of erecting public buildings shall be designated "revenue for erecting public buildings," and shall be kept distinct from other revenues and used for the purpose designated in the submission of the question of increasing the rate, as aforesaid, to a vote of the people, any other provision in this Charter as to designation or application of the fund to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Municipal Assembly shall also be empowered to levy, assess and collect all taxes, of every description, on any or all of the subjects or objects of taxation which are authorized to be levied by the municipality under the constitution and laws of this State.

Amendment: This section is an amendment adopted at the election on October 22, 1901, submitted under ordinance 20444. The divergence from the old provision is set out in McQuill. (unofficial) work Amend. Chart., in a note on p. 280.

Powers of taxation: General power to levy and collect taxes, borrow and appropriate money: See Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 1.

For provisions and discussion concerning the city's power to license, tax and regulate occupations, vehicles and other subjects and objects of license, see note to Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 5, where that subject is separately treated; and ordinances as to license collector see R. C., Chap. 30, and notes thereto.

Under the Constitution the taxing power must be exercised by municipal corporations for county or corporate purposes, be uniform, in proportion to value, etc. See Const., Art. X, secs. 1 to 4, etc. (See 195 Mo. 228; 76 Mo. 431; 89 Mo. 631, and 49 Mo. 512.)

As to the limit of municipal indebtedness of St. Louis under the last amendment to the Constitution see note to clause 1 of sec. 26 of Art. III of the Charter.

The assessment and collection of the revenue and taxes in the City of St. Louis is governed largely by the State laws (R. S. 1899, secs. 9118-9400 inclusive) and those provisions thereof which are specially applicable to St. Louis are set out hereinbefore with notes, under "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," Chapter 26, secs. 468-496. See Art. 1 (secs. 468-470) for assessment; Art. 2 (secs. 471-482) the Collector; Art. 3 (secs. 483-487) settlements of collector; Art. 4, (secs. 488-492) delinquent and back taxes; Art. 5 (secs. 493-494) assessment and taxation of railroads; Art. 6 (secs. 495-496) taxation of merchants and manufactures. These provisions should be consulted in connection with the charter provisions. The ordinance provisions covering the revenue department are found in Rev. Code, Chap. 30-32, secs. 2070 et seq.; see as to board of assessors, secs. 2070-2098; board of equalization, secs. 2099-2102; of taxes, sec. 2103.

Special taxation for local improvements is not included in general taxation, and is discussed in notes to Art. VI of the Charter.

If the State can tax for state purposes it can confer upon one of its municipalities the power to tax for local purposes: Henderson Co. vs. Henderson, 173 U. S. loc. cit. 614; for "a municipality without the power of taxation would be a body without life, incapable of acting and serving no useful purpose": U. S. vs. New Orleans, 98 U. S. 381, 393; and hence when the power to contract a debt by bond is given the power to levy taxes to pay same goes with it, unless there is an express limitation which repels the inference: Id. pp. 393-394 (allowing mandamus against the city to pay judgments on bonds); and a lawful issue of bonds is not only binding upon the municipality, but even the power of the State itself to alter or destroy its municipal corporations or change the boundaries thereof, cannot be so exercised as to impair the obligation of such bonds, and if such be done, the proper officers of the old municipality may be compelled by mandamus to make an assessment and levy of taxes for their payment: Graham vs. Folsom, 200 U. S. 248.

The Constitution of Missouri, sec. 23, of Art. IX, distinctly recognizes the right of the City of St. Louis to make provision in its Charter for levying and collecting city taxes for the maintenance of the city government; the city was empowered to make provision in its charter for the levy of taxes by its municipal assembly upon such subjects and in such manner as would not be in controvention of the Constitution and laws of the state, nor does the city derive its powers to levy taxes from legislative grant, not being included in those affected by Const., Art. X, sec. 1: St. Louis vs. Bircher, 76 Mo. 431, 433.

"The power to tax is explicitly given in the Charter adopted in pursuance of the constitutional provisions; in view of those provisions there can be no doubt that it was the intent of the framers of the Constitution that the Charter to be framed by the Board of Freeholders for the City of St. Louis, should contain such provisions in regard to taxation as should be found by them expedient, and violate no constitutional provision. To hold otherwise would be to hold that the framers of the Constitution offered to St. Louis a Charter under which she could have no revenue, and consequently no police, no waterworks, no street lighting or paving, no means of subsistence and no life": St. Louis vs. Sternberg, 4 Mo. App. l. c. 457 (affirmed s. c. 69 Mo. 289).

"As the city government, authorized by the Constitution for the City of St. Louis, is entirely different in its organization from that of the counties, and as the duty of collecting the State revenue which devolved upon the County of St. Louis under the general law, was thereafter to be performed by the city, it became necessary to provide in the Charter the requisite municipal agencies for the performance of that duty. Proper officers were to be designated, the mode of their selection prescribed, and the duties which were previously performed by the officials designated in the general law were, by express enactment, to be imposed on them," etc.: State ex rel. vs. Powers, 68 Mo. 320, 324. See as to transfer of old county functions to city officials on the separation of city and county, note introductory to Charter, "General Considerations," etc.

Under the Charter and State laws annual assessments of real estate in St. Louis are lawful: State ex rel. vs. Powers, 68 Mo. 320.

The power of taxation by municipalities is amongst the most valuable and important of the public trusts and powers conferred upon municipal corporations, without the exercise of which municipal government would cease to exist; and a contract by a city not to exercise the same, or attempting to limit the exercise thereof by exemption or commutation of taxes, is void, and of no effect: State vs. Railroad, 75 Mo. 208, 210, applied also in Springfield vs. Smith, 138 Mo. l. c. 655; an attempted exemption from either general or special taxation is void: Vrana vs. St. Louis, 164 Mo. 146, 152.

There being (at that time) a direct conflict between the Charter of St. Louis and the general State law, so far as they relate to the method of extending the taxes levied upon railroad property and the subsequent proceedings for collecting the same, it was held that the State law supersedes the Charter in that respect: State ex rel. vs. Railway, 117 Mo. 1, 11-12. (As to assessment and taxation of railroads see "Laws Spec. Applic. to St. L.," hereinbefore, Chap. 26, Art. 5.)

Personal property of a non-resident is taxable here if it be found within the local jurisdiction regardless of whose hands it may happen to be in: Curtis vs. Wood, 58 Mo. 295; and see Lionberger vs. Rowse, 43 Mo. 67; Bank vs. Meredith, 44 Mo. 500. But personal property is to be assessed where owner resides, etc.: Rev. St. 1899, sec. 9121.

The legislature cannot authorize a municipal corporation to tax, for its own local purposes, lands lying beyond the corporate limits: Wells vs. Weston, 22 Mo. 384. (But as to issuing bonds for street railway running out of the limits see Henderson vs. Jackson Co., 12 Fed. (C. C.) 676; and the city may issue bonds on bridge over Mississippi: Haeussler vs. St. Louis (Sup. Ct. in banc July 2, 1907, not yet reported.) As to what is within the limits where the boundary is a river see extended discussion in Henderson Bridge Co. vs. Henderson (a Kentucky river case) 173 U. S. 592, to be interpreted in connection with our laws as to the boundary (see note to Art. 1, sec. 2) and see State ex rel. vs. Longfellow, 169 U. S. 109; Haeussler vs. St. Louis (bonds for free bridge across Mississippi, Supt. Ct. in banc, July 2, 1907, not as yet reported).

The State has a right to increase the boundaries of St. Louis without consent of property holders who are thereby brought within its limits, and are thereafter required to pay city taxes: Russell vs. St. Louis, 9 Mo. 503; see also Benoist vs. St. Louis, 19 Mo. loc. cit. 184.

Public property of the city is by the Constitution exempt from taxation (Art. X, sec. 6) but this does not apply to property held by the city as trustee of a charitable bequest for the benefit of a particular class; in such case the tax should be assessed against the city as trustee: St. Louis vs. Wenneker, 145 Mo. 230, 239 (Mullanphy Emigrant Fund: See note to Rev. Code, Chapter 19, sec. 1654, et seq.)

Neither does constitutional nor statutory exemption from taxes apply to special taxation for local improvements, as to which see notes to Charter, Art. VI, sec. 14, etc.

In holding void sec. 11a of Art. X of the State Constitution, as in conflict with the 14th amendment of the U. S. Const., the court said in State ex rel. vs. Ry., 195 Mo. 1. c. 241-242: "If the constitutional [State] amendment only excepted the City of St. Louis, a very different question would also have been presented for adjudication, for the City of St. Louis is a political subdivision of the State as much as any county and is treated as a county, and any law that is passed applicable thereto applies to all persons within its territorial limits; and taxes which are imposed on property in the City of St. Louis are necessarily uniform because they subject the same class of subjects, within the territorial limits of the city, to the tax. In fact the laws relating to taxation in St. Louis have for many years been different from the laws applicable to other parts of the State."

Under the Charter of 1841 there might be different levies or rates of taxes in the same year, provided the aggregate did not exceed the Charter limit, and the council might levy taxes either for the fiscal or calendar year: Benoist vs. St. Louis, 19 Mo. 179.

Sec. 3. Enforcement of taxes.—The payment of all taxes for the city shall be enforced in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations as may be provided by law for collecting and enforcing the payment of State taxes.

For authorities relating to bringing and defending of suits for taxes, and matters connected therewith, see note to sec. 491 of "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," ante p. 189-190.

Sec. 4. Licenses, wharfages and other dues.—The Assembly shall also provide by ordinance for the levy and collection of all other taxes, licenses, wharfages, and other dues of every description, and to fix the penalties for neglect or refusal to pay the same according to law and ordinance.

Sec. 5. Blank licenses—tickets, etc.—how issued.—All blank licenses, tickets, receipts, permits, certificates or other blank forms which are intended to facilitate or simplify the collection of the revenue, shall be issued by the Register under the seal of the city, and delivered and charged to the Comptroller, who shall countersign and deliver them to the proper officers respectively and take duplicate receipts therefor, one of which shall be filed with the Auditor.

Same as ordinance: R. C., sec. 2063.

Sec. 6. Classification of taxes.—All taxes collected for municipal purposes, from all sources whatever, shall be designated "Municipal Revenue," and the taxes collected for the payment of the public debt shall be designated "Interest and Public Debt Revenue," and the latter shall always be kept distinct from other revenues and held sacred for the payment of interest and the valid indebtedness of the City of St. Louis existing on the seventh day of April, eighteen hundred and ninety, and the indebtedness of the city which may have been incurred thereafter or may be incurred hereafter, and the bonds issued in renewal thereof, and for no other purpose whatever.

Present amendment adopted at election on Oct. 22, 1901 (ord. 20444).

Sec. 7. Payments into city treasury.—All collections of public money on account of the city shall be paid into the city treasury and triplicate receipts taken therefor, showing from what source the money is derived and the account to which it is placed, one of which shall be filed with the Auditor, and one with the Comptroller.

Sec. 8. Settlement of fiscal officers.—The settlement of all officers engaged in collection of the revenue, shall be adjusted by the Comptroller, and by him certified to the Auditor, at least monthly, and oftener if required by the Mayor, and all blanks not used shall be returned by the Comptroller to the Register for cancellation.

APPROPRIATIONS.

Sec. 9. Appropriations.—The appropriations of the Municipal Assembly for the payment of interest, for the payment of the public debt, for public improvements, and for the support of the city government during any one fiscal year, shall be in conformity with the requirements of the constitution of the State.

Constitutional limit of municipal indebtedness, see note to Art. III, sec. 26, clause 1; Const., Art. IX, sec. 19 and Art. X, sec. 12.

Sec. 10. Limitation of appropriations.—No appropriation shall be made from any revenue fund in excess of the amount standing to the credit of such fund; nor shall it be made for the purposes to which the money therein is not applicable by law.

See sec. 12 infra.

Duty of Comptroller to see that no improper expenditure incurred, and that appropriations are not overdrawn: Charter, Art. IV, sec. 20; Rev. C., sec. 2427. Similar duties of Auditor, and warrant to specify appropriation out of which payable: Rev. Code, sec. 2411, 2410, 2419; Charter, Art. IV, sec. 21.

As to effect of contracts where the appropriation is less than the contract price see note to Art. XVI, sec. 7; also, as to improvements, note to Art. VI, sec. 28.

Sec. 11. Payments out of city treasury.—No money shall be paid out of the treasury except on the Auditor's warrant, and no warrant shall be issued on any appropriation, unless there is an unexpended balance to the credit thereof sufficient to cover such warrant, and money in the treasury to pay it.

See Rev. Code, sec. 2410.

Sec. 12. All ordinances authorizing disbursements to be indorsed by Comptroller.—All ordinances that contemplate the payment of any money shall, upon their second reading, be referred to the appropriate committee who shall obtain the indorsement of the Comptroller thereon to the effect that sufficient unappropriated means stands to the credit of the fund therein named, to meet the requirements of said ordinance, or it shall not be lawful to recommend its passage, or pass the same: Provided, that no claim shall be paid without the approval of the Auditor.

See as to wisdom of provisions such as these, the remarks of Marshall, J., in Pryor vs. Kansas City, 153 Mo. 151 et seq.

REVENUE AND TAXATION.

Sec. 13. Unadjusted accounts—how certified, etc.—All unadjusted accounts, before they are audited, must be certified to by the officer having knowledge of the facts, and the Auditor and Comptroller may allow them, or in case of their disagreement, then by either of them and the Mayor; and all accounts thus allowed shall be paid as directed in this article. All audited accounts shall be registered in the Comptroller's office, and filed and preserved as vouchers in the Auditor's office.

Rev. Code, sec. 2410.

Sec. 14. All expenditures, etc., must be by ordinance.—No money shall be expended, nor shall any improvement be ordered involving an expenditure of money, except by ordinance, the provisions of which shall be specific and definite.

Section cited: St. Louis vs. Lang, 131 Mo. loc. cit. 420; Silvester vs. St. Louis 164 Mo. l. c. 609.

As to appropriations for public work or improvements, see Charter, Art. VI, sec. 28, and note thereto.

A mere auditing officer cannot be mandamusd where there is no appropriation: State ex rel. vs. Brown, 141 Mo. 26.

But as to no technical appropriation by the municipal assembly being required where the police board sends in its estimate, see State ex rel. vs. Mason, 153 Mo. 23, and references in note to Charter, Art. XVI, sec. 16.

ASSESSMENT OF PROPERTY.

Sec. 15. Board of Assessors—Assembly to establish assessment districts.—The City of St. Louis shall be assessed, in accordance with the general laws, by a Board of Assessors, consisting of a President of the Board, to be elected by the qualified voters of the city, and one Assessor from each assessment district, who shall be appointed by the Mayor, and confirmed by the Council and the Municipal Assembly, shall lay off the city into convenient assessment districts, and shall have power to alter and change the same, as necessity or convenience may require.

See Rev. Code, secs. 2070, 2084. By sec. 8 of the Scheme the office of President of the Board of Assessors is declared a city office and placed under the control of the City government.

Sec. 16. Official bonds of Assessors.—The President of the Board, and each of the district assessors, before entering upon their official duties, shall give bond and security to the State, to the satisfaction of the Mayor, with three or more solvent securities, freeholders of the city, the said President in a sum not less than twenty thousand dollars, and the said district assessors, each, in a sum not less than two thousand dollars, the amount to be fixed by ordinance, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of their office, which bonds shall be executed in duplicate, one of which shall be forwarded to the State Auditor, and the other be deposited with the Register of the City of St. Louis.

See note below.

Duties of Assessors—reports.—It shall be the duty of the district assessors to assess the property within the districts for which they were appointed, under the direction and superintendence of the President, in the manner provided by law. They shall commence their assessment on the first day of June in each year, and complete the same, and make their final report to the President, on or before the first Monday in January following. Each report shall be verified by the affidavit thereto of the assessor making it, that he made the assessment contained in his report impartially and correctly to the best of his ability and judgment, and uninfluenced by fear of, or favor by, or toward any one.

Act March 24, 1881 (Laws 1881, p. 178) fixes the dates.

Duties, etc.: Ordinance: R. C., sec. 2083. As to bonds, etc., see R. C., sec. 2071. See also note to sec. 18 infra of this article.

Sec. 17. Qualifications of Assessors.—The President of the Board of Assessors shall be of the age of at least thirty years, and have been a resident within the city for at least seven years next before his qualification; and each district assessor shall have been a resident within the city for at least five years next before his qualification, or competent for his duties from actual service as an assessor of real estate in the City of St. Louis for taxation.

Ordinance: Rev. Code, sec. 2072. The original provisions also required the assessors to be freeholders but was superseded by the State law (R. S. 1899, sec. 5259) and that portion is therefore omitted.

Sec. 18. Duties of the President of the Board of Assessors—shall be accountable for all plats, books, etc., belonging to the office—may appoint clerks and deputies—personal attendance in office required.—It shall be the duty of the President of the Board to superintend the work of the district assessors, and the assessment of the entire city, to see that they faithfully discharge their duty, and, as far as possible, make the assessment uniform and equal throughout the city. He shall take the entire charge of the Assessor's office, and all maps, plats, books, papers and furniture, etc., belonging to the said office. He shall be accountable for all such plats, and shall not permit any one of them, under any pretence whatever, to be removed from the office except those which may be required by the district assessors for the assessment of their allotted districts. He shall use all proper care and diligence to preserve all maps, plats, books and papers belonging to the office from injury, and shall hold the district assessors responsible for the return, in good condition, of all plats that may be furnished to them. He shall alter and correct the office plats, and all plats used by the district assessors, as required by law. He shall furnish the district assessors with all plats, blanks, stationery, instructions, and all information that may be needed by them for the proper assessment of their respective districts. He shall receive the return of property of those upon whom the district assessors have ordered notice, except in those cases where the district assessors make personal service, and shall administer the oath required by law. He may appoint one or more of the clerks in his office as deputies, and he or they shall be authorized to administer the oath. He shall furnish paper, blanks, and all necessary information to persons desiring to make appeal from the assessment of the district assessors. He shall, in person, be at his office every working day, during office hours, except when engaged in his duties as Assessor, or absent on leave, and shall furnish information on all matters pertaining to the assessment of property.

See in connection herewith R. S. 1899, sec. 9169, set out hereinbefore under "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," Chap. 26, sec. 468. For ordinances see R. C., 2070-2098; deputies, sec. 2073.

The action of the assessor in assessing the property of owners is quasi-judicial, and when his jurisdiction attaches by the due service of notice and blanks, his valuation and assessment made where the property owner fails so to do, is, unless appealed from, conclusive upon the taxpayer; and that the valuation is of a lump sum, not itemized, is at most a mere irregularity of which the taxpayer, when sued, cannot complain: State ex rel. vs. Cummings, 151 Mo. 49, 60. See also State ex rel. vs. Seahorn, 139 Mo. 582; State ex rel. vs. Hoyt, 123 Mo. 348. But the assessor cannot raise the return made by the taxpayer, without notice: State ex rel. vs. Spencer, 114 Mo. 574.

By Charter, Art. V, sec. 28, the Comptroller has a right to correct manifest errors in assessments.

Sec. 19. Assessment books, how made up.—When the district assessors shall have completed their assessments, said President of the Board shall make up the assessment books in proper alphabetical order, from the plats and returns made by said district assessors, from the return of property holders to the Assessor's office, and from the best information he can otherwise obtain, so that said assessment books shall be as nearly as possible a full and complete assessment of all taxable property in the city, the same to be completed on or before the third Monday in March of each year.

Cited in Heman Const. Co. vs. Loevy, 179 Mo. loc. cit. 468-469.

Sec. 20. Public notice to be given of completion of books.—As soon as said books are completed, the President of the Board shall give one week's published notice in the daily newspapers,—one of which shall be printed in German,—that said books are open for inspection, and stating the time when the Board of Equalization will be in session.

Rev. Code, sec. 2096.

Sec. 21. Duty of Recorder of Deeds in reference to conveyances.—The Recorder of Deeds of the City of St. Louis is hereby required to deliver to the President of the Board of Assessors, from day to day, when required of him, and the day after the same shall have been recorded and compared, all deeds and other instruments in writing, filed in his office, by which any change of ownership is made in any of the real estate of the City of St. Louis, and the President of the Board shall, without unnecessary delay, make such changes upon the plats in his office as said deeds and other instruments may require, and forthwith return such deeds and other instruments to said Recorder.

Ordinance to same effect: R. C., sec. 2097. See other ordinances affecting Recorder: R. C., Chap. 27, secs. 2047-2052; also sec. 1944. Duties to record plats, Chart., Art. VI, sec. 1.

This section was repealed at the charter amendment election of Oct. 22, 1901 (submitted by ord. 20444) and is omitted from the text. The section provided that the assessment of lands in the city, which had not been laid off into blocks or lots, should be assessed by the acre as agricultural lands until laid off into blocks and lots by the owners. Before its repeal the same had been declared void as unconstitutional (conflicting with sec. 4, Art. X, requiring all property to be taxed according to its value): State ex rel. vs. O'Brien, 89 Mo. 631.

A similar section had long before been held not to require the value for taxation purposes to be fixed by its agricultural value only: Benoist vs. St. Louis, 15 Mo. 668.

Sec. 23. Costs of assessment, how paid.—All the costs and expenses of the assessment shall be allowed and paid by the City of St. Louis, in the same manner as other demands against the city are allowed and paid, and when the aggregate for each year's assessment shall have been ascertained, the Auditor of St. Louis shall certify the same to the State Auditor, whose duty it shall be to draw his warrant in favor of the City of St. Louis for one-half of said assessment, as provided by law.

Rev. Code, sec. 2098.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

Sec. 24. Organization and duties.—There shall be a Board of Equalization, consisting of the President of the Board of Assessors, who shall be President thereof, and four discreet and experienced real estate owners of the City of St. Louis, of a prior residence therein of ten years, who shall be appointed by the Judges of the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, on the second Monday of March annually. The duty of said Board shall be to adjust, correct and equalize the valuation of real estate and personal property in said city. It shall meet on the third Monday in March annually, and shall remain in session for four weeks, if business requires it, and no longer. Said Board shall hear and determine all appeals in a summary manner, shall adjust and correct the assessment books accordingly, shall determine as far as possible whether the property has been assessed at the true cash value, and in just proportion to the assessed value of the other property in the city similarly situated, and to this end shall increase or diminish the assessment on any property, real or personal, or mixed. If they propose to increase the assessment in any case, they shall cause notice thereof to be served upon the owner, agent or representative thereof, if within the city, who shall have the right to be heard upon such proposed increase. The said Board shall have power to send for persons or papers, and to compel the attendance of witnesses, and to this end the Sheriff of the city shall execute such process as may be issued by it. The majority of said Board shall constitute a quorum, and a majority of those present shall determine all matters of appeal or revision, or correction of values. The compensation of the members of the Board shall be fixed by ordinance, but the President shall receive no compensation as such member. The members of such Board, before entering upon the duties of their office, shall take and subscribe an oath similar to that required of County Boards of Equalization.

Ordinances on Board of Equalization, R. C., secs. 2099-2102. Assessments must be corrected by appeal. If the assessed owner does not appeal to the board of equalization as provided by law, he will not be heard to dispute the assessment of the assessor, which then is conclusive, if the property is taxable under any law: State ex rel. vs. Tobacco Co., 140 Mo. 218. The right to appeal is equivalent to "a day in court": State ex rel. vs. Cummings, 151 Mo. 1. c. 59 (holding failure to make an itemized list of property at best only an irregularity); see on same point State ex rel. vs. Seahorn, 139 Mo. 1. c. 609-610.

A board of equalization being a tribunal of special and limited powers, acts outside of its jurisdiction are void; but in the performance of its duties it acts judicially and its orders cannot be collaterally impeached except for fraud: State ex rel. vs. Vaile, 122 Mo. 33; St. Louis Mut. vs. Charles, 47 Mo. 462.

The action of the board of appeals is judicial and hence certiorari is the proper mode of reviewing its acts: State ex rel. vs. Dowling, 50 Mo. 134; but only matters on the face of its record can be reviewed: Ward vs. Board, 135 Mo. 309.

Sec. 25. Record of Proceedings.—Said Board shall keep a complete record of all its proceedings, and deliver the same to the said President to be kept as a record in his office.

Sec. 26. Abstract of corrected assessments to be sent to Mayor and State Auditor—State, school and city tax bills, how prepared—duty of Comptroller in reference to tax bills and assessment books.—After the assessment books have been corrected, the President of the Board shall make out a fair copy of the same, and shall make an abstract of said books, showing the amount of the several kinds of property assessed, and specifying the amount of value of all property within the present boundary line of the city, the amount of value of all property in the extended limits, and the aggregate valuation of all property within the city limits as established by this Charter, and add thereto his certificate that the same contains a true and correct list of all taxable property of the City of St. Louis so far as he has been able to ascertain the same. One copy of the abstract, verified by his oath, shall be delivered on or before the fourth Monday in May to the Mayor of St. Louis, and another copy to the State Auditor. He shall add upon the assessment books the State and school taxes required by law to be levied, and also add in accordance with a certified copy of an ordinance from the Municipal Assembly, all municipal taxes set forth in said ordinance, and shall then cause to be made out tax bills against the persons assessed, setting forth in said bills the name of the person, the description of the property, and the several taxes thereon, the name of the owner, lessee or agent of the property assessed, and their number or place of residence or business, and such other information as may facilitate the collection of such tax bills. He shall deliver said bills, with an abstract of the same and with a copy of the assessment books, to the Comptroller, who shall compare said bills with the abstract, test the footings thereof, and then shall officially stamp said bills and deliver the same with the abstract to the Collector and take his separate receipts therefor, First, for the aggregate of said bills; Second, for the amount of the State taxes; which last receipt the said Comptroller shall transmit to the State Auditor.

See State law, R. S. 1899, sec. 9169 (set out hereinbefore under Laws Applicable Specially to St. L., Ch. 26, sec. 468) as to duty of President of the board of assessors respecting plats and changes of assessments to owners, each year.

School taxes are fixed by the Board of Education; as to remission of same where an excess remains see Charter, Art. XIII, sec. 5.

Sec. 27. Percentage of taxes fixed by ordinance.—On or before the fourth Monday in May in each year, the Municipal Assembly shall cause to be delivered to the President of the Board of Assessors a certified ordinance establishing the percentage of taxes for the current year, and failing so to do, the rates last previously established shall be the percentage of taxes for the current year.

See R. C., sec. 2103. This charter provision (sec. 27) is an amendment adopted at the charter election of Oct. 22, 1901, submitted by ordinance 20444.

The rate for school taxes is fixed by the Board of Education: Charter, Art. XIII, sec. 4.

Sec. 28. Comptroller to correct manifest errors in assessments.—The City Comptroller is authorized and empowered to hear and determine all allegations of manifest errors in the assessment of lands and personal property for taxes, and in all cases when it shall appear that lands or personal property have been erroneously taxed, the said Comptroller shall cause the same to be corrected on the assessment books, and shall certify to the State Auditor all such corrections to be credited to the Collector.

Amendment adopted at election Oct. 22, 1901. The city assembly is prohibited from relieving any citizen from payment of any tax or exempt him from any burden, etc. See Charter, Art. III, sec. 30; and from making any appropriations for charitable purposes, etc.: ib. sec. 33.

Sec. 29. Authority of Comptroller as to delinquent taxes, etc.—And the said Comptroller is further authorized and empowered to discharge all the duties, and perform all the acts within the city limits, in regard to the "land delinquent list," the "sale of land for taxes," and all other matters relating to the assessment books and tax-bills, that are imposed on the County Court in the General Law.

COLLECTION OF TAXES.

Sec. 30. Bond of City Collector.—The Collector of the City of St. Louis, before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, shall give bond and security to the State, to the satisfaction of the Mayor, in a sum provided by law and ordinance, conditioned that he will faithfully and punctually collect and pay over all State, school, municipal and other revenues, during the time he shall be in office, and that he will in all things faithfully perform all the duties of the office of Collector according to law. The official bond required in this section shall be signed by at least five solvent securities, freeholders within the city, and be executed in duplicate, one of which shall be deposited with the Register, and the other transmitted by the Register to the State Auditor, who shall carefully examine the same, and if it appears to his satisfaction that the bond is insufficient, he and the Mayor shall require such Collector to give additional bond, and if he fail to give such additional bond within ten days after he shall have been notified, his office shall be declared vacant. Said bond, when approved and recorded, shall be a lien against the real estate of such Collector until he shall have complied with the conditions thereof. If the Collector shall neglect or refuse to give such bond for fifteen days after his election, his office shall be declared vacant, and an election shall be ordered to fill the vacancy.

See also State law: R. S. 1899, secs. 9206-9215. (See same under "Laws Spec. Appl. to St. L.," Ch. 26, Art. 2, secs. 471-480.)

By sec. R. S. 9210 (Laws, etc., sec. 475 with note) the bond is a lien on the realty owned by the collector.

Sec. 31. Collector to collect all revenues except water rates.—The Collector shall collect all revenues derived from all other sources, which may be levied by law or ordinance within the City of St. Louis, except water rates, and keep a detailed account of all his collections, from all the different sources of revenue and taxation, respectively. All collections made belonging to the city shall be paid into the city treasury daily, and triplicate receipts taken therefor, showing from what the money proceeds, and the account to which it is placed, one of which shall be filed with the Auditor, and one with the Comptroller.

See ordinance R. C., sec. 2290. The duty cast on the Collector to collect licenses was by state law transferred to a "license collector" created by that act; and the issuance of dramshop licenses was by statute conferred on the Excise Commissioner: See note on these points and references to these statutes in note to Charter, Art. IV, sec. 24. To that extent the duties of the collector were modified.

Commissions of Collector for collecting revenue see State law, R. S. 1899, sec. 9260 (set out under "Laws, Spec. Applicable to St. Louis," Ch. 26, Art. 3, sec. 486).

Sec. 32. Rebate on tax bills.—On all tax bills for real and personal property, on the assessment books, which shall be paid to the Collector, on or before the first day of October in each year, allowance or rebate shall be made on the city taxes on said bill, to the person or persons making such payments, at the rate of eight per centum per annum from the date of such payment to the 31st of December following, and the amount of such allowance or rebate shall be credited to the account of the Collector, and charged to the respective revenue accounts.

Ordinance on tax rebate, Rev. C., sec. 2291.

Sec. 33. Authority of Collector to appoint deputies.—The Collector may appoint deputies, by an instrument in writing, duly signed, and may also revoke any such appointment at pleasure, and may require bonds or other securities, from such deputies to secure himself; and each such deputy shall have like authority in every respect to collect the taxes levied or assessed within the city or any part thereof which by law is vested in the Collector himself; but the Collector shall, in every respect, be responsible to the State, city, individuals, companies and corporations, as the case may be, for all moneys collected, and for every act done by any of his deputies whilst acting as such, and for any omission of duty by such deputy. Any bond or security taken from a deputy by the Collector shall be available to such Collector, his representatives and securities, to indemnify them for any loss or damage arising from any act of such deputy.

State statute on collector's right to deputies: R. S. 1899, sec. 9217 (see same in "Laws Sp. Appl. to St. L.," sec. 482).

For ordinance see R. C., secs. 2292, 2295.

In an action on tax bill, the bill cannot be excluded because signed by deputy: State ex rel. vs. Miller, 16 Mo. App. 539.

Sec. 34. City Collector to perform all duties discharged by County Collector.—The said Collector is authorized, empowered and directed to discharge all the duties and perform all the acts in relation to the collection of the revenue, within the city limits, that the County Collector is now required and authorized by law to do.

In all cases when any lands within the city are hereafter sub-divided or laid out in blocks, lots, or sub-lots, the map or plat thereof shall bear the certificate of a responsible surveyor, to the effect that the streets thereon represented are correctly shown and located, and they shall be designated as streets, if they have been or are dedicated or opened according to law, or as proposed streets if such opening is incomplete. Said map or plat shall be submitted to the Board of Public Improvements for its approval. No such map or plat, or deed or instrument containing such

It shall be the duty of the Recorder of Deeds to enforce this section before any person shall be permitted to record any such map, plat or deed. The city shall not be liable for damages for the taking of any building or improvement erected or made on a proposed street or alley after the map or plat showing same is recorded. The Board of Public Improvements shall have authority to approve maps or plats of sub-divisions which fully dedicate to public use streets, alleys and public places and which are made as hereinbefore required.

See note at end of this section.

Limitations as to heavy hauling and business traffic—conditions.—The board shall also have authority to approve dedications of streets containing a limitation that heavy hauling and business traffic shall be excluded therefrom, in which case the entire cost of grading, improving, maintaining, repairing, cleaning and sprinkling of such streets shall be borne by and be assessable against the property fronting or bordering thereon, and the approval of said board shall so recite; but said board shall require, in both cases last above enumerated, that all such streets and alleys be made safely passable before the map or plat making such subdivision and dedication shall be approved, recorded or accepted.

Private places.—No map or plat embracing a private place shall be approved unless it conveys to the city the right to place, construct and maintain in such private place, sewers, sewer inlets, water mains, gas mains, underground conduits for electric wires, fire plugs, lamp posts and other conveniences for the public service and use of the city.

Boulevards, conditions for the establishment.—The Municipal Assembly may, by ordinance recommended by the Board of Public Improvements, establish and open boulevards, or change existing streets into boulevards, and fix the width thereof, and the manner of laying out and improving the same; and may regulate the traffic thereon, and may exclude heavy driving thereon or any kind of vehicle therefrom, and may exclude and prohibit the erection or establishment or maintenance of any business house, or the carrying on of any business vocation on the property fronting on such boulevard, and may establish a building line to which all buildings, fences, or other structures thereon shall conform. And may provide for grading, improving, constructing, reconstructing, maintaining, cleaning, sprinkling, the planting of trees, shrubbery and other things of that description and nature thereon, and the entire cost connected with all of said work on such boulevards shall be levied, assessed and collected as a special tax on the property fronting or bordering on such boulevard in the proportion that the linear feet of each lot fronting or bordering on the boulevard bears to the total number of linear feet of all property fronting or bordering on the same, and the work of maintaining, repairing, cleaning and sprinkling may be contracted for annually, or for a term of years not exceeding ten, by the Board of Public Improvements of the city at such time, and under such terms and conditions as shall be provided by ordinance, to be recommended by said board, and special tax bills for all work shall be made out in the name of the contractor and delivered to him, and his receipt taken for all claims against the city in the same manner as provided by this Charter for other special tax bills, for doing public work: provided, that the special tax bills for maintaining, repairing, cleaning and sprinkling shall be levied and assessed annually. All such special tax bills shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of the property charged therewith to the extent and amount therein specified. The Municipal Assembly shall not grant any franchise for the occupancy or use of such boulevard or any part thereof, except with the consent, in writing, of the owners of two-thirds in frontage of the property fronting or bordering thereon; provided, however, that for the establishment and opening of such boulevards, the procedure set out in this article in reference to opening streets shall be pursued, except that the benefit district to be established by the commissioners shall be limited to the property fronting or bordering on such boulevard, and except that adequate compensation shall be allowed the owners of property fronting or bordering thereon, for damages occasioned by the establishment of a building line on such boulevard, and by limiting the use to which such property may be put by the owners thereof.

See note below.

Discontinuance of boulevards.—The Municipal Assembly may at any time repeal any ordinance establishing or opening a boulevard, or changing an existing street into a boulevard, and thereupon such boulevard shall be and become a street in all respects like other streets of the city and the property abutting thereon shall be relieved from the restrictions imposed by such ordinance; provided, however, that such an ordinance shall not be repealed without the consent in writing of the owners of at least two-thirds in frontage of all the property fronting on such boulevard, nor unless such repeal shall be recommended by the Board of Public Improvements; and, provided further, that the procedure provided in this article for the establishing and opening of boulevards shall be pursued for the ascertainment and payment of damages and benefits resulting from such repeal; except that no compensation shall be allowed or paid to any person consenting to the repeal of such an ordinance.

Ordinance provisions on street openings, etc., and sewer condemnations: Rev. Code, Chap. 12, Art. 1, secs. 876 to 883 inclusive.

This Charter provision is an amendment adopted at the election, Oct. 22, 1901, under ordinance 20444.

The Power of Eminent Domain must be exercised strictly in accordance with the organic provisions, and every jurisdictional fact must appear affirmatively upon the face of the record: See authorities cited in note to sec. 2 of this article.

The nature of the proceeding to open or widen a street and the effect thereof was discussed in Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. 607, and recently in the case of Brinckwirth vs. St. Louis (decided by the Supreme Court May 29, 1907, and not as yet reported) which expressly overruled the said Eyssell case. See also infra note to sec. 25 of Art. VI.

The proceeding when consummated is a judgment, having the same incidents as other judgments; hence it was at first held that the benefits assessed against the property, evidenced by tax bills, may be recovered at any time within ten years, and no matters are reviewable which have not been preserved by exceptions, and no new defenses can be made against the collection of the tax bills that were available in the first proceeding; but that ruling was overruled in part, and it is now held that suit can only be brought on a special tax bill duly issued in accordance with the legal requirements: See authorities cited in note to sec. 2 of this article.

Elevations of alleys and streets—City Directrix. Under the charter prior to amendments of 1901 it was held that sec. 1 of this article did not require the elevation of an alley to be fixed by the assembly, but that the street commissioner could do that as a ministerial matter: Weber vs. Johnson, 37 Mo. App. 601. See the present provision in sec. 17 of this article as well as this section.

In St. Louis elevations are determined by a point called the city directrix. See interesting discussion as to origin and location in note in McQuillin's (unofficial) work "Amend. Charter," p. 303 and in Mun. Code, p. 254.

How far opening and improvement of streets is legislative and how far ministerial. The city acts in two capacities; first, governmental; second, ministerial. When it declares by ordinance that land embraced within certain lines is a public street, then, when the city obtains the title or easement either by gift or condemnation, it becomes a public street. But it is not then necessarily opened to the public for use. If after that an ordinance provides for the improvement of the street so as to render it fit for use, even then it is not, by the mere passing of the ordinance, opened for use. So far the city acts in its governmental and legislative capacity. The whole street need not be included in the improvement, but so much and such parts as the legislative body in its discretion thinks proper. Nor is the city liable to an individual for neglect of duty in such capacity. But, after the improvement ordinance is passed, the city undertakes the work of construction as in the ordinance required, its acts are ministerial and for neglect in the same, or keeping the same thereafter in repair, the city is liable: Ely vs. St. Louis, 181 Mo. 723; Ruppenthal vs. St. Louis, 190 Mo. 213. See also Hannibal vs. Campbell, 86 Fed. (C. C. A.) 297.

In how far the municipal assembly is subject to review for fraud in the passage of an ordinance establishing a street see Kansas City vs. Hyde, 196 Mo. 498, and other cases cited in introductory note to Art. III, sec. 26.

What is a street, highway or sidewalk, and what included: A street, in the legal acceptance, includes the portion provided for passage of vehicles, and also the sidewalk provided for pedestrians: Seibert vs. Railroad, 188 Mo. 657, 671; Straub vs. St. Louis, 175 Mo. 413; Knapp, Stout & Co. vs. Ry., 126 Mo. 26, 35.

But it is sometimes used in a more restricted sense so as to include only the roadway: Knapp, Stout vs. Ry., 126 Mo. 26, 35.

Where the entire space from curb to lot line is set aside for a sidewalk, that portion thereof set apart for a grass-plot constitutes part of the sidewalk which the city must keep in safe condition: Coffey vs. Carthage, 186 Mo. 573.

The word "street" usually means a public street, not private ways though the public be permitted to use the same: Collier Est. vs. Paving Co., 180 Mo. 362, 388. See also Restetsky vs. Railroad, 106 Mo. App. 382, 388. See also Rev. Code, sec. 1855.

A municipal free bridge across the Mississippi River from St. Louis to the Illinois side is as much a highway as any other highway, and is for a municipal purpose; and it seems that congress may grant power to the city, and has done so, to condemn property therefor situated in the other State: Haeussler vs. St. Louis, decided July 2, 1907 (Sup. Ct. Mo. in banc, not as yet reported).

Distinction between streets and alleys: Dries vs. St. Joseph, 98 Mo. App. 611; Corby vs. Railroad, 150 Mo. 457, 468 (pointing out the functions of alleys); St. Louis vs. Lane, 110 Mo. l. c. 258 (pointing out the reason of the difference in benefit districts although the specific provision in the charter as there construed has been amended).

Property owners abutting on a street have in addition to the general use of the street common to the public, certain special rights peculiar to themselves, amongst which is the right of ingress and egress.

This gives them a special right, not shared by the public, when such ingress and egress is interfered with to damages or other redress: See cases in note to what uses a street may be used for, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 2; also cases cited under same note on "vacating streets"; and see note to "nuisances" in Rev. Code, Chap. 11, Art. 12 (preceding sec. 584). See further Downing vs. Corcoran, 112 Mo. App. 645, 649; De Geofray vs. Merch. Bridge, 179 Mo. 698; Ruckert vs. Grand Ave. Ry., 163 Mo. l. c. 278; Dries vs. St. Joseph, 98 Mo. App. 611, 614; Corby vs. Railroad, 150 Mo. 457; Schöpp vs. St. Louis, 117 Mo. 131; Stephenson vs. Ry., 68 Mo. App. 642; Thomas vs. Hunt, 134 Mo. l. c. 398.

Ownership of fee: When lots abutting on a highway or platted street are sold, the purchaser takes title to the centre of the street, if the grantor owned that far, unless a contrary intention appears from the deed: Restetsky vs. Railroad, 106 Mo. App. 382, 387; Grant vs. Moon, 128 Mo. 43; Snoddy vs. Bolan, 122 Mo. 479 (a leading case in this State).

In Missouri the abutting owner presumptively owns the fee to the centre of the street, subject only to the easement of the public; for all other purposes, not inconsistent therewith the owner has the full rights: Un. El. Co. vs. Ry., 135 Mo. 353, 366. Thomas vs. Hunt, 134 Mo. 392, 399, 401. Snoddy vs. Bolan, 122 Mo. 483, 488. Gordon vs. Peltzer, 56 Mo. App. 599 l. c. 604.

A valid statutory dedication by plat, etc., operates to vest the fee in the city for public purposes and dispenses with the necessity of an acceptance by the public, and the dedicator cannot thereafter change the boundaries, etc. Brown vs. Carthage, 128 Mo. 10, l. c. 17 and cases cited (holding that it made no difference that there was a reservation of "trees and rocks" on the surface).

But such fee in the city is only for public purposes, and it is not meant by the statute to vest in the city a right to dispose of it by deed, but only the control of the street, for the use of the public; subject to the public easement the owner adjoining owns to the centre of the street or alley: Union Elev. Co. vs. Ry., 135 Mo. 353, 366 and cases cited: Thomas vs. Hunt, 134 Mo. 392, 402-403.

How Highways May be Established: A public highway may be acquired over property of a private individual by, first a grant or deed; second, a dedication by plat or deed; third, by acts in pais which amount in law to a dedication: Railway vs. Railway, 190 Mo. 246, 253 and cases cited.

For establishment of highway by condemnation, see note to next section of this article.

A street railway may, by its acts in pais, dedicate for street purposes a private right of way over which it is operating, and the city's acceptance may be established by its acts, and thereafter it may authorize another street railway company to operate thereover: Railway vs. Railway, 190 Mo. 246.

Common Law Dedication is effected where the owner has done an act which clearly indicates his intention to dedicate the street, and the city does an act clearly indicating its purpose to accept; in such case it is not necessary to show user, and limitation has nothing to do with the city's title: McGrath vs. Nevada, 188 Mo. 102.

There can be no dedication without an intention so to do; permissive use to the public by the owner, by permission to drive or walk over the private way constitutes no dedication, no matter how long continued: Collier Est. vs. Paving Co., 180 Mo. 362, 388.

But where an owner holds out land as a street and sells lots according to the plat he is estopped from denying that it is as he held out: McGinnis vs. St. Louis, 157 Mo. 191, and cases cited; see also Longworth vs. Sederic, 165 Mo. 221, 230.

Dedication by Plat, etc.: Mere purported dedication to public use does not make a public street; there must be an acceptance in some manner by the city, such as public user for that purpose, though a formal acceptance is not necessary. Until public, and the dedicator cannot thereafter change the boundaries, etc.: Brown such acceptance there is no street. Skrainka vs. Oertel, 14 Mo. App. 474, 480; St. Louis vs. University, 88 Mo. 155, 158 (holding that there could be no acceptance of a dedication for a street outside the city limits); Milling Co. vs. Riley, 133 Mo. l. c. 584.

Mere user by the public will not establish a street; and an approval of a plat, by the municipal authorities, of a proposed addition, filed in conformity with the statute, only goes to show that the same conforms to the general plan of the city, and is not an acceptance by the city of the proposed dedicated land as a street: Downend vs. Kansas City, 156 Mo. 60, 67. (For ordinance on how plats of subdivisions to be submitted to B. P. I. see this section and also R. C. Sec. 1917.) But whether acceptance need be shown in case of statutory dedication or street by prescription, see Meiners vs. St. Louis, 130 Mo. 274, and cases there cited. And an acceptance by the city may be implied from any act tending to recognize it, though there be no ordinance of acceptance: Buschmann vs. St. Louis, 121 Mo. 523; Heitz vs. St. Louis, 110 Mo. 618; Milling Co. vs. Riley, 133 Mo. l. c. 585; Meiners vs. St. Louis, 130 Mo. 274.

As to what constitutes a statutory dedication, see Brown vs. Carthage, 128 Mo. 10 (containing reservation); Buschmann vs. St. Louis, 121 Mo. 523 and cases cited; Heitz vs. St. Louis, 110 Mo. 618; Milling Co. vs. Reiley, 133 Mo. 574 (holding also that no one but the owner can make either statutory or common law dedication).

Conveyance does not affect one not joining who holds a deed of trust on the land: McShane vs. Moberly, 79 Mo. 41.

A defective statutory dedication by acceptance and user may become a good common law dedication: Heitz vs. St. Louis, supra, and cases therein cited; Milling Co. vs. Reiley supra; Longworth vs. Sedevic, 165 Mo. 221, 230.

As to whether the fee goes to the city or remains in the owner of abutting property, see supra this note.

Title in the city may be acquired by prescription, without dedication, by long use and acquiescence by the owner: See Meiners vs. St. Louis, 130 Mo. l. c. 284; State vs. Walters, 69 Mo. 463; State vs. Proctor, 90 Mo. 334; Baumann vs. Boeckler, 119 Mo. 189.

Common law dedication gives the city the right not only to pass over the servient land, but to enter and prepare it and keep in suitable condition for particular use to which dedicated: Gamble vs. Pettijohn, 116 Mo. 375.

Title to public property not lost by adverse possession.—Since the statute of 1865 (Rev. St. 1899, Sec. 4270) no person can acquire title by adverse possession to any part of a public street: St. Louis vs. Ry. 114 Mo. 13, 24; Columbia vs. Bright, 179 Mo. 441; Wright vs. Donovan, 169 Mo. 601 (where the land had been taxed to such claimant against the city); State ex rel. vs. Vandalia, 119 Mo. App. 406, 423.

But prior to that time it was otherwise: Crigler vs. Mexico, 101 Mo. App. 624.

And the city may acquire title by adverse possession: Mitchell vs. Railroad, 116 Mo. 81, 88 (alley); Baumann vs. Boeckler, 119 Mo. 189; State vs. Walters, 69 Mo. 463; Longworth vs. Sedevic, 165 Mo. 221, 230-231.

Conditional Conveyances to Public Use.—B. P. I. has authority to approve maps or plats of subdivisions "which fully dedicate" streets, etc.

A valid statutory dedication by plat, etc., vests the fee in the city, notwithstanding a reservation of "trees and rocks" on the surface, etc.: Brown vs. Carthage, 128 Mo. 10, 17.

A dedication on condition precedent can not take effect until the condition has been complied with, and if that is not done the land may be treated as unaffected thereby: St. Louis vs. Meier, 77 Mo. 13 (upholding its condemnation as in other cases); Creamer vs. McCune 7 Mo. App. 91; Kemper vs. Collins, 97 Mo. 644; Clark vs. Brookfield, 81 Mo. 503; St. Louis vs. Cruikshank, 16 Mo. App. 495.

A provision in a dedication that the property on streets to be opened shall not be subject to special taxation, is void; the city cannot make any such agreement: Vrana vs. St. Louis, 164 Mo. 146.

Where persons convey land to a municipality by ordinary deed for a pecuniary consideration without reservation of the use to which it is to be put, they will not be heard to contend that the property was intended to be used only for street purposes: Pickett vs. Mercer, 106 Mo. App. 689.

Where an easement is created the title remains in the grantor and is freed from the easement on its abandonment, and if the title is conveyed on condition, reverts when the condition fails; but land dedicated to a particular use without reservation of right of re-entry on the diversion or abandonment of the use, may be used for any other purpose without re-investing the grantor's title; relief to compel the execution of the trust should be sought: Hand vs. St. Louis, 158 Mo. 204, citing and distinguishing numerous city cases.

Proprietors dedicating land to public use remain for all other purposes the owners, and the city cannot divert the property to a private use in violation of the trust: Cummings vs. St. Louis, 90 Mo. 259.

Nor when dedicated for one public use can it be diverted to another: Belcher Co. vs. St. L. G. Co. 82 Mo. 121; s. c. 101 Mo. 190.

Land conveyed to be used as a market place and so long as so used, and when it ceased to be so used to revert to donor, the donee (city) to reconvey, is held by the city not as determinable fee, but on condition subsequent, and though condition broken, estate is not defeated before entry by donor: Adams vs. Lindell, 72 Mo. 198, affirming s. c. 5 Mo. App. 197. But where the covenant is that the land shall revert and grantee reconvey when the city ceases to use same for market, an abandonment gives a right of re-entry, the grantor retaining the fee: Baker vs. St. Louis, 75 Mo. 671, affirming s. c. 7 Mo. App. 429.

A dedication on condition that adjacent owners likewise dedicate is not consummated until such condition is complied with; St. Louis vs. Meier, 77 Mo. 13, 18-19.

Boulevards: An ordinance providing that all houses fronting on a certain street shall be used for residences only, and no business avocation shall be allowed therein, is void as an invasion of personal rights: St. Louis vs. Dorr, 145 Mo. 466, 472, 485; and an act of the legislature providing for establishing a building line by the city to which all buildings must conform, without providing for compensation, is unconstitutional: St. Louis vs. Hill, 116 Mo. 527.

A distinction is made under the charter in the method of paying for repairing, etc., between streets and boulevards, etc.: See Sec. 18 of this article.

CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS.

Sec. 2. Form of Petition—Commissioners to assess damages—parties defendant.—Whenever the Assembly shall provide, by ordinance, for establishing, opening, widening or altering any street, avenue, alley, wharf, market place or public square, or route for a sewer, water course or water pipe, or for other public improvements, on recommendation of the Board of Public Improvements, and it becomes necessary for that purpose to appropriate private property, the City Counselor, in the name of the City of St. Louis, shall apply to the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, or to any one of the judges in vacation, by petition setting forth the general nature of the improvement proposed to be made, the names of the owners of the several lots or parcels of land, if known, or if unknown, a correct description of the parcels whose owners are unknown, and praying the appointment of three disinterested commissioners, freeholders of property in said city, to assess the damages which said owners may severally sustain by reason of the appropriation and condemnation of such real estate by the city, for any of the purposes aforesaid, to which petition the owners of such lots or parcels of land embraced in the proposed improvement shall be made parties defendant by name, if the names are known, and by description of the land of unknown owners. If the proceedings seek to affect the lands of persons under guardianship, the guardians must be made parties defendant; if the lands of married women, their husbands must be made parties defendant. If the possessor of land to be affected has an estate less than a fee, the person having the next vested estate in remainder or reversion must, if known, be made a party defendant. It shall not be necessary to make any persons parties defendant in respect to their ownership, unless they are in actual possession of the premises to be affected, or have a title to the premises appearing of record upon the proper records of the city.

This is an amendment adopted at the charter election of October 22, 1901.

Condemnation for water works purposes: see Charter Art. VII, Sec. 4.

Ordinances on street and sewer condemnations and street openings, see Rev. Code, Secs. 876-883.

What are street purposes, such as authorize an ordinance of condemnation, see Kansas City vs. Hyde, 196 Mo. 498 and other cases cited in note to Art. III, Sec. 26, paragraph 2.

Right to Condemn.—"The Charter provisions of St. Louis and Kansas City as to condemnation proceedings have been so often before this court, and have never been held to be out of harmony with the constitution and laws, that a declaration at this late date that said cities were without such a power, and that these charter provisions were ultra vires, would invite a flood of litigation. . . . We think it was properly ruled that the special charter superseded the general statutes where the two conflicted as to a mere municipal regulation, and we hold that condemnation proceedings to acquire lands for streets, parks, waterworks, sewers and the like, clearly fall within municipal regulations. It follows that notwithstanding the charter did not follow the civil practice as prescribed in the code of practice . . . the special provisions must control." Kansas City vs. Oil Co., 140 Mo. l. c. 472.

The City of St. Louis had the right to provide, under the laws passed by Congress, by this State, by the Charter, and by its own ordinances for the free bridge across the Mississippi river from St. Louis to the Illinois side, and it seems it has the right to condemn property therefor, not only in the city, but in the State of Illinois, without the consent of the latter: Graves, J., in Haeussler vs. St. Louis, (July 2, 1907, not yet reported, following Luxton vs. North River Bridge Co., 153 U. S. 525). Judge Lamm concurring in this proposition, Gantt expressing no opinion, Burgess not sitting, Valliant and Fox dissenting.

The framers of the Scheme and Charter had power to confer jurisdiction in street opening proceedings upon the Circuit Court: St. Louis vs. Greeley, 14 Mo. App. 578 (memo. opin.) St. Louis vs. Gleason, 15 Mo. App. 25 (reversed on another point, but approved in this: 93 Mo. 33; s. c. 89 Mo. 67). See also St. Louis vs. Ranken, 96 Mo. l. c. 504.

Street openings begun under the old Charter after Nov. 22, 1876, and before March 5, 1877, when it became known that the new Scheme had been adopted, were valid under the de facto principle: St. Louis vs. Stoddard, 15 Mo. App. 173; Adams vs. Lindell, 72 Mo. 198. See on this point introductory note to Art. III, sec. 26.

In proceedings of eminent domain in the opening of streets, every material requirement of the law authorizing such proceeding must be strictly complied with; and unless it affirmatively appear upon the face of the proceedings that every essential prerequisite of the law conferring the authority has been complied with, such proceeding will be void: St. Louis vs. Koch, 169 Mo. 587, loc. cit. 591, with citation of numerous cases; Spurlock vs. Dorman, 182 Mo. 242, 250; St. Louis vs. Gleason, 93 Mo. 33, 37-38; Schaffner vs. St. Louis, 31 Mo. 264; St. Louis vs. Cruikshank, 16 Mo. App. l. c. 497; State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 67 Mo. 113, 117.

"It is the duty of the judicial tribunal to insist that every provision intended for the benefit of the owner be complied with. . . . The mode prescribed must be strictly and guardedly complied with, although unreasonableness is not required." St. Louis vs. Franke, 78 Mo. 41 (quoting Dillon).

Where the ordinance must be recommended by the Board of Public Improvements, that is jurisdictional, and an ordinance without such is void: See authorities cited in note to Sec. 17 of this article.

The ordinance which was the basis of the proceeding cannot be amended and the proceedings continued thereunder, even before the present amendments: Shaffner vs. St. Louis, 31 Mo. 264.

Where condemnation was authorized only in case no agreement could be reached, the proceedings must show this condition to be the case: Moses vs. St. L. Sec. Dock Co., 84 Mo. 242, 245; Graf vs. St. Louis, 8 Mo. App. 562; Leslie vs. St. Louis, 47 Mo. 474; Anderson vs. St. Louis, 47 Mo. 479.

Provisions in a charter requiring the recommendation of a certain board of commissioners preliminary to an ordinance of condemnation are valid: Kansas City vs. Mastin, 169 Mo. 80, 93.

The petition must allege the jurisdictional facts (see cases supra); and since a valid ordinance is necessary to the jurisdiction of the court an ordinance which is to take effect on a certain condition is insufficient unless it be alleged and proved that the condition has been complied with: St. Louis vs. Cruikshank, 16 Mo. App. l. c. 496-497. The passage of the ordinance authorizing a street improvement does not make out a prima facie case of compliance with precedent conditions, all of which must be alleged: St. Louis vs. Frank, 9 Mo. App. 579 (memo. opin.).

The names of the known owners must be alleged; if unknown there must be publication and a correct description of the land; Sieferer vs. St. Louis, 141 Mo. 586.

Notice by publication valid, and what notice is sufficient: Kansas City vs. Mastin, 169 Mo. 80 l. c. 90.

Conclusiveness and Effect of the Proceedings.—But the proceeding when consummated is a judgment, having the same incidents as other judgments; hence it was held the benefits assessed against the property, evidenced by tax bills, may be recovered at any time within ten years; and no matters are reviewable which have not been properly preserved by exceptions; and it was further at one time held that no new defenses can be made against the collection of the tax bills, that were available in the first proceeding: St. Louis vs. Annex Realty Co., 175 Mo. 63, following Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. 607, where the nature of the proceeding is fully discussed by the court; but the decision in the Eyssell case was expressly overruled by the Supreme Court in this respect in the recent case of St. Louis vs. Brinckwirth (decided May 29, 1907, and at this writing not yet reported), which held that the first or condemnation proceeding was not broad enough to be a judgment warranting execution for the benefits found therein, but that the benefits could only be recovered by suit on the special tax-bill issued in accordance with the legal requirements; that the ruling in the Eyssell case in fact would make the court assess the tax, which the law requires the municipality to issue and perfect; the court will not uphold the doctrine that the law allows both the assessment and collection of taxes in a single suit, or confers on the court the governmental function of levying the tax; and the Eyssell case was overruled.

When the court has taken final action upon the report, and the Assembly appropriated money for the damages for the property taken, such assessment becomes final and conclusive upon the question of benefit to the tax-payers, the amount thereof, the lien attaches, and these questions cannot be relitigated in any subsequent suit that the city may find it necessary to bring to enforce the lien in collecting the tax assessed; the only question that can be raised in such a suit is as to the validity of the assessment and levy: St. Louis vs. Ranken, 96 Mo. 497; approved in St. Louis vs. Brinckwirth, supra.

Nor can the defense be made in an action on the tax-bill that there was no compensation for land taken or damaged: Springfield vs. Baker, 56 Mo. App. 637, 640.

Nor that the property was not subject to special taxation: Vrana vs. St. Louis, 164 Mo. 146, 153.

The court having acquired jurisdiction over the parties and the res in the condemnation proceedings, every presumption is to be indulged in favor of the jurisdiction of the court in a collateral proceeding; hence the question whether the city had, before the condemnation proceeding, acquired the property sought to be condemned, can only be tried in such proceeding, and not in a suit to enforce a special tax-bill for benefits or enjoin their collection: Buddecke vs. Ziegenhein, 122 Mo. 239, 243-244; Michael vs. St. Louis, 112 Mo. 612; Vrana vs. St. Louis, 164 Mo. 146, 153.

Under the rules relating to tax-bills for construction of streets, sewers, etc., the owner cannot contend in an action to enforce the bill that he has not been benefited, nor that there was no necessity for the work, etc.; but this is on the ground that such matters are legislative in character with which the courts will not interfere; while the rule that assessment of benefits in street opening cases cannot be reviewed is on the ground of res judicata. (See cases on former point cited hereafter in sec. 14 of this article.)

Distinction Between Taking Property and Assessing Benefits, or Taxing for Local Improvements.—The opening of the street, and assessment of special benefits, are different things, though had in one cause. But the proceeding by which private property is taken by the city for the public use by condemnation under the power of eminent domain, is distinct in character from that by which the city raises funds under the power of taxation (by way of assessing benefits) to make compensation for property so taken: St. Louis vs. Bus, 159 Mo. 9, 12.

The distinction between taxing by assessment of benefits against property under these sections and the taxing for local improvement such as construction of streets, etc. (infra, secs. 14 et seq. of this article), was pointed out in Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. l. c. 621, which was, however, overruled by the Supreme Court May 29, 1907 (not yet reported), in St. Louis vs. Brinckwirth.

Special taxation is sustainable under the taxing power; and the constitutional provisions relating to the taking or damaging for public use apply to the power of eminent domain: Keith vs. Bingham, 100 Mo. 300; Springfield vs. Baker, 56 Mo. App. 1, c. 640. (See cases on special taxation in note to secs. 14 and 27 of this article.)

Appeals:—Jurisdiction on Appeal, Etc.: See note to sec. 10 of this article.

Sec. 3. Notice to defendants—process to be served by City Marshal—notice by publication.—Upon the filing of the petition, a summons shall be issued, giving such defendants at least ten days' notice of the time when said petition will be heard, which summons shall be served by the Marshal—who shall, for such purpose, be ex-officio an officer of the Circuit Court—in the name and manner as writs of summons are, or may be, by law required to be served. If the name or residence of the owner be unknown, or if the owners, or any of them, do not reside within the State, notice of the time of the hearing the petition, reciting the substance of the petition, and the day fixed for the hearing thereof, shall be given by publication for four weeks, consecutively, prior to the time of the hearing the petition, in the newspapers publishing the journal of the Assembly.

Parties: Under the old Charter, the notice required by the Charter was not waived by a recital in the journal of the triers of the fact that the parties appeared: "The appearance of the mostly interested cannot affect the others": Shaffner vs. St. Louis, 31 Mo. 1, c. 273.

One not served is not bound: Moses vs. St. L. Sec. Dock Co., 84 Mo. 242.

Under the present Charter, known parties must be alleged; if unknown, there must be publication and a correct description of the land must be set forth: Sieferer vs. St. Louis, 141 Mo. 586.

One who is within the benefit district and hence assessable for benefits to become a lien on his property, but whose property is not taken for public use, need not be made a party to the original summons; he has his notice and hearing at a later stage of the proceedings: St. Louis vs. Ranken, 96 Mo. 497, 505, et seq.; Buddecke vs. Ziegenhein, 122 Mo. 239, 243. And the fact that such notice is by publication "does not militate against the validity of the assessment:" per Marshall, J., in Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. loc. cit. 616, and cases cited there. But if the notice is insufficient to identify the district or property to be benefited (as where there are two alleys to be opened in one block, and the notice refers to an alley), the property owner is not bound: St. Louis vs. Brinckwirth, decided May 29, 1907, by the Supreme Court (not at this writing reported). That the same summons is not required, results from the difference between the power of eminent domain exercised in the taking of property for the public purpose of opening the street and the taxing power exercised in assessing the special benefits resulting therefrom: See note to preceding section.

Sec. 4. Court shall appoint three freeholders as Commissioners, to assess damages; qualifications—majority may act and report.—The court, or a judge thereof, in vacation, on being satisfied that due notice of the pending of the petition has been given, shall appoint three disinterested commissioners, freeholders of property in said city, and residents of the city for five years next preceding their appointment, to assess the damages which the owners of the land may severally sustain by reason of such appropriation. Provided, however, that a majority of said commissioners shall have full power and authority to act and make a report.

Amendment adopted at election of Oct. 22, 1901, under ordinance 20444.

Sec. 5. Duty of Commissioners as to damages and benefits—assessment of benefits to be a lien against property—opening of alleys.—It shall be the duty of the commissioners to ascertain the actual value of the land and premises proposed to be taken, without reference to the projected improvement, and to ascertain the actual damages done to the property thereby, and for the payment of such values and damages to assess against the city the amount of benefit to the public generally, and the balance against the owner or owners of all property which shall be especially benefited by the proposed improvement in the opinion of the commissioners, to the amount that each lot of said owner shall be benefited by the improvement. The sums to be paid by the owners of property especially benefited by the improvement, as ascertained by the commissioners, shall, when the report of the commissioners shall be confirmed by the court, as hereinafter provided, be prima facie evidence of the liability of the property charged therewith to the extent and amount therein specified, and shall be and remain until paid, a lien from the date of the final judgment of the Circuit Court on the property so charged, and shall be collected as provided by ordinance, and when collected shall be paid into the city treasury as a separate fund to be used exclusively for the payment of the damages awarded; provided, however, that in the opening of an alley the benefits shall be paid by the owners of such lots in the block in which the alley is opened as are afforded access by such alley.

This is an amendment adopted at the Charter election of Oct. 22, 1901, under ordinance 20444.

Lien: As to the right of the city to create a lien on private property being dependent on strict compliance with legal provisions, see note to sec. 25 of this article.

It was at one time held that the fact that sec. 5 provides that the assessment shall be a lien, did not show that it contemplated any special tax-bill at all or any subsequent suit; and the right to recover the amount was held not barred in five years, but in ten, as any other judgment, and the lien of that judgment expires in three years, like any other judgment lien: Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. 607, 619, followed in subsequent cases. It therefore followed that execution could be had without any special tax-bill. But the decision in the Eyssell case was expressly overruled in so far as it held that execution or scire facias could be issued for benefits assessed in the original condemnation proceeding, or that suit need not be brought on a special tax-bill thereafter regularly issued in accordance with the legal provisions governing the same: St. Louis vs. Brinckwirth, (Sup. Ct. May 29, 1907, not as yet reported).

Right to Jury or Board of Freeholders: See note to sec 7, infra.

Damages: A railroad company is not entitled to have assessed as damages certain structures and fixtures which a valid ordinance required it to put in at its own expense as a condition of its franchise: Kansas City vs. Railroad, 187 Mo. 146.

If a lessee is conducting a business on the premises, which will be broken up or interrupted by the taking of the property for public use, he is entitled to compensation: St. Louis vs. Abeln, 170 Mo. 318, 326, citing Missouri authorities. But the damage should be separately assessed and not adjusted by deduction from the sum allowed the landlord: St. Louis vs. Abeln, 170 Mo. 318, 326.

It was held that (under the act of 1875, p. 319) where the commissioners report that the improvement standing on the property should remain until removed, and it appears that no allowance for such improvement was made, as was required if it was included, the city acquired the right only to the land and not the building thereon: St. Louis vs. Ins. Co., 90 Mo. 135 (this building still remains as an obstruction on west side of Jefferson and Morgan streets).

Where the damages assessed are just and reasonable, that they exceed the value of the property is not fatal: St. Louis vs. Frank, 9 Mo. App. 579 (memo. opin.). Other cases on questions of damages, see: 77 Mo. 13; 112 Mo. 361; 139 Mo. 315; 197 Mo. 392; 198 Mo. 698; 77 Mo. 13; 124 Mo. 129; 89 Mo. 646. And see remarks and cases cited in Martin vs. St. Louis, 139 Mo. loc. cit. 258.

Benefits: A conditional dedication where the condition has not been complied with is of no effect; and the owners of land cannot avoid assessment of benefits by consenting to an opening through their lands on condition that no benefits be assessed and an acceptance by the commissioners of such offer is illegal, as tending to render the benefits assessed against others unequal: St. Louis vs. Meier, 77 Mo. 13.

Benefits cannot be assessed in gross upon several contiguous lots and recovery cannot be had upon a tax-bill issued upon such an assessment: St. Louis vs. Provenchere, 92 Mo. 66, citing and approving several cases from the Court of Appeals so holding.

One whose land is not taken for public use, but who is within the benefit district, so that a lien for benefits assessed may be charged thereon, need not be included as one of the original defendants summoned; with respect to the question of benefits he has notice and an opportunity to appear and be heard in the method pointed out by Charter and ordinance (now secs. 878 et seq. of R. C., requiring notice also by publication): St. Louis vs. Ranken, 96 Mo. 497; Buddecke vs. Ziegenhein, 122 Mo. 239, 243 (both holding that a special tax-bill for benefits could not be attacked on that ground); and the fact that only notice by publication is given does not militate against the validity of the assessment: Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. loc. cit. 616 and cases cited. But if the notice is not sufficient to identify the property to be affected or the benefit district (as where there are two alleys in one block and the notice does not designate which of the two are to be considered at the sitting of the commissioners), the owner is not bound by the notice or proceeding: St. Louis vs. Brinckwirth (Sup. Ct. May 29, 1907, not at this writing reported).

Under the former law the rule was different and notice and summons was required in the same manner as those whose lands were condemned: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 67 Mo. 113.

Assessment of benefits against the property of one whose property is within a benefit district but no part of whose land is taken for such street, is a legitimate exercise of the taxing power: St. Louis vs. Speck, 67 Mo. 403.

Damages and Benefits Under Former Superseded Charters: See Shafner vs. St. Louis, 31 Mo. 264; McKee vs. St. Louis, 17 Mo. 184; Garrett vs. St. Louis, 25 Mo. 505.

Grading and Changing Grade of Streets and Alleys: See note to sec. 19 of this article.

In Opening of Alleys, benefits shall be paid by the "owners of such lots in the block as are afforded access," etc. Under the former provision they were to be paid by the "owners of property in said block abutting on the proposed alley," which was held to include all owners of abutting property on an alley as completed, which was a continuation of one theretofore partly opened through the block: St. Louis vs. Lane, 110 Mo. 254.

Sec. 6. Commissioners' report to be under oath—damages and benefits to be separately stated.—When the Commissioners shall have viewed the property, and assessed the value and damages and benefits, they shall make their return of such assessment, in writing and under oath, to the Circuit Court, which shall be filed by the clerk thereof. In making such report, the value and damages allowed to each owner, and the benefits assessed against each individual shall be separately stated.

Sec. 7. Report may be reviewed on exceptions—Court may order new appraisement, etc.—The report of said Commissioners may be reviewed by the Circuit Court on written exception filed by either party in the Clerk's office, within ten days after the filing of such report, and the Court shall make such order therein as right and justice may require, and may order a new appraisement upon good cause shown; but the hearing of such exceptions shall be summary, and the Court shall fix a day therefor without delay, upon the filing of any such exceptions, or within ten days after the expiration of the time given said city to report the same to the Assembly as hereinafter provided.

On Exceptions to the Report, the latter is presumptively correct; the proceeding to review is not entirely de novo and, while the court must hear evidence as to the correctness of the valuation of the commissioners, the latter will not be disturbed unless clearly shown to be inadequate or excessive: St. Louis vs. Abeln, 170 Mo. 318, and cases referred to in the opinion.

And a fortiori the Supreme Court will not disturb the findings of fact by the circuit court in affirming the report: St. Louis vs. Wetzel, 110 Mo. 260, 264-265.

On exception the commissioners are competent witnesses: St. Louis vs. Abeln, 170 Mo. 318.

The owner against whom benefits are assessed may except to the report on the ground that the ordinance upon which the proceeding is founded is void: St. Louis vs. Cruikshank, 16 Mo. App. 495.

Exceptions may be filed by leave of the court after ten days, if good cause is shown, and by contesting such exceptions the city waives the irregularity after an adverse ruling: St. Louis vs. Weber, 140 Mo. 515, 521.

But probably, if improperly filed out of time, such exceptions, as in other cases, may be stricken out: See St. Louis vs. Lang, 131 Mo. l. c. 421.

Modification of Report: The court may modify the report under this section by cutting down the benefit assessed and adding the amount to that assessed against the city, and this is not a violation of the landowner's right to have damages assessed by a jury or commission of freeholders: St. Louis vs. Lawton, 189 Mo. 474. The court may cut down or modify as to some or all, the assessment of benefits; but not as to the damages; and the action of the court with respect to the assessments of benefits in ordering a new appraisement or not is largely discretionary, and the appellate courts will only set same aside in case of abuse: St. Louis vs. Buss, 159 Mo. 9; St. Louis vs. Lawton, supra.

Jury: Since the Constitution of 1875 an incorporated company, (such as a railroad company) interested either for or against the exercise of the right of eminent domain (but not private citizens nor municipal corporations) may demand a jury to try the cause: St. Louis vs. Roe, 184 Mo. 324, distinguishing Kansas City vs. Smart, 128 Mo. 272, and other cases.

With respect to awarding damages as compensation for property taken in condemnation for street purposes, the owner under the constitution is entitled to have same determined by a jury or board of not less than three freeholders, as may be prescribed; but with respect to assessment of special benefits to the owner's lots resulting from the street opening, the constitutional provision does not apply, but the Charter provides that they be ascertained by the commissioners, subject to the power of the court to review their appraisement and modify same; and such modification is not an impairment of the right to a jury: St. Louis vs. Buss, 159 Mo. 9, 13.

The proper amount of compensation for private property taken for a public use cannot be fixed by the legislature. What is just compensation must be determined by a jury or appraisers: Co. Ct. vs. Griswold, 58 Mo. 175, 199.

Sec. 8. Cost of proceedings—Commissioners each allowed $3 a day.—The cost of the proceedings, up to and including the filing of the report of the commissioners, shall be paid by the city, and as to any costs caused by subsequent litigation, the cost shall be paid by the losing party. The commissioners shall each be allowed three dollars a day in full compensation for their services.

Amendment adopted at charter election on Oct. 22, 1901 (submitted under ordinance 20444).

For ordinance provision see Rev. Code, sec. 882, and note thereto. Before the amendment, when the provision was that there should be a "reasonable compensation" it was held that an ordinance fixing a definite sum of three dollars per day, was void, the compensation being required to be ascertained by the court: Green vs. St. Louis, 106 Mo. 454.

Payment of costs to filing of report does not include attorneys' fees, expert witnesses, developing character of deposit on lands, etc., but only the ordinary fees: St. Louis vs. Meintz, 107 Mo. 611. And see further on this point the recent cases cited in the next section, discussing what are costs where the proceeding is dismissed by the city, etc.

Sec. 9. Report of Commissioners to be submitted to Assembly—report stands approved if no action taken within time limited—on disapproval of report, Court shall set aside same and order new assessment—withdrawal of proceedings by City, conditions.—Upon the report of said Commissioners being filed in the Circuit Court, or with the Clerk thereof, the Court shall give to the City of St. Louis, upon application of the City Counselor, reasonable time to report the result of the same to the Assembly for its information and approval, during which time no action will be had in or by said Court upon said report; and if the Municipal Assembly fails to act upon such report within the time limited, said report shall be deemed approved, but if during said time limited the Municipal Assembly disapprove said report of said Commissioners, the said Court shall set aside said report and order a new assessment of damages and benefits, and the City of St. Louis shall have the right, at any time before the final confirmation to said report, to dismiss and withdraw said proceedings on payment of the costs thereof. Should the city dismiss or withdraw any proceedings for condemnation after the report of the Commissioners has been filed, no action for such condemnation shall be had for a period of ten years next thereafter, unless upon the petition of the owners of three-quarters of the property fronting on the line of the proposed improvements, or upon payment, by the city, of the entire value and damages, such as aforesaid.

This section is as amended at the charter election on Oct. 22, 1901. Amendment submitted by ordinance 20444.

The disapproval of the commissioners' report by the assembly does not of itself operate as a dismissal of the case, and a dismissal in court is required to end the cause: St. Louis vs. Lawton, 189 Mo. 474, 483.

The object in permitting the city to dismiss after the report, giving the city counselor time to report to the assembly, etc., is to enable the cost of the improvements to be ascertained and if too great to permit the public to abandon the same, and as a result the city cannot again tie up the property by another proceeding except on the terms pointed out: Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. 607, 617. A refusal by the municipal assembly to appropriate the damages assessed operates to dismiss the proceedings: See note to next section (sec. 10).

Upon dismissal by the city of the condemnation proceedings, the city (though it is to pay costs) is not liable to the land owner for attorneys' fees, expert witness fees, etc., incurred in defending the case and protecting his rights, unless it is alleged and proved that the proceedings were needlessly, wrongfully and vexatiously continued against the land owner's protest when within the power of the city to dismiss and avoid such injury: Lester Real Co. vs. St. Louis, 170 Mo. 31; Brewing Ass'n vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. 37, and cases cited. See as to costs up to filing of report of commissioners the preceding section, and note thereto.

Voluntary dismissal is not evidence of wrongful institution of such proceedings: Simpson vs. Kansas City, 111 Mo. 237.

Under a charter permitting the repeal of the ordinance providing for the proposed improvement it is held that in such case when new proceedings are brought the former assessment of benefits and damages is without any effect: Kansas City vs. Mulkey, 176 Mo. 229.

Refusal to proceed by the city leaves the court nothing to do but dismiss the proceedings: St. Louis vs. Weber, 140 Mo. 515, 522-523.

Sec. 10. Final action of Court to be reported to Comptroller, who shall furnish copy to Assembly—appropriation to pay damages—failure to appropriate to operate as a bar for ten years.—When the report of the Commissioners shall have been approved, or final action taken thereon by the Court, the Clerk of the Circuit Court shall make a certified copy of the report, and the final action of the Court thereon, and deliver the same to the City Comptroller, who shall forthwith record the same in a book, to be provided for that purpose. It shall be the duty of the Comptroller, as soon as the same is recorded, to furnish a copy thereof to the Assembly, and the Assembly shall, at its first session thereafter, make an appropriation for the payment, out of the city treasury, of all damages assessed in favor of the owners of property appropriated, and the City Treasurer shall cause the same to be paid to the parties entitled thereto, respectively, or into court for their use, as provided by ordinance. Any failure of the Assembly, within the time above stated, to make such appropriation, shall operate as a dismissal of such proceedings, and no future action for such condemnation shall be commenced for a period of ten years, except as hereinbefore provided in case of a dismissal by the city.

Conclusiveness of the proceedings is the same as in case of any other judgment. As to the effect thereof and what may not be retried in the proceeding to enforce a tax bill for benefits assessed see authorities in note to sec. 2. of this article.

Appeal: Until the court acts finally upon the report of the commissioners no appeal can be taken: St. Louis vs. Thomas, 100 Mo. 223; see also 168 Mo. 1. c. 615. As to what is a final judgment in street opening case so as to authorize appeal, see State ex rel. vs. Klein, 140 Mo. 502; Martin vs. St. Louis, 139 Mo. 1. c. 261. See also St. Louis vs. Nelson, 169 Mo. 461.

Appeal after interplea by contending claimants: See next section of this article.

Compensation for damages cannot be claimed until final action approving the report: Whyte vs. Kansas City, 22 Mo. App. 409; and even thereafter a refusal of the municipal assembly to appropriate the money to pay the damages, operates as a refusal by the city to take the property; and such appropriation must be by ordinance, subject to veto by the Mayor: Silvester vs. St. Louis, 164 Mo. 601.

Jurisdiction on appeal in condemnation proceedings is in the Supreme Court, as title to realty is involved, whatever may be the amount of damages awarded: Kansas City vs. Railroad, 187 Mo. 146, 151, and cases cited; Tarkio vs. Clark, 186 Mo. 285, 294.

But action on special tax bill against property does not involve title so as to confer jurisdiction on Supreme Court: Ross vs. Gates, 183 Mo. 338. See also State ex rel. vs. Smith, 177 Mo. 69. Unless a constitutional question is raised: Curtice vs. Schmidt, 101 S. W. 61, 64 (March, 1907) following prior cases.

Sec. 11. City may deduct benefits from damages, and shall pay excess, or deposit in Court—interest disallowed, when—when title of property in dispute, damages paid into Court—improvements may proceed.—In all cases arising under this article, the city may deduct the benefits assessed against property owned by any person, or his assigns, from the damages allowed to such person, or his assigns, for the taking or damaging of any property owned by him or his assigns, and shall pay to him or his assigns, or into the court for his or their benefit, or recover from him or them the difference between the damages and the benefits, as the case may be, and in no case shall the city be liable for interest on any award for damages after the same or the excess of the damages over the benefits shall have been paid into court as aforesaid; provided, however, that if the ownership of property condemned be in controversy, the amount of the damage assessed for said property, less the benefits deducted as aforesaid, shall be paid into the court for the use of the successful claimant of the property; and provided, further, that after such payment to such party or parties, or into court for their benefit, the city may take possession of the property condemned and the improvement may be proceeded with.

Payment into court and interest—appeal after interplea by different claimants: St. Louis vs. Nelson, 108 Mo. App. 210.

By Session Laws 1907, p. 118, it was provided that in cities of over 100,000 the city could pay into court the money awarded as damages and take possession of the property and proceed with the improvement contemplated.

If the ownership of the property is in dispute and the city wishes to avoid payment of interest the money should be paid into court. Otherwise the city is required to pay lawful interest for the time subsequent to the ascertainment of the value of the land taken; interest is allowable as in case of any other judgment, and not from the time the city takes possession: Martin vs. St. Louis, 139 Mo. 246, 261, with discussion by the court.

Where the ownership of the funds awarded in condemnation is in controversy the city has a right to pay same into court; and when the city is sued for the amount it may file an answer in the nature of interpleader and one claiming to be the owner may enter voluntary appearance and assert his claim: Hilton vs. St. Louis, 99 Mo. 199.

Under the charter of 1853 where the title to the land taken for street openings was in dispute between parties, no cause of action against the city accrued until the question of title was determined by the proper court: Soulard vs. St. Louis, 40 Mo. 144.

Deduction of benefits from damages: Such provisions as above have been sustained: State ex rel. vs. Kansas City, 89 Mo. 34, 40.

Sec. 12. Condemnation of property for particular use.—When it becomes necessary for the city to condemn private property for other and different public uses than those already specified in this article, the Assembly shall pass an ordinance to that effect, which shall set forth the purposes for which said property is required, and to which it shall be especially dedicated. The value and damages of said property shall be ascertained in the same manner as directed in this article in the case of opening streets, and the same shall be paid by the city to the owner or owners of said property.

As to condemnation for water works see Charter, Art. VII, sec. 4.

A public park is such a public use as will authorize condemnation of private property to establish the same: See note to Art. VIII, sec. 1. So a wharf: See cases in head note* to Chapter 10 of Rev. Code.

WATER AND GAS PIPE CONNECTIONS.

Sec. 13. Board of Public Improvements to regulate.—The Assembly shall provide by ordinance, that all connections with water or gas pipes shall be made subject to such regulations as the Board of Public Improvements may, from time to time, establish, and that before any such connections are made a permit shall be procured from said board.

For ordinances regulating water pipe connections see Rev. Code, secs. 2504-2527 inclusive; as to gas pipe connections see Rev. Code, secs. 336, 898, 912-913, 163. Laying of water pipe see Charter, Art. VII, sec. 5.

CONSTRUCTION OF STREETS, BOULEVARDS AND ALLEYS.

Sec. 14. Ordinances for improvements of streets, etc., to originate with B. P. I.—Board to designate day for public meeting to consider improvements—notice, contents and time of publication—remonstrances against improvement, time of filing, etc., and action of Board thereon—two-thirds vote will overrule—Board to prepare and report to Assembly, ordinance, with reasons, in event of remonstrance—majority vote of Board sufficient in absence of remonstrance.—No ordinance for the construction or reconstruction of any street, avenue, boulevard, alley or public highway of the city, shall be passed unless recommended by the Board of Public Improvements, as hereinafter provided. The Board shall designate a day on which they will hold a public meeting to consider the improvement of any designated streets, avenues, boulevards, alleys or public highways by grading or regrading, by constructing or reconstructing, by paving or repaving the roadway, including cross-walks and intersections, and shall give two weeks' public notice, in the papers doing the city printing, of the time, place and matter to be considered, stating in such notice the kind of material and manner of construction proposed to be used for the wearing surface of such improvement, naming more than one kind of material or manner of construction, if the Board deems it advisable so to do, and also the class of specification and plan for such work, which specification and plan shall be approved by said Board, and filed in its office. If within fifteen days after such public meeting, the owners of the major part of the area of the land made taxable by this article for such improvement, shall file in the office of the Board of Public Improvements their written remonstrance against the proposed improvement, or against the material or manner thereof, the Board shall consider such remonstrance, and if said Board shall, by a two-thirds vote, at a regular meeting, approve of the improvement, material or manner remonstrated against, they shall cause an ordinance for the same to be prepared and report the same with the reasons for their action and the remonstrance to the Assembly. If such majority fail to remonstrate within fifteen days or shall petition the Board for the improvement, said Board may by a majority vote approve the same, and shall cause an ordinance to be prepared and reported to the Assembly therefor.

See note at end of this section.

Board may provide that work be guaranteed and kept in repair for term of years.—In all cases the Board may include in such ordinance a provision that the work and material must be guaranteed and kept in repair by the contractor doing the work for a term of years to be specified in such ordinance.

See note at end of this section.

Special taxes to be levied and assessed according to frontage and area, appointment.—Special taxes for the improvements of streets, avenues and public highways shall be levied and assessed as follows: The total cost of grading and preparing the roadbed for the superstructure, placing foundation, curbing, guttering, roadway paving and cross-walks for the street embraced in the improvement, including all intersections of streets and alleys, shall be ascertained, and one-fourth thereof shall be levied and assessed upon all the property fronting upon or adjoining the improvement, in the proportion that the frontage of each lot so fronting or adjoining bears to the total aggregate of frontage of all lots or parcels of ground fronting upon or adjoining the improvement, and the remaining three-fourths of the cost so ascertained shall be levied and assessed as a special tax upon all the property in the district to be defined and bounded as hereinafter provided, in the proportion that the area of each lot or parcel of ground or the part of such parcel of ground lying within the district bears to the total area of the district, exclusive of streets and alleys.

See note at end of this section.

Benefit districts for special taxation established, method.—The districts herein referred to shall be established as follows: A line shall be drawn midway between the street to be improved and the next parallel or converging street on each side of the street to be improved, which line shall be the boundary of the district, except as hereinafter provided, namely: If the property adjoining the street to be improved is divided into lots, the district line shall be so drawn as to include the entire depth of all lots fronting on the street to be improved. If the line drawn midway as above described would divide any lot lengthwise or approximately lengthwise, and the average distance from the midway line so drawn to the nearer boundary line of the lot is less than twenty-five feet, the district line shall in such case diverge to and follow the said nearer boundary line. If there is no parallel or converging street on either side of the street to be improved, the district lines shall be drawn three hundred feet from and parallel to the street to be improved; but if there be a parallel or converging street on one side of the street to be improved to fix and locate the district line, then the district line on the other side shall be drawn parallel to the street to be improved and at the average distance of the opposite district line so fixed and located. Provided that if any property in a district established as herein provided is not liable to special assessment, the city shall pay the proportion of cost of the improvement which would have been assessed against such property. All of the property in the lots, blocks or tracts of land lying between the streets to be improved and the district lines established as above specified, shall constitute the district aforesaid.

See note at end of this section.

Special taxes for construction of sidewalks, apportioned by front foot rule.—The cost of construction of all sidewalks shall be apportioned as follows: The grading of all sidewalks, and the total cost of construction or reconstruction, paving or repaving, including the cost of preparing the ground for the superstructure, placing foundation and the wearing surface of all sidewalks and necessary intersections, shall be levied and assessed as a special tax upon each lot or parcel of ground abutting the sidewalk so constructed, reconstructed, paved or repaved in the proportion that the front feet of each lot or parcel of ground so abutting such sidewalk bears to the total linear feet of all the property abutting the improvement, and shall be collected as hereinafter provided.

See note at end of this section.

Terms “reconstruction” and “repaving” construed—partial improvements by reconstruction and repaving permitted—contracts for improvement of sidewalks considered distinct from those of streets, etc.—culverts and partial grading of streets.—The term (s) “reconstructing” and “repaving” as herein employed, shall be construed to give full power and authority to reconstruct or repave by removing the foundation, curbing, guttering, and wearing surface of the roadway paving, or only such portion of any or all thereof as the ordinance may prescribe, and thereafter from time to time, such street may be additionally improved if so ordered, by ordinance, and the cost of the additional improvement assessed as a special tax in like manner and to the same effect as the original improvement; and provided, further, that the roadway of streets, avenues, boulevards or public highways may be improved as herein provided, irrespective of sidewalks and the contracts therefor shall be deemed separate and independent of the contracts for the improvement of sidewalks. Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the city from constructing culverts and partially grading streets, to make them passable in advance of their improvement, at the expense of general revenue, or by the labor of prisoners in the workhouse.

See note at end of this section.

Special taxation for improvement of alleys.—The total cost of grading, regrading, preparing the roadway for all the superstructure, placing foundation and roadway paving of all alleys, shall be levied and assessed as a special tax upon all lots in the block in which the alley is located in the proportion that the area of each lot in such block afforded access by such alley bears to the total area of all the lots in such block so afforded access, and shall be collected as hereinafter provided.

See note below.

"Lot" defined.—The word "lot" as used in this section, shall be held to mean the lots as shown by recorded plats of additions or sub-divisions, but if there be no such recorded plat, or if the owners of property have disregarded the lines of lots as platted, and have treated two or more lots or fractions thereof as one lot, then the whole parcel of ground, or lots so treated as one, shall be regarded as a lot for the purposes hereof.

Amendment: This section is an amendment passed at the charter election of Oct. 22, 1901.

Ordinance provisions upon street constructions and repairs (and preventing obstructions), see Rev. Code, Chap. 12, Art. 2, secs. 884-940; see also as to duties of B. P. I. recommending ordinances R. C., secs. 1913, 1919; and what conditions to be contained in contracts let by board R. C., 270, 1919 et seq.

For distinction between exercise of eminent domain by taking property for a public use such as a street, and the exercise of the taxing power by raising funds to pay for property so taken; and also for distinction between issuance of tax bills for benefits because of street openings, and tax bills for public improvements, see note to sec. 2 of this article; see also Keith vs. Bingham, 100 Mo. 300; St. Louis vs. Bus, 159 Mo. 9, 12; Burgess, J., in Heman Const. Co. vs. Wabash (Sup. Ct. July 2, 1907, not at this writing reported).

As to the strictness with which the legal conditions precedent to imposition of special taxation for street construction, etc., and the contract provisions, must be complied with, see in connection herewith note to sec. 25 of this article; as to same respecting street openings and benefit assessments therefor, see note to secs. 1 and 2 of this article.

The validity of this section (14) was attacked as being unconstitutional on a number of grounds but it was sustained as valid in all respects: Meier vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 391, 408, and cases cited.

Special assessments for public improvements are not referable to the power of eminent domain, but are referable to the taxing power and sustained thereunder: Meier vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 391, 408; Independence vs. Gates, 110 Mo. 374, 380 (the court pointing out that this species of taxation cannot be defended on logical grounds, but is upheld as a matter of law); Keith vs. Bingham, 100 Mo. 300; Farrar vs. St. Louis, 80 Mo. 379 (with a review of the prior cases, the court holding that the city "might adopt any method in apportioning the cost which the legislature could adopt," p. 393). In holding such special taxation valid, Burgess, J., in Heman Const. Co. vs. Wabash Ry., (Sup. Ct. July 2, 1907, not at this writing reported) says: "While a distinction is made between local assessments and taxes levied for general revenue purposes, in that an assessment for a local proceeding is not a tax within the meaning of the constitutional provision for uniformity of taxation, it is in a sense a tax, not however for the purpose of sustaining the government, but imposed upon individual property upon the theory that such property receives a special benefit different from the general one which the owner enjoys in common with others; in other words an assessment for benefits."

What property is subject to special taxation: State constitutional provisions on taxation are held to be inapplicable to special taxation: Meier vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 391, 408; Farrar vs. St. Louis, 80 Mo. 379 (reviewing the cases); St. Joseph vs. Owen, 110 Mo. 1. c. 455; Adams vs. Lindell, 72 Mo. 198; see cases cited in Barber Asp. Co. vs. St. Joseph, 183 Mo. 1. c. 458; Heman Const. Co. vs. Wabash R. R. (Sup. Ct. in banc, July 2, 1907, not yet reported).

Hence the compensation clause under eminent domain for property taken, uniformity clause, taxation according to value clause, etc., do not affect such legislation: See cases cited above, especially Meier vs. St. Louis (uniformity clause, etc.), Keith vs. Bingham (eminent domain and compensation inapplicable); Heman Const. Co. vs. Wabash, supra (uniformity clause, etc.)

Constitutional provisions of exemptions from taxation do not apply to special taxation: Clinton vs. Co., 115 Mo. 557.

Statutory exemption of a company or association from "all taxes" does not include exemption from special assessments: Sheehan vs. Good Samaritan Hosp., 50 Mo. 155; State ex rel. vs. Kansas City, 89 Mo. 34, 39; Railroad vs. Decatur, 147 U. S. 190.

Church property is subject to it as any other: Lockwood vs. St. Louis, 24 Mo. 20.

The city cannot enter into an agreement that property shall not be subject to special taxation; such agreement is void: Vrana vs. St. Louis, 164 Mo. 146.

Being "a public highway" does not exempt railway property: Nevada vs. Eddy, 123 Mo. 546, 560. Heman Const. Co. vs. Wabash R. Co. (Sup. Ct. in banc, July 2, 1907, not at this writing reported); see also Railroad vs. Decatur, 147 U. S. 190.

It was held by the court of appeals that the lien could not be charged against the abutting right of way of a railroad company (Sweeney vs. Railroad, 54 Mo. App. 265. See also Bank vs. Haywood, 62 Mo. App. 265) but the Supreme Court in Heman Const. Co. vs. Wabash R. Co., supra, expressly overruled that case and holds that the railway property is subject to special taxation like any other. At the last session of the legislature an act was passed making the railroad property liable to special taxation in cities as in case of other property and persons: Session Laws 1907, pp. 92-93.

So in case of Burial Grounds, Laws 1907, p. 86.

But public property, held for public uses, is not subject to a special tax, since it cannot be held therefor, except in so far as the law making power so designates: St. Louis vs. Brown, 155 Mo. 545, 560; Barber Asp. Co. vs. St. Joseph, 183 Mo. 451, 455.

The provisions of the U. S. Constitution are generally not applicable to protect against special taxation: French vs. Barber Asp. Co., 181 U. S. 394, reviewing the prior cases in that court, and affirming s. c. 158 Mo. 534, and explaining and interpreting the case of Norwood vs. Baker, 172 U. S. 269. In the last case (subject to the later modification as explained by the U. S. Supreme Court) the limits were pointed out beyond which the courts would annul special taxation as void for unconstitutionality where same was unreasonably oppressive in its operation. See vigorous dissenting opinions as well as majority opinions in both the above cases in U. S. Supreme Court. The limitations put on the Norwood-Baker case have been followed in subsequent decisions.

A law is not unconstitutional because it makes it possible that the assessment for benefits is greater than the benefits can possibly be: Railroad vs. Barber Asp. Co., 197 U. S. 430, 433.

Front foot tax under former provisions upheld: Paving Co. vs. Peck, 186 Mo. 506, 515-516; Paving Co. vs. Munn, 185 Mo. 552, 563 (Kansas City); French vs. Barber Asphalt Co., 181 U. S. 324, affirming s. c. 158 Mo. 534; Heman vs. Gilliam, 171 Mo. 258, 264; Farrar vs. St. Louis, 80 Mo. 379, and cases cited.

Under the new charter amendment only one-fourth of the entire cost is assessed according to the ground fronting or adjoining on the improved street; this includes all lots abutting the improved street, whether the latter be the main street upon which they "front," or a side street which they "adjoin," and the pro rata is independent of the depth of the lot: Collier Est. vs. Paving Co., 180 Mo. 362, 374.

Area district: The validity of both the front foot and area district is settled beyond question: Collier Estate vs. Paving Co., 180 Mo. 362, 374; Prior vs. Const. Co., 170 Mo. 349, 448, and cases cited. Farrar vs. St. Louis, 80 Mo. 379, 393 (holding that the city "might adopt any method in apportioning the cost which the legislature could adopt"); St. Joseph vs. Farrell, 106 Mo. 437.

The benefit district, under the new charter provisions, and the method of ascertaining same, has received a full and elaborate discussion in the case of Collier Est. vs. Western Pav. Co., 180 Mo. 362, decided by the court in banc; the court points out the general midway line rule to be observed under the new provisions and under what conditions the same is altered by the exception thereto made.

The words "fronting," "adjoining" and "abutting" as used in the amendment, are not synonymous: Collier's Est. vs. Paving Co., supra.

And in the exception to the "midway line" in the charter which provides that "if the property adjoining the street to be improved is divided into lots, the district line shall be so drawn as to include the entire depth of all lots fronting on the street to be improved," etc. The words "fronting on the street to be improved" refer only to the street on which the buildings front: Collier Est. vs. Paving Co., 180 Mo. 362; Meier vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 362, 410 (the court observing that it did not modify the case of Wolfert vs. St. Louis, 115 Mo. 139, in a case where applicable).

Definition of "Lot": Collier Est. vs. Paving Co., 180 Mo. 362.

The benefit district for platted lots (under the new charter) which lots end on the midway line, extends only to such midway line, although the owner disregarded the lot lines and for residence purposes use them as one lot extending beyond the midway line and from street to street: State ex rel. vs. Paving Co., 183 Mo. 230; Collier Est. vs. Paving Co., 180 Mo. 362.

Where the platted lots extend beyond the midway line the benefit district should include them to their entire depth, deviating to that extent: State ex rel. vs. Paving Co., 183 Mo. 230.

Where the tract fronting the street is unplatted (or if so, the platting is unrecorded) only that part between the improved street and the midway line to the next parallel street should be included: State ex rel. vs. Paving Co., 183 Mo. 230; Collier Est. vs. Paving Co., 180 Mo. 362; Meier vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 391.

Under the old provision a judgment declaring liens against two lots, in aggregate, where suit brought on two bills against two different lots belonging to same person, is erroneous: Brockschmidt vs. Cavender (memo. opin.) 3 Mo. App. 568.

And if several contiguous lots are treated as one lot the assessment is void and will not authorize a separate judgment as to each or against the whole: Christian vs. Taussig, 8 Mo. App. (memo. opin.) 602.

Unless the two lots are used as one in which case they may be treated as one lot in assessing special tax bills against them, whether improved or not: Loevy vs. Const. Co., 64 Mo. App. 430; Hill O'Meara vs. Sessinghaus, 106 Mo. App. 163, and cases cited.

Actions on special tax bills, essentials thereof and incidents thereto, etc., see notes to sec. 25 of this article.

The notice to the property owners of the proposed meeting of the board is sufficient when naming a day, hour, and place of meeting for the purpose of considering the matter of reconstructing with asphaltum certain designated streets, even though a particular kind of asphaltum had already been determined on: Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. 26, 81 et seq.; see Sherwood, J., on p. 158 et seq.

The notice to the property owners of the material to be used is sufficient, if the published notice refer to the specifications on file in the office of the board: Swift vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 80, 96.

A notice required to be published a certain number of days may include Sundays: Barber Asph. Co. vs. Muchenberger, 105 Mo. App. 47; Clapton vs. Taylor, 49 Mo. App. 117, 126; Curtice vs. Schmidt (Sup. Ct., March, 1907) 101 S. W. 61.

Notice of the letting, see note to sec. 27 of this article.

Owner concluded to dispute benefit or necessity of work: Where the taxing district is fixed by valid legislation, as is also the apportionate of the cost, the owner of the property taxed cannot be heard to contend in court that his property was not in fact benefited, that being a legislative question: Meier vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 391, 409, and cases cited. To same effect: Prior vs. Construction Co., 170 Mo. 439, 451, and cases cited. (See also French vs. Asphalt Co., 181 U. S. 324; Railroad vs. Barber Asp. Co., 197 U. S. 430, 433.)

Nor that there was no necessity for the construction or reconstruction of the pavement, that being a legislative question, not reviewable in the absence of bad faith: Heman vs. Franklin, 99 Mo. App. 346; Skinker vs. Heman, 148 Mo. 349; Heman vs. Schulte, 166 Mo. 409; McCormick vs. Patchin, 53 Mo. 33 (holding the power to pave or re-pave is a continuing one to be exercised whenever the city thinks necessary); Heman vs. Ring, 85 Mo. App. 231, and cases cited. But as to when the courts will review the legislative action of the municipal assembly and how far, see authorities in note to Art. III, sec. 26, introductory thereto.

Nor in an action on a special tax bill for benefits assessed on account of a street-opening or widening, can the defense be raised that there was no benefit, nor adequate compensation, nor any other question that could have been raised in the original cause; this is res judicata as to such matters: See cases on this point in note to sec. 2 of this article.

And where an ordinance is fair on its face, objections as to methods adopted or that the ordinance is void for want of authority of the city, or for fraud or collusion, should be shown in a timely suit for injunctive relief: Heman vs. Ring, 85 Mo. App. 231.

Maintenance clause, or work guaranteed and kept in repair by contractor: See notes to next section of this article.

Special taxation for construction of sidewalks: As to general ordinance for width of sidewalks see R. C., sec. 899. The tax bill is not void because the ordinance does not prescribe the width of the walk, if the suit is not for the making thereof. The construction may be done by one contractor and the paving by another. Nor is the tax bill void if the President of the Board does not personally compute, levy and assess the cost, if he signs the tax bill: Heman Const. Co. vs. Loevy, 179 Mo. 455 (see s. c. in Court of Appeals: 64 Mo. App. 1. c. 434).

Determination of width of sidewalks cannot be delegated: Ramsey vs. Field, 92 So. W. 350 (Kansas City Ct. of App.).

Where the paving is to be done by separate contractors for different work (one for the street, the other for the sidewalk) the tax bills may be issued on the completion of either to that contractor: Heman vs. Loevy, 179 Mo. 455.

Special taxation for abatement of nuisances: See Charter, Art. XII, secs. 6, 7; Rev. Code, secs. 666, 667, 669.

Partial completion insufficient: A city cannot partially complete the improvement called for by ordinance and issue tax bills therefor before full completion of the contract: Independence vs. Gates, 110 Mo. 374, 383; Heman Const. Co. vs. Loevy, 64 Mo. App. 1. c. 437-438 (reversed in 179 Mo. 455 supra, because there were two contracts and the bill was issued as to the completed work under the first, as indicated in the preceding paragraph of this note); McGrath vs. Clemens, 49 Mo. 552.

But of course this applies to the partial fulfillment of the contract; the city has in its legislative discretion the right to provide for the improvement of such parts of a street and at such times, as it sees fit: Moran vs. Lindell, 52 Mo. 229; Stifel vs. McManus, 74 Mo. App. 558, 562; Springfield vs. Weaver, 137 Mo. 1. c. 669. And see authorities cited in note to sec. 1 of this article in how far street improvement is legislative, and how far ministerial.

And that the contractor does not improve the space between railroad tracks, which is a duty imposed by law on the railroad, is no ground to defeat the tax bill: Farrar vs. St. Louis, 80 Mo. 1. c. 393; Bank vs. Hayward, 62 Mo. App. 550; Springfield vs. Weaver, 137 Mo. 650, 668 et seq.

So also an imperfect compliance with the contract will not prevent a recovery for the value of the work as rendered but only furnish basis for a reduction: See express provision in section 25 of this article, and note thereto; and as to pro tanto recovery see also note to sec. 15 of this article.

Remonstrance: The provision in the charter provides that in case the owners of the major part in area file a remonstrance a two-thirds vote of the B. P. I. is required to recommend the ordinance, otherwise a majority vote.

Where a remonstrance deprives the city assembly of power it has no jurisdiction to pass on ordinance to improve: See discussion in Sedalia vs. Montgomery, 109 Mo. App. 197, certified to the Supreme Court for final decision as being in conflict with the decisions of the Kansas City Court of Appeals decisions in Sedalia vs. Scott, 104 Mo. App. 575 and Knopfe vs. Co., 92 Mo. App. 279.

A finding by the B. P. I. (under the St. Louis charter) that a majority of the owners had not signed a remonstrance is not conclusive (though it may be prima facie evidence) of such fact, which is jurisdictional to the validity of the ordinance passed in pursuance: Construction Co. vs. Geist, 37 Mo. App. 509, 514.

It is not necessary that an owner should sign a remonstrance in person; his authorized agent may sign for him: Construction Co. vs. Geist, 37 Mo. App. 509, 514, 515.

An administrator not legally in charge of the real estate cannot sign as a remonstrator: Sedalia vs. Montgomery, 109 Mo. App. 197, 220; Sedalia vs. Scott, 104 Mo. App. 595, 604.

Sec. 15. Improvement ordinance, requisites—may specify term of years for which work shall be maintained—estimate of cost to be endorsed—street, etc., to be established or dedicated prior to improvement.—All ordinances recommended by said Board shall specify the character of the work, its extent, the material to be used, the manner and general regulations under which it shall be executed, the fund out of which it shall be paid for, and may specify a term of years for which the work shall be maintained by the contractor, and shall be endorsed with the estimate of the cost thereof; provided, that no improvement or repairs shall be ordered upon any future street, alley or highway which shall not have been opened, dedicated or established according to the provisions of this charter and law.

This amendment was also adopted at Charter election of Oct. 22, 1901.

For ordinances on this subject, see R. C., secs. 1919, 1920.

The Ordinance.—That an ordinance required to be recommended by the Board of Public Improvements is void if not enacted in that manner, see cases cited in note to sec. 17 of this article.

The power of a city to impose special taxes can only be exercised by ordinance enacted in the manner prescribed by Charter: Trenton vs. Coyle, 107 Mo. 193, 196, and cases cited; Saxton vs. St. Joseph, 60 Mo. 153.

In the absence of any evidence to the contrary, it will be presumed that the officers acted rightly in passing an ordinance authorizing an improvement, and that the meeting at which it was passed was properly convened: Rutherford vs. Hamilton, 97 Mo. 543, 548-549; see as to presumptive regularity in passage of ordinances in general, cases in note to Charter Art. III, sec. 12; as to presumption that the city officers act rightly in case of tax-bills for improvements, see also Asp. Co. vs. Ullman, 137 Mo. 568, cited in note to sec. 25 of this article; and as to street opening cases, see secs. 1 and 2 of this article.

While it is true that the Municipal Assembly cannot delegate legislative duties imposed by the charter, an ordinance for street improvements is not invalid because it leaves details of construction to the discretion of the street commissioner or other proper city officers, to whom some discretion must necessarily be left: St. Louis vs. Swift, 180 Mo. 80, 91, 96; Sheehan vs. Gleeson, 46 Mo. 100, 104; Moran vs. Lindell, 52 Mo. 1. c. 231; St. Joseph vs. Owen, 110 Mo. 1. c. 455; Gallaher vs. Smith, 55 Mo. App. 116; Bank vs. Woesten, 147 Mo. 1. c. 481-482; St. Louis vs. Von Phul, 133 Mo. 1. c. 567.

And it is sufficient if such matters be regulated by general ordinance, in which case the special ordinance need not set such matters forth: Loevy vs. Construction Co., 64 Mo. App. 430, 434 (see s. c. 179 Mo. 1. c. 465); see also State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 56 Mo. 277.

Specifications may in the ordinance be referred to as on file with the proper municipal officer, without being embodied in the ordinance: Becker vs. Washington, 94 Mo. 375; Asphalt Co. vs. Ullman, 137 Mo. 543, 570, 571; Dickey vs. Porter, 901 S. W. 586, 596 (Sup. Ct. March 30, 1907); see also Swift vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 80, 1. c. 96, applying same principle to the notice by the B. P. I.

But matters of substance requiring legislative discretion are to be determined by the Municipal Assembly and cannot be delegated to other officials: Sheehan vs. Gleeson, supra; Ruggles vs. Collier, 43 Mo. 353 (determining what streets should be paved); St. Louis vs. Clemens, 43 Mo. 395; s. c. 52 Mo. 133 (determining the dimensions of sewers); King Hill Co. vs. Hamilton, 51 Mo. App. 120 (determining what material paving shall be made of); St. Joseph vs. Wilshire, 47 Mo. App. 125 (material of sewer); but see Gallaher vs. Smith, 55 Mo. App. 116 (material of sidewalk at option of contractor). Ramsey vs. Field, 92 Mo. App. 350 (Kansas City Ct. App.; width of sidewalks,—but in St. Louis this is determined by general ordinance).

The later charter provisions and decisions have continually enlarged the power of delegation, and this was called attention to even as far back as State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 56 Mo. 277, 281, distinguishing the provisions in force under which Rugles vs. Collier, supra, and St. Louis vs. Clemens, supra, were decided. See also Bank vs. Woesten, 147 Mo. l. c. 481-482; Gibson vs. Owen, 115 Mo. 267.

A void ordinance cannot be validated by legislation after the work is done so as to charge the property owners with the improvements thereunder: St. Louis vs. Clemens, 52 Mo. 133, 144; Dickey vs. Holmes, 109 Mo. App. 721, and see cases in note to sec. 28 of this article. Neither can a right of action against the property be taken away by legislation subsequently to the ordinance and contract under which the work was done: Firth vs. Broadhead, 7 Mo. App. 563.

Pro Tanto Recovery: Ordinances for improvements should be upheld so far as possible, in cases of partial validity, where the valid and invalid portions are susceptible of segregation, and a partial recovery allowed: Asphalt Pav. Co. vs. Ullman, 137 Mo. l. c. 569; Farrar vs. St. Louis, 80 Mo. l. c. 393; Bond, J., in Steffen vs. Fox, 56 Mo. App. l. c. 23-24, citing Creamer vs. Bates, 49 Mo. 523; St. Joseph vs. Wilshire, 47 Mo. App. l. c. 133-134; Neenan vs. Smith, 60 Mo. 292; Springfield vs. Weaver, 137 Mo. 650; Eyermann vs. Provenchere, 15 Mo. App. 256, 266; Prendergast vs. Richards, 2 Mo. App. 187; Johnson vs. Duer, 115 Mo. 366.

And the charter itself recognizes that the owner can only defend for bad or insufficient work by reduction of the bill, and after tendering a just amount for the work done: See the provisions of sec. 25 of this article and note appended thereto.

The ordinance need not contain a provision for advertising for bids: Bambrick vs. Campbell, 37 Mo. App. 460, 465.

Guarantee of Contractor to Maintain Pavement in Repair for a certain time: For ordinances, see Rev. Code, secs. 884, 891, also Charter preceding section of this article. Such a clause means that the work shall be of such a quality that it will last for the guaranteed time under the ordinary wear and tear incidental to the use of the street or pavement for the purposes intended, and is not a contract to repair: Asphalt Co. vs. St. Louis, 188 Mo. 576; Barber Asphalt Co. vs. Ullman, 137 Mo. 543, 566; Bank vs. Woesten, 147 Mo. 467, 476; Barber Asp. Co. vs. Hezel, 155 Mo. 391; St. Louis Quarry Co. vs. Frost, 90 Mo. App. 677, 688; Allen vs. Labsap, 188 Mo. 692, 703.

Hence where the contract is between the contractor and the owners, the former cannot recover against the city for injuries to the pavement, and if he repairs the pavement for injuries caused by the city, he is a mere volunteer: Asphalt Co. vs. St. Louis, 188 Mo. 576; and hence payment of a tax-bill cannot be avoided because of a clause to maintain in repair on the ground that such provision makes the contract one for repair (which is to be paid by the city): See cases supra; also note to section 18 of this article.

Board Specifies Material to Be Used: The right to select the material of which the paving shall consist rests with the Board; and their action is valid, though a material is selected which is owned or controlled by one concern, or of which the whole supply is in the hands of one applicant, although competitive bidding is thereby practically prevented: Swift vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 80; Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. 26; Barber Asp. Co. vs. Hunt, 100 Mo. 22; Paving Co. vs. Field, 188 Mo. 182; Field vs. Paving Co., 194 U. S. 618; Allen vs. Labsap, 188 Mo. 692, 702. But in the recent case of Curtice vs. Schmidt, 101 So. Wes. 61, 66-68, decided March 28, 1907, the Supreme Court manifested a distinct tendency not to extend the doctrine of those cases, and held that where the designation is of a material not of such peculiarity as to be manufactured by one concern, then a designation of that material "as manufactured by" a particular concern named, is void because stifling competition and throwing open the door to favoritism; although the court recognizes the doctrine of the former cases to the extent that "if there is a patented article, or an article not patented but in the hands of one person or company, which article is necessary for the public improvement, and there are no other persons having the same general character of material which could be brought into competition, then the municipality is not forced to use other clearly inferior material on account of the requirement for competitive bidding."

Estimate of Cost: Where a statute or charter requires an estimate of the cost of the contemplated work, such estimate is a pre-requisite to the letting, and it has been said that the contract must be within the price: De Soto vs. Showman, 100 Mo. App. 323, 326, citing several authorities; see also as to the necessity and purpose of an "estimate" and what is an "estimate": Booneville vs. Rogers, 101 So. W. 1120 (K. C. Court. App., May 6, 1907).

But as to the effect of the provision in the St. Louis Charter, see Sherwood, J., dissenting, in Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. loc. cit. 133; and in Hill vs. Swingley, 159 Mo. 45, 48, referring to sec. 28 of this article, requiring every ordinance for improvements to contain a specific appropriation "based upon an estimate of cost, to be endorsed," etc., the court says that "it is very apparent that that clause refers only to contracts for work to be paid for out of the public treasury. The limit that is put on the price to be paid is the amount of the specific appropriation, not the estimate submitted," and held that the section did not apply to work to be paid for by special tax against private property affected. See to same effect, Seibert vs. Cavender, 3 Mo. App. 421.

Where after introduction an ordinance is submitted to the Board of Public Improvements by the Assembly with certain recommendations, which are adopted by the Board and the ordinance returned to the Assembly so amended, but without any alteration of the original estimate of cost by the Board, and as so re-submitted is passed by the Assembly, the original endorsement is sufficient: Bambrick vs. Campbell, 37 Mo. App. 460. Nor is a separate estimate required for each street, where a number of streets are included in one ordinance: Seibert vs. Cavender, 3 Mo. App. 421. But where the original ordinance is amended so as to include paving of other streets at increased cost and no new estimate is submitted, the ordinance so passed is void as is the tax-bill under it: Kinealy vs. Gay, 7 Mo. App. 203.

The Proviso that the highway must have been opened, dedicated or established, according to the provisions of "this Charter and law," comprehends both statutory and common law, and does not exclude a common-law dedication of a street: McGinnis vs. St. Louis, 157 Mo. 191, 193.

Sec. 16. Vote of Assembly on improvement bills.—Upon the recommendation of any ordinance by the Board of Public Improvements, the Assembly shall have the power, when such ordinance shall be accompanied by a remonstrance as hereinbefore provided, by a vote of two-thirds of the members elect of each house, and in all other cases by a vote of a majority of the members-elect of each house, to pass such ordinance, and order the making of such improvement.

As to presumption that an ordinance has been enacted according to the legal requirements, see notes to preceding section; and as to such presumption of regularity in general, see cases in note to Art. III, sec. 12, showing that where two-thirds vote is required it will be presumed to have been so passed; but see also note to next section herein below.

Sec. 17. All ordinances for public work to be recommended by the Board of Public Improvements.—The Board of Public Improvements shall recommend to the Assembly all ordinances for the establishment or change of grade of streets, avenues, boulevards, public highways and alleys, and also for the construction or reconstruction of streets, avenues, boulevards and public highways, and for the maintenance, repairing, lighting, cleaning and sprinkling thereof; for the construction or reconstruction, maintenance, repairing, lighting and cleaning of alleys; for the construction or reconstruction, maintenance and repairing of sidewalks; for the construction or reconstruction and the repairs of sewers, and all ordinances for the doing of all other public work of every nature and kind which is required by this Charter, or by ordinance, to be done under the supervision of said Board, or of any of the members thereof.

Where the recommendation of the Board of Public Improvements is required, it is jurisdictional, and an ordinance without it is invalid: St. Louis vs. Franke, 78 Mo. 41; St. Louis vs. Gleason, 93 Mo. 33, 37 (both these cases under superseded charter provisions, but the principles are still applicable).

And where a majority of the owners remonstrate, it was held (when in such case a unanimous recommendation was required by the then charter) that an ordinance was void, where the board erroneously found that a majority had not remonstrated; such fact could be shown as being jurisdictional: Const. Co. vs. Geist, 37 Mo. App. 509.

The ordinance is valid, although after its introduction the Assembly submits a suggestion for amendment to the Board, which is adopted and embodied in the ordinance by the Board, the ordinance being returned to the Assembly with recommendation for passage without altering the endorsement of estimated cost, and thereupon passed: Bambrick vs. Campbell, 37 Mo. App. 460, 463.

Elevation of streets and alleys, how determined: See note to sec. 1 of this article.

Sec. 18. Apportionment of cost of improvement—portion paid by the city and property owners respectively—no limit to special taxation.—The cost of construction or reconstruction of all the foregoing improvements within the city shall be apportioned as follows: The regrading of streets and sidewalks to conform to the change of grade thereof, the lighting of boulevards, alleys, streets, avenues and public highways, and the repairs of streets, avenues and public highways, shall be paid out of the general revenue of the city. The grading, improving, constructing, reconstructing, maintaining, repairing, cleaning and sprinkling of all boulevards shall be paid by special tax bill as in this article hereinbefore provided; the grading, regrading, preparing the roadway for the superstructure, placing foundation and roadway, paving of all alleys, shall be paid by special tax bill as hereinbefore in this article provided; the construction, reconstruction, paving or repaving, including the cost of preparing the ground for the superstructure, placing foundations, and the wearing surface of all sidewalks, shall be paid by special tax bills as hereinbefore in this article provided; the grading, preparing of the roadbed for superstructure, placing foundations, curbing, guttering, wearing surface of the roadway paving, cross-walks, including all intersections of streets, avenues, highways and alleys, shall be paid by special tax bill in the manner hereinbefore in this article provided. The repairs of all alleys and sidewalks shall be charged upon the adjoining property as a special tax, and shall be collected and paid as hereinafter provided.

This amendment, also, was adopted at the election on Oct. 22, 1901, submitted under ordinance 20444.

The validity of special taxation, though not sustainable on any logical ground, is no longer to be questioned: See cases cited in note to sec. 14 of this article.

By the present amendment no limit is placed to the amount chargeable by way of special taxation on the property owner, whereas formerly the limit was 25 per cent of the assessed value. Reference to decisions upon the old law on this point are therefore omitted. It is also to be observed that, differing from the former law, repairs, for alleys, sidewalks and boulevards are now paid for by special tax, as well as construction work, etc. On this and other points the changes must be borne in mind in determining the application of the cases cited below.

Repairs of Streets to Be Paid by City: For ordinances on repairs, see R. C., sec. 890, and following.

A contract providing for special deposit by a contractor to maintain his construction work for a certain period is not a contract for repairs (which is required to be paid out of general revenue), but is to insure fidelity for the character of the work in the first instance, and a special tax bill cannot be avoided on that ground: See Allen vs. Labsap, 188 Mo. 692, 703, and numerous cases cited in note to sec. 15 of this article.

That such a guarantee of maintenance for a certain number of years in a contract for construction is not a contract for repair, but only a guarantee of the quality of the work, see cases cited in note to sec. 15 of this article.

Distinction between rules applicable to streets and those applicable to alleys and sidewalks (before amendment): Skinker vs. Heman, 148 Mo. 349, 359, reciting the charter provisions before the present amendment.

As to what is to be considered as repairs and what reconstruction, see Farrell vs. Rammelkamp, 64 Mo. App. 425, 429; Perkinson vs. Schnaake, 108 Mo. App. 255, and cases infra.

Repairs must be paid by the city and the city cannot shift the cost on the abutting owner by calling the work reconstruction: O'Meara vs. Green, 25 Mo. App. 198; and abutting owners are not liable for repairs where the streets were constructed before the locality was taken into the city limits: O'Meara vs. Green, 16 Mo. App. 118.

Nor can there be a recovery on a special tax bill for repairs (allowable under former charter provision), where the work was reconstruction: Farrell vs. Rammelkamp, 64 Mo. App. 425, 428; the latter requiring an ordinance to authorize the work, but repairs being permissible under the order of the street commissioner on notice to the owner: Ritterskamp vs. Stifel, 59 Mo. App. 510. (See in connection herewith R. C., secs. 904 to 910.)

Under the old provision which provided that the cost of "paving, guttering and materials . . . shall be charged upon the adjoining property," etc., it was held that where four lots were sought to be charged in one tax-bill, one of which adjoins the improved street and all four fronting on a cross street, an aggregate assessment cannot be made against all the lots, unless it be shown that all were used as one lot by the owners: Paving Co. vs. Peck, 186 Mo. 506. Under that provision (before amendment) there was full authority to charge the cost of paving alleys against the adjoining property: Heman vs. Gilliam, 171 Mo. 258, 264.

As to cost to intersections of streets, and for "grading," "cross-walks" and "curbing," see Gibson vs. Kayser, 16 Mo. App. 404; intersections: See Allen vs. Krenning, 23 Mo. App. 561.

NUISANCES—CHANGE OF GRADE.

Sec. 19. Nuisances caused by public works to be abated by city—damages by change of grade to be paid by city.—Whenever a nuisance is caused upon private property by any work or improvement done by and for the city, the same shall be abated at the expense of the city; and whenever a grade of the street is fixed by the city and an improvement shall have been made in conformity thereto, if the city shall thereafter alter such grade to the damage of such improvement, the city shall indemnify the owner of the improvement for such damage.

Nuisances: As to the powers of the city where the nuisance is not caused by the city, but by third persons, see Charter Art. III, sec. 26, clause 6; Art. XII, secs. 6, 4, 3; Rev. Code, Chap. XI, Art. 12 (secs. 584-689) and notes thereto.

For statutory provisions respecting change of grade, see R. S. 1899, secs. 6238 et seq., which are set out herein, with notes, under "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," in Chap. 32, secs. 585-590.

Change of grade: Prior to the constitution of 1875 the city in the legitimate exercise of its powers could change the grade by ordinance without being liable for consequential damages, unless the injury could be shown to have resulted from the negligent or improper manner in which the work was done: St. Louis vs. Gurno, 12 Mo. 415; Taylor vs. St. Louis, 14 Mo. 23; Hoffmann vs. St. Louis, 15 Mo. 651. (A contrary decision was made in Thurston vs. St. Joseph, 51 Mo. 510, but the former rule was again followed in later cases); Schattner vs. K. C., 53 Mo. 162; Imler vs. Springfield, 55 Mo. 119; Wegman vs. Jefferson, 61 Mo. 57; Stewart vs. Clinton, 79 Mo. 603; and see dicta in the cases below cited.

To uproot this doctrine the Constitution was so amended in 1875 that compensation was required when property was damaged as well as taken for public use, and since that time it is settled law that when property is damaged by establishing the grade of a street, or by raising or lowering the grade already established, it is damaged for public use within the meaning of the Constitution: Hickman vs. Kansas City, 120 Mo. 1. c. 116; Werth vs. Springfield, 78 Mo. 107, 110; Householder vs. K. C., 83 Mo. 488; Clemens vs. Ins. Co., 184 Mo. 1. c. 53.

And it is also well settled that the constitutional provision is self-enforcing, and although the legislature may have enacted no law providing for a mode for ascertainment and payment of the compensation provided for, resort may be had to any common law action affording an appropriate means of redress: Hickman vs. Kansas City, 120 Mo. 110, 117; Householder vs. K. C., 83 Mo. 488; Keith vs. Bingham, 100 Mo. 300; Sheehy vs. Cable Co., 94 Mo. 574, 578 et seq.

And a statutory remedy purporting to be an exclusive remedy must, in order to be exclusive, be commensurate with the constitutional right and the remedies which by force of the constitution the owner is entitled to for his protection: Hickman vs. Kansas City, 120 Mo. 110, 118-119; Markowitz vs. Kansas City, 125 Mo. 485.

Under the statutes (see present statutes cited at beginning of this note), the city may institute proceedings for assessment of damages and benefits on change of street grade, without the consent of the owners of the property affected: St. Louis vs. Lang, 131 Mo. 1. c. 421.

As to what is a final judgment in such a proceeding, and that final judgment cannot be rendered as to some and not others on the commissioner's report, so as to allow an appeal, see St. Louis vs. Nelson, 169 Mo. 461.

A railroad company is as much liable as a city for damages in causing a change of grade: Sheehy vs. Cable Co., 94 Mo. 574, 579.

In an action to enforce a special tax-bill for improvements the defense cannot be made by the property owner that he has not been paid for the damages caused by the change of grade. The first is an exercise of the taxing power, the latter of eminent domain. Although the city may be liable under the constitution for an improper exercise of the power of eminent domain, yet the defense cannot be made in the tax suit: Springfield vs. Baker, 56 Mo. App. 637, 640, quoting and following Keith vs. Bingham, 100 Mo. 306. See as to this distinction, cases in note to sec. 2 of this article.

Overflows on private land resulting from inadequate sewer is not taking or damaging property for public use: Gulath vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 38, 56.

Where the property of a citizen is not taken, and his proprietary rights are not disturbed, but the damages to his property is consequential, due to a change in the grade, the constitutional provision prohibiting taking or damaging of private property without just compensation, does not entitle the owner to damages before the work is done, and he is not entitled to an injunction until the same are ascertained and paid: Clemens vs. Ins. Co. 184 Mo. 46. See further as to when an injunction will lie, cases cited in the opinion; also MacMurray-Judge, Iron Co. vs. St. Louis, 138 Mo. 608.

Although an abutting property owner is entitled under the constitution to be compensated for injury to his property before the improvement can be made, and may maintain injunction to enforce his right, yet if the conditions are such that the ordinance providing for the improvement, though unrepealed, cannot well be carried into effect, the injunction will not go, though the plaintiff may have apprehensions, if they are not really well grounded: Lester Realty Co. vs. St. Louis, 169 Mo. 227.

While it is true that the owner, since the amendment in the constitution of 1875, is entitled to compensation not only when his property is taken for public use, but also when it is damaged, yet the ground of recovery is his easement or property interest in the street; and the plaintiff, in order to recover, or to bring himself within the amendment, must show a special and peculiar injury to his property, or some easement connected therewith, different in kind from that of others: Clemens vs. Ins. Co., 184 Mo. 46, 54, and cases there cited; Van De Vere vs. Kansas City, 107 Mo. 83; Rude vs. St. Louis, 93 Mo. 408; Knapp Stout & Co. vs. St. Louis, 153 Mo. 572; see also (where a street railroad was constructed): Ruckert vs. Grand Ave. Ry., 163 Mo. 1. c. 278; and (steam railroad) De Geoffrey vs. Merchants Bridge, 179 Mo. 705 et seq.

In a suit by an abutting owner for damages caused by changing the grade, whether the change be from the natural to an artificial or from one artificial to another, the measure of damages is the difference in value of the property before and after the change of grade, less any special benefit not common to all property in the neighborhood, caused by such change of grade; and this is the rule whether the cost of the improvement be paid by the city or taxed as benefit assessments against the abutting property; the cost of the improvement taxed against the abutting property should not be considered: Investment Co. vs. St. Joseph, 191 Mo. 459.

As to measure of damages where access to a highway is cut off, being the difference in market value before and after such cut off, see also: Slattery vs. St. Louis, 120 Mo. 183; Chouteau vs. St. Louis, 8 Mo. App. 48.

The benefits to be deducted from the damages sustained by the landowner by the taking or damaging his property is only the direct and peculiar benefit that would result in particular to his tract, and not the general benefit that his lands would derive in common with the lands of other owners in his neighborhood: Cole vs. St. Louis, 132 Mo. 633, 640.

The city is liable for damages in a material change in the grade from the natural surface: Investment Co. vs. St. Joseph, 191 Mo. 459; Cole vs. St. Louis, 132 Mo. 633, 640, and cases cited; Davis vs. Ry., 119 Mo. 180; Fred vs. Railway, 65 Mo. App. 121.

The change of grade need not be the whole width of the road-bed: Stickford vs. St. Louis, 7 Mo. App. 217.

Action for damages for changing grade is in nature of trespass; possession alone is sufficient; title need not be shown: Schrodt vs. St. Joseph, 109 Mo. App. 627; but see Clemens vs. Ins. Co., 184 Mo. l. c. 56, et seq.

City not liable in absence of valid ordinance authorizing such change of grade: Gardner vs. St. Joseph, 96 Mo. App. 657; Clay vs. Mexico, 92 Mo. App. 611; Calvert vs. St. Joseph, 118 Mo. App. 503. And in the absence of an ordinance the officers doing the grading, or assisting or encouraging same, are liable as for trespass: Reed vs. Peck, 163 Mo. 333 (proceeding where the only authority to grade was a void resolution, not an ordinance. But a mere technical departure from the mode in which the power to grade is exercised will not discharge the city, at all events not if such ordinance has been, even impliedly, ratified by the corporate authorities: Schumacher vs. St. Louis, 3 Mo. App. 297, 298-299.

And an allegation in a petition by a city for assessment of damages for change of grade which alleges the due enactment of an ordinance defining the limits of benefits and damage district affected by a change of grade, inferentially states the passage of an ordinance for the grading of a street in that district, where that would be necessary as a condition precedent to the other ordinance: St. Louis vs. Lang, 131 Mo. 412, 420-421.

An abutting owner is not estopped to claim damages from change of grade resulting because of grant of street car franchise because he signed a request for such franchise over the street in question: Fred vs. Cable Co., 65 Mo. App. l. c. 124; nor because the plaintiff, after the grading of the roadbed by the cable company, requests that the grading of the street be finished: Hickman vs. Kansas City, 120 Mo. 110, 120.

Damages for change of grade—landlord and tenant: St. Louis vs. Nelson, 108 Mo. App. 210.

Damages because of removal of shade trees, when allowed: Walker vs. Sedalia, 74 Mo. App. 70. And when not: Colston vs. St. Joseph, 106 Mo. App. 714. See also Scott vs. Marshall, 110 Mo. App. 178 (condemnation of sidewalk improved by shade trees).

Damages on condemnation of property for public use: See note to Charter, Art. VI, sec. 1.

SEWERS.

Sec. 20. Classification of sewer system—"public," "district," "joint-district" and "private."—A sewer system is hereby established, which shall be divided into four classes, viz.: "Public," "District," "Joint-District" and "Private" sewers; the classes in any case being determined by the authority of its construction, and the definitions hereinafter specified, irrespective of the area drained, the size, character, or purpose of the sewer.

Public sewers are defined to be those heretofore constructed or acquired under authority of an ordinance, and paid for wholly out of the general revenue. Public sewers hereafter constructed shall be such sewers as the Board of Public Improvements may deem it expedient to establish and construct without creating a sewer district or joint sewer district; and such sewers may be established and constructed at such times, to such extent, of such dimensions and materials and under such regulations as may be provided by ordinance recommended by the Board of Public Improvements, and shall also consist of such branches to sewers already constructed as may be considered expedient by said board; provided, however, that no sewer shall be run diagonally through private property when it is practicable to construct the same parallel with the lines of such property, nor shall any public sewer be constructed through private property when it is practicable to construct the same along a street, alley or public highway. An appropriation shall be made to meet the cost of each public sewer from the public revenue. Public sewers may be connected with any other sewer of any class, or with some natural course of drainage.

District sewers are defined to be those constructed or acquired under authority of ordinances, within the limits of an established sewer district, and paid for by special tax assessed upon the property in the district.

Joint-district sewers are defined to be those constructed or acquired under the authority of ordinances uniting one or more districts or unorganized territory, for the purpose of providing main, outlet, or intercepting sewers, for the joint benefit of such districts or territory, and paid for by special taxes assessed upon all the property in such joint sewer district.

Private sewers are defined to be those built with or without permits, paid for by the parties, persons, associations or corporations constructing the same.

This section and those following were amended at the charter election of Oct. 21, 1901, making a material change in the sewer system of the city.

State Law: See in connection with the charter, Laws Mo. 1905, sec. 1-6, set out herein in "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," Chap. 28, secs. 535-549, authorizing Drainage and Sanitary Districts between the city and county.

Charter Authority to construct, keep in repair and regulate the use of sewers: See Art. III, sec. 26, clause 2, and note thereto.

For ordinances respecting sewers in general, see Rev. Code, Chap. 34, secs. 2302 to 2322 inclusive; sewer condemnation proceedings, secs. 876-882 (see also notes to Charter sec. 2 et seq. of this article); sewer connections, R. C., secs. 898, 1798, 145, 2314, 2302; permit construction, etc., 2303 and following.

Liability of City for Damages for defective sewers and sewer overflows: See note to clause 2, section 26, Art. III.

Definition and object of sewer in general: Fuchs vs. St. Louis, 167 Mo. loc. cit. 636; (as to importance of drainage of cities to preserve the public health, as a police power, see also New Orl. Gas Co. vs. Drainage Com., 196 U. S. 453, cited in note to clause 2 of sec. 26 of Art. III.)

The classification of sewers under the new charter provision and the right of the city so to classify, is discussed, and the several kinds defined, in Prior vs. Construction Co., 170 Mo. 439. The court, also, in that case shows the difference between the new and former classification. This distinction should be borne in mind in applying the decisions under the former law to the present conditions.

Under the former provisions: Public sewers can be created only by ordinance, not by user alone: Heman vs. Payne, 27 Mo. App. 481, 486.

What are public, district or private sewers prior to present amendment, see Heman vs. Allen, 156 Mo. 534, 542; Hill vs. Swingley, 159 Mo. 45; Eyerman vs. Blakely, 78 Mo. 145.

In how far the municipal assembly must fix the construction, materials, route, dimensions, etc., of a sewer by ordinance and in how far the details thereof may be delegated to the proper officials, see State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 56 Mo. 277, showing that the power of the city in this respect was enlarged by charter amendments so as not to be governed by the decisions in Murphy vs. Clemens, 43 Mo. 395 and Ruggles vs. Collier, id. 375.

And see further, cases on the same subject with respect to street improvements, note to sec. 15 of this article.

Discretion as to location of branch or lateral sewers in B. P. I.: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 56 Mo. 577; Eyermann vs. Provenchere, 15 Mo. App. 1. c. 267-268.

The action of the Board of Public Improvements in accordance with charter authority to recommend creation of private sewer to the Municipal Assembly, which enacts an ordinance in pursuance thereof, is conclusive that such sewer is a private sewer, no matter how beneficial it is to the public: Heman vs. Allen, 156 Mo. 534 (affirmed without discussion of this point in 181 U. S. 402). The recommendation of the board and subsequent enactment of the ordinance relieves the contractor from the obligation of inquiring as to the grounds on which the work is done: Eyermann vs. Provenchere, 15 Mo. App. 1. c. 270.

The Municipal Assembly, when thereto moved by the Board of Public Improvements, may pass ordinances looking to the construction of sewers, public and district, and the policy of constructing sewers is delegated to them. It is for the Municipal Assembly, acting in the manner prescribed by charter, to say when and where sewers are to be constructed, and the kind, whether public or district. But it cannot by ordinance or otherwise, authorize the construction of a public sewer to be paid for by special assessment, nor authorize a district sewer to be paid for out of the treasury. And the difference between a public and district sewer is not a mere difference in name, but it is a physical fact, so that the assembly cannot authorize what is in fact a public sewer and by merely denominating it a district sewer tax the cost of its construction on the lots in the district named. Such an act would be a fraud and the special tax-bill issued in pursuance of it would be void: Hill vs. Swingley, 159 Mo. 45, 49-50.

Courts have no power to issue a mandatory injunction requiring a municipality to construct a sewer in a particular manner or location, irrespective of the exercise of discretion vested by law in the municipal authorities to determine the practicability of the sewer ordered, the availability of taxation for the purpose, and the like matters; the exercise of this authority is primarily vested in the municipality and not the courts: Vicksburg vs. Waterworks Co., 202 U. S. 453, 471-472.

As to special taxation, see in connection with the cases below, also the notes to sections 24-25 and 14-15 of this article, for those points common to streets, alleys, etc., as well as sewers.

Special taxation for the construction of sewers, assessed either according to the area, benefit district, or the front foot rule, is now valid beyond question: Prior vs. Construction Co., 170 Mo. 439, 448; St. Joseph vs. Farrell, 106 Mo. 437; Heman vs. Allen, 156 Mo. 534, affirmed as Schumate vs. Heman, 181 U. S. 402.

The question whether a lot owner is benefited by the sewer so as to make his land taxable therefor, is legislative and he will not be heard to the contrary after the Municipal Assembly has established the district and fixed the rate of benefits without fraud or oppression; and such benefits may be indirect as well as direct to justify the action of the assembly: Prior vs. Construction Co., 170 Mo. 439, 450-451; Heman vs. Schulte, 166 Mo. 409; Heman vs. Allen, 156 Mo. 534, 544-551, affirmed 181 U. S. 402; Akers vs. Kollmeyer, 97 Mo. App. 520, 529. See also Johnson vs. Duer, 115 Mo. 366.

But the Municipal Assembly cannot authorize tax-bills by designating a public sewer to be a district sewer, when in fact not such, and the tax-bills are void: Hill vs. Swingley, 159 Mo. 45, 49-50.

Area taxation without reference to value of land is valid: Johnson vs. Duer, 115 Mo. 366.

Ascertaining assessment: See Creamer vs. Allen, 3 Mo. App. 545.

The basis of the work is an ordinance, and a void ordinance cannot be made valid after the work has been done: Dickey vs. Holmes, 109 Mo. App. 721; St. Louis vs. Clemens, 52 Mo. 133, 144. As to the requirements of an ordinance for public improvements in general, see note to sec. 15 of this article.

Where two lots are used as one property, they may be treated as one in assessing special tax-bill against them, whether improved or not: Hill-O'Meara vs. Sessinghaus, 106 Mo. App. 163, and cases cited.

A proper assessment in accordance with the charter is the basis of taxation, and the special tax-bill is void unless grounded on a valid assessment made by the tribunal designated by the charter. As to what is or is not such a compliance under the St. Louis charter, see Heman vs. Farish, 97 Mo. App. 393, 401; Heman vs. Allen, 156 Mo. 534; also authorities generally in notes to secs. 27 and 14 et seq., of this article. But the special tax-bill need not recite the basis of apportionment: Dickey vs. Porter, 101 S. W. 586, 594 (March 30, 1907, Sup. Ct. Kansas City charter).

The ordinance for improvements by sewers should be strictly complied with and construed, but not so strictly that it would defeat its obvious intent: St. Joseph vs. Landis, 54 Mo. App. 1. c. 326. See also Dickey vs. Porter, 101 S. W. 586, 596 (Sup. Ct., Mar. 30, 1907).

Special tax is not the exclusive remedy of the contractor; there is nothing in the charter preventing the city from enacting that other regulations, such as the payment of the tax before permitting a connection with the sewer, must be observed under its other powers: Hill vs. St. Louis, 159 Mo. 159, 167 (upholding an ordinance to that effect, now sec. 2304 of Rev. Code).

Limit of taxation for sewers: There was no limit to special taxation of sewers even before the present amendments: Heman vs. Wolff, 33 Mo. App. 200; Hill vs. Swingley, 159 Mo. 45.

Sec. 21. District sewers, establishment and construction of—districts may be changed—special taxation for, authorized—repairs and other incidental expenses paid by city—reconstruction of sewers permitted at expense of property.—District sewers shall be established and constructed or acquired within the limits of districts to be prescribed by ordinance recommended by the Board of Public Improvements, and may be connected with a sewer of any class, or with some natural course of drainage. District sewers shall be of such dimensions and material as may be considered necessary and expedient by the Board of Public Improvements, and authorized by ordinance. A sewer district may be sub-divided, enlarged or changed at any time previous to the completion of the construction of the sewers therein. The Municipal Assembly shall cause sewers to be constructed in any district whenever a majority of the property holders, resident therein, shall petition therefor, or whenever the Board of Public Improvements shall recommend it as necessary for sanitary or other purposes. Such sewers shall have all requisite laterals, inlets, manholes and other appurtenances.

As soon as a district sewer, with its inlets, manholes, and other appurtenances is fully completed, the Sewer Commissioner shall cause to be computed the total cost thereof, and certify the same to the President of the Board of Public Improvements, and the President of said Board shall assess it as a special tax against all the lots of ground in the district respectively, without regard to improvements, and in the proportion that their respective areas bear to the area of the whole district, exclusive of the public highway, and shall cause to be issued a special tax bill against each lot in the district, giving the name of the owner thereof, in favor of the contractor, which shall be collected and paid in the manner hereinafter prescribed; provided, that the repairs and other incidental expenses of the district sewers shall be paid out of the general revenue. Should the sewers in any sewer district or districts become worn out, or be found inadequate in depth, size or other respect, so as in the opinion of the Board of Public Improvements to require reconstruction, the Municipal Assembly may, by ordinance, establish sewer districts for such reconstructions, and proceed in all respects as if the territory embraced in such district had never been in a sewer district.

This section is an amendment passed with the preceding section at the election on Oct. 22, 1901.

See note, and authorities cited therein, to the preceding section of this article. See new classification discussed in Prior vs. Const. Co., 170 Mo. 439, cited in said note.

Under the former provisions the city could direct construction of district sewers without a petition from a majority of the property owners or recommendation of the Board of Health: Creamer vs. Oeters, 36 Mo. 456; but under the later provisions "the assembly can authorize the construction of sewers in sewer districts, only when a majority of the property holders petition for it, or when the Board of Public Improvements shall recommend it as necessary for sanitary or other purposes, nor can the assembly establish a sewer district except by ordinance as approved by the B. P. I.; when that board approves such an ordinance, the board need not wait until the passage of that ordinance before it shall recommend the construction of a sewer for the district": Eyermaier vs. Blakely, 78 Mo. 145, 149-150. Nor is it necessary for the board in its recommendation to state the reasons for which the sewer is necessary; a statement that it is "in accordance with the provisions of the charter" is sufficient: ibid., p. 150.

Under the present charter, still greater authority and latitude is given the board. Before a lien can attach to property in a taxing district for the cost of construction of sewers the Board of Public Improvements must make an assessment of the entire cost against the property liable. But in an action on the tax-bill the failure to so allege in the petition is waived if no objection thereto be taken until after judgment: Heman vs. Allen, 156 Mo. 534, l. c. 539-540. See also Dickey vs. Porter, 101 S. W. 586, 594 (Sup. Ct., March 30, 1907).

Repairs and other incidental expenses of district sewers must be paid out of the general revenue, hence it would not be competent for the city to regulate the sewers by making persons desiring to connect pay any sum to be used by the city in repairing or inspecting the sewers: Hill vs. St. Louis, 159 Mo. 159, loc. cit. 171.

Sec. 22. Joint district sewers, how established—special taxation for, authorized, how levied and assessed—when territory outside city limits is drained, city to pay portion of cost of construction—joint district sewers may be constructed in sections.—Joint district sewers may be constructed or acquired as follows: Whenever the Municipal Assembly, on the recommendation of the Board of Public Improvements, deems it necessary that a sewer be constructed in any part of the city, for the drainage or sanitary improvements of a section of the city comprising more than one established sewer district, or territory not yet in an established sewer district, it may, by ordinance, unite and establish such sewer districts, or parts thereof, and unorganized territory, into a joint sewer district, and cause a sewer or sewers to be constructed therein, and the whole cost thereof to be assessed against all the property within the boundaries of such joint sewer district as a special tax; but if the joint district sewer is to drain territory part of which lies outside of the city limits, and can not be included in the joint sewer district, then the Municipal Assembly shall provide in the ordinance or ordinances authorizing the construction of the joint district sewer or sewers, that a part of the cost of such sewer or sewers, in the proportion that the area of the unincluded territory bears to the whole area drained, shall be paid out of the general revenue, in which case the remainder of the cost shall be assessed as hereinafter provided.

The total cost of joint district sewers shall be levied and assessed upon all the property in the joint sewer district as follows: Whenever the whole or a section of a joint district sewer is fully completed, the Sewer Commissioner shall cause the total cost thereof to be computed, and shall certify the same to the President of the Board of Public Improvements, and the President of said Board shall assess it as a special tax against all of the lots or parcels of ground in the joint sewer district, in the ratio that the area of each lot or parcel of ground bears to the area of the whole district, exclusive of the area of streets, avenues, public highways and alleys, and the President of said Board shall cause to be issued a special tax bill against each lot or parcel of ground in the joint sewer district, giving the name of the owner thereof, in favor of the contractor, which shall be collected and paid as provided in this article. Provided, however, that if the joint district sewer will drain territory part of which lies outside of the city limits, the City of St. Louis shall pay from the public revenue part of the cost of the joint district sewer in the proportion that the area of that part of the territory drained by the joint district sewer which lies outside of the city limits bears to the whole area drained; and the remainder of the cost of the joint district sewer shall be paid for as hereinbefore provided. When the extent and character of a joint district sewer is such as, in the opinion of the Board of Public Improvements, render its division into sections advisable, an ordinance or ordinances directing and authorizing the construction of one or more sections may be passed, and when the work in any such section is fully completed, special tax bills to the amount of the cost of such section shall be issued as herein provided. Joint district sewers shall be constructed of such material and of such dimensions as may be considered necessary and expedient by the Board of Public Improvements, and authorized by ordinance, and they may be connected with other sewers of any class or with some natural course of drainage.

Joint district sewers under new charter: Prior vs. Construction Co., 170 Mo. 439.

Sec. 23 Private sewers—city to be at no expense for same—sewers and drains deemed private—may be acquired by city—special taxation therefor authorized—connections with other sewers, compensation for, at option of city— Private sewers connecting with the public, joint district and district sewers, or with natural watercourses, may be constructed under such restrictions and regulations as the Municipal Assembly may prescribe by general or special ordinance, recommended by the Board of Public Improvements; but the city shall be at no expense in the construction, repairing or cleaning of the same. All sewers or covered drains, draining or capable of draining more than one lot, built by private persons, corporations or associations, either within the boundaries of the lands owned or held by such parties previous to the subdivision of such lands, with or without a permit from the city, or in the streets, alleys, avenues or public places, under permits granted by the city, shall be considered private sewers. Whenever a private sewer, or any part thereof, is so located and constructed as to fit it to be a part of a joint district or district sewer, the city shall have the right to acquire such private sewer by gift, condemnation or purchase, but such acquirement shall be by ordinance recommended by the Board of Public Improvements. The city shall pay the cost of acquiring the same, and shall reimburse itself in the following manner: The total cost of such condemnation or purchase shall be assessed as a special tax against the property in such district or joint district sewer district, as the case may be, in favor of the city, in the manner herein provided for the construction of such sewers. Public, joint district and district sewers may be connected with private sewers without compensation to the owners or builders thereof, at the option of the city.

Ordinance provisions respecting private sewers: See Rev. Code, sec. 2308 et seq.

SPECIAL TAX-BILLS.

Sec. 24. Special tax bills, how made out, registered and delivered—place of payment to be designated.—All special tax bills for work contemplated by this Charter shall be made out by the President of said Board, and by him registered in his office in full, and certified and delivered to the Comptroller, and his receipt taken therefor, and by him registered and countersigned and delivered to the parties in whose favor they are issued for collection, and their receipts taken in full of all claims against the city on account of said work. In every such tax bill there shall be designated either the City Treasurer, or, at the option of the person or persons entitled to such tax bill, the name of some bank or trust company located and doing business in the City of St. Louis to whom payment of such bill may be made; and in case the City Treasurer is so designated, it shall be his duty to receive and receipt for such payment if tendered.

This section also is an amendment adopted at the election of Oct. 22, 1901.

Substitution of new tax-bills for void ones—Amendments of tax-bills irregularly issued or void.—New special tax-bills in payment for improvement work must be issued on demand and surrender of those incorrect because the district was wrongfully defined under the charter; and mandamus lies to enforce the contractor's right thereto: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 183 Mo. 230.

If the original bill was void and recovery defeated on that ground, the power to issue is not exhausted, but a new assessment may be had and new bills may be issued: Eyerman vs. Provenchere, 15 Mo. App. 256, 262, 270; Eyerman vs. Payne, 28 Mo. App. 72, 76.

But if the original bill was not void, but irregular only, a final judgment for defendant will bar another action on the same bill after it has been corrected: Weber vs. Schergens, 28 Mo. App. 587; Eyerman vs. Payne, 28 Mo. App. 1. c. 76; Eyerman vs. Scollay, 16 Mo. App. 498; but an amendment of the petition after correcting the bill is proper: Galbreath vs. Newton, 45 Mo. App. 312.

A special tax bill, whether void, voidable or merely imperfect, as issued, may be amended within the time limited for its enforcement: Viehs vs. Planet Co., 64 Mo. App. 207. See as to limitation of tax-bills, infra, this section.

The particular officer may erase the wrong and insert the true name of the owner, even after expiration of his term: Stadler vs. Roth, 59 Mo. 400. So after expiration of his term he has the right to make proper amendments in other respects: Morley vs. Weakley, 86 Mo. 451 (changing blocks and lots); Riley vs. Stewart, 50 Mo. App. 594, 661 (issuing three in place of one, where such necessary); Galbreath vs. Newton, 45 Mo. App. 312 (holding that the fact that the late official had become non-resident made no difference; and allowing the amendment in the cause pending after remanding by the appellate court). The amendment must be made by the persons in office when the proceedings were had, though their terms have expired: Kiley vs. Cranor, 51 Mo. 541. Cases supra.

As to right to amend the tax-bill, see also Eyerman vs. Blakely, 13 Mo. App. 407; Pendergast vs. Richards, 2 Mo. App. 187.

Computation and Signatures of President of Board and Comptroller.—A special tax-bill is not void because the President of the Board of Public Improvements does not personally compute, levy or assess the cost of the improvement; if he attaches his name to the tax-bill, it is his act, and it is immaterial whether the actual computation is by him or an appointee: Heman Const. Co. vs. Loevy, 179 Mo. 455, 466, distinguishing Eddy vs. Nevada, 123 Mo. 546. To same effect see Dickey vs. Porter, 101 S. W. 586, 594 (Sup. Ct., March 30, 1907); Jaicks vs. Merrill, 98 S. W. 753 (Sup. Ct., Dec. 22, 1906); see also as to power of delegating computation: Nevada vs. Morris, 43 Mo. App. 586; Sedalia vs. Donohue, 190 Mo. 407; Jaicks vs. Merrill, supra. But in Stifel vs. Cooperage Co., 38 Mo. App. 340, it was held that the duties imposed on the President of the Board of Public Improvements are discretionary, personal, and not ministerial and cannot in his absence be executed by a member of the board acting as president "pro tem."; and that tax-bills signed by such "president pro tem." are void; they must be signed by the President of the Board.

So also in Eyerman vs. Payne, 28 Mo. App. 72, it is held that while special tax-bills may be countersigned by a deputy comptroller in the Comptroller's absence or sickness, where it is shown that there is such an officer, because the duty to countersign is ministerial or formal, yet the ordinance under which such deputy was appointed must be proved; and if signed by the deputy it is void unless signed by him in the name of his principal.

Sec. 25. Special tax bills to be a lien on property—collected in name of contractor—interest—city Marshal to serve notice—action for false return—suit by attachment against non-resident.—Said tax bill shall be and become a lien on the property charged therewith, and may be collected of the owner of the land, and in the name of and by the contractor, as any other claim in any court of competent jurisdiction, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum after thirty days from notice of its issuance, as hereinafter provided, and if not paid within six months after such notice, then at the rate of eight per cent per annum from the date of said notice; provided, however, that special tax bills payable in installments shall bear interest as hereinafter provided. It shall be the duty of the City Marshal, at the request of the holder or owner of any tax bill issued under this Charter, to serve upon the party or parties named in such tax bill, a notice of the issuance thereof, which service shall be made in the manner provided by law for the service of writs of summons in civil cases. The return of the City Marshal as to service shall be conclusive of the facts therein stated, and any person who may be injured by a false return shall have his right of action for damages resulting therefrom against the Marshal on his official bond. For the service of each such notice the Marshal shall be entitled to the same fee as may be allowed by law for the service of a writ of summons. Whenever the Marshal shall make a return of "not found" against any party, the institution of suit thereafter shall be deemed and taken to be the equivalent of such notice of and demand of payment. In case the owner of the ground is a non-resident of the State, suit may be brought by attachment, which shall be equivalent to notice, and a demand for payment.

See note at end of this section.

Certified tax bills prima facie evidence—defenses.—Such certified bill shall in all cases be prima facie evidence that the work and material charged in such bill shall have been furnished, and of the execution of the work, and of the correctness of the rates or prices, amount thereof, and of the liability of the person therein named as the owner of the land, charged with such bill, to pay the same; provided, that nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prevent the party charged with the payment of said bill from pleading in reduction of the amount of same, that the work therein mentioned was not done in a good and workmanlike manner; and provided that the party charged shall set up, by way of defense, that the work was not done in a workmanlike manner, according to the class of work mentioned in the contract, and that such party, before the commencement of the suit, tendered to the contractor the full value of such work done, and shall establish the same on the trial, the recovery shall only be for the amount so tendered, and judgment for costs shall be rendered against the plaintiff.

See note at end of this section.

City not liable on special tax bills.—The city shall not be liable, in any manner whatever, for or on account of any work done which is to be paid for in the manner provided in this section.

Certain tax bills shall be divided into parts and may be paid in installments—interest—effect of non-payment of interest or installment when due.—Provided however, that every special tax bill authorized by this Charter to be levied or assessed for the construction or reconstruction of streets, avenues, highways, boulevards or district or joint district sewers, shall be divided into not less than three, nor more than seven, equal parts, as may be provided by the ordinance authorizing such improvements, payable and collectable in installments as follows: The first installment shall become due and payable thirty days after notice of the issuance thereof, without interest; the second installment shall become due and payable one year after such notice; the third installment, two years; the fourth installment, three years; the fifth installment, four years; the sixth installment, five years; and the seventh installment, six years, after such notice; provided, however, that the owner, or any person having an interest in the property charged with a tax bill may pay the same in full at any time within thirty days after notice as aforesaid, without interest, and such owner or person having an interest may pay such tax bills in full at any time by paying interest thereon as follows: If paid at or before maturity and more than thirty days after notice, as aforesaid, at the rate of six per cent per annum from date of notice to date of payment; if paid after maturity, at the rate of six per cent per annum from date of notice to date of maturity, and at the rate of eight per cent per annum from date of maturity to date of payment; all interest shall be payable annually from date of notice of the issuance of tax bills. If any installment of any such special tax bills, or any interest on any installment, be not paid when due, then, at the option of the holder thereof, all remaining installments shall become due and collectable, together with interest thereon as aforesaid. Suits may be brought to enforce the payment of such special tax bills, or any installment or installments thereof, with any interest due on any installment, in the manner herein provided for the bringing of such suits on other special tax bills.

See note below.

Limitation of lien of special tax bills—entry of satisfaction—

Whenever any special tax bill issued heretofore, or hereafter to be issued, to a contractor or contractors, shall be paid, it shall be entered satisfied on the register in the Comptroller's office; and the lien of any bill so issued that is not entered satisfied within two years after its maturity, unless proceedings in law shall have been commenced to collect the same within that time, and shall still be pending, shall be destroyed and of no effect against the land charged therewith; provided, however, that where bills are not paid in installments, the lien thereof shall terminate within two years after their date, unless such proceedings shall have been commenced within that time and be still pending.

This section is the amendment passed in 1901.

Interest under former section, see Paving Co. vs. Peck, 186 Mo. 506; Bank vs. Woesten, 176 Mo. 49; Perkinson vs. Schnaake, 108 Mo. App. 255 (character of demand necessary); Eyer mann vs. Blakely, 78 Mo. 145, 152 (power of city to impose penalties upheld).

Reduction of the bill because of failure to furnish the work as called for in the contract and faulty construction may be shown: Hill-O'Meara vs. Hutchinson, 100 Mo. App. 294, 297; Heman vs. Franklin, 99 Mo. App. 346.

But where the case is tried on the theory that substantial compliance entitled the recovery of the whole amount, an instruction for pro tanto recovery is properly refused: Heman vs. Larkin, 108 Mo. App. 392, 397; Heman Const. Co. vs. Loevy, 179 Mo. 455, 470.

And the defense (in reduction in the amount) that the contract was not performed in a workmanlike manner, can only be made upon tender of the amount justly due for the work done: Asphalt Co. vs. Ullman, 137 Mo. 1. c. 570 (under St. Joseph charter, which in this respect is like that of St. Louis).

And a strict compliance with the work prescribed has never been insisted upon by the city as a condition of acceptance: See cases cited in this note hereinafter.

So recovery pro tanto is also allowed where the ordinance under which the work was done was partly valid and partly invalid: See cases in note to sec. 15 of this article.

And by sec. 28 of this article, provision is made for timely objection by any citizen or taxpayer that the work is not being done according to contract (while in progress), and for an examination and decision by the Board, etc., with power to make such order as shall be just and reasonable, carried out by ordinances: R. C., secs. 1922-1932.

Action to Enforce Tax-Bill—Nature of Liability—Essentials to Validity.

There must be a special tax-bill made out in accordance with law; and there can be no recovery unless the special tax bill sued on is put in evidence; there cannot be scire facias or execution on the original condemnation judgment in which the amount of benefits is fixed: St. Louis vs. Brinckwirth (decided May 29, 1907, and at this writing not yet reported), overruling Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. 607.

Proceedings against property owners to enforce special tax-bills for local improvements are in the nature of proceedings in rem to enforce the lien on the property and compulsory payment can only be made by a sale of the assessed property, not by judgment in personam: Barber Asphalt Co. vs. St. Joseph, 183 Mo. 451 (citing numerous cases and showing the abandonment of the former theory that they could be enforced as personal judgments); Heman Const. Co. vs. Loevy, 179 Mo. 455, 471; Hill-O'Meara vs. Sessinghaus, 106 Mo. App. 163 (construing a sewer bill judgment as not being personal); St. Louis vs. Allen, 53 Mo. 50.

The lien is against each lot severally, though the bills be issued serially, and where in a condemnation proceeding, in order to clear the title of the liens of tax-bills, a certain sum is paid into court by the city by consent of all persons interested, such sum stands in lieu of the lots, and if insufficient in the end to pay the bill and interest, that will not make such bills a lien on adjacent lots against which the bills were not severally issued: Ross vs. Gates, 117 Mo. App. 237.

Public property held for public uses is not subject to special taxes, nor can a general judgment be rendered against a public corporation, unless the legislative power has clearly so enacted: St. Louis vs. Brown, 155 Mo. 545, 560; Barber Asphalt Co. vs. St. Joseph, 183 Mo. 451, 455, and cases cited; Clinton ex rel. vs. County, 115 Mo. 557.

As to what property is subject to special taxation and what is exempt, see note to sec. 14 of this article.

But the proceeding is not so strictly in rem as to bind persons not parties, etc.: See Jaicks vs. Sullivan, 128 Mo. 177, 182, et seq., and cases there cited; Stadler vs. Roth, 59 Mo. 400; and see further, succeeding paragraphs of this note.

The ability of a city to create a lien on the property of the abutting owner for street improvements is not founded on any pre-existing right, but is in invitum, and rests exclusively on a substantial adherence to the method prescribed by the ordinances authorizing the same, and of the charter as the basic power: Paving Co. vs. Munn, 185 Mo. 546, 574; Kiley vs. Oppenheimer, 55 Mo. 374; Rose vs. Tres-trail, 62 Mo. App. 352; Smith vs. Westport, 105 Mo. App. 221, 224; Construction Co. vs. Geist, 37 Mo. App. 509, 512-513; Independence vs. Gates, 110 Mo. 1. c. 385. See also Elsberry vs. Black, 120 Mo. App. 14, 23, and Excelsior Springs vs. Et-tenson, 120 Mo. App. 215.

And there must be a fair compliance with all conditions precedent, whether required by charter or ordinance; but a construction so strict as to defeat the obvious intent of the ordinance for improvement is not required, nor is a literal compliance required: Cole vs. Skrainka, 105 Mo. 303, 308-309; St. Joseph vs. Landis, 54 Mo. App. 315, 322, 325; Allen vs. Rogers, 20 Mo. App. 295-296.

A strict compliance with ordinance and contracts thereunder prescribing the manner in which the public improvement shall be made, has never been required as a condition to the acceptance of the work by the city, or to the validity of the tax-bill for the cost: Steffen vs. Fox, 124 Mo. 630, 635; s. c. 56 Mo. App. 9; Sheehan vs. Owen, 82 Mo. 458.

Especially is this the case where the non-compliance was not the fault of the contractor, but of the city officials: Eyer mann vs. Provenchere, 15 Mo. App. 256 (conflict between plans and ordinance).

Acceptance of the work is not a judicial act of the commissioner, and he may correct his decision if rendered in consequence of clerical error in his office: Eyer mann vs. Provenchere, supra; citing Prendergast vs. Richards, 2 Mo. App. 187.

Where the tax-bill is void, recovery may be had on new tax-bills thereafter issued which are valid: See note to sec. 24 of this article.

Although a material departure, going to its substance, avoids the tax-bill: King-Hill vs. Hamilton, 51 Mo. App. 120, 124.

As to partial completion of work called for, see note to sec. 14 of this article.

In an action on a special tax-bill for benefits growing out of a street opening or widening proceeding, or change of grade, the claim that there was no benefit, or that there has been no compensation for property taken, or other matters that could have been or were raised in the original proceeding, cannot be raised in an action to enforce the special tax-bill issued therefor: See cases in note to section 2 of this article (under "Conclusiveness of Proceeding," etc.).

Nor can the owner in an action on a special tax-bill for street construction or other local improvement (where there was no original court proceeding), raise the question that he has not been benefited, nor that there was no necessity for the improvement, nor other matters of that kind, which are legislative in character: See authorities in note to sec. 14 of this article.

"All these obstructive measures and technical defenses upon which property owners resist the payment of special tax-bills after getting the benefit of the work, result in permanent injury to the city and to the holders of property therein," as it compels the contractors to demand higher prices for the work: Thompson, J., in Eyer mann vs. Provenchere, 15 Mo. App. 1. c. 263.

The officers under the charter of St. Louis are selected presumably on account of their fitness and integrity, and their intentions are presumed to be honest, and that in performing their public duties they deal fairly and justly with citizen and property owner: Bank vs. Woesten, 147 Mo., 1. c. 481; Barber Asp. Co. vs. Hezel, 76 Mo. App., 1. c. 152.

"Action by the city officials in regard to imposition of special taxes for a street improvement comes within the protection of the general maxim that public officers are presumed to have rightly acted until the contrary is made to appear. It is a grave error to suppose that the law looks with any disfavor upon these special bills for street improvement. They are to be treated with the same fairness and justice that should be accorded all public acts . . . and a want of conformity to law is not to be presumed as to such governmental action any more than to other proceedings of public functionaries": Barclay, J., in Asphalt Pav. Co. vs. Ullman, 137 Mo., 1. c. 568; to same effect: St. Joseph vs. Farrell, 106 Mo. 437.

But persons dealing in special tax-bills or taking contracts for city work are conclusively presumed to know the law, and at their peril to see that it is complied with: Carroll vs. St. Louis, 4 Mo. App. 191, 192-193; Pryor vs. Kansas City, 153 Mo. 135, 142, 150. See cases and discussion in note to Art. XVI, sec. 7.

Owners and names: As to where owners hold undivided interests, see Louisiana vs. McAllister, 104 Mo. App. 152.

Where name of one co-owner is omitted from bill, see Farrell vs. Rammelkamp, 64 Mo. App. 425 (bill not prima facie evidence as against him).

Where minors hold undivided interests, see Horstmeyer vs. Connors, 56 Mo. App. 115, 121.

Life tenant and remaindermen, see Bobb vs. Wolff, 54 Mo. App. 515.

Property held in trust, beneficiary proper person, but trustee's name not necessary as owner: St. Louis vs. Creamer, 43 Mo. 552.

Parties to deed of trust, on the property: See St. Louis vs. De Noue, 44 Mo. 136.

"The owner" against whom the proceeding to enforce the special tax is brought, in the absence of notice to the contrary, is the record owner, and a purchaser at the sale thereunder gets a good title against an unrecorded deed of which the purchaser has no notice: Vance vs. Corrigan, 78 Mo. 94; Smith vs. Barrett, 41 Mo. App. 460, 465; but as to actual notice, see cases cited in Stuart vs. Ramsey, 196 Mo., 1. c. 414. (See cases to same effect under sales for delinquent general taxes, referred to in note to sec. 491 of "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis"). But if the person in whose name the property stands of record be dead when the suit is instituted, it is void; the interests of his heirs or devisees in the land are not divested: Jaicks vs. Sullivan, 128 Mo. 177, 187. And the record "owner" at the commencement of the suit, not when the special tax-bill is issued, is the proper party to proceed against: Smith vs. Barrett, 41 Mo. App. 460, 465 (Kansas City Charter).

Mistake or omission of the name of the owner is not fatal as to the tax-bill and does not vitiate it; but the rights of such owner are not affected until he has his day in court: Eyerman vs. Scollay, 16 Mo. App. 498; St. Louis vs. De Noue, 44 Mo. 136; Stadler vs. Roth, 59 Mo. 400 (holding that the correction could be made by erasure and insertion by the successor in office, but that this destroyed the prima facie effect of the bill): Galbreath vs. Newton, 45 Mo. 312; Veiths vs. Planet Co., 64 Mo. App. 207 (holding that the new tax bill, properly re-executed, has the prima facie proof of validity the same as if originally so issued).

Defects in apportioning cost.—Nor does a slight error in computation make the bill void: Creamer vs. McCurry, 7 Mo. App. 91; Neenan vs. Smith, 60 Mo. 292.

Error in theory of apportionment of cost may be corrected by issuance of new bills: See note to sec. 24 of this article.

But a computation not according to law, or erroneous, may be shown in defense of the bill: Creamer vs. Allen, 3 Mo. App. 545; Haegle vs. Mallinckrodt, 3 Mo. App. 329, 334; Gallaher vs. Bartlett, 64 Mo. App. 258, 262.

A special tax-bill is void unless grounded on a valid assessment: Heman vs. Farish, 97 Mo. App. 393, 401; St. Louis vs. Brinckwirth, (decided Sup Ct., May 29, 1907, not yet reported).

Real party in interest as plaintiff in suit on special tax-bill which has been pledged to secure a debt: Dickey vs. Porter, 101 S. W. 586, 590 (Sup. Ct., March 30, 1907), with discussion of authorities.

As to proper assessment district, method of ascertaining benefits, etc. See note to section 14 of this article.

Description of property in special tax-bill is sufficient if the property is identified thereby: Const. Co. vs. Loevy, 64 Mo. App. 430.

An attachment of the property subject to the tax can be maintained against non-residents not served, in aid of a suit on a special tax-bill, under the St. Louis charter: Syenite Granite Co. vs. Bobb, 37 Mo. App. 483.

Demand before suit is not (at least under the old provision) a condition precedent to a recovery on the tax-bill: Eyermann vs. Provenchere, 15 Mo. App. 256, 271.

Sufficiency of allegations in petition: A petition alleging making of tax-bill, its contents with dates thereof, its assignment, its filing, and that defendant owns the lot described therein, is sufficient: Turner vs. Patton, 54 Mo. App. 654 (Kansas City); Vieths vs. Planet Co., 64 Mo. App. 207, 211 (St. Louis); see also Bank vs. Wright, 68 Mo. App. 144.

Prima facie evidence of a certified special tax bill: Heman vs. Larkin, 108 Mo. App. 392, 397; Eyermann vs. Blakesly, 78 Mo. 145, 148 (upholding such laws); Moberly vs. Hogan, 131 Mo. 19; Heman vs. Farish, 97 Mo. App. 393; Asphalt Co. vs. Ulman, 137 Mo. 543, 560; St. Joseph vs. Farrell, 106 Mo. 437; Nevada vs. Morris, 43 Mo. App. 586.

Not conclusive: Haegle vs. Mallinckrodt, 3 Mo. App. 329, 335; Creamer vs. Allen, 3 Mo. App. 545; Gallaher vs. Bartlett, 64 Mo. App. 258, 262.

Tax-bills are not prima facie evidence against persons whose names as owners are omitted: Farrell vs. Rammelkamp, 64 Mo. App. 425, 428; St. Louis vs. Noue, 44 Mo. 136; Kansas City vs. Surety Co., 71 Mo. App. 315; nor do they become so even when afterwards corrected by erasure and substitution by proper officer:

Stadler vs. Roth, 59 Mo. 400. But it is otherwise where the tax-bill is amended and properly re-executed by the officials: Vieths vs. Planet Co., 64 Mo. App. 207-210, holding it as prima facie evidence as if originally so issued. Tax-bills not properly signed are not prima facie valid: Eyerman vs. Payne, 28 Mo. App. 72.

Nor are tax-bills for repairs prima facie valid for construction work: Farrell vs. Rammelkamp, 64 Mo. App. 425, 428.

Estoppel of owner. A property owner is not estopped from defending against a tax-bill as being void on the ground that he stood by and made no protest when the plaintiff was doing the work which benefited his property, nor because he petitioned for the improvement to be made. A void tax-bill cannot be made valid by any act of the owner: Perkinson vs. Hoolan, 182 Mo. 189, and cases cited. To same effect: Keane vs. Klausman, 21 Mo. App. 485, 488; Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. 26 l. c. 98, but see contra Sherwood, J., dissenting, p. 143 et seq. But it was held that the owner of an undivided interest is estopped from setting up his partial ownership in reduction of the tax-bill where he has held himself out as sole owner: Louisiana vs. McAllister, 104 Mo. App. 152. And that a property owner cannot affirmatively induce a departure from the ordinance and contract by his own acts, and then avail himself of the change to escape payment: Hill O'Meara vs. Hutchinson, 100 Mo. App. 294, 301. And see also St. Joseph vs. Landis, 54 Mo. App. 613, 626. So also the owner who stands by and sees the work properly done and gets the benefit thereof will not be heard to complain afterwards in a suit on the tax bills that there were irregularities in the proceedings in the obtaining of the contract of the contractor, such as vague specifications as to materials, manner of work, etc., so as to prevent competitive bidding: Jaicks vs. Merrill, 98 S. W. 753, 758 (Sup. Ct. Dec. 22, 1906).

A requirement that the property owner file objections to tax-bills in writing with a board, within a certain time after issuance thereof, and be concluded from making any other defense against the tax-bills, is unconstitutional and void: Barber Asp. Co. vs. Rithye, 169 Mo. 376, 382.

Owner cannot dispute benefits assessed, nor necessity for the work, for which special tax-bills are issued in an action thereon: See cases cited in note to Art. VI, sec. 14.

Constitutional exemptions from taxation do not apply to special tax-bills: Clinton vs. Co., 115 Mo. 557. And see further on this and analogous points, note to sec. 14 of this article:

Limitation of special tax-bill: Under the Charter the original condemnation for street purposes being a judgment, the collection of the benefits assessed as resulting from the street opening, and evidenced by special tax-bill, was not barred in five years but only after ten years like any other judgment: Eyssell vs. St. Louis, 168 Mo. 607; St. Louis vs. Annex Co., 175 Mo. 63. But this does not apply to a special tax-bill for improvements: Eyssell vs. St. Louis, supra, p. 621. See as to benefits from street openings, note to sec. 1 et seq. of this article. As to limitations of lien under Kansas City charter, providing for payment on installment plan, and in case of default in payment of principal or interest authorizing collection of all unpaid installments, see Barber Asph. Co. vs. Meservey, 103 Mo. App. 183 (three opinions, all concurring that limitation only runs from maturity of last installment); Ross vs. Gates, 117 Mo. App. l. c. 244.

It is held that limitation of special tax-bill runs from date of delivery to contractor, not date of bill: Folks vs. Yost, 54 Mo. App. 55 (Kansas City); So under the St. Louis Charter it was held that the limitation begins to run from the date of the bill and not from the completion of the work (the question whether it begins to run from delivery or date was not raised) so that where new bills are issued in place of former void ones time begins from the date of the new bills which supersede the former: Eyerman vs. Payne, 28 Mo. App. 72, 76. But this does not apply unless the bills first issued are void; if only irregular as in case of erroneous name of owner, time runs from the first: Eyerman vs. Scallay, 16 Mo. App. 498; so where the proper party is brought in by amendment after the time limited for the lien, the lien is dead and cannot be enforced: Smith vs. Barrett, 41 Mo. App. 460, 468; Jaicks vs. Sullivan, 128 Mo. 177, and cases cited (where the suit was originally brought against one deceased).

Delivery is presumed on day of date of bill in the absence of any evidence: St. Louis vs. Armstrong, 38 Mo. 29, 33.

The lien attaches (it was held, under a former charter) from the date of the assessment, which cannot be made until the work is fully completed and the precise amount of its costs ascertained: Anderson vs. Holland, 40 Mo. 600, 601, relying on St. Louis vs. Clemens, 36 Mo. 467 l. c. 473.

Under the present charter (Art. VI, sec. 24), the special tax-bills do not become a lien on the property chargeable with the cost of the work until they are delivered to the party designated in the charter to receive them: Mercantile Trust Co. vs. Niggeman, 119 Mo. App. 56, 62 (relying upon Everett vs. Marston, 186 Mo. 587, construing the Kansas City charter, as determining the question).

Action against city for failure to permit contractor to complete work, when barred: Ash vs. Independence, 103 Mo. App. 299. The City of St. Louis is liable to a contractor for street improvements where by its own acts it prevents the issuance of tax-bills and orders the work it contracted for to be stopped without cause: Steffen vs. St. Louis, 135 Mo. 44, 51; see also Chambers vs. St. Joseph, 33 Mo. App. 536, and Dist. Columbia vs. Lyon, 161 U. S. 200. Where the Charter provides that the city shall not be liable on the special tax-bills, the fact that the supposed street is really not such, which renders the tax-bill void, does not entitle the contractor to recover from the city, though the work be completed according to contract: Carroll vs. St. Louis, 4 Mo. App. 191. But see Murray vs. Kansas City, 47 Mo. App. 105 (where there was no such limitation shown as exists in the St. Louis Charter).

An action lies against the city to remove a cloud on title caused by the issuance of a void special tax-bill purporting to be a lien: See full discussion in Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. 26, 74-80, 100, and in dissenting opinion in the same case, 108 et seq., also 152 et seq. See also as to cancelling special tax-bill, Heman vs. Skinker, 148 Mo. 379.

Installments (under Kansas City charter, when due and how pleaded): Jaicks vs. Merrill, 98 S. W. 753 (Sup. Ct. Dec. 22, 1906).

Sec. 26. Special tax bills may be assigned—formality required—payment.—Such special tax bills and lien thereof shall be assignable. Each and every transfer of special tax bill shall be registered in the office of the comptroller, and no transfer thereof shall be valid or effectual until it is so registered. Every transfer shall be in writing, and witnessed by the Comptroller personally, or by one of his deputies, duly acknowledged before a notary public, or other officer authorized to take acknowledgments, and in each transfer there shall be designated the City Treasurer or the name of some bank or trust company located and doing business in the City of St. Louis, to whom payment of the said tax bill, or of any of the installments thereof, or of any interest on any installment thereof, may be made at or after maturity; and payment made to the City Treasurer, whose duty it shall be to receive and receipt for the same, if tendered, or to the designated bank or trust company, shall be sufficient to procure the partial or total entry of satisfaction of such tax bill, as the case may be, in the office of the Comptroller on presentation to the Comptroller of the tax bill duly receipted, or on presentation of a receipt of the City Treasurer or of such designated bank or trust company showing such payment. All payments made to the City Treasurer shall be by him paid over to the party or parties entitled thereto upon the warrant of the Auditor.

This section, like those preceding, was one of the amendments adopted Oct. 22, 1901.

Special tax-bills were assignable under the old charter provision as a matter of law; as to this, and what is sufficient to establish assignment under the old Charter see Bambrick vs. Campbell, 37 Mo. App. 460, 462. See also as to assignment under Kansas City charter: Dickey vs. Porter, 101 S. W. 586 (Sup. Ct. March 30, 1907).

Substitution of assignee by amendment in pending suit: Springfield vs. Weaver, 137 Mo. l. c. 670.

CONTRACTS FOR PUBLIC WORK.

Sec. 27. Assembly forbidden to contract for public work—B. P. I. to submit ordinance for proposed work—advertising for bids, requisites—contract to be let to “lowest responsible bidder”—one having failed to carry out prior contract with city deemed not responsible—bids may be rejected—sureties on contractor’s bond.—The Assembly shall have no power directly to contract for any public work or improvement, or repairs thereof, contemplated by this Charter, nor to fix the price or rate therefor; but in all cases, except in case of emergency work or necessary repairs requiring prompt attention, the Board of Public Improvements shall prepare and submit to the Assembly an ordinance, with an estimate of the cost endorsed thereon by the President of the Board, authorizing the doing of any proposed work, and, under the direction of the ordinance authorizing the same, shall advertise for bids, in the papers doing the city printing, three times, the last publication to be at least ten days before the day appointed for the opening of the bids, stating the general nature of the work to be done and the time and place when the bids will be received, and shall let out said work by contract to the lowest responsible bidder. Any other mode of letting out or contracting for work shall be held as illegal and void. But when so provided in the ordinance authorizing or directing the work to be done, the advertising may be for a different period, and in other papers than those provided above. No security on any bond shall be taken unless he shall pay taxes on property equal in an amount to his liability on all bonds on which he may be security to the city. And no contract shall be made under this section without bond for its faithful performance, with at least two sufficient securities. No person, firm or corporation shall be deemed such a responsible bidder who has failed or refused to fully carry out any prior contract let to him or them for doing any work contemplated by this Charter; provided, however, that the said Board of Public Improvements shall have full power and authority to reject all bids so advertised for and submitted, whenever, in its judgment, the interests of the city may require, and in such event shall, in like manner, re-advertise for bids for such work.

See note below.

Certified checks to accompany all bids.—All bids for the doing of public work shall be accompanied with a certified check on some bank or trust company in the City of St. Louis, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of St. Louis, for the amount of the deposit required, enclosed in the sealed envelope enclosing the bid.

Also an amendment adopted Oct. 22, 1901.

For ordinance provisions concerning the advertisements of public improvements and the awarding of contracts see Rev. Code, Chap. 24, Art. 8, being sections 1976-1994a inclusive; also sec. 1165.

Under the charter provisions the assembly has no authority, but the Board of Public Improvements alone is authorized, to let contracts: See cases below cited; but the water commissioner has the power of “doing of all work, and the furnishing of all materials and supplies for the water works,” etc., except where it is not practical to do so by contract; and all contracts must be approved by the council: Art. VII, sec. 3. And the Commissioner of Supplies purchases all articles needed by the city in its departments, etc.: Art. IV, sec. 29; but the fire chief in emergencies may make certain purchases with the Mayor’s approval: Art. XI, sec. 2; and all printing and binding is contracted for by the Register, on public lettings, subject to council’s approval, with provision for temporary contracts, etc.: Art. XV, sec. 1.

What is public work: Under the provision that the B. P. I. is to let all contracts for public work, the Board of Health has no power to contract for reremoval of garbage, and such a contract is void: State vs. Butler, 178 Mo. 272. See as to garbage ordinances R. C., Ch. 11, Art. 10, secs. 1196 and following, and see notes thereto.

A contract for erecting boxes on the streets for waste paper is public work and must emanate from the B. P. I. or be void: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 371.

An ordinance authorizing the present purchase of existent property (water pipe laid by citizens with the city's consent) cannot be considered as public work within the meaning of this section: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 169 Mo. 31, 37.

Letting out work to lowest responsible bidder: (See also R. C., secs. 1987 et seq.)

This clause is not violated because the contract included provisions of ordinance requiring dressing of all stone to be done in Missouri: See cases cited in next section (28) of this article.

This clause, (sec. 27) is not violated because of the selection by the Board of Public Improvements of a patented cement, manufactured by only one company, as a binding for the macadam used: Swift vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 80, and authorities cited.

Nor because of the selection of an article of paving exclusively made by a given group of persons, or exclusively within the control of one concern: Asphalt Co. vs. Hunt, 100 Mo. 22; Swift vs. St. Louis, 180 Mo. 80; Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. 26, 91, 100, 168; Paving Co. vs. Field, 188 Mo. 182.

In Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. 26, Judge Sherwood points out (pp. 161-164) that sec. 29 of Art. IV of the Charter applies exclusively to the Supply Commissioner, who has no discretion, and that it is independent of sec. 27 of Art. VI, which applies to the Board of Public Improvements letting out the contracts to the lowest responsible bidder, thus according discretion. In the one case it is a contract of purchase, in the other for work.

See also as to discretion in selecting lowest responsible bidder, and the presumption of right acting by the board to the citizens as well as property owners: Bank vs. Woesten, 147 Mo. 1. c. 483; Clapton vs. Taylor, 49 Mo. App. 1. c. 123 et seq.; Gibson vs. Owen, 115 Mo. 258 (allowing award to next lowest bidder without readvertising where the lowest one declines to comply with the requirements after being selected). And where there is such discretion mandamus will not lie: State ex rel. vs. McGrath, 91 Mo. 386 (state printing). Also see cases in note to sec. 25 of this article, as to presumption of right acting by the officials.

Nor is a contract invalidated on the ground of interference with the determination of who is the lowest bidder, or as including terms for repairs with those of construction because it contains a clause that the street or improvement, after construction, shall be maintained by the contractor for a number of years, even when the advertisement for bidders, and contract itself, includes separate terms and conditions for the construction and for the maintenance: Bank vs. Woesten, 147 Mo. 467.

That such a provision is not one for repairs but merely for the quality of the work at the outset being sufficiently good to last for the time specified is held in numerous cases cited in note to sec. 15 of this article; see also note to sec. 18.

It was held in Allen vs. Rogers, 20 Mo. App. 290, that a contract was not invalidated because of uncertainty as to the lowest bidder because containing a clause that the contractor shall do such extra work as the street commissioner shall direct at a price fixed by the commissioner; the court holding such clause to refer only to work resulting from unforeseen circumstances in carrying out the contract.

That there is but one bid does not, of course, invalidate the contract: Barber Asp. Co. vs. Hezel, 76 Mo. App. 1. c. 152.

Mistake in bid; withdrawal of bid by contractor, etc.: See Moffett vs. Rochester, 173 U. S. 373 (under charter of City of Rochester).

As to lost bid see Morley vs. Weakley, 86 Mo. 451, 457.

Contractor's bond; and also for contract provisions, time for completion of work, etc., see note to section 28 of this article.

Estimate of cost required: See on this point cases cited in note to section 15 of this article. Also see next section (28).

Notice of letting of a contract for public work, the cost of which is to be collected from the citizens volens volens by special assessment is a condition precedent which must be fairly complied with, whether prescribed by Charter or ordinance: Clapton vs. Taylor, 49 Mo. App. 117, 126, and cases there cited; Keane vs. Cushing, 15 Mo. App. 96; see s. c. 21 Mo. App. 485.

Where one of the days of such a publication is Sunday, this does not make the notice illegal: Clapton vs. Taylor, supra; Barber Asp. Co. vs. Muchenberger, 105 Mo. App. 47; St. Joseph vs. Landis, 54 Mo. App. 315, 324.

Nor is it fatal that on the day of the letting there is no publication (at least if there can be no publication on that day): Clapton vs. Taylor, supra; Barber Asp. Co. vs. Muchenberger, supra (where the last publication was on Sunday, so that there could have been none on the day of opening the bids). A newspaper does not prove itself; the publisher's affidavit is prima facie correct; to show that a publication did not take place as therein stated it is not sufficient simply to produce what purports to be a copy of the newspaper, but such copy must be shown to have been intended for circulation: Ross vs. Gates, 117 Mo. App. 237, 246 et seq. (discussing also effect of a special or "Four O'clock" Edition omitting the advertisement). It was held by the court of appeals that where the advertisement for the letting of the contract was had before the expiration of the 10 days after the approval of the ordinance which must elapse before the ordinance goes into effect, the tax-bill issued for the work done under the contract was void: Keane vs. Klausman, 15 Mo. App. 96 (s. c. 21 Mo. App. 485); but this case was overruled by the Supreme Court in Springfield vs. Weaver, 137 Mo. 650 (holding that under the Charter, in that case of Springfield, it was immaterial whether the advertisement preceded or followed the passage of the ordinance).

Delay in the letting does not invalidate the tax-bill: Jaicks vs. Middlesex, 98 S. W. 759 (Sup. Ct. Dec. 22, 1906). As to delay by the contractor in completing the work, see note to next section.

Sec. 28. Improvement ordinances to contain specific appropriation—work may be done in parts, but appropriation shall be made for each part.—Every ordinance requiring work to be done shall contain a specific appropriation from the proper revenue and fund for such part thereof, as may be payable by the city based upon an estimate of cost, to be endorsed by the President of the Board of Public Improvements on said ordinance, for the whole of the cost of the proposed work. Provided, however, that when the work contemplated by such ordinance is of such magnitude that the total cost thereof would exceed the amount of money then in the city treasury, and available for such purpose, the ordinance may provide for the whole work, which shall prescribe that it shall be contracted for and done in sections or parts as the Assembly shall, from time to time, appropriate the money to pay for the same. But in all such cases the work to be done in sections or parts shall be limited to the amount appropriated for the doing of such sections or parts, and in this manner ultimately to complete the work specified.

Contract provision—suspension of work on complaint—B. P. I. to examine and report—cost.—Every contract shall contain a clause to the effect that it is subject to the provisions of the charter, that the aggregate payments thereon shall be limited by the amount of such specified appropriation, and that, on ten days' notice, the work under said contract may, without cost to or claim against the city, be suspended by said Board with the approval of the Mayor, for want of means, or other substantial cause; provided, that on the complaint of any citizen and taxpayer, that any public work is being done contrary to contract, or the work or material used is imperfect or different from what was stipulated to be furnished or done, the said Board shall examine into the complaint and may appoint two or more members of said Board to examine and report on said work, and after such examination, or after considering the report of said commissioners, they shall make such order in the premises as shall be just and reasonable, and what the public interest seems to demand, and such decision shall be binding on all parties; the cost of such examination shall be borne by the contractor, if such complaint is decided to be well founded, and by the complainant, if found to be groundless.

Amendment adopted Oct. 22, 1901.

Contract provisions: See ordinances Rev. Code, secs. 270, 1918 et seq., 884 and following. A provision in pursuance of an ordinance that all stone used be dressed in the State of Missouri is valid: Allen vs. Labsap, 188 Mo. 692, 698; or at least will not make a tax-bill void when it is shown that in the particular case competition was not restricted thereby: St. L. Quarry Co. vs. Frost, 90 Mo. App. 677, 689. But the ordinance upon which that clause was based was held void in St. L. Quarry Co. vs. Von Versen, 81 Mo. App. 519; it was omitted from the Mun. Code 1901 and is not incorporated in present contracts, and may presumably be considered as repealed, although no express repealing act has been discovered by the reviser; See note to R. C., sec. 1921.

Restriction in contract that laborers work only eight hours per day is valid: St. Louis Quarry Co. vs. Frost, 90 Mo. App. 677, 690; Curtice vs. Schmidt, 101 So. W. (Sup. Ct. March, 1907) 61, 66; (see R. C., sec. 270, and note thereto; also Atkin vs. Kansas, 191 U. S. 207).

An ordinance for street improvements is not void because it leaves certain details of construction to the discretion of the proper city officials: See cases in note to sec. 15 of this article.

A provision in a contract for public work that in order to prevent disputes and litigation, the city's commissioner shall determine the amount of the work to be paid for, and shall decide all questions which may arise relative to the execution of the contract, is valid and his estimate will not be set aside except for fraud, partiality or misapprehension of fact: McCormick vs. St. Louis, 166 Mo. 315 (two judges dissenting on the ground that the commissioner had no power to construe the contract).

The power to make improvements and to let contracts therefor and to exact of the contractor a bond for the faithful performance of his contracts necessarily implies the power to do everything necessary for the faithful performance of the work, for the protection of the city and its citizens and for securing the best and lowest possible bids. Indeed, it is difficult to conceive of any matter of detail incident to the contract and the work, that the city might not require, that a private person could require: St. Louis vs. Von Phul, 133 Mo. l. c. 567.

Bond of contractor: (See also Rev. St. 1899, sec. 6762, and Rev. Code, sec. 1989, as to provisions in favor of material men and laborers in case of municipal contracts). The bond may be properly conditioned to require the contractor to pay to the proper parties all amounts due for material or labor employed in the performance of the contract; and such provision may be enforced by the persons sought to be benefited thereby: St. Louis vs. Von Phul, 133 Mo. 561; Kansas City vs. Surety Co., 196 Mo. 281, 305. See also as to contract of school district to same effect: School District vs. Livers, 147 Mo. 580. The city should not sue in its own name but to the use of the material-men: Bethany vs. Howard, 149 Mo. 504. The contract between the material men and the contractor is independent of the contract between the city and the contractor; the fact that the contract between the city and the contractor may be invalid can have no effect upon the contract between the material men and the contractor; and after the work is done and paid for by the city to the contractor, the latter's sureties on his bond to the city for the benefit of the material men, are estopped from claiming the invalidity of the bond and contract with the city: Kansas City vs. Surety Co., 196 Mo. 281, l. c. 302.

But it was held by the Supreme Court in St. Louis vs. Wright Contracting Co. (101 S. W. 6, decided March, 1907) that the city cannot sue as trustee of an express trust for the benefit of property owners on the bond of a contractor who had entered into contract with the city for the grading and paving of streets, but who in violation of his contract refuses to do any work, thus compelling the city to relet the work to another at a higher price, which the property owners have to pay in special tax-bills. The form of bond as at present in use in such cases does not explicitly confer on the property owners a right to sue on it, and the court held no such right existed, thereby depriving the property owner of all redress against a contractor who violates the contract made by the city, thus announcing that while the city may bind the owner's property to pay to the contractor for the improvement, yet it has no right to protect him if the contractor violates his agreement to the city.

Time for completion of work: The tax-bill will not be void if the work is completed within a reasonable time, provided no ordinance provisions regulate the time and the contract provides certain deduction to be made if the work be not completed within a certain specified period, thus manifesting the contemplation of a non-completion in that time: Allen vs. Labsap, 188 Mo. 692, 696; Heman vs. Gilliam, 171 Mo. 258, 267 et seq. reviewing all the cases, distinguishing them, and overruling Ayers vs. Schmoll, 86 Mo. App. 349; Curtice vs. Schmidt, 101 S. W. 61 (March 28, 1907).

But even under the above conditions if the work is not finished in reasonable time and the contractor does not proceed in reasonably good faith to finish in the time specified in the contract, the tax-bill is void: Schibel vs. Merrill, 185 Mo. 534, and cases cited.

And if the ordinance does provide within what time the work is to be completed, the work must be completed within the time so specified, or the tax-bill will be void, and this even if the contract in pursuance of such ordinance contains provisions fixing penalties for non-completion in time, or undertakes to extend the time, for the ordinance controls the contract whenever repugnant: Paving Co. vs. Munn, 185 Mo. 552, 568, reviewing the cases; and see Hund vs. Rackliffe, 192 Mo. 312, 323 et seq. And if there is a general ordinance requiring the work to be completed "within the time agreed on" and the contract fixes that time, though the special ordinance providing for the work does not, the tax-bill is invalid if not completed according to contract: Springfield vs. Davis, 80 Mo. App. 574 as explained and distinguished in Heman vs. Gilliam, 171 Mo. loc. cit. 267-268; see also Hund vs. Rackliffe, 192 Mo. 312, 323. If the contract contain no time limit but the letting notice did specify a limit, which formed the basis of the bids, such limit will be considered as intended: Turner vs. Springfield, 117 Mo. App. 418.

Delays caused by injunctions, bad weather, etc. (when not contracted against) furnish no excuse: McQuiddy vs. Brannock, 70 Mo. App. 535, 543-545, approved in Trust Co. vs. James, 77 Mo. App. 616; and even when the contract contains a saving provision against delays on account of such matters the tax-bills are void if the work is delayed beyond the specified time for reasons other than those excepted: Springfield vs. Schmook, 120 Mo. App. 41.

And where the work is not completed within the time required, the Municipal Assembly cannot, after the expiration of such time, extend the time for completion and no valid tax-bill can issue; vitality cannot be given to an expired and forfeited contract: Neill vs. Gates, 152 Mo. 585; Hund vs. Rackliffe, 192 Mo. 312, 322 et seq., distinguishing the cases; see also Spalding vs. Forsee, 109 Mo. App. 675; Barber Asp. Co. vs. Ridge, 169 Mo. 376.

But, prior to the expiration of the time fixed for the completion of the work and during the life of the contract, the assembly may enact a valid extension of the time, and in the absence of fraud, the courts will not interfere with the legislative determination as to what is a reasonable extension: Hund vs. Rackliffe, 192 Mo. 312, 325; see also Hilgert vs. Barber Asp. Co., 108 Mo. App. 384, 395 et seq. and cases cited. So where no time is fixed and the extension is given before the expiration of a reasonable time: Sparks vs. Villa, 99 Mo. App. 489.

Delay in the letting of the contract (the terms of the contract being observed by the contractor) after the passage of the ordinance, will not defeat recovery on the tax-bill: Jaicks vs. Middlesex, 98 S. W. 759 (Sup. Ct. Mo., Dec. 22, 1907).

Specific appropriation: See R. C., sec. 1920. The provision of sec. 28, Art. VI, applies only to contracts for work to be paid out of the city treasury; the limit put on the price to be paid is the amount of the specific appropriation, not the estimate submitted to the assembly by the B. P. I. The section has no application to work to be paid for by special tax-bill against the realty affected by a sewer construction: Hill vs. Swingley, 159 Mo. 45, 48.

See remarks as to the wisdom of such requirements of specific appropriations by Marshall, J., dissenting in Pryor vs. K. C., 153 Mo. 151.

A contractor cannot recover for work, under order of a city official, in excess of the appropriation therefor: Perkinson vs. St. Louis, 4 Mo. App. 322.

Estimate of cost: See cases in note to sec. 15 of this article; see also Hill vs. Swingley, supra 159 Mo. l. c. 48; Bambrick vs. Campbell, 37 Mo. App. 460, 464; Kinealy vs. Gay, 7 Mo. App. 203; Seibert vs. Cavender, 3 Mo. App. 421; Sherwood, J., dissenting in Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. l. c. 133.

Suspension of work on complaint of citizens, and investigation by B. P. I., etc.: Ordinances carrying out this charter proviso, and providing for investigation on complaint of tax-paying citizen, etc., see Rev. Code, secs. 1922-1932 inclusive.

As to reduction of amount of tax-bill for imperfect work see sec. 25 of this article and note thereto; as to pro tanto recovery where ordinance partially void see sec. 15 hereof.

Sec. 29. Street sprinkling authorized by ordinance—special tax bills therefor issued in favor of city—contracts made annually by B. P. I.—sprinkling district—date of special tax lien—interest—cost of sprinkling paid out of city treasury—City reimbursed by special tax bills.
—The Mayor and Assembly shall have power within the city by ordinance to cause the streets and public places of the city, or any part thereof, to be sprinkled, and the cost thereof to be provided for and defrayed by a special tax to be assessed in favor of the city on the adjoining property fronting or bordering on the streets or public places where such sprinkling is proposed to be done, in the proportion that the linear feet of each lot fronting or bordering on the street or public place so to be sprinkled bears to the total number of linear feet of all property chargeable with the special tax aforesaid in the territory embraced by the contract under which said sprinkling is to be done. The above work shall be contracted for annually by the Board of Public Improvements at such time and under such terms and conditions as shall be provided by ordinance, and the city shall be divided into at least forty sprinkling districts for the above purpose, and each district shall be let separately. The special tax bills spoken of shall be and become a lien on the property charged therewith from the first Monday in April in each year, and shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of the property charged therewith to the extent and amount therein specified, and may be collected of the owner of the land in the name of and by the City of St. Louis as any other claim in any court of competent jurisdiction, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the first day of May in each year, and if not paid by the first day of June in each year, then at the rate of eight per centum per annum from the first day of April in each year, and they shall be issued and collected in the manner hereafter provided by ordinance. The cost of the sprinkling shall be paid out of the city treasury to the contractors, and the City Treasurer shall be reimbursed for such expenditures by the proceeds of the special tax bills aforesaid.

Ordinances concerning street sprinkling: See Rev. Code, Chapter 12, Art. 3, secs. 941-1082; sprinkling between street car tracks by car companies: R. C., sec. 1901.

Special taxation for sprinkling as provided under the charter of Kansas City was held to be unauthorized and in violation of fundamental law and not within the taxing power, by Judge Phillips, in N. Y. Life Ins. Co. vs. Prist, 71 Fed. (C. C.) 815.

SECTION

9. Collections to be deposited in treasury daily—monthly statement to comptroller.
10. Issue of water licenses, etc.
11. Assembly may regulate water rates—revenue from water-works, how applied.
12. Water rates to be fixed so as to pay current expenses of works and interest on water-bonds—exceptional discriminations forbidden.
13. Sale or lease of water-works forbidden—fund to renew and extend water-works, and to pay interest and principal of water bonds.

Sec. 1. Water commissioner—his term, bond, etc.—The water works, except the assessment of water rates and the collection of the revenue therefrom, shall be under the control and management of a commissioner, to be known as "Water Commissioner," who shall be appointed by the Mayor, and confirmed by the Council, and shall be a duly qualified engineer, hold office for four years, and give such bond as may be required by ordinance. He shall appoint such subordinates as may be necessary for the management and efficient operation of said water works as may be provided by ordinance.

Charter, Art. IV, sec. 37, designates the general powers and duties of Water Commissioner; Art. 1, sec. 1, and Art. III, sec. 26, clause 2, confer power to establish and maintain waterworks.

For ordinances see Rev. Code, secs. 1957-1963, inclusive, and secs. 2001, 2005-2010.

Statutes: R. S. 1899, sec. 6488, confers power on city to contract to supply other municipalities with water from its works, also persons and corporations beyond the city limits; sec. 6489 authorizes procurement of water from other cities; sec. 6490 authorizes laying of pipes, etc., to carry out the foregoing sections; sec. 6491 provides condemnation proceedings, etc.

Sec. 2. Water commissioner to assume charge of the department, etc.—Upon the appointment of the Water Commissioner under this Charter, he shall take charge of the water works, and all the appurtenances thereto, and shall assume supervisory control over the operation of the same, and enforce the performance of all existing and future contracts and work; and it shall be the duty of the Board of Water Commissioners, and all other persons having charge of the water works, or connected therewith, upon demand of said Commissioner, to turn over all books, records, property and assets belonging to said water works to said Commissioner, and thereupon the official terms of said Board of Water Commissioners and their appointees shall cease and determine.

Sec. 3. Contract for work let by Commissioner to be submitted to Council.—The doing of all work, and the furnishing of all materials and supplies for the water works, shall be let out by the Commissioner in the same manner as other public work, except in cases where it is not practical to do such work or furnish such materials by contract; and all contracts shall be submitted to the Council for approval.

Ordinance provision R. C., sec. 1957, follows this section; see note thereto.

Sec. 4. City to be liable for real estate taken for water works, etc.—The City of St. Louis shall be liable for all damages that may be sustained by any person in his or her property, by the taking of any real estate, for the purposes necessary for the efficient operation of its water works, and if the amount of compensation to be paid to any such owner or owners can not be amicably agreed upon between the city and such owner or owners, then application may be made by the City Counselor, on behalf of the city, to the Circuit Court of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, for assessment of such damages, in the same manner as is prescribed in this Charter in the matter of street openings.

Where condemnation is authorized only in case no agreement can be otherwise attained, the proceeding to condemn must show such inability to agree: Graf vs. St. Louis, 8 Mo. App. 562. See other cases cited in note to sec. 2 of Art. VI of the Charter.

For condemnation in street openings see Charter, Art. VI, secs. 1 to 12, and notes thereto.

Sec. 5. Laying of water pipe.—Whenever a majority in interest of the property-holders on any street, avenue, lane or alley, in the City of St. Louis, shall hereafter petition for water pipe to be laid along such street, avenue, lane or alley, and the laying of the same is authorized by ordinance, or whenever the Assembly shall, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each branch, declare the laying of water-pipe on any street, avenue, lane or alley, to be necessary, the Water Commissioner shall cause the same to be laid; and the cost of laying all such pipe shall be paid as provided by ordinance.

The City of St. Louis has power to contract for the appropriation to its own use of water mains laid in a public street by private citizens at their own expense but with the consent of the city, at a time when the city was short of money; and the city may pay therefor out of its revenue and make it a part of its waterworks system: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 169 Mo. 31 (holding also that such acquirement is not controlled by the provisions relating to letting of Public Work).

An ordinance for laying water pipes is valid although not declaring the laying to be necessary; the passage of the ordinance is equivalent to such averment and action thereon; nor is the ordinance invalid because it fails to show a two-thirds vote, the presumption being, in the absence of a contrary showing that it was legally passed: Young vs. St. Louis, 47 Mo. 492.

Sec. 6. Owners of buildings may be compelled to take out water license as a sanitary measure, etc.—The Water Commissioner may require owners or lessees or their agents, of houses, stores and other buildings in the city, or in such part thereof as he is ready to supply, to take out license for the use of water for such house, store or building, according to the rates and assessment as fixed by ordinances of the city for the use of water, whenever the Board of Health of the City of St. Louis shall, by order duly made, declare that the use of water from the water works of the city in any such house, store or building, is demanded as a sanitary measure for the preservation of the health of the inmates or inhabitants of such house, store or building; and the said rate and assessment shall be paid by all such proprietors, owners or lessees, or their agents, as well by those who consent as by those who refuse to place in their houses, stores and buildings the water pipe to convey the same, and shall be payable whenever the Assessor of Water Rates shall have notified the proprietor, owner, lessee, or his or her agent, of the readiness of said Water Commissioner to supply such house, store or building with water as aforesaid. The parties who fail or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be subject to penalties as may be provided by ordinance.

See ordinances in pursuance of this section: Rev. Code, secs. 2462 to 2664. See also St. Louis vs. Tiefel, 42 Mo. 578, 1. c. 593.

Sec. 7. Assessor and Collector of Water Rates—clerks, duties, etc.—The assessment and collection of water rates shall be under the control and supervision of an Assessor and Collector of Water Rates, who shall be appointed by the Mayor, and confirmed by the Council. He shall have authority to appoint such clerks and assistants as may be authorized by ordinance. It shall be the duty of said Assessor and Collector to collect all revenue due, or to become due, to the City of St. Louis for water, or accruing to the City of St. Louis on account of the water works thereof, in virtue of any ordinance now existing or hereafter to be passed.

For ordinances relating to Assessor and Collector of Water Rates see Rev. Code, Chap. 38, Art. 1, sec. 2447 et seq.; duties, sec. 2456; clerks and assistants, 2451, 2452, 2455.

Sec. 8. His salary and bond.—The Assessor and Collector of Water Rates shall receive a salary to be fixed by ordinance, not exceeding three thousand dollars a year, and shall give a bond of one hundred thousand dollars, with not less than four good sureties, owners of unincumbered real estate, within the City of St. Louis, of the assessed value of one hundred thousand dollars, to be approved by the Mayor, conditioned that he will faithfully and punctually collect and pay to the Treasurer of the City of St. Louis all moneys due and collectible for and on account of the water works, and that he will faithfully perform all the duties of his office according to law.

Ordinance fixing salary: R. C., sec. 2449; bond: Rev. Code, sec. 2450. His salary cannot be increased during the term, and the period he holds over after the regular four year term is a part of his term so that an increase in salary does not apply to that period: State ex rel. vs. Smith, 87 Mo. 158; and he and his sureties on his bond are liable for breaches during such holdover period: Ibid 1. c. p. 160, citing Long vs. Seay, 72 Mo. 648 and State ex rel. vs. Kurtzeborn, 78 Mo. 99.

Sec. 9. Collections to be deposited in treasury daily—monthly statement to Comptroller.—At the close of each day, the Assessor and Collector of Water Rates shall deposit in the city treasury the revenue collected during the day, taking triplicate receipts for the same, one of which shall be deposited with the Comptroller, and one with the Auditor. Every failure in this respect shall be reported to the Mayor, upon which the Mayor may suspend or remove said Collector. He shall monthly furnish the Comptroller with a full and complete statement of all collections made by him, also the number of blank licenses not used.

Ordinance provisions are the same: Rev. C., secs. 2457, 2460.

Sec. 10. Issue of water license, etc.—The Comptroller shall countersign all blanks received from the Register for water license, and shall issue the same to the Collector and Assessor of Water Rates, taking his duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he shall file with the Auditor. The Comptroller is further instructed to examine the monthly statement of the said Assessor and Collector, and to certify to the Auditor whether it is correct or not.

See R. C., sec. 2459.

Sec. 11. Assembly may regulate water rates—revenue from water rates, how applied.—The Assembly may make alterations in the prices or rents to be paid for the use of water from the water works, and the whole net income from rents and receipts of the water works, in excess of what may be necessary for completing, constructing, operating and repairing the water works and for interest on water bonds shall be transferred quarterly to the fund commissioners of the City of St. Louis, and shall be by them invested in St. Louis Water bonds, if the same can be done advantageously, and if not, in other bonds of the City of St. Louis; and if none such are procurable, then in bonds of the State of Missouri, or the United States, and the whole sum so invested shall be set apart as a sinking fund, solemnly appropriated to and for the payment of the bonds issued for the erection of the water works, denominated "St. Louis Water Bonds," and shall be applied solely to that purpose until the whole of said bonds be fully paid; and the fund commissioners shall, whenever required by the Assembly or either branch thereof, render a just, true and full account of all their receipts, payments and proceedings under this section.

Ordinances fixing water rates, licenses, and regulations, see Rev. Code, Chapter 38, Art. 3, secs. 2468-2503. See also notes of cases cited there. As to Water Bonds see R. C., Chap. 38, Art. 2, secs. 2528-2530 inclusive.

Authorities: As to effect of payment of a consumer of city water under express or implied threat of shutting off the water, and the exaction by the city of illegal rates; and also as to nature of obligation resting in contract not taxing power, and right to require particular hydrant, and matters of that kind, see Rev. Code, note to heading of Art. 3 of Chap. 38; and to secs. 2468, 2482.

Sec. 12. Water rates to be fixed so as to pay current expenses of works and interest on water bonds—exceptional discriminations forbidden.—The water rates shall be fixed at prices that shall produce revenue sufficient at least to pay the interest upon the city water bonds, and the running expenses of the water works department. No water rate shall be allowed or fixed by any other principle or consideration than that of producing revenue, and exceptional discriminations in rates are forbidden.

Ordinances fixing water rates: R. C., secs. 2468-2502. See note to heading of Art. 3 of Chap. 38.

Sec. 13. Sale or lease of water works forbidden—fund to renew and extend water works, and to pay interest and principal of water bonds.—The water works shall never be sold, leased or otherwise disposed of. The Assembly shall have power from the income, rents and receipts of the water works to provide a fund for the renewal and extension thereof, and for the payment of interest and principal of bonds issued for such renewal or extension.

This section is as amended at the charter election of Oct. 22, 1901. Submitted by ordinance 20444.

PUBLIC PARKS.

1. Park commissioner—term of office and bond—reports, etc.
2. Appointment of assistants, etc.
3. Annual appropriation for parks—entrance and exit gates.
4. Authority of municipal assembly to sell

SECTION

5. Proceeds of O'Fallon park bonds to be turned over to the fund commissioners.
6. Repeal of special park acts.

Section 1. Park Commissioner—term of office and bond—reports, etc.—The public parks, places and squares of the city, except Tower Grove Park, shall be under the supervision and control of a commissioner, to be known as the "Park Commissioner," to be appointed by the Mayor, and confirmed by the Council, who shall hold office for four years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, and give bond for the faithful performance of his duties in the sum of at least ten thousand dollars, with at least two sureties, residents of the city and owners of unincumbered real estate in said city. He shall keep a record of all receipts and expenditures on account of said parks, squares and public places, and make a monthly report of the same to the Comptroller.

Ordinances concerning public parks, and regulations, etc., see Rev. Code, Chapter 25, secs. 2018 to 2035 inclusive. And see note to heading (Chap. 25) giving references to the various provisions relating to parks in general, as well as to the respective city parks in particular. As to Tower Grove Park (which is specifically excepted from the charter provisions) see Session Laws Mo. 1867, pp. 172 et seq.; Session Laws 1872, p. 469, and Laws 1871, p. 189, all set out herein in "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," Chapter 23, secs. 400-426 inclusive, ante pp. 170-173.

As to the Park Commissioner and his office see Charter, Art. IV, sec. 39; Rev. Code, secs. 1970 to 1975; and as to his employees and salaries, secs. 2000-2002, 2015-2017. Under its Charter powers the city can provide rules for the management and government of the parks, and secure by contract some one to serve refreshments therein for the service of the public; the control of the city is a discretionary one and a matter of local concern, the park being held and owned by the city, not in its political or governmental capacity, but in a quasi-private capacity, in which the municipal authorities act for the exclusive benefit of the corporation whose interests they represent: State ex rel. vs. Schweickardt, 109 Mo. 497.

A public park is a public use authorizing condemnation of private property therefor by proper proceedings: County Court vs. Griswold, 58 Mo. 175 (upholding establishment of Forest Park under the act "repealed" by sec. 6 of this article); Kansas City vs. Ward, 134 Mo. 1. c. 177; Shoemaker vs. U. S. 147 U. S. 282, 297.

But it must be established at the expense of those to be benefited by it, and must be for public and municipal purposes: State ex rel. vs. Leffingwell, 54 Mo. 458, 471 et seq.

Special taxation upon those specially benefited, to pay the cost (as in case of streets) is sustained: Kansas City vs. Ward, 134 Mo. 172, 178; Shoemaker vs. U. S., 147 U. S. 282, 302; Kansas City vs. Bacon, 147 Mo. 259, 273; Craighill vs. Lambert, 168 U. S. 611.

Sec. 2. Appointment of assistants, etc.—It shall be the duty of the Park Commissioner to execute all ordinances of the city regulating the management and improvement of the public parks, squares and places of the city, and for this purpose shall have authority, with the approval of the Mayor, to appoint such assistants and employees as may be provided by ordinance.

See references to ordinance provisions in note to preceding section.

Sec. 3. Annual appropriation for parks—entrance and exit gates.—The Municipal Assembly shall, as in its judgment may be deemed necessary, annually make such appropriation, but not less than thirty thousand dollars, out of the revenue of the city, for the purpose of embellishing, improving, and keeping in order all the parks and squares and places under the supervision of the Park Commissioner. Every public park of the City of St. Louis shall be provided with at least one entrance and exit for public use on each side thereof, appropriate to the purpose for which said park may be used.

Sec. 4. Authority of Municipal Assembly to sell or lease parks—action to be ratified by popular vote.—The Municipal Assembly shall have authority, upon the recommendation of the Board of Public Improvements, to provide by ordinance, for the sale, or lease, of any of the parks, places and squares under the supervision of said Board, but such ordinance shall provide that the proceeds of the sale of any such park, place or square shall be paid to the fund commissioners of the city, and that all rentals shall be placed to the credit of the Board of Public Improvements, for the improvement and embellishment of the parks of the city: Provided, however, that no such sale or lease shall be made by the Municipal Assembly unless the ordinance providing therefor be submitted to a vote of the qualified voters of the city for ratification at a general election, and it be ratified by a majority of the qualified voters of the city.

See also power to "inclose, improve, regulate or sell all parks and other public grounds," Art. III, sec. 26, clause 3. Ordinances providing for lease for residence purposes of buildings in certain parks, see R. C., secs. 2025-2026; leasing boat privileges, sec. 2027 et seq.

A contract pursuant to ordinance, made in writing by the Board of Public Improvements of the City of St. Louis, with one for the exclusive privilege of selling refreshments and intoxicating liquors in Forest Park, and giving the so-called "lessee" possession of certain buildings on the premises, is held not to be in effect a technical lease nor in violation of the provisions of the Charter that no sale or lease shall be made unless the ordinance providing therefor shall be submitted to a vote of the people: State ex rel. vs. Schweickardt, 109 Mo. 496.

Sec. 5. Proceeds of O'Fallon Park bonds to be turned over to fund commissioner.—It shall be the duty of the Auditor of the County of St. Louis, and the presiding justice of the county court thereof, after the adoption of this Charter and upon demand of the Mayor of the city, to draw a warrant on the county treasurer in favor of the fund commissioners of the City of St. Louis for the amount realized by the sale of bonds authorized by an act approved March 22, 1875, entitled "An act to amend an act entitled an act to establish O'Fallon Park in St. Louis County, and authorizing the county court of St. Louis County to issue bonds for the purchase of lands therefor, and for the government of the same when established, approved March 27, 1874," and the fund commissioners shall purchase the bonds of the city for the same.

Sec. 6. Repeal of special park acts.—An act entitled "An act to establish Carondelet Park in St. Louis County, and authorizing the county court of St. Louis County to issue bonds for the purchase of lands therefor, and to provide for the government of the same when established," approved February 25, 1874, and an act entitled "An act to establish Forest Park in the County of St. Louis, to provide for the establishment and government thereof, and to provide for the issue of bonds by the county court of St. Louis County, for the purposes of said park, and for the purchase and condemnation of lands for the same," approved March 25, 1874, and an act entitled "An act to establish O'Fallon Park in St. Louis County, and authorizing the county court of said county to issue bonds for the purchase of lands therefor, and for the government of the same when established," approved March 25, 1874, are hereby repealed.

See next note.

Sec. 4. Jurisdiction of Commissioner.—The jurisdiction of the Harbor and Wharf Commissioner shall extend over all the lands, river banks and beach dedicated, condemned, or belonging to the city for wharf purposes within the city, and over so much of the Mississippi River, and to the middle of the main channel thereof, as lies immediately in front of the city over which the city has control.

Boundaries of the city by the Mississippi, jurisdiction, etc., see note to Charter, Art. I, sec. 2.

Boundaries of wharf, see note to heading of Chapter 10 of Rev. Code; also sections R. C. 345-349.

Sec. 5. Authority and the duties of Commissioner.—It shall be the duty of the Harbor and Wharf Commissioner and he is hereby empowered, to direct the landing and stationing of all boats, vessels or rafts arriving at any point within the limits of the city, and to direct the discharge and removal of their cargoes; to superintend the disposition of freight, merchandise and materials for repairs on the river bank; to keep the wharf and the river along the shore free from wrecks and other improper obstructions, and generally to exercise such supervision and control over the wharf and harbor, and to perform such other duties, as may be provided by ordinance.

Commissioner's duties and authority: See Rev. Code, sec. 1964; also in general Chapter X of Rev. Code; Charter, Art. IV, sec. 38. Regulations as to landings, moorings, wreckage, obstructions on wharves, penalties, etc., see R. C., secs. 349-372.

See also "The Maggie P," 25 Fed. 202 (as to contracts by city respecting wrecked boats, etc., and duty to keep levee and harbor free from obstructions, referred to in note to Rev. Code, sec. 355).

Sec. 6. Wharfage and Levee dues, how collected, etc.—The Harbor and Wharf Commissioner shall carefully examine, and, if found correct, certify all bills and claims against the city pertaining to his department. He shall, upon blanks furnished by the Comptroller, make out and deliver to the City Collector for collection all bills for wharfage dues, levee rates, and all other dues whatever to his department, as may be established by ordinance, immediately on the liability therefor accruing, taking duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he shall retain in his office, and the other he shall deliver at least monthly to the Auditor, for charge against the Collector.

See Rev. Code, sec. 1964. See references in next section as to right of city to collect wharfage and as to ordinances on wharfage rates.

Sec. 7. Collections to be credited to harbor fund—All moneys collected from harbor tax, wharfage dues or other sources relating to harbor, as well as all forfeitures, fines and penalties imposed for violation of ordinances duly enacted relating to harbor and wharf, shall be credited to the account of harbor fund.

Ordinances as to wharfage, rates, etc., see Rev. Code, Art. 2 of Chap X, being sections 373 et seq. As to the right of the city to charge wharfage for the use of its wharves, the nature of such rights, etc., see authorities in note to heading "Wharfage," in Art. 2 of Chap. X of Rev. Code, citing State and Federal cases.

Crediting fines to harbor fund, see Rev. Code, sec. 372.

WHARF BOATS.

Sec. 8. Mooring of wharf boats, etc.—Bona fide owners of steamboats regularly engaged in carrying passengers or freight, or of barges transporting general merchandise by means of steam tow boats, to or from this city, and none others, may have the right to moor a wharf boat at the paved landing, to be used exclusively for their own boats or vessels upon the terms and conditions provided by this charter and by ordinance; provided, however, that said wharf boat shall be owned by the same owners, and in exactly the same proportion as the said boats and vessels are owned.

Ordinances pursuant to this section: Rev. Code, Chap. X, Art. 3, sec. 384.

Sec. 9. Owners of wharf boats forbidden to receive commissions or charge storage.—No person keeping or interested in a wharf boat in the City of St. Louis shall be allowed to charge for the storage or forwarding of any freight or merchandise passed over said wharf boat, nor to receive any commission on said freight or merchandise, nor to charge directly or indirectly any transient or other boats for the privilege of landing at said wharf boat. Any person, association or corporation, violating any provision of this section shall pay to the city a fine of not less than fifty dollars for each offense, and said Commissioner shall report every such violation to the City Attorney.

Ordinances in pursuance hereof: R. C., sec. 385 (seeking to impose, however, a penalty of not exceeding $250).

Sec. 10. Wharf boats not to affect wharfage dues.—The mooring of any wharf boat shall not affect in any manner the wharfage tax or dues or levee rates, but wharfage shall be collected from each boat landing at any wharf boat as though said wharf boat was not there.

The latter part of sec. 388 of Rev. Code is the same as this provision.

• STREET RAILROADS.

SECTION

1. Authority of municipal assembly in reference to street railroads—may sell franchises or impose a per capita tax, or a tax on gross receipts.
2. May regulate running of cars and rates of fare, and tax property.
3. Surrender of franchises, how effected.

SECTION

4. Uniform gauge required, width of rail prescribed.
5. Companies to keep street between rails in repair.
6. Right of one railroad company to run cars on the track of another.
7. Existing franchises to be forfeited unless put in use within one year.

Section 1. Authority of Municipal Assembly in reference to street railroads—may sell franchises or impose a per capita tax or a tax on gross receipts.—The Municipal Assembly shall have power by ordinance to determine all questions arising with reference to street railroads, in the corporate limits of the city, whether such questions may involve the construction of such street railroads, granting the right of way, or regulating and controlling them after their completion; and also shall have power to sell the franchise or right of way for such street railroads to the highest bidder, or as a consideration therefor, to impose a per capita tax on the passengers transported, or an annual tax on the gross receipts of such railroad, or on each car, and no street railroad shall hereafter be incorporated or built in the City of St. Louis except according to the above, and other conditions in this Charter, and in such manner and to such extent as may be provided by ordinance.

For further charter powers, in addition to those in this article, to grant right to construct railways, subject to the right to amend, alter or repeal, regulate same, etc., see Art. III, sec. 26, clause 11. As to effect of reservation of right to alter, amend or repeal see cases cited in note to that clause.

For ordinances (and discussion of authorities thereon) enacting numerous regulations for street cars and street railways, see Rev. Code, Chap. 23, Art. 6, sections 1863 to 1903 inclusive, and notes thereto appended as to the power and authority of the city to enact same, and as to the effect thereof. As to whether a violation of those police regulations (such as speed, ringing gong, vigilant watch, etc.) confers a right to recover on a private person injured in consequence, see also note to same.

Power to "license, tax and regulate" street cars is conferred in Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 5, and in pursuance thereof see ordinances in Rev. Code, Chap. 31, Art. 18, sections 2257-2264 inclusive; see discussion and cases on the city's right to charge license taxes, in note to heading of Art. 18 (Chap. 31) of Rev. Code (preceding sec. 2257).

For statutes on street railways, relating specially to St. Louis, see Chapter 33 (secs. 591 et seq.) ante p. 213-219, of "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis;" and for statutory limitations of cities to grant street railway franchises, see provisions of R. S. 1899, secs. 6116-6119.

The act of 1860 or Third Parallel Law is repealed by virtue of the constitution of 1875 and the provisions of the Charter: State ex rel. vs. Lindell Ry., 151 Mo. 162; for the prior application of the third parallel street law see St. Louis Ry. vs. So. St. L. Ry., 72 Mo. 67; St. L. Ry. vs. Northw. Ry., 69 Mo. 65, s. c. 2 Mo. App. 69.

The state law of 1895 (Julian Law) providing for sales at public auction of all franchises involving the use of streets, was held void because too uncertain and indefinite to permit of intelligent enforcement: State ex inf. vs. Street Ry. Co., 146 Mo. 155.

The Constitution of the State forbids the general assembly to grant street railway franchises in a city without first acquiring the consent of the local authorities, nor can the franchise so acquired be transferred without similar assent: Const., Art. XII, sec. 20 (see cases infra, this note).

State policy respecting street railways in St. Louis: Speaking of the constitutional and charter provisions the court in banc in State ex rel. vs. Lindell Ry., 151 Mo. 162, after reviewing the street railway legislation and policy of the State, says on pp. 182-183: "Looking at these constitutional provisions, together, it is plain that it was the purpose of the Constitution of 1875, to grant to St. Louis and other cities and localities the benefit of 'home rule' so far as it was possible. . . . This intention is clearly evidenced not only by the affirmative grant of sole power, but by the negating of such power over grants or transfers of such rights to the General Assembly. And when to these provisions we add the power given by its Charter . . . [power over streets] it conclusively appears, hedged about directly and prohibitatively, that the power which the State primarily had over all streets and highways in the State, or in any city of the State, has in St. Louis been transferred to the city," etc. So in Grand Ave. Co. vs. Lindell Ry., 148 Mo. 637, the court in banc says, commenting on constitutional and charter provisions (p. 645): "When it is considered that the people of the State have confided the subject matter of street railways in her streets and highways, exclusively to the city, that such control and regulation is a matter strictly within municipal regulation, the ordinances of the city . . . have the force and effect of laws . . . binding on all persons who come within the scope of their operation," etc.

Grant of privileges to street car companies: And under the constitutional provisions, a city may impose such conditions upon which it gives its consent in conferring a franchise or right of way as it sees fit; it is not limited to a mere "yes" or "no," but may prescribe terms and conditions; and if its consent be given on condition, and the condition be void, the railway company is without any right at all: St. Louis & Mer. R. vs. Kirkwood, 159 Mo. 239, 252-253, 259. See also Union Depot Ry. Co. vs. Southern Ry., 105 Mo. l. c. 571.

And see in connection herewith, the right of the city to impose conditions and limit the duration of the company's franchise, the opinions in the Chicago Traction Co. case, Blair vs. Chicago, 201 U. S. 400, loc. cit. 457 et seq.; dissenting opinion 499 et seq.

Sec. 20, Art. 12 of the Constitution requiring the city's consent to the transfer of street railway franchises is not violated by a lease from a company to an operating company where the ordinance authorizes the several street railway lines, their successors and assigns to lease to certain other corporations: Moorshead vs. United Ry's, 119 Mo. App. 541, certified to Supreme Court and affirmed in Feb., 1907 (not as yet reported), holding the United Railways Co. not liable for Transit Co. debts.

As limitations upon all cities in granting franchises to street railway companies see Rev. St. 1899, secs. 6116 to 6119, requiring designation of route, depots, assessment of damages, petition of majority of property owners along the route, etc. But see the interpretations as to damages to property owners, Nagel vs. Lindell Ry., 167 Mo. 89; Ruckert vs. Grand Ave. Ry., 163 Mo. 278.

While franchises are derived directly by ordinance from the city it is by virtue of the delegated power of the State that the city acts, so that the power conferred on the company is derived indirectly from the State, acting through the city as its agent: State ex rel. vs. Ry., 140 Mo. 539, 550; Hovelman vs. Ry., 79 Mo. 1. c. 643, and cases cited. See also Brewer, J., in Blair vs. Chicago, 201 U. S. 1. c. 492 et seq.; hence a proceeding may be brought to forfeit the franchise, by quo warranto by the State, or at the relation of the city: State ex rel. vs. Ry., supra; see also 201 U. S. 1. c. 450. The excess of the company's corporate powers is remediable by the State only, not a private person: Hovelman vs. Ry., 79 Mo. 1. c. 639-640, and cases cited.

But it was held by the court of appeals that the city may resume rights granted by ordinance upon non-compliance with the conditions by the grantees, and may sue in its own name; and the city is entitled to apply to a court of equity for relief against the company for maintaining a public nuisance growing out of a failure to comply with the conditions annexed to the use of the streets by the company: Springfield vs. Robertson Ry., 69 Mo. App. 514.

A street railway in the streets without authority is a nuisance in law. St. L. & Mer. Ry. vs. Kirkwood, 159 Mo. 239, 255; see also Heer D. G. Co. vs. Citizens' Ry., 41 Mo. App. 63.

But the granting of rights of way to public street railroads is a proper use to which the city may subject the streets; and the cases deciding that the city cannot authorize such a use of a street by a railroad as will destroy its use as a public thoroughfare (thereby practically appropriating it to the railroad alone) have been held not to apply to a street railroad, unless so defectively constructed as to prevent the current use of the highway by the public in the ordinary course of travel: Placke vs. U. D. Ry., 140 Mo. 634, 637; see also Morie vs. Transit Co., 116 Mo. App. 12, 25. But there does not appear to be any difference so far as the application of the principle is concerned; and this is implied in the opinion in Nagel vs. Lindell Ry., 167 Mo. 89, 97; see also Ruckert vs. Grand Ave. Ry., 163 Mo. 1. c. 278. See authorities when such ordinances are invalid, as authorizing a misappropriation of the public highway, cited in note to Charter, Art. III, sec 26, clause 2; also in note to Rev. Code, Art. 12 of Chap. 11, on "nuisances."

And a street railway company, although authorized to operate on certain streets, must lay its tracks on the street level, or if it raises its tracks and interferes with the abutting owner it is liable for damages: Farrar vs. Electric Co., 101 Mo. App. 140. (See R. S. 1899, secs. 6116-6118, requiring before a franchise is granted to any elevated, underground, or other street railway on, over or under any street or alley, an ascertainment of damages, etc.)

And as to the right and duty of the city to require, under the police power, the street car companies to so operate as not to interfere with a public highway, and when necessary to lower a tunnel under a navigable stream, at the expense of the company, where such a course becomes necessary because of increased travel or changing conditions, see West Chicago Ry. vs. Chicago, 201 U. S. 506.

The ordinances by which the city confers on the street car company the right to construct, operate and maintain a street railroad is in effect a contract which the city cannot violate or change so far as its contractual provisions go; and the courts will protect such rights: Springfield Ry. vs. Springfield, 85 Mo. 674; State ex rel. vs. Corrigan Street Ry., 85 Mo. 263, 282, and cases cited; Detroit vs. Detroit Ry., 184 U. S. 368; Cleveland vs. Electric Co., 201 U. S. 529.

Nor after the company's rights are vested under the ordinance, can the State legislate to impair the same: Hovelman vs. Railway, 79 Mo. 632, 643.

The rights of street railways in the streets are franchises and vested rights which can be mortgaged by the company to which the franchise belongs: Hovelman vs. Railroad, 79 Mo. 643, cited with approval in State ex rel. vs. Ry. Co., infra.

As to what privileges may be transferred and assigned by a street car company, or subjected to execution, and what not, see State ex rel. vs. Railway Co., 140 Mo. 539 (distinguishing the franchise of being a corporation which cannot be transferred by ordinary conveyance, nor sold on execution, from its corporate franchise privileges of laying tracks, running cars, taking tolls, etc., which can).

As to leasing by one street railway to another see Moorshead vs. United Rys., 119 Mo. App. 541, certified to Supreme Court and affirmed in February, 1907 (not at this writing reported).

The provisions of the Charter do not affect franchises of roads existing prior to the time that the Charter was adopted: State ex rel. vs. Corrigan Street Ry., 85 Mo. 263, 1. c. 262-263; but when extensions of the franchise are given the Charter then applies: St. Louis vs. Missouri Ry., 13 Mo. App. 534; St. Louis vs. Ry., 87 Mo. 263; Union Depot Ry. vs. Southern Ry., 105 Mo. 562, 570. (It may be observed that all street car companies in St. Louis are now governed for one reason or another by the city Charter; and it was the policy to wipe out the special provisions: See State ex rel. vs. Lindell Ry., 151 Mo. 162).

But nothing passes in a grant of privileges, as against the public and in favor of the company or corporation, except such as is clearly expressed or necessarily implied; the grants are to be strictly construed: St. Louis vs. Railway, 13 Mo. App. 524, 530; Blair vs. Chicago, 201 U. S. 1. c. 463, 467, 471-473, and numerous other cases referred to by the court; see also dissenting opinion 1. c. 498.

Particularly true is this where a claim in the nature of an exemption from taxes, license fees, or other burden, is made by the corporation: See authorities cited in note to Art. 18 of Chap. 31 of Rev. Code, citing amongst other cases Springfield vs. Smith, 138 Mo. 645; Met. Street Ry. vs. N. Y., 199 U. S. 1; New Orleans Street Ry. vs. N. O., 143 U. S. 192.

The police powers of the city cannot be contracted away, and the railway corporations remain subject to the exercise of that power by the city irrespective of the ordinance provisions conferring their franchises; such police regulations are binding on the car companies without reference to any question of acceptance by them; and the power of the City of St. Louis concerning police regulations is plenary: See authorities cited in note to sec. 1864 of Rev. Code.

Of course, since the right to legislate is conferred on the law-making power a permit from the Mayor alone purporting to confer authority to construct a railroad, is void: Lockwood vs. Railroad, 122 Mo. 86 (steam road in this case, but the principle is of course applicable to street roads, in fact is self-evident).

Provisions and limitations in an ordinance apply to territory annexed to the city subsequently: See note Charter, Art. I, sec. 2; Blair vs. Chicago, 201 U. S. 1. c. 489; at least in so far as police power restrictions are concerned: Westport vs. Mulholland, 159 Mo. 86.

Sec. 2. May regulate running of cars and rates of fare and tax property.—The Assembly shall have power to regulate the time and manner of running cars, and the rates of fare on street railroads now or hereafter to be built, and the sale of tickets and exchange thereof between the several companies, and to tax the property of street railroad companies in such manner as may be provided by law.

Additional Charter right to regulate fares, hours and frequency of trips: Art. III, sec. 26, clause 11.

Ordinance regulations and adjudications thereon, on time and manner of running street cars, etc., see Rev. Code, secs. 1863-1903 inclusive, and notes thereto appended, as to the powers of the city, etc.; see general note to sec. 1864; speed limits, note to sec. 1865; time schedules, sec. 1867; right of companies to make rules, note to sec. 1870; fenders, note to sec. 1873; right of way, note to sec. 1888; periodical reports, note to sec 1889; changing rate of fare, note to sec. 1893.

Charter power to license, tax and regulate, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 5.

As to steam railroad regulations see Rev. Code, Ch. 31, Art. 5, and adjudications in notes to sections 1852, 1856, 1857, 1860.

Sec. 3. Surrender of franchises, how effected—Any street railroad company unable or indisposed to carry forward its business may notify the Mayor of such indisposition, and surrender thereby all their chartered rights or franchises, in such manner and under such terms and conditions, as may be provided by ordinance.

Ordinance pursuant to this section: Rev. Code, sec. 1900.

Sec. 4. Uniform gauge required—width of rail prescribed.—An uniform gauge shall be established by ordinance for all street railroads that may be built in the City of St. Louis, and no flat rails shall hereafter be laid down on street railroads now or hereafter to be built, having a less width than two and a half inches in the flange of said rail, which is used by ordinary vehicles.

See Rev. Code, sec. 1879.

Sec. 5. Companies to keep street between rails in repair.—Street railroad companies shall keep the street between the rails and to the extent of twelve inches outside of each rail in perfect repair, as nearly on a level with such rails as practicable and that portion outside the rails shall be of the same material as the street itself, and the Municipal Assembly shall provide by ordinance that bond or other security shall be given by the several companies, conditioned for a compliance with the provision of this section.

Ordinance provision requiring repairs of space between rails, and regulations concerning same: Rev. Code, sec. 1882.

This provision applies to street railways having an extension of their franchises after the adoption of the Charter: St. Louis vs. Railway, 13 Mo. App. 524; especially where the company agrees that the ordinance conferring the rights shall be subject to all general ordinances and charter provisions relating to street railways and applicable to extensions: St. Louis vs. Mo. Ry., 87 Mo. 151. (It now applies to every street railway company in the city, and in addition the requirement is universally included in the special ordinances conferring the franchises.) But such a provision does not apply to a franchise wholly granted prior to the charter provision: See State ex rel. vs. Corrigan Street Ry., 85 Mo. 263, 1. c. 282-283. See as to the old State law as to repairs: St. Louis vs. St. Louis Railroad Co., 50 Mo. 94.

An ordinance requiring the street railway company to keep and maintain the space between the rails and two feet on either side of its track, etc., in good repair, does not impose any duty on the company to reconstruct; an obligation to repair is not one to reconstruct; and a subsequent general ordinance cannot require such additional burden without the company's consent, either as an exercise of the police power or as an inalienable right of control over the street: State ex rel. vs. Corrigan Street Ry. Co., 85 Mo. 263 (arising under Kansas City charter); and the same principle applies where it is sought to compel the company to pave the street with designated material—this duty is not included in the obligation to repair: Kansas City vs. Corrigan, 86 Mo. 67.

Although a street car company be required to keep the space between its rails in repair, yet for injuries resulting because of the streets being unsafe by reason of said space being out of repair, the city remains primarily liable: Springfield vs. Robertson Street Ry., 69 Mo. App. 1. c. 523.

A special tax-bill for the improvement of a street cannot be avoided by the property owners on the ground that the space between the railway tracks has not been improved by the contractor, where such duty rests upon the railroad company: Farrar vs. St. Louis, 80 Mo. l. c. 393; Springfield vs. Weaver, 137 Mo. 650, 668; Bank vs. Haywood, 62 Mo. App. 550, 554 et seq.

It was at one time held by the Court of Appeals that in the absence of statutory authority, the cost of street improvements cannot be made a lien on the abutting right of way of a railroad company; but this ruling was overruled by the Supreme Court, and the matter is now also regulated by statute: See note to Art. VI, sec. 14, ante p. 398.

And the land of railroad companies used for depot and yard purposes is not exempt from special tax for street improvements: Nevada vs. Eddy, 123 Mo. 546, 560; see also Railroad vs. Decatur, 147 U. S. 190.

It was held under a case arising in Massachusetts that the legislature of a state may relieve a street car company from the obligation to repair the street between the rails, etc., which it assumed in ordinances conferring the consent of the city, and the city cannot complain that this operates as the impairment of a contract: Worcester vs. Street Ry. Co., 196 U. S. 539.

Sec. 6. Right of one railroad company to run cars on the tracks of another.—Any street railroad company shall have the right to run its cars over the track of any other street railroad company in whole or in part, upon the payment of just compensation for the use thereof, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by ordinance, and it shall be the duty of the Municipal Assembly to immediately pass such ordinances as may be necessary to carry this provision into effect.

Ordinances in pursuance of this provision, see Revised Code, secs. 1894 to 1899 inclusive.

The above charter provisions and the ordinances in pursuance thereof have been fully sustained: Grand Ave. vs. Lindell Ry., 148 Mo. 637; Grand Ave. vs. Citizens' Ry., 148 Mo. 665; Union Dep. vs. Southern, 105 Mo. 562.

The city cannot confer on one street car company the exclusive use of a street for its own business: Grand Ave. Co. vs. Citizens' Co., 148 Mo. l. c. 672; Railway vs. Railway, 132 Mo. l. c. 43. See also Citizens' Ry. vs. Detroit Ry., 171 U. S. l. c. 53. Nor so as to exclude the public from the use of the street as a public thoroughfare: Nagel vs. Lindell Ry., 167 Mo. 89, 97; Ruckert vs. Grand Ave. Ry., 163 Mo. l. c. 278. See also cases cited in note to Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 2.

Sec. 6 of Art. X of the Charter is in pursuance of the constitutional powers conferred on the city. A railway company accepting the provisions of the Charter containing the provision that any company shall have the right to run over its tracks by paying just compensation, such acceptance creates a contract between the city and the company, and is binding on the latter; nor are condemnation proceedings necessary by such other company; the Charter confers the power to make rules and regulations for determining the compensation to be paid, and also confers on the assembly power to make the award of the commissioners reviewable by the circuit court: Union Depot Ry. Co. vs. Southern Ry. Co., 105 Mo. 562; Grand Ave. vs. Lindell Ry., 148 Mo. 637; Grand Ave. vs. Citizens' Ry., 148 Mo. 665.

The phrase "just compensation" as used in the Charter of the city and its ordinance has the same meaning which that phrase has when used in the federal and State constitutions with respect to the exercise of the right of eminent domain, and when thus used "means a fair and full equivalent for the loss sustained by the taking for public use"; and under the ordinance providing that the court may make such order as justice may require, the court may require the company desiring the use of the tracks to give a bond to the other to secure payment of one-half the cost of renewals of rails, etc., where the ordinance further provides for periodical readjustments: Railway vs. Railway, 132 Mo. 34.

As to what elements are proper to be taken into consideration in fixing the compensation, see Grand Ave. Ry. vs. Citizens' Ry., 148 Mo. 665; Grand Ave. Ry. vs. Lindell Ry., 148 Mo. 637.

Where all elements of damages have been considered and new claims are thereafter made but which result from the legitimate use of the other company's tracks, injunction is not the proper remedy of the complaining party but plaintiff should follow his statutory remedy: People's Ry. vs. Grand Ave. Ry., 149 Mo. 245.

Sec. 7. Existing franchises to be forfeited unless put in use within one year.—All franchises and privileges to use the streets of the city for street railroad purposes heretofore granted, and not now in use, are hereby declared forfeited and of no effect, unless the company or persons holding such franchises or privileges shall, within one year after the adoption of this Charter, construct the tracks and run street cars upon said streets, to the extent that said streets may then be finished, and also extend such tracks and run cars on such streets as rapidly as the construction of such streets is completed.

By Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 11, every franchise right granted shall cease unless the work of construction shall be begun within one year, etc., and continued to completion with all reasonable practical speed; and the giving of free passes is made cause for forfeiture.

A franchise may be forfeited for non-user; and a city has no right to contract that a forfeiture proceeding must be brought within six months; the State may institute quo warranto to declare a street car company's charter forfeited, and even at the relation of the city, no matter what the ordinance conferring the franchise provides: State ex rel. vs. Railway Co., 140 Mo. 539. A forfeiture proceeding cannot be brought by a private citizen: Hovelman vs. Railroad, 79 Mo. 632, citing numerous cases to the effect that the State must bring the proceeding.

But in Springfield vs. Railway, 69 Mo. App. 514, it seems to be held that a city can bring a proceeding to annul and declare forfeited the company's rights for non-compliance with the conditions annexed to the use of the streets by it; and at all events, a city is entitled to relief in equity against a nuisance maintained by a company growing out of such failure to observe said conditions.

Where a right of way is granted on condition of completion within a certain time, and that in the event of failure the franchise might be recalled, the provision is a condition subsequent, and the rights are vested, subject to be defeated at the election of the city, for breach of condition, but not at the instance of a private person: Hovelman vs. Railroad, 79 Mo. 632; so also where the condition was that the company's shops should not be removed: Knight vs. Ry., 70 Mo. 231.

5. Chief to inspect all new buildings.

Section 1. Chief of Fire Department—term of office—duties.

The Fire Department of the city shall be under the control and supervision of a "Chief of Fire Department," who shall be appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the Council, who shall hold his office for four years and until his successor is duly qualified, subject to removal, as provided for other appointed officers. He shall have general charge of the property of the city connected with his department, and shall, subject to the approval of the Mayor, appoint and employ all such officers and employes as may be provided by ordinance.

For charter authority for engine houses, see Art. III, sec. 26, clause 3.

For ordinances on the fire department, its chief, composition of the department, salaries, duties and qualifications of the men, regulations as to right of way, police power authority, and other regulations, see Rev. Code, Chap. 6, sections 285-305 inclusive; for fire and police telegraph department, see Rev. Code, Chap. 7, sections 306-319 inclusive.

For statute relating to Firemen's Pension Fund, etc., see Laws Mo. 1903, p. 87 (set out herein in "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," in Chap. X, secs. 322 to 347); and see ordinances in pursuance thereof, Rev. Code, secs. 304, 305.

Adjustment of damages caused by fire department, when claim is under fifty dollars: Rev. Code, sec. 302.

The city is not liable for damages caused by the carelessness of the employes of the fire department in the discharge of their duties, nor for the insufficiency or defectiveness of the apparatus; the fire department was not created in the proprietary capacity of the city, for its own benefit, but for the benefit of the public, and the officers of that department are not the city's agents in the sense that renders the city liable: McKenna vs. St. Louis, 6 Mo. App. 320; Heller vs. Sedalia, 53 Mo. 159.

Sec. 2. Power to purchase horses, etc., with approval of Mayor—purchase of engines, apparatus, etc.—The Chief of Fire Department shall have power, in cases of emergency, with the approval of the Mayor under such regulations as may be prescribed by ordinance, to purchase or hire such horses and mules as may be necessary for the use of his department, and shall, with the approval of the Mayor, recommend to the Commissioner of Supplies, the purchase of engines and other apparatus for the suppression or extinguishment of fires, in such manner and to such extent as may be provided by ordinance.

Ordinance provision Rev. Code, sec. 239, is pursuant to this provision. Contracts not included in the authority above specified are controlled as provided in Charter, Art. IV, sec. 29; (or Art. VI, sec. 27, if it be public work).

Under the Rev. Ord. 1856, p. 438, the inspector of the fire department had power to order repairs to engine houses where they exceeded fifty dollars: Robinson vs. St. Louis, 28 Mo. 488, holding that it was not necessary that he should use the name of the city in contracting if he made the contract officially as inspector.

Sec. 3. May exercise police power at fires—The Chief of Fire Department and assistant engineers appointed by him shall have the same police powers at all fires as the Chief of Police, under such regulations as may be provided by ordinance.

Ordinance Rev. Code, sec. 296, is pursuant hereto.

INSPECTION OF BUILDINGS.

Sec. 4. Regulations as to frame buildings.—No person shall erect within the limits of the City of St. Louis, as established by the act of the General Assembly of the State of Missouri entitled "An act to revise the Charter of the City of St. Louis, and to extend the limits thereof," approved March 4, 1870, any building or buildings the outer walls of which are in whole or in part constructed of wood, nor upon blocks or squares in the territory added to the city by this Scheme or Charter, that have built upon them six or more substantial dwellings or storehouses, without procuring a permit so to do in such manner as may be provided by ordinance.

See for fire limit ordinances, Rev. Code, secs. 66-68, and note; also see as to wooden buildings Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 12.

Sec. 5. Chief to inspect all new buildings.—It shall be the duty of the Chief of Fire Department to inspect all buildings in the course of construction, and to cause to be carried into effect all ordinances relating thereto.

The duties of Fire Chief under this section were transferred by authority of Art. III, sec. 32, upon the Building Inspector: See ordinances Rev. C., sec. 27. Also Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 1. c. 500; note to Rev. Code, Chap. 6.

He shall be appointed by the Mayor by and with the approval of the Council, and shall perform such duties as may be provided by this Charter and by ordinance. He shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor is duly qualified, be subject to removal by the Mayor as other officers, and shall possess the same qualifications as the Mayor, and shall give bond in such sum as shall be ordained by the Assembly, with at least two sufficient sureties, for the faithful performance of his duties.

Sec. 2. Board of Health—meetings, quorum, etc.—There is also hereby created a Board of Health which shall consist of the Mayor, (who shall be its presiding officer), the presiding officer of the Council, a Commissioner of Police, to be designated by the Mayor, and two regular practicing physicians, who shall possess the same qualifications as the Mayor. Duties of Commissioner—appointment of employes—may examine premises—shall obey orders of Board, and report annually to Mayor.—The Health Commissioner shall have general supervision over the public health of said city, and see that its regulations, and the laws and ordinances of said city in relation thereto, are enforced and observed and for that purpose he is authorized and empowered to make such rules and regulations, with the approval of the Board, not inconsistent with this Charter or any city ordinance or law of this State, as will tend to preserve and promote the health of said city; to appoint such employes, with the approval of the Board of Health as may be necessary for the execution of his orders; to enter into or authorize and require any employe or police officer to enter into and examine, in the daytime, all buildings, lots and places of every description, within the city and to ascertain and report to him the condition thereof, so far as the public health may be affected by it; to declare and abate nuisances in such manner as may be provided herein, or by ordinance, but all condemnations must first be approved by the Board of Health, whose action thereon shall be final. He shall obey all orders, not inconsistent with this Charter and city ordinances, emanating from the Board of Health, and shall annually report to the Mayor, the general operations of his department during the year then ended, with such suggestions for the improvement of the same as he shall consider expedient.

See ordinance hereon (same as this provision) in Rev. C., sec. 450.

Right of the municipal assembly, through its officers or agent, to enter premises to ascertain conditions for health, cleanliness and safety: Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 12, and note thereto; Right of Mayor to enter to abate nuisances, see Chart., Art. III, sec. 26, clause 6.

Sec. 4. Nuisance to be reported to Commissioner—births, marriages and deaths to be registered—Commissioner to have charge of hospitals, asylums etc.—It is made the duty of all police officers to observe the sanitary condition of their districts, and through the Chief of Police to report to the Health Commissioner promptly any nuisance or accumulated filth found to exist in any portion of the city. The Health Commissioner shall provide for the registration of all births, deaths and marriages occurring within the city; shall have charge of all city hospitals, quarantine, insane asylums, morgue and city dispensary, and with the advice and counsel of said Board of Health, make all necessary rules for the government thereof.

Duty of police to report: See Rev. Code, secs. 631; also 599, 622.

Marriage record is kept by Recorder of Deeds.

Quarantine: Rev. Code, Chap. 11, Art. 19, secs. 818-826 and note to sec. 818; see also Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 6.

Sec. 5. Superintendents of Hospitals and employes, how appointed.—There will be a superintendent of the city hospital, a superintendent of the female hospital, a superintendent of the insane hospital, and a superintendent of quarantine when necessary, who shall perform their duties under the general supervision of the Health Commissioner, and shall be appointed by the Mayor, with the approval of the Board of Health, but all other employes shall be appointed by the Health Commissioner, and approved by the Board of Health, except such as may be temporarily in the employ of the Health Commissioner.

For ordinance provisions concerning superintendents and assistants see Rev. Code, secs. 717 and following.

Sec. 6. Abatement or removal of nuisances—notification to owners—cost of abatement to be assessed as special tax.—In order to effect the abatement of nuisances or removal of accumulated filth, the Health Commissioner shall have power, whenever in his opinion such nuisance or filth exists, and after officially so declared of record by the Board of Health, to notify the owner or owners thereof, or his or their agents, to abate or remove the same, either by filling up, draining, cleaning, purifying or removing same, as the case may be, which notice shall be served upon the owner or agent having charge of said property, in the same manner as writs of summons are required to be served in civil cases. If the owner, who shall have been so served with such notice, shall fail, within the time indicated in such notice, which shall be discretionary with said Health Commissioner, to comply with such order, or fail to show good cause to said Health Commissioner why he can not or ought not to comply with such order, for which purpose he shall be entitled to be heard before said Health Commissioner and Board of Health, if he so request it, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction, shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars; and the nuisance shall be abated, and special tax bills rendered against the property in same manner as against non-residents, except that notice by advertisement shall not be necessary. If such service can not be made for the reason that the owner, agents, or other persons having charge of the property upon which the nuisance may exist, can not be found in the city, of which fact the return upon such notice of the officer serving the same shall be conclusive evidence, then the Health Commissioner shall cause such notice to be published in the newspapers doing the city printing, for two consecutive days (Sundays excepted). And if within two days after the service of such notice, or after its publication as aforesaid, such nuisance shall not be abated, or the order observed by the owner, then the Health Commissioner may order the same to be done as hereinafter directed; and the cost of the same, when fully completed, shall be ascertained under the direction of the President of the Board of Public Improvements, in the same manner as special tax bills for street improvements, and the amount thereof shall be assessed as a special tax against the property so improved, or upon which such work has been done, in the name of the owners thereof, of which the books of the Assessor shall be proof, and the certified bills of such assessment shall describe therein the property upon which the work was done. Said bills shall be recorded and shall be collected and paid as provided in this Charter in relation to the collection of other special tax bills, and shall be a lien on said property, and the Health Commissioner shall keep a record of his proceedings in all cases of abatements ordered by him.

See also Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 6. For ordinances pursuant hereto on abatement of nuisances see Revised Code, secs. 636 and following sections; as to special taxation in general see Charter, Art. VI, secs. 14-15, and notes appended thereto.

For discussion of authorities on the subject of nuisances and the abatement thereof see Rev. Code, Chap. XI, Art. 12 (see note to article heading) secs. 584-689.

Sec. 7. Contracts for the abatement of nuisances.—All contracts for work contemplated by this section on which special tax bills are to be issued, shall be entered into by the President of the Board of Public Improvements, in the name of the city, based on the estimates of the cost by the President of the Board of Public Improvements, accompanied by reports of surveys and profiles, in cases requiring the same in the judgment of such President, and shall be approved by the Mayor and registered in the office of the Comptroller.

See Rev. Code, sec. 669, and sections preceding the same (666, 667, 662, etc.).

Sec. 8. Proclamation by Mayor in time of epidemics—authority of Commissioner and Board of Health in such cases, etc.—Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the Mayor that any malignant, infectious or contagious disease or epidemic is prevalent in the city, or will probably become so, he may make proclamation of such fact to the inhabitants; and after such proclamation the Health Commissioner, with the approval of the Board of Health, may have power, by order, to take all steps and use all measures necessary to avoid, suppress or mitigate such disease, without the intervention of the Assembly in the same manner and as effectually as the Assembly could itself do by ordinance, and may employ such officers, agents, servants and assistants, establish temporary hospitals, provide necessary furniture, medical attendance and nurses, as in the opinion of the said Commissioner, with the advice and counsel of said Board of Health, may be necessary and advisable: Provided, that the amount expended shall not exceed the appropriation for Health Department. The Health Commissioner shall have and exercise such power until he shall declare, or until the Mayor shall proclaim, that the epidemic or disease, in view of which the proclamation was made, is no longer imminent or prevalent, whereupon the said power shall cease.

The same provision is made by ordinance: Rev. Code, sec. 633; see also Rev. Code, sec. 1501.

See as restrictions upon receiving patients sick with small-pox, cholera or plague, Charter, Art. III, sec. 35.

As to preventing introduction and spread of contagious diseases see Charter, Art. III, sec. 26, clause 6; ordinances, Rev. Code, secs. 792-819.

Sec. 9. Commissioner's records and accounts.—Said Health Commissioner shall keep a record of his acts and orders; shall file all petitions, documents and papers belonging to the office, and shall keep a correct account in full of all receipts and expenditures, and shall make rules and regulations for the government of his subordinates. Copies of such records, documents, rules and regulations, when authenticated by his clerk, shall be presumptive evidence in any court of justice of the facts therein contained: Provided, such rules and regulations are not inconsistent with this Charter, or ordinances.

This provision is reiterated by ordinance: Rev. Code, sec. 452.

Sec. 10. Duties of Physicians in reference to burial certificates—For the purpose of carrying the provisions of this article into effect, every physician who may practice medicine in the City of St. Louis shall, when a patient dies under his care, make out two certificates, stating the name, age, sex, color and place of birth, and place and date of death, together with the name of the disease of which said person died, one of which he shall without delay, deposit in the office of said Health Commissioner, and the other he shall give to the undertaker of the funeral, to be delivered by him to the person who has control of the graveyard in which the body is buried. And if any physician or undertaker refuse or omit to do as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay five dollars to the use of the City of St. Louis, to be recovered as provided for in Section 11 [12] of this article.

See carrying out this section, ordinance in Rev. Code, sec. 827, which, however, seeks to impose a higher penalty than as fixed by this provision of the Charter.

Sec. 11. Weekly report of interments to be made to Health Commissioner.—All overseers, sextons or other persons who may have control over public graveyards in the City of St. Louis shall make a weekly report to the Health Commissioner, of all interments during the week in the graveyard, whereof they are such overseer or sexton respectively. Said report shall specify the names and ages of the persons interred, sex, color, and place of birth, and place and date of death, and also the diseases of which said persons died.

Same as Rev. Code, sec. 11.

Sec. 12. Penalty in case of burial without certificate.—If any overseer, sexton, or other person having control of a graveyard, shall permit any person to be interred in said graveyard without a certificate, stating the name, age, sex, color, place of birth, place and date of death, together with the disease of which said person died, signed by the physician who attended said person, he shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than five nor more than twenty dollars, to be recovered as in other cases of misdemeanor, before any court or officer having competent jurisdiction.

See Rev. Code, sec. 831 (which is similar, except that it seeks to increase the penalty to "not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars").

Sec. 13. Penalty for failure to make weekly reports of interments.—If any overseer, sexton or other person charged with the performance of such duty, fail or neglect to make to the Health Commissioner such report of weekly interments, he shall forfeit and pay not less than twenty dollars for every such failure, to be recovered in like manner as provided in the last preceding section.

See Rev. Code, sec. 832 (which is similar, except that it seeks to fix the penalty at "not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars").

Sec. 14. Record of proceedings of Board.—The Board of Health shall keep a full and correct record of its proceedings and acts, and the clerk of said Health Commissioner shall act as the clerk of the said Board.

SCHOOLS.*

- 1.*
2. City officers to assess school tax.
3. City collector to collect school taxes and to give special bond to board.

SECTION

4. Rate of school taxes to be fixed by board.
5. School taxes collected in extended limits to be remitted if in excess of necessary revenue.

*Sec. 1. [Not in force.]

*Constitutional provisions as to Public Schools and Public School funds: Const., Art. XI. See Scheme, section 37, with note; also sections 13 and 36. Section 1 of this article of the Charter, as originally enacted, is not in force, and is therefore omitted. The present law relating to the public schools in St. Louis, or the "Board of Education of St. Louis," was enacted, and that board created, by the act of March 23, 1897 (Rev. St. 1899, secs. 9919-9951) set out herein, with amendments and subsequent enactments, under "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," sections 497-534, (being Chap. 27 thereof).

It was held (in a case arising under the former law) that the School Board of St. Louis was a public corporation, an instrumentality created by the laws to administer the trust created and assumed by the State for the education of the children of the State. It is neither a private corporation, with vested rights exempted from the general laws of the State, nor a municipal corporation proper but falls within the class of bodies corporate, now designated as public corporations or quasi municipal corporations: State ex rel. vs. St. Louis Public Schools, 112 Mo. 213, 218; see also Heller vs. Stremmel, 52 Mo. 309.

A school board election is one by the people within the meaning of the constitutional provisions: State ex rel. vs. St. L. Pub. Schools, supra; but a director is not within the meaning of a law disqualifying such officer from another office in a municipal corporation: Heller vs. Stremmel, supra; nor is the constitutional inhibition against holding two offices, etc., applicable so as to disqualify one from being at the same time a school director and a deputy sheriff: State ex rel. vs. Bus, 135 Mo. 325 (holding also that these two offices are not incompatible).

A school district is a public corporation in the sense that it is not subject to garnishment proceedings: Kein vs. School District of Carthage, 42 Mo. App. 460.

The St. Louis School Board even under the former act was independent of the city government, except that the city officers extend, collect and turn over the taxes levied by the board: State ex rel. vs. Tracy, 94 Mo. 217, 221.

A board of education is not subject to execution under a judgment, and a school-house and furniture cannot be taken and sold on execution. It would greatly tend to frustrate the design and purpose of the law in respect to common schools, were school buildings and property liable to sale under the hammer; and injunction will lie to prevent such a sale, which though void, would cast a cloud on the property; it seems that the appropriate method of procedure to enforce a judgment against a school board is by mandamus to compel the levying of a tax to pay same: State to use vs. Tiedemann, 69 Mo. 306.

Election law relating to school directors in St. Louis is not void as being special and local legislation: State ex rel. vs. Miller, 100 Mo. 439. And under the law since 1897 when the new act was passed, the school board no longer has the power to provide for the election of its members, and the expense of school board elections, and pay of judges and clerks, is to be paid out of the city treasury, not by the board: State ex rel. vs. Board of Education of St. Louis, 141 Mo. 45.

Under the Constitution fines and forfeitures for state offenses, collected in the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, go to the Public School fund and the sheriff must certify same to the President and Directors of the Board, and not pay same into court: In re Staed, 116 Mo. 537.

Sec. 2. City officers to assess school taxes.—The officers of the City of St. Louis, directed by this Charter to assess and extend the State and city taxes, and to perform other duties relating thereto, shall perform the same duties in regard to taxes levied by the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis public schools (Board of Education of St. Louis).

State, School and City tax-bills, how prepared by assessor, and what to contain: Charter, Art. V, sec. 26. As to proper officers to extend the taxes (under the old law) see State ex rel. vs. Tracy, 94 Mo. 217.

Sec. 3. City Collector to collect school taxes and to give special bond to board.—The Collector of the City of St. Louis shall collect all taxes levied by the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis public schools (Board of Education of St. Louis). Said Collector shall give such bond for the faithful performance of his duties to said Board, and account for and pay over to said Board in such manner and at such times, all school taxes collected by him, as the Collector of St. Louis County was required to do under the laws heretofore in force.

Collector to collect State, school and city taxes: Charter, Art. V, sec. 31, etc. He may establish claim for such taxes against estate of decedent: State ex rel. vs. Tittmann, 103 Mo. 553.

Sec. 4. Rate of school taxes to be fixed by the Board.—The Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis public schools (Board of Education of St. Louis) shall determine the rate of taxation for each year by resolution, a copy of which, duly certified according to law shall be handed to the Collector of the City of St. Louis, and to the Register of said city, on or before the first day of August in each year.

The power of the Board to determine the rate of taxation (under the provision of a law similar to that of the above section hereof), and to include a tax on merchants' licenses, for school purposes, is upheld in State ex rel. vs. Board, etc., of St. Louis Pub. Schools, 94 Mo. 217.

See also as to power of board to levy and collect taxes Rev. Stat. 1899, sec. 9939, and to increase tax levy, R. S. 1899, sec. 9940 (set forth in "Laws Applicable Specially to St. Louis," herein, secs. 520, 521).

The annual rate for school purposes is fixed by the Const. at not exceeding 40 cents on the hundred dollars but may be increased to one dollar provided a majority of the voters who are taxpayers vote for such increase: Constitution, Art. X, sec. 11.

Sec. 5. School taxes collected in extended limits to be remitted if in excess of necessary revenue.—If the proceeds of taxes levied by the Board of President and Directors of the St. Louis public schools (Board of Education of St. Louis), in any one year, on property in the different wards within the newly extended city limits, should prove to be greatly in excess of amounts needed for the purpose of properly carrying on the education of children residing within such extended limits, then said Board shall by resolution remit such excess. A copy of such resolution, properly authenticated, specifying the percentage remitted in the respective wards, shall be filed by the secretary of said Board with the Comptroller of the City of St. Louis, who shall, in extending the tax, make a deduction equal to such percentage of all taxes levied for school purposes on such property.

SECTION

3. Disbursements to be made on requisitions.

That portion of each annual appropriation not required for the payment of the interest coupons maturing during the respective year, shall be credited to, and shall constitute the sinking fund herein created.

Sec. 3. Disbursements to be made on requisitions.—All disbursements out of the city treasury on account of the sinking fund, shall be upon requisitions of the Comptroller approved by the Mayor; and in all other respects they are to be made in the same manner as other disbursements of the city.

Disposition of sinking fund in hands of Commissioners.—The assets of the sinking fund now under the control of the Board of Fund Commissioners shall be disposed of as follows: The money on hand, and the proceeds of all matured coupons from city bonds, shall be credited to, and be a part of, the sinking fund herein created; the immatured coupons from city bonds shall be canceled, and filed as other coupons from city bonds are filed. The bonds of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad shall be turned over to the Comptroller, and deposited in his office; in the event of the city at any time realizing on the same, the proceeds thereof shall be credited to, and be a part of, the sinking fund herein created.

The printing meant in this article includes everything of labor, skill and materials, for bringing the work to the condition for its intended use and purpose. If any bidder fails to perform the contract as therein required, the same shall be subject to forfeiture by the Mayor. All job printing and binding shall be let by contract, subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by ordinance. Until the contract be made as aforesaid for any authorized printing, at the expense of the city, the same may be contracted for by the Register, with the approval of the Mayor.

Section 2036 of the Rev. Code carries out the provisions hereof.

Sec. 2. Publication of ordinances—abstract of proceedings of Assembly second printing of documents forbidden, except by two-thirds vote—annual printing of city documents in pamphlet form.—Every ordinance passed by the Assembly shall be published in the papers doing the city printing within five days after its approval. The Assembly shall cause an abstract of its proceedings to be published within forty-eight hours after the meeting at which they were had. Such abstract shall briefly state the substance of all petitions, memorials, remonstrances, motions, propositions, bills, resolutions and orders, and the yeas and nays in full whenever taken; also, all communications from the Mayor and other city officers, unless otherwise directed by the Municipal Assembly. No expense for printing the same document the second time shall be incurred, except when ordered by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to the Assembly, taken by yeas and nays. The annual messages of the Mayor, and reports of the Comptroller, with the accompanying reports of the other city officers, shall be printed in pamphlet form, the number of copies to be determined by a majority of both houses of the Municipal Assembly by joint resolution.

The provisions hereof followed by ordinance: Rev. Code, secs. 2037, 2038. See also other ordinance provisions following said section. This provision requiring publication of ordinances within five days after approval "was designed to notify the public at as early a period as possible of the passage and provisions of the laws which were to govern them;" and this provision applies only to new ordinances and not to a revision and digest of existing ordinances contained in a general revision: St. Louis vs. Foster, 52 Mo. 513, 516.

See as to effect of failure to publish an ordinance, in a case arising under a charter of a smaller city, requiring publication of ordinances, but providing that failure to publish should not render the same void, except under certain conditions, etc.: Schweitzer vs. City of Liberty, 82 Mo. 309, 315.

Where a publication is required, a failure to publish generally renders the ordinance void: Bank vs. Granada, 4 U. S. C. C. A. 212, 219 et. seq.; s. c. 54 Fed. 100 (distinguished in Alma vs. Bank, 60 Fed. 203; 8 U. S. C. C. A. 564).

Sec. 3. Proofs of printing to be submitted to officers interested.
—Proofs of all printing shall be submitted to the officer directly interested therein, and no publication or printing shall be done or paid for except when done in the manner herein prescribed.

This provision is re-enacted by ordinance: Rev. Code, sec. 2039. When printing is done under an unauthorized contract, no recovery can be had against the city, and the municipal assembly cannot lawfully provide that it shall be paid for; such an appropriation would be a donation of city money and is prohibited by law: Campbell vs. St. Louis, 71 Mo. 106.

Section 1. Existing ordinances, contracts, etc., to remain in force until repealed or abrogated.—All ordinances in force at the time this Charter and Scheme go into operation, not inconsistent therewith, shall remain in full force until altered or repealed by the Assembly, and all rights, actions, prosecutions and contracts of the city, not inconsistent therewith, shall continue to be valid as if this Scheme had not been adopted.

Under this section only so much of an existing ordinance at the time of the adoption of the Charter is superseded as conflicts with the Charter, the remainder thereof continuing in force: Quinette vs. St. Louis, 76 Mo. 402.

As to effect in general of ordinances in conflict with Charter see note introductory to sec. 26 of Art. III of Charter.

Sec. 2. Existing recognizances, obligations, forfeitures, actions, etc., to remain in force.—All recognizances, obligations, and all other instruments entered into or executed to the city before this Charter goes into operation, and all fines, taxes, penalties and forfeitures due or owing to the city, and all writs, prosecutions, actions and causes of action, except as herein or in the Scheme otherwise provided, shall continue and remain unaffected by this Charter going into operation.

That suits, forfeitures and proceedings pending at the time of the repeal of an ordinance are not affected by such repeal see Revised Code, secs. 1405, 1406; see also as to effect of repeal, note to Charter, Art. III, section 28.

Sec. 3. Management of Mullanphy bequests.—The Assembly shall provide by ordinance for the administration of the Mullanphy bequest by a board of thirteen members to be elected by the Council, of whom not more than five shall reside in any one Congressional District, said Board shall receive no compensation for their service.

Mullanphy bequest: For ordinances upon this subject see Rev. Code, Chap. 19, secs. 1654 to 1672 and note at heading of said chapter, discussing the Mullanphy bequest and ordinances, and referring to adjudications touching the same.

Sec. 4. Street opening ordinances repealed—pending cases to be conducted under former laws—City Counselor to act as Land Commissioner.—All ordinances for the opening of any street, avenue or highway, upon which proceedings shall not have been commenced at the time this Charter goes into operation, shall be and are hereby repealed. Provided, however the provisions of this Charter shall not be construed to affect any case, pending at the time when said Charter shall become operative, but every such case shall be conducted under the law in force when it was commenced; and any act necessary to be done by the Land Commissioner of the City of St. Louis, in the execution of any such cases after the seventh day of April, 1877, shall be performed by the City Counselor of said city.

That proceedings for street openings begun under the old Charter and continued prior to the time when it was finally ascertained that the Charter had been adopted (March 5, 1877) are validated by the de facto principle, see note to Charter, Art. VI, sec. 2; also note introductory to sec. 26 of Art. III.

Sec. 5. The Mayor to promulgate Charter.—The Mayor shall, immediately after this Scheme and Charter go into effect, take measures to promulgate the same, by causing them to be printed in pamphlet form, with accurate head notes to each article, and as full an index as practicable.

Sec. 6. Appeal bond by City—Mayor to execute such bond for City.—The City of St. Louis in taking an appeal in any judicial proceedings, shall give bond as required by law, but is hereby released from the obligation of law to furnish security therefor. All such bonds shall be executed by the Mayor, and shall be taken in all courts as a full compliance with the law in such cases, and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this provision are hereby repealed.

See Rev. Code, sec. 1678, as to appeal bond. An appeal in a suit to which the City of St. Louis is a party goes to the Supreme Court, whatever the amount involved, because that city is a political subdivision of the State: Steffen vs. St. Louis, 135 Mo. 44, 48-49; Straub vs. St. Louis, 175 Mo. 413; Northcut vs. Eager, 132 Mo. 265, 273.

Sec. 7. Execution of city contracts—contracts to be numbered, filed, etc., in Register's office—attested copies to be furnished city officers.—All contracts relating to city affairs shall be in writing, signed and executed in the name of the city, by the officer authorized to make the same, after due notice; and in cases not otherwise directed by law or ordinance, such shall be made and entered into by the Comptroller, and in no case by the Assembly or any committee thereof. All contracts not made by the Comptroller shall be countersigned by the Comptroller and filed and registered by number, date and contents, in the Register's office, and attested copies furnished to the Comptroller, Auditor, and such other officers as are interested in the performance thereof as required.

Contracts: Constitution, Art. IV, sec. 48, provides that the General Assembly has no power to . . . pay nor authorize the payment of any claim against State, county or municipality under any contract made without express authority of law; and all such unauthorized agreements or contracts shall be null and void.

State Law: No city, etc., shall make any contract unless within the scope of its powers or expressly authorized by law and upon consideration to be performed subsequently; and same shall be in writing and dated when made, and subscribed by all parties or agents duly authorized in writing: R. S. 1899, sec. 6759. (An ordinance and written acceptance is sufficient to meet this section: California vs. Telephone Co., 112 Mo. App. 722, 727.) Duplicate copies to be made one to be kept with proper officer, which in case of variance controls: Sec. 6760 (but such filing and execution in duplicate is only to preserve the contract as evidence and is not a condition precedent of its validity: Saleno vs. Neosho, 127 Mo. 627, 638). All contractors for public work to give bond, etc.: Sec. 6761; material men or laborers may sue on the bond: Sec. 6762. (On last point see also Rev. Code, sec. 1989: St. Louis vs. Von Phul, 133 Mo. 567.)

By the charter also (by this provision, i. e. sec. 7, Art. 16) all contracts must be in writing, etc. And by Charter, Art. IV, sec. 46, it is made the duty of the Mayor to see that the contracts of the city are enforced; and it is made the duty of all officers to report all violations to the Mayor; and Art. XVI, sec. 11, makes participation in an unauthorized contract a high misdemeanor, with severe penalties.

And by ordinance, contracts must be in writing, countersigned by proper officer designated or comptroller, etc., filed with register, etc.: Rev. Code, sec. 2395. (The filing is however not a condition precedent to the validity of the contract: See Saleno vs. Neosho, 127 Mo. 1. c. 637 et seq.). Contracts to be registered, numbered, etc., and be in custody of register: Rev. Code, sec. 2062.

Validity of city contracts and liability of city: Those who deal with the officers of a municipal corporation must ascertain at their peril, that such agents are acting within the scope of their powers; and the city may plead ultra vires and the invalidity of a contract made in violation of law: Cheaney vs. Brookfield, 60 Mo. 53, 54; Mister vs. Kansas City, 18 Mo. App. 217, 227; Verdin vs. St. Louis, 131 Mo. 1. c. 98; Construction Co. vs. Geist, 37 Mo. App. 1. c. 513; Keating vs. Kansas City, 84 Mo. 415; Carroll vs. St. Louis, 4 Mo. App. 191; Pryor vs. Kansas City, 153 Mo. 135, 142, 150, citing numerous cases.

The city cannot be held on a quantum meruit or on an implied contract: See cases supra.

Hence where a contract exceeds the appropriation allowed, the city is liable only to the extent of the appropriation: Mister vs. Kansas City, 18 Mo. App. 217, approved but distinguished in Pryor vs. Kansas City, 153 Mo. 135.

But, of course, where one is otherwise entitled to lawfully recover against the city (as salary out of the general revenue), the fact that there is not enough money appropriated to pay him, will not defeat a judgment on the claim: Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 495, 501. Nor is one who is entitled to a claim against a city required to obtain a warrant before suing: Kansas City Loan Co. vs. Kansas City, 98 S. W. 459 (Sup. Ct., Nov. 21, 1906).

For a case apparently on contract against the city, in which "no law or ordinance requiring it to be in writing was brought to the attention" of the court, and where a verbal contract was held sufficient, see McQuade vs. St. Louis, 76 Mo. 46, 48 (but only the title indicates that the suit was against the city; nor is mention made of the provisions first above referred to from constitution, statute and charter); See also "The Maggie P.," 25 Fed. 202.

A verbal contract is absolutely void as to a city: Savage vs. Springfield, 85 Mo. App. 323, 329 (incapable of ratification), citing the constitution; but the point must be raised in the trial court: Lancaster vs. Briggs, 118 Mo. App. 570.

All persons dealing with the city must take notice of the charter and ordinance provisions (see note introductory to Charter), and these enter into and form part of the contract, whether expressly so made or not: Pryor vs. Kansas City, 153 Mo. 135, 142, 150; Carroll vs. St. Louis, 4 Mo. App. 191; St. Charles vs. Hackman, 133 Mo. l. c. 642; State ex rel. vs. Kent, 98 Mo. App. 281, 286; see also San Antonio vs. Altgelt, 200 U. S. 304, 308; Citizens Bank vs. Owensboro, 173 U. S. 636, 644.

Contracts referring to ordinances incorporate the latter in the contract: St. Louis vs. Gas Co., 155 Mo. l. c. 17, and cases cited.

The Municipal Assembly cannot let contracts: see Charter, Art. VI, sec. 27 (public work); Art. IV, sec. 29 (supplies); Art. XV (printing). Compensation on a contract not authorized (such agreement being void), cannot be provided for by the Municipal Assembly; such action would amount to a prohibited donation of the city's money: Campbell vs. St. Louis, 71 Mo. 106.

The rule of contemporaneous interpretation of contracts largely controlling their effect in case of ambiguity, applies to contracts with the city: St. Louis vs. Laclede Gas L. Co., 155 Mo. l. c. 1, 19, and cases cited; but see National W. W. Co. vs. School Dist., 48 Fed. 523.

The same equity exists and the same moral obligation rests upon the city to protect those whose labor and material is employed in the improvement of its streets under contract with a contractor as rest upon those making private improvements; and hence the furnishing of such material or such work, creates such a privity between those furnishing same and the city as will entitle them to the benefits intended to secure them against loss, under a bond expressly so providing, exacted by the city from the contractor doing public improvement work; the city has authority under its charter powers to require such provision: St. Louis vs. Von Phul, 133 Mo. 561, 566 et seq.; Kansas City vs. Surety Co., 196 Mo. l. c. 305; (see also Rev. St. 1899, sec. 6762; Rev. Code, sec. 1989). And the contract between the material men and the contractor is independent of the contract between the city and the contractor; the fact, therefore, that the contract between the city and the contractor is invalid has no effect upon the contract between the material man and the contractor: Kansas City vs. Surety Co., 196 Mo. l. c. 302. So also the city may contract that enough of the contract price be withheld to meet the claims of laborers and material men: St. Louis vs. Lumber Co., 114 Mo. 82. After the contract is executed, the sureties on the contractor's bond to the city are estopped from claiming that the contract was void: Kansas City vs. Surety Co., 196 Mo. l. c. 302. But where there is no privity between the city and a third person for whose benefit a contract is made by it, such contract is invalid; hence a private citizen cannot recover for loss by fire, from a water company which had obligated itself to furnish water sufficient to extinguish all fires and be responsible for a failure so to do: Howsman vs. Trenton, 119 Mo. 305.

A city cannot contract to do for a compensation that which is a public duty imposed upon it by law; but it may contract to do things of a private nature not inconsistent with its municipal powers (such as raising a sunken boat), and be liable for a breach thereof: The Maggie P., 25 Fed. 202.

City officials are disqualified from being directly or indirectly interested in any contract with the city (see Charter Art. IV, sec. 10, including assemblymen: Art.

III, sec. 6); it is made a misdemeanor if they are (R. S. 1899, sec. 2346, Charter Art. XVI, sec. 11); and in view of these and the other statutory, charter and constitutional provisions cited at beginning of this note, there is little doubt that such contracts are void: (See note to sec. 10 of Art. IV of Charter).

For additional authorities that city contracts not in accordance with law are void, see cases below on ratification, estoppel, etc.

Contracts lawfully made by a city are binding on it (Steffen vs. St. Louis, 135 Mo. 44), and the obligations of contracts made by franchise ordinances cannot be impaired by the city; and such impairment will be prevented by the courts, as a matter of law, and as contrary to the constitutions prohibiting such legislation: See cases cited in note to sec. 1 of Art. X of the Charter, as to street railway ordinance franchises; and see in general, Vicksburg vs. Waterworks Co., 202 U. S. 453, and cases cited; Walla Walla vs. W. W. W. Co., 172 U. S. 1.

But a mere repudiation of a contract by a city, in the absence of legislation, amounts to a mere breach of contract, and does not amount to the impairment of its obligation within the federal constitution: Dawson vs. Columbia Trust Co., 197 U. S. 178.

A city may be held to have received money to the use of another; the obligation to do justice rests upon all persons, natural and artificial, and if a municipality obtains the money or property of others without authority, the law, independent of any statute, will compel restitution or compensation: Wood vs. Kansas City, 162 Mo. 303, 1. c. 312.

A clause in a contract between the city and a contractor, leaving disputes as to the amount of the work to be paid for and questions as to the execution of the contract work, to be determined by the city's commissioner is valid and his decision is final in the absence of fraud, partiality or misapprehension of the facts: McCormick vs. St. Louis, 166 Mo. 315 (see also dissenting opinion and cases cited); but such provision does not give the commissioner jurisdiction to determine the legal question whether the contractor has incurred a penalty provided for in the contract: King, etc., Mnfg. Co. vs. St. Louis, 43 Fed. (C. C.) 768, (appeal dismissed: 149 U. S. 769).

Ratification: A city may ratify the unauthorized acts and contracts of its officers when within the scope of the corporate powers. But the ratification must be by the same authority that could have done the act lawfully originally: Dougherty vs. Excelsior Springs, 110 Mo. App. 623, 627, 629; Unionville vs. Martin, 95 Mo. App. 28; State ex rel. vs. Milling Co., 156 Mo. 620, 634; Clay vs. Mexico, 92 Mo. App. 611; Ruggles vs. Collier, 43 Mo. 353, 367; Kolkmeier vs. Jefferson City, 75 Mo. App. 678.

A sewer not legally constructed by ordinance may be accepted and used by a city, and such subsequent ratification estops the city, but not an abutting owner to dispute a tax-bill: Akers vs. Kolkmeier, 97 Mo. App. 520; see further, St. Louis vs. Clemens, 43 Mo. 395.

Nor can a void contract be ratified: Savage vs. Springfield, 85 Mo. App. 323, 329.

The doctrine of estoppel applies to a municipal corporation when it enters into a contract which it has authority to make, with the same force as that doctrine applies to individuals: Un. Dep. Co. vs. St. Louis, 76 Mo. 393, 396; Unionville vs. Martin, 95 Mo. App. 28, 38; see also National Subway Co. vs. St. Louis, 169 Mo. 319 (refusing to allow the city to charge as per contract for the use of its streets during the period it itself prevented such use); The Maggie P., 25 Fed. (C. C. Dist. Mo.) 202, 206. See also King, etc., Co. vs. St. Louis, 43 Fed. (C. C. Mo.) 768.

But estoppel cannot be applied against the city to validate a contract the city had no authority to make: Unionville vs. Martin, 95 Mo. App. 28, 38; Wheeler vs. Poplar Bluff, 149 Mo. 36.

Although it may be invoked against one dealing with the city who has received the benefit of an unauthorized contract which is not prohibited by charter or law: Unionville vs. Martin, 95 Mo. App. 28, 38; Kansas City vs. Surety Co., 196 Mo. 281, 301; St. Louis vs. Davidson, 102 Mo. 149; Henderson vs. Koenig, 192 Mo. 690; California vs. Telephone Co., 112 Mo. App. 722. But see Wood vs. Kansas City, 162 Mo. 312, holding that one cannot be estopped by a void ordinance from claiming fees received as notary public, though obtaining his employment by such ordinance which required him to pay said fees to the city, his salary to be in full thereof, and such fees being earned in connection with city business and in city hours.

A city cannot be estopped from claiming property to be a highway because it had been included in a cause seeking to condemn private land for public use: Moses vs. St. L. Sec. Dock Co., 84 Mo. 1. c. 246-247.

It was held that where the City of Joplin entered into a contract with a water company to supply it with water, it cannot accept the benefits of the water supplied and defeat a recovery because the amount supplied was not as much as agreed; if it intends to escape payment altogether it should refuse to accept the water and terminate the contract, otherwise it will be liable for the amount received, and if it fails to enforce the provisions of the contract intended to meet the default claimed, it waives the right that the company can recover only on the quantum meruit: Waterworks Co. vs. Joplin, 177 Mo. 496.

Assignability of contract: The rule that a contract is assignable applies against a municipal corporation, unless there be some statute or ordinance forbidding: Gordon vs. Jefferson City, 111 Mo. App. 23, 27; St. Louis vs. Sullivan, 42 Mo. 69, 73; Kansas City Loan Co. vs. K. C., 200 Mo. 159. Whether a city has a right by ordinance to forbid the assignment of earned or unearned wages or claims was raised in the last cited case (200 Mo. 159), but the case was decided on the point that the particular ordinance there in question did not apply to the facts, and the assignee of earned claims was permitted to recover; the court construed an ordinance prohibiting issuance or payment of a warrant to any other than the party working for the city, as not preventing recovery by the assignee of the claim, in the same manner as the assignor could have recovered had no warrant been issued.

Deeds by municipal officers, acting in pursuance of ordinances or resolutions of the law-making power need not recite such authority, nor show that the contingency has happened which authorized the sale; the rule applicable to trustees does not apply to a city: Jamison vs. Fopiarea, 43 Mo. 565.

Where the city has charter power to dispose of lands, its deed therefor is presumed to be executed in pursuance of that power, and no special authority by ordinance or resolution need be shown: Chouquette vs. Barada, 33 Mo. 249; a deed by a city, regular on its face, under the corporate seal, is prima facie evidence that all the prerequisites authorizing the sale have been complied with: Wells vs. Pressy, 105 Mo. 164, 179, and cases cited.

Sec. 8. Citizens of St. Louis exempt from road work.—The citizens of the City of St. Louis are hereby exempt from working on the roads or public highways of the city, any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

Sec. 9. Damage suits against the City—Persons and Corporations, when liable to be made co-defendants, and judgments to be first enforced against them.—Whenever the city shall be made liable to an action for damages, by reason of the unauthorized or wrongful acts, or of the negligence, carelessness or unskillfulness of any person or corporation, and such person or corporation shall also be liable to an action on the same account by the party so injured, the injured party, if he sue the city for damages suffered by him, shall also join such other person or persons or corporation so liable, if residing in the State, so that they can be served with process, as a defendant or defendants in his suit, and no judgment shall be rendered against the city unless judgment is rendered against such other person or corporation so liable to be sued as aforesaid; and if any action be brought against the city alone, and it is made to appear that any person or corporation ought to be joined as a defendant in the suit, according to the provisions of this section, the plaintiff shall be non-suited; but no person shall be liable under this act to be sued jointly with the city, who would not be liable to be sued separately, irrespective of its provisions. When a judgment shall be obtained against the city and the other party liable as aforesaid, execution shall issue against all the defendants in the ordinary form, but shall first be enforced and collected of the other defendants, and shall not be collected of the city unless the other defendants are so insolvent that the same can not be made out of them, and in that case the city shall pay only so much of the judgment as can not be made out of the other defendants.

Section void: This section of the charter was held to be void as inconsistent with the state law in Badgeley vs. St. Louis, 149 Mo. 122. In lieu of it a statute was enacted authorizing the city to compel a plaintiff to bring in as co-defendant with the city one who is liable with the city on account of the same cause of action: Laws 1901, p. 78 (set out herein in "Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis," as sec. 227), cited in Baker vs. St. Louis, 189 Mo. 375.

Liability of city in damage suits for defective streets and sewers, see note to clause 2 of section 26 of Art. III of the Charter. As to suits jointly against city and other parties, see (with other cases in that note cited) also Perrigo vs. St. Louis, 185 Mo. 274; Gerst vs. St. Louis, 185 Mo. 191; Hesselbach vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 505; Reedy vs. St. Louis, 161 Mo. 523; Loth vs. Columbia Theatre, 94 So. West. 847 (Sup. Ct., May 22, 1906); Franke vs. St. Louis, 110 Mo. 516; Carvin vs. St. Louis, 151 Mo. 334; Grogan vs. Co. 87 Mo. 321; Donoho vs. Vulcan Iron Works, 75 Mo. 401; Schweickardt vs. St. Louis, 2 Mo. App. 571; Waltemeyer vs. K. C., 71 Mo. App. 354; Rice vs. St. Louis, 165 Mo. 636.

Sec. 10. Regulation of public processions.—The Municipal Assembly shall provide by ordinance for the regulation of public processions so as to prevent interference with public traffic, and to promote the good order of the city.

Ordinances as to processions and parades: Rev. Code, sec. 1540; processions of carriages prohibited in parks. Id. sec. 2018.

Sec. 11. Penalty for voting in favor of or allowing unauthorized claims—penalty for the misapplication of public funds.—Any member or officer of either house of the Assembly, and any officer of the city, and any member or officer of any board organized under or in connection with the city government pursuant to any law of this State, who shall in his official capacity, or under color of his office, knowingly or willfully, or corruptly vote for, assent to, or report in favor of, or allow or certify for allowance, any claim or demand against the city or any department thereof, or against any such board as above mentioned, which claim or demand shall be on account or under color of any contract or agreement not authorized by or in pursuance of the provisions of this Charter, or any claim or demand against the city or any department thereof, or any such board as aforesaid, which claim or demand, or any part thereof, shall be for work not in fact performed for and by authority of said city or such board, or for supplies for materials not actually furnished thereto, pursuant to law or ordinance, and every such member or officer as aforesaid, who shall knowingly vote for, assent to, assist or otherwise permit or aid in the disbursement or disposition of any money or property belonging to the city or any department thereof, or held by or in charge of any such board as aforesaid, to any other than the specific use or purpose for which such money or property shall be, or shall have been received or appropriated, or collected or authorized by law to be collected, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the city jail for not more than one year, or by fine of not less than two thousand, nor more than ten thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment, or by imprisonment in the city jail for not less than six months, and by fine of not less than five hundred, nor more than five thousand dollars.

See references in note to Art. IV, sec. 10 and Art. XVI, sec. 7, as to prohibitions and penalties for unauthorized contracts, etc. For liability of officers see note to sec. 43 of Art. IV.

Sec. 12. Penalty for violation of provisions of Charter.—Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this Charter, for the violation of which no punishment has been provided therein, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by punishment (imprisonment) in the county jail not exceeding one year.

Sec. 13. Oath of office.—Each member of the Assembly and officer of the city, or of any board thereunder, shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, take and subscribe an oath or affirmation* that he will support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and that he is not subject to any of the disqualifications enumerated in this Charter, and that he will demean himself faithfully in office.

Oath: See oath elsewhere required in Charter: Art. IV, sec. 43. See note thereto referring to ordinance and authority.

Sec. 14. Records of Board of Police Commissioners to be open to inspection.—The journal and books of the Board of Police Commissioners, required by law to be kept by them, and all documents relating to their office, shall always be open to the inspection of the Comptroller and Municipal Assembly of the City of St. Louis, and of any committee appointed by it for that purpose.

Sec. 15. City Counselor and Attorney to furnish legal advice to Police Commissioners.—The City Counselor and Attorney shall furnish the Board of Police Commissioners with the legal advice and services desired by them, and the said Board shall not employ any other at the city's expense.

Sec. 16. Expenses of Police Force to be paid out of city treasury.—All claims against the Board of Police Commissioners, including salaries, shall be paid out of the city treasury in the same manner as other claims against the city are paid; and said claims shall be certified to by the President and Secretary of said Board, and audited as provided in this Charter for claims against the city; and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with or in conflict with this section are hereby repealed.

Salaries and expenses of police: As to the payment of the police under the present Metropolitan Police Law, see State ex rel. vs. Mason, 153 Mo. 23; also State ex rel. vs. St. Louis, 174 Mo. 125, l. c. 131, and State ex rel. vs. Smith, 89 Mo. 408. See full discussion and notes to that act, State Laws "Specially Applicable to St. Louis," ante, Chap. 24, secs. 427-459; see also Chart. III, sec. 26, clause 2, and end of note thereto.

Sec. 17. Assembly to fix salaries of officers—increase of salary forbidden during term.—The Municipal Assembly shall fix the salaries of all elective or appointive officers of the city and their assistants or deputies, and also of all clerks that may be employed by the city in any of its offices or departments, and may increase or diminish the same by ordinance, except in cases where otherwise provided in this Charter: Provided, that no such increase shall be made during the term for which any such officer or assistant or clerk may be elected or appointed.

Salaries: Limitation on salaries: See next section. By Charter Art. III, sec. 26, clause 8, it is provided that the salary of no officer shall be changed during his term, and that no officer receiving a salary shall receive any fees or other compensation: See note to that provision.

The constitution (Art. XIV, sec. 8) provides that "the compensation or fees of no state, county or municipal officer shall be increased during his term of office."

In State ex rel. vs. Johnson, 123 Mo. 43, 48, it is held that this does not apply to any official whose term of office is not definitely fixed, and who holds at the pleasure of the appointing power. But both constitutional and charter provision are held to apply to that part of an incumbent's term during which he holds over after the regular term, and before his successor is qualified: State ex rel. vs. Smith, 87 Mo. 158.

The right of a public officer to the salary of his office is a right created by law, is an incident to the office, not the creature of contract, nor dependent upon the fact or rendition or value of services actually rendered: State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 153 Mo. 194, 203, citing numerous cases; Bates vs. St. Louis, 153 Mo. 18, and cases cited; Cavane vs. Milan, 99 Mo. App. 672. See also Sanderson vs. Pike Co., 195 Mo. 1. c. 605.

Not being fixed by contract, express or implied, a public officer is entitled to compensation, if at all, only where such right is created by law as an incident to the office; no implied liability to pay will arise: Givens vs. Daviess Co., 107 Mo. 603, 608-609, and cases cited; so see Garnier vs. St. Louis, 37 Mo. 554 (holding that there is no implied liability of the city); Sanderson vs. Pike Co., 195 Mo. 1. c. 605.

If a city official is otherwise entitled to recover, the fact that there is not enough money appropriated to pay him will not defeat his claim: Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 495, 501.

Absence from the city without leave suspends salary: Rev. Code, sec. 1688.

Where an attempted removal of an officer is unlawful, he is still the incumbent, and he will not be prevented from recovering his salary, in a mandamus proceeding against the proper officials: State ex rel. Gieselman vs. Hawes, 177 Mo. 387; State ex rel. vs. Johnson, 123 Mo. 43; State ex rel. vs. Walbridge, 153 Mo. 194. See also U. S. vs. Wickersham, 201 U. S. 390, 399.

Salary during suspension by Mayor, see Rev. Code, sec. 1705. An officer legally suspended is not entitled to the salary during such period whether finally removed or not: Blackwell vs. Thayer, 101 Mo. App. 661; Westberg vs. Kansas City, 64 Mo. 493; Howard vs. St. Louis, 88 Mo. 656; Lewis vs. St. Louis, 12 Mo. App. 570 (memo. opin.). Contra: State ex rel. vs. Carr, 3 Mo. App. 6 (allowing recovery for the period of suspension, under ordinance now R. C. sec. 1705).

As to salaries of police see notes to Metropolitan Police Act (set out State Laws Specially Applicable to St. Louis, Chap. 24, secs. 427-459).

Salary attaches to the legal title and an officer who is de facto such but not de jure cannot recover the salary attached to the office: Sheridan vs. St. Louis, 183 Mo. 25 (House of Delegates member).

Nor can an officer de jure recover from the city for salary paid in good faith to the officer de facto while in office: State ex rel. vs. Babcock, 106 Mo. App. 72. He who holds the commission is entitled to the salary until his authority is properly cancelled: State ex rel. vs. Clarke, 52 Mo. 508.

An officer has no vested right to his office, and abolishing the office cuts off the right to the salary attached to it: Magner vs. St. Louis, 179 Mo. 495; Primm vs. Carondelet 22 Mo. 22.

A de facto officer is entitled to be paid the necessary expense of earning the fees in derogation of the rightful officer to whom they belong and a fortiori the city should be allowed expenses and clerk hire paid for it relying in good faith upon the validity of a statute and ordinance authorizing that course though such laws be subsequently declared void: Henderson vs. Koenig, 192 Mo. 690. By accepting the benefits of compensation under an unconstitutional statute the officer waives its invalidity as to himself so far as recovering compensation: Ib.; State ex rel. vs. Messerly, 198 Mo. 351, 357.

An ordinance is valid, providing against assignability of salary or wages of city employes: State ex rel. vs. Kent, 98 Mo. App. 281.

Under general principles of law a partial assignment of salary not yet due is void: Beal vs. McVicker, 8 Mo. App. 202.

A contract by a public officer for the assignment or sale and collection of his future salary is void as against public policy: State vs. Williamson, 118 Mo. 146.

An ordinance providing that an employe of a city shall pay fees earned by him as a notary public in connection with the city's business shall be paid into the city treasury and that his salary shall be in full of such services, is void, and the notary's fees may be recovered by him from the city which had received them: Wood vs. Kansas City, 162 Mo. 303.

But where the city has paid a city official his salary as understood to be due by it, and the same has been received by him as such, over a long period of time, he is thereafter estopped from claiming a greater sum: Galbreath vs. Moberly, 80 Mo. 484.

Sec. 18. Limitation of salaries, fees, etc., to be paid into treasury—salaries to be paid monthly.—The annual salary of no officer of the city shall exceed the sum of five thousand dollars, nor of any assistant or deputy exceed the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars, nor of any clerk in the sum of eighteen hundred dollars; and all fees, perquisites and emoluments of such officers shall be paid over monthly to the Treasurer, and all such salaries shall be paid monthly, as may be provided by ordinance.

See note to preceding section.

Sec. 19. Amendments to Charter to be submitted to people.—When amendments to this Charter are proposed, they shall be submitted separately to a vote of the people.

The method of amendment is pointed out by the Constitution: Art. IX, sec. 21.

This section of the Constitution was amended in 1902. An amendment now requires a three-fifths vote of the qualified voters voting for or against each of the amendments submitted. Formerly it required three-fifths of all votes cast at the same election: State ex rel. vs. Mayor, 73 Mo. 435; State vs. Winkelmeier, 35 Mo. 103.

It was at first held that the Charter of St. Louis could be amended only in the method pointed out in the Charter and not indirectly by the General Assembly: Murnane vs. St. Louis, 123 Mo. 479; St. Louis vs. Dorr, 145 Mo. 466, 480; and such of course must be the case where the Charter is to be technically and directly amended. But it is now held that the legislature has an unquestioned right to enact such laws for the city as it thinks necessary, and in so far as in conflict with the Charter the latter is thereby superseded: See cases cited in the first note at beginning of this Charter under "General Considerations Respecting the Charter."

A city adopting under the constitution a freeholders' Charter (in this case Kansas City) has the power not only to amend it from time to time but to frame and adopt a new Charter: Morrow vs. Kansas City, 186 Mo. 675.

Sec. 20. Existing city officers continued in office until April, 1877.—All the present city officers, except where otherwise provided in this Charter and in the Scheme, are hereby continued in office until the election provided herein to be held in April, 1877, and until their successors are qualified.
